JUSTICE SHEPPARD DISSENTS Holds Ruling Should Be Reversed and Statute of Limitations Has Run—Sees No Need of Apology.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Contempt of court judgments against Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, the labor leaders, for their violation of a court's injunction in the noted Bucks Stove and Range case, were affirmed today by the district court of appeals, but the jail sentences imposed were held to have been too severe, so the court reduced Gompers' sentence from one year to thirty days and decreed that Mitchell and Morrison should be fined $500 each.

The lower court sentenced Mitchell to nine months and Morrison to six. The supreme court of the United States undoubtedly will be asked again to review the decision. Unlike previous decisions in this case, which have been unanimously against the labor leaders, the court of appeals was divided.

Chief Justice Sheppard dissented, held that the whole decision should be reversed; that contempt of a federal court was a criminal offense and that the statute of limitations had run in the case. Justice Van Orsdel, who concurred in the majority opinion, held that the refusal of Mitchell to assure the lower court of his intention to obey the mandate of inferior courts in the future was "important in measuring the intent and temper of the respondents."

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Wilson received today by telegraph a copy of the alien land bill passed by the California legislature, now awaiting Governor Johnson's signature. He let it be known that the federal administration would take no further step until Secretary Bryan returns Thursday, with first-hand information. Mr. Wilson told his callers that he had not yet received the formal protest of Japan and intimated that before May 13, the last day for Governor Johnson to sign the bill, some expressions might be expected as to whether it would be in contravention of the treaty with Japan.

In the absence of instructions to the contrary, Ambassador China will present Japan's formal protest, until after Secretary Bryan returns. In the meantime, the embassy will have opportunity to exact terms of the bill and of conditions in California and in Washington.

Webb Bill Probably Legal. Meanwhile the government legal experts are studying the Webb bill in an effort to locate what may be points of attack. BOMB FOUND AMONG PARCELS COLLECTED BY LONDON CARRIER

Package Contained Enough Nitro-glycerin and Gunpowder to Destroy Postal Building.

SUFFRAGETTES ARE SUSPECTED

There is, However, No Direct Clue to Author of Outrage.

MRS. PANKHURST IS THE DOSS

Prosecutor Describes Militant Tactics in Address to Court.

WILD WOMEN OBEY HER ORDERS

He Says Receipts Found in Office Show that Members of Union Convicted of Crime Were Penitents.

LONDON, May 5.—A bomb containing sufficient nitro-glycerin to demolish the great building was found among the packages collected by the parcels post at the southeastern district postoffice today. No clue was obtained, but the police attach suspicion to the militant suffragettes. The metallic sound made by the parcel aroused suspicion among the employees, several of whom were on duty at the time. The package was plunged into water and the police who were called opened it and found it filled with gun powder, a quantity of slugs and a tube of nitro-glycerine.

Great interest was taken in the police court proceedings against the suffragette leaders, held on charges of conspiracy under the malicious damage act, which were resumed at Bow Street today. Archibald Bodkin, the prosecuting counsel for the treasury, in opening the case, described the law of conspiracy and said the defendants had been constantly meeting together. He referred to "General" Mrs. Drummond as a "violent and unscrupulous woman." He said Clayton, the chemist, in whose possession were found documents describing a plan of campaign for burning down buildings in London, had put his brains at the disposal of the women for carrying out crimes and producing what their own paper described as "A reign of terror in London."

From the comfortable seclusion of Paris, Mr. Bodkin added, Miss Christabel Pankhurst had sent an article every week to the suffragette paper, either commending what had happened during the preceding week or inciting further acts of militancy.

Mrs. Pankhurst is Dictator. Illustrating the control exercised by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst over the "Wild Women," Mr. Bodkin called attention to her declaration of a truce while Parliament was discussing the government's franchise bill. At a word from her, he said, militancy stopped, only to be resumed at her command when the bill was defeated.

"The doings of these miscreants," he continued, "were openly published in the newspaper, The Suffragette, which is an organ of crime." Referring to the conspiracy revealed in correspondence of the chemist, Clayton, with Miss Annie Kenney, Mr. Bodkin said:

"It is a terrible thing for a man to prostitute his knowledge to carry out such wicked acts as the burning of buildings and the explosion of bombs.

"The documents seized at the headquarters of the militant suffragettes include receipts for money paid to suffragettes convicted of crimes, which apparently qualified them to be placed on the pension list.

"In Mrs. Harriet Kerr's room were found letters from an engineer named Buckner, living in Hamburg, Germany, offering to sell for $700 a quantity of pungent powder for use in music halls, theaters and other public places. The powder was guaranteed to cause violent sneezing and tremendous irritation of the skin."

"Another letter read by Mr. Bodkin referred to a proposal by the suffragettes to damage some stock yards in Great Britain. The cost of the scheme, $100,000, was probably the reason why it was not immediately accepted. The letter said:

"The results of the job will be splendid."

When Mrs. Beatrice Saunders was arrested and searched at the militant headquarters she attempted to destroy a letter giving details of these investments made by the Women's Social and Political Union.

ADVERTISEMENTS AS CHRONICLERS OF CURRENT FASHIONS
