

M'NAMIGAL FAILS IN SECOND ATTACK ON OTIS PROPERTY

Los Angeles Times' Auxiliary Plant Guarded and He Blows Up Iron Works.

GIFFORD TESTIFIES IN CASE Tells of Brown's Claim of Opposition to Violence.

DYNAMITERS ONCE CORNERED McManigal Gives Account of Eluding Detectives in Wisconsin.

M'NAMARA TRIED TO KILL HIM He Says James B. Took Shot at Him While They Were Hunting in Wisconsin—Bombs Dropped Into the Bay.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 21.—Equipped with twelve quarts of strychnine, Orlie E. McManigal, in December, 1910, went to Los Angeles, Cal., commissioned to destroy the Times auxiliary plant and by "adding a few more to the list of dead," to take suspicion off James B. McNamara, who had killed twenty-one persons in the wreck of the Times building two months before.

McManigal so testified today at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial. He named men other than the McNamaras as having inspired the second Los Angeles plot. He said he was prevented from carrying it out on the discovery on reaching Los Angeles that the auxiliary plant was too well guarded. Instead he set a bomb in an iron works plant to explode on Christmas day.

That was the "Christmas present" he said Orlie A. Twetmoe, a labor leader in San Francisco, had asked for and on his return east he stopped off at and on the temple in San Francisco and on Twetmoe being absent he left this message with Eugene A. Clancy: "Tell Twetmoe his Christmas present has been delivered."

It was the same "Christmas present," the government charges, which Twetmoe later referred to in a letter to Frank M. Ryan, president of the iron workers' union.

Ward C. Gifford of Omaha testified concerning an interview with W. Bert Brown, Kansas City, a defendant, at the time of the latter's arrest on the government charges of conspiring illegally to transport explosives.

Gifford said Brown declared he had lost his job as business agent of the union because he was opposed to violence in labor disputes.

On his return to Indianapolis, McManigal said he was "called down" by John J. McNamara, because not enough damage had been done at Los Angeles, and John J. proposed to send to Los Angeles by express bombs so regulated that they would explode when unwrapped, but McManigal protested, saying the explosions might occur on the train and kill innocent people.

How employs of W. J. Burns, a detective, had the Los Angeles dynamiters "cornered" in a room in a boarding house at Conover, Wis., five months before the arrests were made and allowed them to escape, was related by McManigal.

McManigal said in November, 1910, the month after the Times building was blown up, he and James B. McNamara had been hunting five miles from Conover, when one day he missed James B., and later found him drunk in the boarding house.

McManigal said McNamara's description had been published everywhere and he had received mail at Conover, but after a discussion with the detectives they managed to escape. McNamara the next month caused another explosion at Los Angeles, and ten other explosions followed before the arrests in April, 1911.

On their escape from the Wisconsin woods McManigal said James B. a second time attempted to kill him.

"He wanted me to hold up a tin can and let him shoot a hole through it," McManigal said. "I told him to put a hole through himself if he wanted to kill anybody."

"When I saw James B. in the company of the detectives I thought the game was up," said McManigal. "I told him this."

Hundreds Are Swindled by 'Garlic Bank'

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Agitation which has recently sprung up in Chicago for state control of private banks, led J. H. Nicolai, attorney for the Italian consul, to draw attention to what is known as the "Garlic Bank."

The "Garlic Bank" is started," he said, "by an Italian whose only asset is his ingenuity. He became secretary for a whole community of illiterate Italians, who know nothing about American ways of doing business. Then he starts a bank."

"As soon as the first deposits come in the banker invests them in a grocery. The first decoration of an Italian grocery is a string of garlic in the window. As he prospers they become more numerous."

"To the Italian these strings look like real money. The grocer becomes famous for his 'wealth' and deposits come pouring into him. He pays no interest and gives no receipts. Then he disappears."

An investigation follows and it is found the "garlic banker" has left no address, and his only assets are found to be strings of garlic."

Mr. Nicolai says in the last two years as many as twenty of these banks have failed. The depositors did not even know enough to complain. Hundreds of families, he said, have given up all of their money to them.

Hayes Says Gompers' Report Favors the Democratic Party

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Protracted and excited debate occurred at this morning's session of the American Federation of Labor over a portion of the report by the committees on the president's report.

The direct point of argument was the attitude of President Gompers during the recent campaign. In which the committee concurred. Delegates representing the so-called conservative and radical wings of the federation took sides on the question. Max S. Hayes of the radicals, particularly assailed the committee's report.

He declared he would not stand by the report, which, he said, favored the democratic party.

In the discussion the conservative element supported President Gompers' stand. The radical element supported Hayes.

A motion to allow the executive council to take over the matter of forming a new national labor party was defeated by a decisive vote, and the motion that the federation should continue its policy of nonparticipation in politics was carried.

Norfolk's Charity Fund for Sufferers of Frisco Quake

NORFOLK, Neb., Nov. 21.—(Special Telegram.)—Mayor John Friday made public today for the first time the story of how he diverted about $300 raised in Norfolk for San Francisco earthquake sufferers six years ago to a private bank account in his name and how he has been using the money for donations to local charity ever since, until now only a few dollars remain.

The mayor says after Norfolk had sent a carload of provisions, more money came in for the earthquake and he heard that no more money was needed, so he deposited the money in a bank and has since drawn on it to contribute to poor people in Norfolk as he saw fit.

Mr. Friday was mayor then as now, though for some years between he was out of office, the money remaining in his care in the meantime.

Says Hyde Obtained Loan by Threats

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Charles H. Hyde, former city chamberlain, on trial charged with agreeing to receive a bribe and with receiving an unlawful fee, virtually compelled Joseph G. Robin, convicted head of the now defunct Northern bank, to lend the Carnegie Trust company $100,000 to meet a crucial situation, declared District Attorney Whitman in his opening address today.

"Hyde said to Robin in substance: 'If you make this loan I will increase your city deposits; if you don't, I will draw out every cent.'" Mr. Whitman charged, whereupon Robin capitulated.

The $100,000 transaction, continued the district attorney, was only one of a series of connected transactions.

Specifically Mr. Whitman said he would show that in one instance $15,000 of the funds of the Carnegie Trust company went into the defendant's pocket.

Elected a Bishop in State of Vermont

Charles H. Weeks of this city has received word that his brother, Rev. William Farrar Weeks of Shelburne, Vt., has been elected bishop of the Episcopal church of the diocese of the state of Vermont and that he will be ordained shortly before Lent.

Rev. Mr. Weeks has visited in this city several times and is well known by the Episcopal clergy here. He was graduated from Williams college in 1881 and has been in the ministry in Vermont twenty-eight years, having been rector of three parishes during that time.

JOHNSON GIVEN THREE WEEKS TO FILE DEMURRER

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, was granted by United States District Judge Carpenter today three weeks in which to file demurrers to the five charges against him of violation of the Mann white slave act in transporting Belle Schreiber, a white woman, across different state boundaries for immoral purposes.

Johnson, who was represented by four attorneys, pleaded not guilty to the charge of smuggling a diamond necklace from Europe.

MORE THAN HUNDRED KILLED BY HURRICANE

Storm in Western Part of Jamaica Accomplishes Tremendous Damage to Property.

TIDAL WAVE WRECKS SHIPS Large Proportion of Sailors Lose Their Lives.

AMERICAN COLONY SUMFERS Vessel Washed Half Mile Up Street of Town.

FIFTY BODIES ARE RECOVERED Nearly All Houses in Savannah in Mar Blown Down and Hotels, Stations and Churches Are Unroofed.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Nov. 21.—The official estimate of the dead in the hurricane and tidal wave which visited the western part of Jamaica places the number at more than 100 on the coast towns alone. Details gradually coming in indicate great devastation in the western section.

Practically all lighters, coasting sloops and small craft in the harbors of Green Island, Montego Bay, Lucrea and Savannah la Mar foundered and a large proportion of the crews were drowned. Many persons living in these towns lost their lives in the collapse of buildings.

The houses of the American colony at Montego Bay were badly damaged, but no casualties are reported. The governor general of Jamaica, Sir Sydney Olivier, reached Montego Bay today and found conditions so direful that he immediately ordered the dispatch of several hundred additional tents and large quantities of food supplies from Kingston. The railway lines are now working within twenty miles of Montego bay, but the telegraph lines are still disorganized.

Wave Biggest in Century. The tidal wave at Savannah la Mar was the highest in a century. One coasting vessel was washed half a mile up the main street. Fully 85 per cent of the houses were blown down during the hurricane. The principal hotels were unroofed, as were all the churches and the railway stations. The sea swept over the streets in the lower sections of the town and rows of dwellings were piled up in a gigantic heap at the mouth of a gully, where the largest number of bodies were recovered.

An American tourist who happened to be in that town during the hurricane, said fifty bodies had been recovered up to the time of his departure.

At Green Island, eighteen miles southwest of Lucrea, the American said, there was much wreckage ashore and afloat, but no sign of life could be discerned.

At Lucrea ten dead bodies were found directly after the storm had subsided.

Hundred and Forty - Two Arrests Made in New Crusade

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—One hundred and forty-two persons including ninety-nine men and forty-three women have been arrested in the government's anti-careless crusade today, according to a circular issued yesterday by the division of inspection in the Postoffice department. Forty-two business concerns were included in official reports, approximately fifty representatives of the concerns having been arrested.

The tabulations show no returns thus far as to the arrest of twenty persons indicted by federal grand juries in various parts of the country prior to the raid. The total roundup will exceed probably the total of 113 fixed yesterday by the inspectors, because arrests were made in a few cases in Chicago and in the far west where the department did not know the cases were ready. In very few instances there was failure to make the arrests determined upon.

Divorced Beauty Marries Chauffeur, Not His Employer

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Aimee Givens, divorced wife of Robert S. Givens, member of Chicago's fashionable set and former Detroit beauty, who eloped Wednesday to Crown Point, Ind., with a man she believed was a son of Marshall K. Kirkman, former vice president of the Northwestern railroad, was told today that the man was Mr. Kirkman's chauffeur.

At the marriage, which took place at 2 o'clock in the morning, the bridegroom gave his name as "Edward B. Kirkman." There is no member of the Kirkman family by that name.

Servants in the Kirkman household assert that "Edward B. Kirkman" in reality is William Boehm, Mr. Kirkman's chauffeur, recently released from service. Detectives are searching for Boehm, who is said to have gone to Danville, Ill.

Passengers and Porter Quarantined in Sleeping Car

DENVER, Nov. 21.—Eight passengers and a Pullman porter will be compelled to remain under quarantine for two weeks in the sleeper at Castle Rock, Colo., as a result of the discovery of a case of smallpox by the conductor of Santa Fe passenger train No. 8, due in Denver at 9:45 this morning from Chicago.

R. C. Jones, the patient, boarded the sleeper at La Junta, Colo., the disease developing after he had boarded the train. State board of health officials ordered the Pullman out of the train and the passengers and cars are undergoing fumigation. Jones was hurried by automobile from Castle Rock to the Denver best house.

Sioux City Election Officials Are Indicted

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Nov. 21.—The Woodbury county grand jury this afternoon indicted C. J. Matloy and a Democrat and Charles Mercure, judges of election in the Second precinct of the Fifth ward during the special telephone merger election, and Ed Woodin and H. Hess, clerks of the election board.

Three indictments were returned against each election official. The charges are official neglect and misconduct as public election officials; making and permitting false entries on the poll books and registers; conspiracy.

Trial of Schrank Will Proceed Friday

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 21.—The trial of John Schrank, charged with attempting to kill Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, will proceed tomorrow, it was announced by Judge Backus in municipal court today. The commission of alienists which has been examining into Schrank's mental condition, it is expected, will be ready to report at that time.

MANIAC PUZZLES ALIENISTS Curious Mental Stunts of Bomb Maker Confuse Experts.

WAS INJURED IN HIS YOUTH His Mother Says He Was Kicked in the Head by His Stepmother When He Was Twelve Years Old.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 21.—Carl Hiedelbach, who invaded central police station Tuesday with an infernal machine, was arraigned in the municipal court today and charged with a violation of the section of the penal code which prohibits the placing of dynamite in any place where human beings congregate, with malicious purpose to kill or maim. One year to life imprisonment is the penalty prescribed.

The arraignment was the result of a decision today on the part of the authorities that none of the state hospitals for the insane has sufficient safeguards against the escape of homicidal lunatics.

Hiedelbach showed no symptoms of skull fracture when brought into court. His preliminary hearing was set for next Monday.

Carl Hiedelbach, the bomb maker of many aliases, who emptied the municipal police building Tuesday, when he walked in carrying enough dynamite to blow up a city block, continued today to puzzle alienists with evidences of curious mental stunts that impair an otherwise well poised intellect.

"Next to Lincoln, the emancipator, I am the greatest man in the world," said Hiedelbach, complacently to the alienists today. "Are the papers not full of accounts of me?"

"I wanted a wife, children, home," he added. "Had life given me all of those, I never would have thought of what I tried to do. There are many men like me."

The authorities have not yet determined just what to do with Hiedelbach, but it is probable that he will be committed to an asylum.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 21.—The mother of Carl Warr, whose dynamite escapade has startled Los Angeles, has been found here and she talks freely of her son. She attributes his eccentricities to a kick on the head administered by his stepfather when he was 12 years old.

"Often afterward," said Mrs. Warr, "Carl complained he felt as if his head were so full of blood that it would run out of his eyes and he was never quite right from that time on. Before he was hurt he was not a bad boy."

Mrs. Warr explained that Carl was the son of her first husband, John Hiedelbach, and was born in Germany thirty-six years ago. Hiedelbach died, and the widow, becoming a convert to the Mormon faith, emigrated with her seven children to Utah twenty-four years ago. Here she was married to John Warr and the children took his name.

Mrs. Warr says that Carl had the finger of his left hand blown off by a dynamite cap which he found while herding sheep fifteen years ago, and a year later shot himself in the hip accidentally while herding near Tooele. It is believed that these mishaps caused him to brood over explosions and explosives.

Charges Against Cash Register Co. Outlined to Jury

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 21.—With the jury completed, the second stage of the trial of John H. Patterson and twenty-nine other officials and former officials of the National Cash Register company of Dayton, O., who are charged with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, was expected to be entered upon in the United States district court here today.

Attorney Harrison told the jury that the government would seek to prove that the cash register company set aside $5 from the sale of each machine to provide an expense fund to fight competition. A special force of men, he charged, employed by the competition department were called "knockout men" and used only to induce businessmen to repudiate contracts with other cash register concerns.

WHISKY AND BEER ARE HIDDEN IN CAR OF BRAN

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 21.—Sixty barrels of whiskey and sixty barrels of beer, consigned to Tulsa, Okla., as a cargo on a car, were seized here last night in the St. Louis and San Francisco railway yards by officers of the department of justice. Officers say that fictitious names were used for both consignee and consignor. It was the largest shipment of liquor intended for Oklahoma ever intercepted here.

Arrests will be made upon charges of shipping liquor without labels and of slipping liquor into an Indian country.

DEAN OF DOUGLAS COUNTY BAR CALLED TO LAST REST.

JUDGE ELBAZER WAKELEY.

JUDGE WAKELEY IS DEAD Nestor of Douglas County Bar Passes Away at Noon Yesterday.

Illness Brought On by Fall—Venerable Judge, Ninety Years of Age, Unable to Rally from the Attack of Vertigo.

Judge Elbazer Wakeley, aged 90 years, dean of the Omaha bar, died at 12:45 yesterday afternoon at his home, 677 North Nineteenth street, following an illness lasting over a period of six weeks. The cause of death was vertigo. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but the service probably will be held Sunday afternoon at Trinity cathedral. Dean James A. Tancock will have charge.

Eleanor Wakeley was born in Homer, Cortland county, New York, June 15, 1822, the eldest of three sons, with one older and one younger sister. His people for several generations were New Englanders. While still a baby the family removed to Buffalo, Erie county, then a village of 3,000 people. In 1829 the family moved from Buffalo precinct to a farm in the same county. The boy was sent to the country schools and later was given two terms in a private academy. With his parents he removed in 1836 to Lorain county, in northern Ohio, where again they settled on a farm near Elroy, the county seat. In the Elroy High school the young man passed two years studying Latin and higher mathematics.

It was at this time the young man got his inspiration to study law, having been a frequent listener to the many lawsuits tried in the county seat near which he lived. In those days to be a lawyer meant a great deal to any man, not so much from a financial standpoint, but from the standpoint of influence and respectability, especially if the lawyer chanced to be a good orator.

Runs for Office. For two and a half years he studied. In August, 1844, Mr. Wakeley was admitted to practice. A year later he was the democratic nominee for prosecuting attorney of Lorain county, but as most democrats did in Ohio, he went down in defeat.

The same year he removed to Wisconsin, then a territory, and settled at Whitewater, Walworth county, a village of 1,000 people. Without money or friends, he hunk out his shingle and by sticking to business soon had his share of the practice in that county. During the eleven years following Mr. Wakeley was elected a member of the house of representatives and was a member of the committee which drafted the constitution under which Wisconsin was admitted to the union. He was twice elected to the senate and during his last term was president pro tem of that body. He also served for a time as a member of the Board of Regents of the Wisconsin university, but resigned that position.

In January, 1877, Mr. Wakeley was appointed by President Pierce associate justice of the supreme court of Nebraska, taking the place of James Bradley of Indiana, who had shortly before resigned. The Third district, to which Judge Wakeley was assigned, consisted of Washington, Iowa, and all the unorganized counties north and west of them. This district comprised an area of 25,000 square miles and stretched to the Canadian border on the north and the Rocky mountains on the west. He reached Omaha April 21, 1877.

The criminal and civil codes had been repealed and new laws enacted to take effect in June, leaving the state absolutely without statutory law.

Holds Court Regularly. Judge Wakeley set about to bring order out of chaos and his first act was to announce the holding of court regularly. He established two terms of court yearly in Dakota county, and at each had a grand jury and petit jury, and generally worked out his ends. In 1881 Judge Wakeley at the request of the entire bar was reappointed. At the conclusion of his second term Judge Wakeley returned to Madison, Wis., and formed a partnership with his brother, C. T. Wakeley, William F. Vilas, latter a member of President Cleveland's cabinet and a United States senator, was a member of this firm for some years.

In 1887 Judge Wakeley again returned to Omaha and began the active practice of law. For some years he was assistant

China Prepares for War With Russia to Retain Mongolia

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 21.—Cablegrams received from China in the local Chinese quarter announce that the republic in preparing to go to war with Russia for the possession of Mongolia. The big secret societies which fostered the revolution have been exchanging dispatches with President Yuan Shi Kai.

The Young China association has opened subscription lists and lecturers have spoken at every Chinatown corner explaining the encroachments of the czar's troops in the ancient Chinese territory.

Dispatches have been received here by You Gook Hark, secretary to Fung Chi You, secretary of state of Yuan Shi Kai's cabinet, to the effect that an army of 60,000 has been mobilized in Peking and that General Wong Hing, hero of the revolution, has been appointed its leader.

According to a report, General Wong Hing already has ordered his army north to Mongolia, with instructions to establish military rule in Mongolia and drive Russian soldiers out.

TERMS OFFERED BY BALKAN ALLIES ARE REJECTED BY TURKS

Nazim Pasha, Commander-in-Chief, Has Been Ordered to Resume Hostilities.

TURKISH GRAND VIZIER TALKS Bulgarians Ask for Adrianople, Scutari and Tchahalja Lines.

LOSSES OF BURGARIANS HEAVY Eight Thousand Killed and Wounded in Tchahalja Fight.

EDWARD GREY DENIES REPORT British Foreign Minister Says Question of General Conference of the Powers Has Not Been Considered.

BULLETIN. PARIS, Nov. 21.—France today notified the Turkish government that it would hold Turkey responsible for any violence against Christians and asked it to adopt rigid measures to prevent any outbreaks.

BULLETIN. CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 21.—The Ottoman government has rejected the terms offered by the allied Balkan nations Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, has been ordered to resume operations.

The official announcement of the rejection of Bulgaria's terms reads: The ports, finding the Bulgarian conditions for an armistice unacceptable, has ordered Nazim Pasha to resume military operations."

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Bulgarian terms of peace are impossible, according to the Turkish grand vizier, and if they are insisted on the war will continue. He made this statement to the correspondent of the Daily Mail at Constantinople today.

"I received last night communication through the Russian ambassador to Turkey of the terms which the Bulgarians suggest for an armistice as a preliminary to the discussion of the terms of peace. The terms are impossible and unless they are radically altered the war will continue."

The Bulgarians ask for the surrender of Adrianople, Scutari, Janina and the Tchahalja lines.

The only hope of peace, the correspondent adds, now seems to lie in the fact that these demands of the allies probably were determined upon before the unsuccessful attacks were made by the Bulgarians on the Tchahalja lines during the first three days of this week.

There has been much talk of a European conference as soon as hostilities cease, for the discussion of international questions arising out of the war. Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, however, announced today in the House of Commons that the question whether a conference should or should not be held had not been definitely considered by the European powers.

The Bulgarian losses in dead and wounded during the fighting at Tchahalja totaled 8,000, according to official figures telegraphed by a special correspondent from Constantinople today. Terrible damage was done to the Bulgarian column which attacked the Turkish left wing, particularly by the shells from the Turkish warships. One of these fell on a Bulgarian ammunition train, which exploded, resulting in great loss of life.

Bulgarian Movements Pausing. Reliable eye-witnesses of the fighting on the Turkish left wing at Tchahalja report that it appears to have resulted in the Bulgarians retiring along the road from Papan Burgas toward the village of Tchahalja, according to the correspondent of the Daily News. One report says they fell back ten miles.

It appears, according to this correspondent, doubtful whether the enthusiastic descriptions by the Turkish press of victories on the right wing are realistic.

The Turkish losses here have been admittedly heavy, but the arrival of troops from Syria has further strengthened the Turkish defense. It is also evident that the supply and commissariat difficulties of the Ottoman army have been somewhat relieved.

The conclusion is drawn in Constantinople that it should now be easier to arrange terms unless the Turkish military authorities make the mistake of suppressing the news.
