of the surrounding country led many people in town to form the hasty conclusion that the officials had acted precipitately in the matter; and the writer, as an outsider, must admit to the same impression with some reservations. One lady who lives several miles from town called up the Citizen office about twenty-four hours after the schools were closed, and anxiously asked: "Is it true that you have forty cases of this new disease in town; and is Tilden quarantined so that if I come to town, I may have to stay there for three weeks?" These questions were put in all seriousness and were the outcome of the wild stories which sprang from nobody knows where. Another instance of the same kind: A lady in Tilden was expecting some eastern relatives to visit at her home. She received a telephone call from Norfolk on the day of their anticipated arrival, asking if it was not in the face of reports gathered from a traveling salesman, better for the travelers to return to New York and defer the long looked for visit until all danger of the pestilence was passed. Such ridiculous fears pouring into the ears of the men and women who were content to do their usual work concerning the one case in Tilden naturally gave rise to some resentment, and the handiest recipients for such feeling were naturally the public officials whose authoritative action gave publicity to the one isolated case of the disease in the town. As soon as Dr. Campbell was apprised of the actual facts of the case in Tilden he addressed letters of inquiry to doctors in towns of the state where the complaint has been reported at its worst. With the doctor's permission and for the information of the public in this vicinity, the following replies are published at length: Fremont, Neb., Oct. 3. Dear Doctor: Your letter of yesterday at hand, and in reply will say that I do not believe poliomyelitis contagious, but contagious very infectious. We held a meeting of the doctors of Fremont and decided not to close schools and churches, but in all cases to quarantine the families who became afflicted. This was also made incumbent upon us by the State Board of Health. We have had fifteen or twenty cases, with one death, and in most cases paralysis of limbs. No new cases for a week or more. Respectfully, E. W. Martin, M. D. Valley, Neb., Oct. 4. Dear Doctor: In reply to your letter of the 2nd inst., will say that I am glad to tell you anything I may happen to know relative to this so-called new disease. Only four cases have come under my observation: one fatality. The child who died I only saw once, and was only able, at that time to predict a possible paralysis. I have since learned that the child died of the bulbar type of the trouble. As to its being contagious, I think so. The best men are forced to concede that it is mildly so. I think it is a good plan to dismiss school for at least a week or ten days where the trouble exists, before it has time to spread. Such action will hurt no one and by so doing you may possibly prevent children from becoming permanent cripples. Three cases one a crossed paralysis, have occurred in the same district of this town, on the same road, and within a quarter of a mile, but only one in each family has been affected. I asked the school board to cooperate with me and they have been doing so. We have isolated our patients, and I have taken all the precautions that I would observe in diphtheria. I have been careful of the bedding and the contents of all beds, and while I have not maintained a legal quarantine, yet it amounts to the same thing. We have dismissed school for three weeks where the disease has shown itself, and no new ones have shown up. Fraternally yours, J. C. Agee, M. D. Stromberg, Neb., Oct. 4. Dear Doctor: Yours of the 2nd is just received and I hasten to reply. Yes, we have had a severe epidemic of so-called meningitis here. I had a spinal fluid examined in a well known laboratory in Omaha, and the report was meningitis; consequently we called it so. We now have reason to doubt that diagnosis, and I am of the opinion that it is really poliomyelitis. I feel sure that no honest doctor could have closely observed our epidemic without being convinced that it is decidedly contagious, and some of our new books will bear us out in that conclusion. It is, I am sure, the most serious epidemic of its well known crippling results, which are often worse than death. I believe it criminal not to quarantine these cases, since an effective quarantine will stop the epidemic; but all cases must be diagnosed early or at least prevented from carrying the contagion to neighbors. The state board of health simply asked us to isolate the cases, as no legal provision had been made for quarantining them. But immediately after the Fourth of July celebration the number of cases increased rapidly, and on the 21st we were authorized and commanded by the state board to quarantine. We then quarantined about seventy-five homes without delay, and on August 12th our last case appeared in the city. Hardly a case in the country tributary to our city has occurred since. Osceola has had the same experience, but the epidemic reached there later, so that they could profit by our experience, and quarantined before they had many cases, and it stopped at once. Quarantining according to the regulations governing diphtheria, do the work, if it is properly observed, and that was our first method, on account of the large number of cases. Later we enforced absolute quarantine, which we will also do in the future if we should have any more cases. Our churches and schools were closed as long as we had a case in the vicinity. We also kept the children on their own premises. I hope that this information will be the means of guarding some defenseless child from paralysis or death. Yours truly, C. A. Anderson, M. D. Upholder Town Officials. In consideration of these letters it is reassuring to know that no other cases have occurred in Tilden, and that medical opinion leads strongly to the belief that all danger from further infection has passed—provided proper precaution is maintained. The public school will be reopened on Monday.

Stuart Appendixes Bother. Stuart, Neb., Oct. 9.—Special to The News: Dr. W. O. Colburn, assisted by Dr. Campbell of Tilden, operated on Miss Alta Jilison, the 15-year-old daughter of Arthur G. Jilison, for appendicitis. Several months ago her mother was operated on for the same ailment, and a short time ago the 15-year-old daughter of Frank Crane, living in the same neighborhood, was taken to Dr. Campbell's hospital at Tilden, where she underwent an operation for the same disease. Brown County Land, $105. Ainsworth, Neb., Oct. 9.—Special to The News: William Kaiser has sold his forty-acre farm, a mile north of town, to Arthur McSweeney for 4,200—just $105 per acre. Kaiser is feeling pretty good over the sale and McSweeney is feeling even better over the purchase. CORPORATION TAX HOLDS. Democratic Candidate for Supreme Judge, Falls to Break Law. Lincoln, Oct. 9.—Judge J. J. Sullivan, democratic candidate for the supreme bench of Nebraska, has been unsuccessful in his attempt to prevent the collection of a tax on corporations under the act introduced by Senator King and passed by the 1909 legislature. The case involving the constitutionality of this law was decided by Judge Frost of the Lancaster county district court, holding it to be a valid enactment and sustaining the demurrers of Secretary of State Junkin, against whom the proceeding was directed by the two corporations which brought it. FUNERAL OF FRANK NOHEL. Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen Have Charge of Services. The funeral of Frank Nohel, the Northwestern railroad brakeman who was killed at the Elkhorn river bridge west of Norfolk last Wednesday, was held from the Methodist church yesterday afternoon. Dr. C. W. Ray had charge of the services. The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, of which Mr. Nohel was a member, had charge of the funeral arrangements and from their membership the following pallbearers were selected: A. C. Gamut, C. C. Nooner, Fred Weber, L. Z. Lee, H. B. Evans, Harry Lenon and William Beck. Frank Nohel was born in Austria October 18, 1880. He came to this country with his parents in 1884. The family located on a farm near Columbus, where Mr. Nohel was married to Miss Mary Bauman. After being employed by the Union Pacific railroad company for some time as brakeman Mr. Nohel moved to Norfolk in 1907. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Nohel over a year ago. Mr. Nohel was employed here by the Northwestern railroad as brakeman up to the time of his sad death, which occurred Wednesday, when he was knocked from his train by the bridge spanning the Elkhorn river near here, killing him instantly. Besides his wife and child Mr. Nohel leaves a father and mother, who reside near Columbus. Among the relatives attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Bauman of Columbus, parents of Mrs. Nohel, and Mrs. Josse, her sister, also of Columbus. Card of Thanks. To the many friends and neighbors who have been so kind to us during the bereavement which came to us in the death of Mr. Nohel, to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who have been so thoughtful, and to the A. L. Killian Co. for their beautiful floral offerings, we wish to extend sincere thanks. Mrs. Frank Nohel, Mrs. Bauman, Emil Hosner, Mr. and Mrs. Josse. Want to Teach School. Gregory County Herald: County Superintendent Latta Bailey arrived home Tuesday from a trip through the western part of the county. Miss Bailey was gathering material for her annual report. The county superintendent has received reports from twenty-nine schools that are in session, but there is a great shortage of teachers, and there are 108 schools in the county. She has daily request for teachers and thus far has been unable to supply the demand. The shortage of teachers this year is much greater than in former years. Wayne Normal Notes. Professor Puffer delivered the Saturday 1 o'clock talk last week. The Norfolk football team came and, as a result, several of our boys are nursing sore spots since the game last Saturday afternoon.

Republicans Name Ticket. A republican caucus consisting of Norfolk precinct, outside, and First, Second, Third and Fourth wards of the city of Norfolk, was held at the city hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock and although the attendance was good, on account of the weather conditions many who intended to be present were absent and many were late in coming. Two constables, two justices of the peace, two assessors for Norfolk city, one assessor for outside, one road overseer were nominated. The meeting was called to order by Chairman Burt Mapes, Jack Koenigstein acting as secretary. The following candidates were named: The committee to fill all vacancies: For justices of the peace—C. P. Eiseley, George C. Lambert. For constables—G. F. Bilger, James Covert. For road overseer—Obed Raasch. For precinct assessor—Samuel Parks. For city assessor—W. H. Widaman. For district assessor—F. G. Coryell. Another Store Is Burglarized. Burglers entered the People's Department store some time after 9 o'clock last night and got away with over $50 worth of jewelry consisting of rings, bracelets, watch chains and fobs, stick pins and society pins. The robbers also took a slab of bacon and ham. From the fact that the most valuable jewelry was picked out by the thieves, it is thought they were familiar with the store and it is thought the robbery was committed by those who have been doing other similar work in the city in the past month. Entrance was forced through a back window. The lights in the store were burning all night. C. W. McMasters, manager of the store, was out of the city but returned at noon. Says Weekes Must Pay Bill. A judgment for $70.84 was secured against W. H. Weekes in Justice Lambert's court Saturday morning by the Press Publishing company for job stock which was sold to Weekes last January and for which he had never paid. Weekes confessed judgment and, besides the full amount for which he was sued, will have to pay the costs of suit, $6.30. Suit was brought against W. H. and Marie Weekes, but at Weekes' request the court dismissed the name of Mrs. Weekes from the action. The case had been in court for some months. This suit was independent of the one in which the Press Publishing company sued Weekes for the rent of their plant. Band at Neligh. Neligh, Neb., Oct. 11.—Special to The News: The Neligh Concert band, recently organized, consists of the following officers: President, Leon Leonard; vice president, Harry Bowser; secretary, Walter Huxford; treasurer, Carlyle Jones; leader, Alvin E. Graybill. The band is composed of twenty members, and all young men of this city. Over $700 has been expended by the players in securing new instruments, which are all highly finished and nickel plated. The boys will make their first public appearance this fall tomorrow afternoon at Riverside park, when Columbus day will be observed in this city. So She Shot Him. Gregory Times: On last Friday Ed Hulbert was shot by Mrs. Joe Sedlacek. The wound was not serious but had the effect intended. It appears that Hulbert's cattle had been running at large and gotten into Sedlacek's fields, whereupon Joe took them up. On Friday Hulbert came for them while Joe was away. Mrs. Sedlacek refused to let him have them without the damages being paid. Hulbert was going to take them whether or no, but failed to reckon the would spurn anything weighing less and winged him in the leg and he left without the cattle. He proceeded to have her arrested and the hearing was held at Bonesteel Saturday and continued to October 9. It is reported that there has been considerable trouble with these cattle in the neighborhood and sympathy seems to be with the woman. Wayne Normal Notes. Professor Puffer delivered the Saturday 1 o'clock talk last week. The Norfolk football team came and, as a result, several of our boys are nursing sore spots since the game last Saturday afternoon.

On motion the board then adjourned to October 26, 1909, at 1 o'clock. Geo. E. Richardson, County Clerk. KNOX IS GIVEN A DRUBBING. Cornhuskers Show Great Improvement Over Dakota Game. Lincoln, Oct. 11.—Nebraska trampled over the speedy eleven from Knox college at Antelope park Saturday, exhibiting much better form than a week ago and scoring thirty-four points in two short halves of twenty and twenty-five minutes, while they kept the Galesburg men from getting near their goal. The fumbling which proved so costly in the game with South Dakota was not in evidence, and the Cornhuskers, instead of suffering from fumbles, gained a great deal, as a result of the poor handling of the oval by the men from Galesburg. Nebraska's backfield was a terror to the Knox line and could not be resisted. Play after play, directed at tackle and center, netted the Cornhuskers good gains at almost every attack. The wings of the visiting eleven were skirted for many long gains. Ratlone at fullback hammered the line and smashed his way through for several yards during each half. Frank, right halfback, who fumbled in the South Dakota game, was again the sensation, reeling off yard after yard on runs and drives at the line. He wriggled and writhed his way through the defense of the Galesburg men. He was tackled, slipped away, fell down, but got up and plowed on for more yards. He followed his interference, which on most occasions was good, and proved a puzzle for the opposing eleven all through the game. In addition to his great offensive playing he starred in the kicking department, missing but two goals from touchdowns and booting two successful goals from placement out of three attempts. Although one or two glaring faults were noticeable in the Nebraska line, for the most part the men there played a good game. On the defense they were invincible and the Knox men did not once make down through them. On the offense their work was not what it will have to be in order to give Minnesota a hard contest, but it was much superior to that of the first contest with South Dakota. Concerning the Spinal Disease. Tilden citizens: So far as the writer can recollect, this community has never before experienced such alarm as was caused by the first appearance of the disease poliomyelitis which was reported last week. That the epidemic, which first manifested itself in New York and is gradually spreading toward the Pacific, is serious, cannot be questioned; and when once the dire effects of the disease are appreciated, the public will justify radical methods for the prevention of its spread. Physicians of long experience have been baffled by the frequency of cases, largely from the fact that poliomyelitis is not contagious. Scarcely a doctor can be found who has not treated or known of, sporadic cases where permanent paralysis has followed, but in these instances the disease has not been considered more contagious than rheumatism or toothache. The epidemic form is entirely a revelation to physicians, consequently opinion has been divided when the question of public danger from the complaint has been suggested. The one case in Tilden led to the closing of schools and churches, and popular opinion on this official action was about the same as on politics. The school board and town trustees were both commended and cursed as a set of careful, conservative men and a bunch of idiotic fools. Exaggerated Rumors. The scare and exaggerated reports that came to town from various parts
