He quoted the platform of the State Republicans, showing that it commended the very things done by the administration. In appeals to Democracy for union, harmony and good feeling he was very forcible, while his tribute to Southern valor and Southern womanhood was masterly oratory.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

The President Issues His Annual Proclamation.

Washington, Oct. 29.—President Roosevelt today issued his proclamation designating Thursday, November 27, as a day of Thanksgiving. It follows:
By the President of the United States of America:

According to the yearly custom of our people, it falls upon the president at this season to appoint a day of festival and thanksgiving to God. Over a century and a quarter has passed since this country took its place among the nations of the earth, and during that time we have had on the whole more to be thankful for than has fallen to the lot of any other people. Generation after generation has grown to manhood and passed away. Each had to bear its peculiar burdens, each had to face its special crisis, and each has known years of grim trial, when the country was menaced by malice, domestic or foreign levy, when the hand of the Lord was heavy upon it in death or flood or pestilence, when in bodily distress and anguish of soul it paid the penalty of the folly and froward heart. Nevertheless, decade by decade, we have struggled onward and upward; we now abundantly enjoy material well-being, and under the favor of the Most High we are striving earnestly to achieve moral and spiritual uplifting. The year that has just closed has been one of peace and of overflowing plenty. Rarely has any people enjoyed greater prosperity than we are now enjoying. For this we render heartfelt and solemn thanks to the river of good; and we seek to praise Him not by words only, but by deeds, by the way in which we do our duty to ourselves and to our fellow-man.

Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, do hereby designate as a day of general thanksgiving Thursday, the twenty-seventh of the coming November, and do recommend that throughout the land the people cease from their ordinary occupations, and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks unto Almighty God for the manifold blessings of the past year.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 29th day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and two, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-seventh.

(Signed) THEODORE ROOSEVELT
By the president:

Secretary of State.

INSPIRED BY AYCOCK.

Richmond County Welcomes the Governor and Mr. Overman In Grand Style.

Rockingham, N. C., Oct. 30.—The Richmond Democracy gave a splendid reception to-day to Governor Aycock and Hon. Lee S. Overman. It was the Governor's first visit to Richmond since it threw off the yoke of Republicanism, and he came to-day, he said, more to meet and rejoice with our people and to help lay foundations for the future than to help carry the county this time, for he said he expected every white man in the county would vote the Democratic ticket this year, from the enthusiastic expressions of the people.

After the speaking it appears that this suppression will be almost literally true as to the large crowd who heard him. The crowd present was estimated at from twelve to fifteen hundred. There were many ladies in the audience.

The entire crowd formed into a procession with carriages, horseback and afoot, and a brass band met the speakers and escorted them to the grounds of the graded school where the speaking took place in the open air.

The Governor spoke with force in defense of the State administration, and he won the heart of every wayward Democrat who heard him. He plead for a period of unity and education and upbuilding. He not only enthused Democrats, but he inspired them with a better feeling of unity and friendship.

Mr. Overman made a strong speech, discussing State and National issues in a pleasing and convincing manner.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

He Talks on Tariff and Trusts—Endorsed For the Next President of the United States.

Morristown, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Former President Grover Cleveland spoke here tonight. His visit to Morristown was in the interest of Flanagan, who is running against Congressman Charles W. Fowler in the fifth Congressional district. After the meeting, which was held in Lyceum hall, Mr. Cleveland had a light luncheon and then engaged in handshaking from the platform. "You're our next President," said one man as he clasped Cleveland's hand, and a chorus of "you're right," rang out. Mr. Cleveland seemed somewhat embarrassed at this and only smiled.

In his speech at Lyceum hall Mr. Cleveland turned to the tariff and quoted long extracts from a message of his advocating a reduction of tariff taxation. After dealing with the tariff at some length he fell to a consideration of the trusts. He said:

"It is not true then that the encroachments of the doctrine of high protection have been constantly progressive; it is not true that the heedless of its expectant beneficiaries and their disregard of the welfare of the great mass of consumers is more and more impudently exhibited, and it is not true that to all other reasons for a reform in our tariff laws there is added the birth and growth of their cruel and unmerciful progeny of trusts and combinations which stand guard against all attempts to seek relief in the field of competition."

He closed as follows:

"If you believe in giving the consumers of the land a better chance, if you believe in removing the fetters of trusts and combinations from the limbs of America's freedom of individual endeavor, and if you desire to enforce in public life more unselfishness, more fairness, more equality and a more sensitive regard for the people's well being, you can be well and ably represented in all these things by the election to congress of the young, vigorous and intelligent nominee of the Democracy of the district."

SHOT HER SON DEAD.

A Mother's Horrible Mistake—The Tragic End of a Halloween Jest.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 1.—Mrs. W. S. McLaine, of Covington, Va., last night, shot to death her son, William 13 years of age, whom she mistook for a thief trying to get into her house. Late in the night Mrs. McLaine heard some one moving around the outside of the house. She called repeatedly to whoever it was, demanding an answer, but the noises only continued, with no word from the person she thought a robber.

Mrs. McLaine, fearing that she was about to be attacked by the thief secured a shotgun and fired into the darkness from a window. There was the sound of a body falling at the front door. She opened the door and was greeted by the stare of the eyes of her son—dead.

William was in a Halloween disguise, and had just returned from a frolic with some of his young friends. He evidently was playing a joke on his mother by refusing to answer her calls.

CARRIE NATION.

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 29.—Mrs. Carrie Nation arrived here late this afternoon and at 8 o'clock she appeared at a joint political meeting and asked for a half hour's time. The request was granted and at the close of her talk she announced the object of her lecture tour—the raising of a fund for a home for drunkards' wives in Kansas City. She offered miniature hatchets for sale at an open air meeting held immediately after her speech inside the court house and stated this to be her only means of her revenge. In her talk she was bitter against the government as an agent of the liquor traffic.

Spring Fashions

This is the Time of Year

When strong, vigorous women feel the delight of planning for spring adornment and the most becoming headdress. Spring has delights for most of womenkind except the run-down, worn-out woman who feels that she has passed a miserable existence through the winter by reason of the ills that women are heir to, and the spring finds her weakened and debilitated. She has no ambitions to look pretty or pleasing because her strength has been drained away by periodical weaknesses that have sapped her strength and vigor. Her eyes are dull, her complexion sallow, and she feels a burden to her husband, family and friends. This is the time when she most requires a wholesome corrective—a tonic adapted to her peculiar needs, a prescription scientifically compounded of vegetable ingredients by a physician of high standing and large experience who has made a study of the treatment for the delicate organism of women.

Such a tonic and corrective is found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, supplemented when desired by the medical counsel and advice of Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose long experience and great success has placed him at the head of specialists in the treatment and cure of diseases peculiarly womanly. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a purely vegetable preparation, containing no alcohol and being entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. It cannot disagree with the most delicate constitution. It cures headache, nervousness, backache, sleeplessness and other ills by curing the womanly diseases which cause these ailments. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"When I commenced the use of your medicines I was quite run-down in strength; was weak and tired most of the time," writes Mrs. S. L. Tupper, of Sheboygan Falls, Wis. "After taking six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and six of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I felt like a different person, and was able to do my work without knowing what it was to feel tired. My complexion was also greatly benefited."

"I feel that I would like to give a word of praise to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. Katie Oakes, of Grand Junction, Colo. "Had suffered with uterine trouble for four years and never found anything that did me more good than the 'Favorite Prescription.' I have gained in flesh and feel better than I did when under the doctor's care. Have the greatest faith in all of Dr. Pierce's medicines."

"I suffered for eight years with female weakness," writes Mrs. Emma Ferrell, of Unity, N. C. "I have taken three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which cured me. I have good health now."

"I was troubled with congestion of the uterus and female weakness for five years," writes Mrs. Robert Kerwin, of Albert, Hastings Co., Ont. "Was so weak and nervous I could hardly do any work. Had severe pain in back, also dizziness and pain in head. My heart would beat so hard and fast at times I would have to sit still till I got all right again, but after taking four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and one of his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I am entirely well."

Few women understand how closely the general physical health is linked with the local womanly health. For this reason many of those who fall off in flesh and grow sallow of skin waste time and money in treatments intended to develop the form and improve the complexion. Women who have been cured of womanly ills by the use of "Favorite Prescription" have found that when the local womanly health is established the general health is also restored. The body gains in flesh and the complexion is improved. These facts prove the far reaching benefits which follow the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. And these benefits are not temporary but permanent, for the cures effected by this medicine are radical and complete, and the results are as lasting as the cures themselves.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All letters are held as strictly private, and the written confidences of women are guarded by the same strict professional privacy observed by Dr. Pierce and his staff in personal consultations with weak and sick women at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

FREE! Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advisor, in paper covers, is sent FREE on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps, to pay expense of mailing ONLY. For the book bound in cloth, send 31 stamps.

INVESTIGATION.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 30.—The coal commission started actual work this morning by beginning an investigation into the conditions at the mines and the miners' homes. This investigation will consume about a whole week.

The commissioners, most of whom have never seen an anthracite mine and know virtually nothing of the working process, will be able to more intelligently consider the evidence after the investigation. The party was accompanied by representatives of the operators and the miners. Carroll D. Wright is official spokesman for the Board.
