"Be Sure You're Right!"
Then spend your money.

The above old saying has been changed a bit to fit the occasion. Our advice to people who need anything in new fall Dry Goods is to be sure they are right as regards quality and style, and then spend their money where it will obtain the largest amount of the best merchandise. It is our constant aim and endeavor to give our customers better values than they can obtain elsewhere. And our leadership is due to this policy. If you make sure you are right before spending your money, the chances are you will spend it here.

The races are over and most of our people say that the occasion was a success. Why not advertise your business enterprise with the medium that helps to make a success of anything for the good of our town. While our expense for the occasion was greater than the profits there are some who profited by the races being made successful. Yet, there are some who think they do not owe a newspaper anything and try to slide through on the advertising done and paid for by others.

The Graduates. Saturday evening was the time fixed for the ninth annual commencement exercises of the Valentine High School. The graduates numbered eleven—all young ladies who stand high in the social circle of Valentine, and are possessed of superior qualifications and educational ability, as shown by the able manner in which they delivered their orations on subjects well chosen. "Truth and Purity" a befitting motto, was the one chosen by these young ladies, and blue and white were made the class colors. The program was excellent. Mesdames L. Bivens and S. Morey sang a duet that was full of music. The violin solo by Miss Moses was highly appreciated and the talent of Miss Maxwell was shown in her performance on the piano. The DEMOCRAT congratulates all interested in the graduating exercises for making them the crowning features of school work; for Valentine school, a name to be envied, and for the teaching profession a tribute. The following are the graduates, all of whom were present with the exception of Miss Kneeland: Bertha L. Thorn, Mabel E. Hahn, Lulu F. Hooton, Bertha M. Kneeland, Helen M. McDonald, Maggie Robinson, Inez A. Pettycrow, Ida Stinard, Ada Stinard, Ina L. Flowers Sarah A. Stuppott.

C. W. Gaskill of North Table, tells us that a barn belonging to Levi Woodruff was burned Sunday evening, September 30. Three head of horses were burned, two of them belonging to C. W. Gaskill. About 30 tons of hay, a wagon and five sets of harness were also burned. A lantern had been left hanging in the barn for a few minutes and upon returning the barn was found to be enveloped in flames. It is supposed that some loose horses knocked the lantern down and caused the fire.
