AIM AT EFFICIENT SERVICE

So Declares J. B. Wootan in Convocation Address at Bellevue.

TALKS VALUE OF EDUCATION

Entire Student Body and Faculty Gather in Clarke Hall for the Annual Convocation of the College.

The annual convocation at Bellevue college yesterday brought the entire student body and faculty with President S. W. Stockey at the head, together in Clarke hall, and despite the rainy weather, a number of visitors.

Dr. Stephen Phelps of the faculty presided over the meeting and the convocation address was made by James B. Wootan of The Bee on "The Value of Education."

"The aim of education," he said, "is to develop character and fit men and women for the duties of life. The highest duty of life is efficient service, because that is the prime need of life. The value of education, then, is in sending men and women into the world equipped for efficient service."

"The book lessons were but means to an end to be mastered, of course, in order to accomplish the end, but a mind trained to think in terms of social needs was the really important purpose of the book learning. The high product of education must meet the most warring tests of the world's needs to vindicate its value. All lines of useful service fall within the center of gravity in every life and the center of gravity is never found within the small circle of selfish gain or glory," he said. "Education must have a higher motive than merely self-culture for selfish ends."

Breen Says Seven Names May Be on One Recall Petition

"Oh, there is nothing to that," said John P. Breen, when asked what he thought of the opinion of Judge Ben Baker to the effect that the recall petition now being circulated against the seven city commissioners would not be legal unless such proposed candidates for their places was placed on a separate petition by himself. "No, they may all be on one petition," said Mr. Breen, "but at that I rather doubt whether the recall is workable the way the law reads at present."

Mr. Breen is the man that drew the commission form of government bill under which the Omaha commission is operating. He says that he believes it was all right the way he first drew it, but has a suspicion that the way the law was amended before it was finally passed, the recall part of it is hardly workable.

"I believe they will get their petition filed up, though," he said, when asked whether the circulating of the petition would result in anything definite, or whether it would fall through. He said he did not know who was back of it, but that he had been approached on the proposition some weeks ago.

GRAND LODGE TAKES PART OF POWER FROM ITSELF

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 15.—The sovereign grand lodge of Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which for more than a quarter of a century has been the court of last resort in all matters pertaining to the order, took from itself part of this power today, when it decided to adopt a referendum in settling all matters of vital importance. The question of reducing the age limit for entrance to the order will be one of the first to be settled by this method. This was practically the only legislation enacted today by the supreme body of Odd Fellowship, now in session here.

This afternoon more than 30,000 delegates and visiting Odd Fellows went to St. Paul as guests of the several Odd Fellow lodges in that city.

The following officers of the International Association of Past Presidents of the Rebekah lodges were elected at a session last night: Mrs. Rose McCroskie, Palouse, Wash., president; Mrs. Mae McKinnon, Winnipeg, first vice president; Mrs. Myrtle Cummins, Minneapolis, second vice president; Mrs. L. Marsh, Vermillion, S. D., third vice president; Mrs. Martha Fremont, Laconia, N. H., secretary; Mrs. Emma Talbot, Omaha, treasurer.

Costly Acquaintance.

Two close-fisted Missouri brothers sued a neighbor for $250 owing on a land deal. They engaged the best lawyer in their county seat. The lawyer won the case. The brothers called to see about his fee. One stayed outside and the other went in. "How much is it?" he asked. "Well," said the lawyer, "I won't be hard on you. I've known both you boys since you were children and I know your pap. I guess $200 will be about right." The inquiring brother went out dashed. "Lord, George," he said to the one outside, "I'm darn glad he didn't know grandpa, too!"—Saturday Evening Post.
