BELGIUM REFUGEES HAVE LEFT HOLLAND

(By the Associated Press)

The Hague, Netherlands.—From a million after the fall of Antwerp, the number of Belgian refugees in Holland has declined to about 65,000 today according to official information given to the Associated Press. The rest of the terror-stricken throngs which poured over the Dutch frontier have returned to their homes in Belgium, or gone to England or France and, to some extent, to America.

Numerous Belgians are still arriving from over the border, driven out by the hard conditions of existence there, but this accession is apparently counterbalanced by the outflow from Holland in various directions. Of the 65,000 still enjoying Dutch hospitality, 15,000 are now accommodated in the four refugee camps at Ede, Nunspeet, Gouda and Uden, while the remainder are scattered among private families.

Apart from several million dollars provided by voluntary donations, the country's hospitality had up to the end of last year cost the Dutch government some $5,000,000, while a sum of $2,000,000 has been voted for the current year that will, unless peace arrives meantime, have to be raised to probably $3,000,000. The Belgian Government's offer to reimbursement was generously declined.

Any needy Belgians are free to enter the refugee villages, or if private families care to keep them, and there is no objection on the part of the local authorities, the Burgomaster is empowered to allow 14 American cents a day per adult towards their maintenance and 8 cents per child, while the silent sufferers belonging to the better classes, so-called "pauvres honnêtes" of whom there are something under 2,000 receive 28 cents a day per person through a special committee.

Excellent arrangements have been made in the matter of education. Under the direction of a Dutch-Belgian Commission, as many as 48 primary schools have been established with 4,500 scholars, in which instruction is given by certificated Belgian teachers. Secondary schools have also been set up at the Hague, Amsterdam and Middelburg, while an "atheneum" established at Flushing numbers 125 pupils. There are in addition, technical schools destined for both interned Belgian soldiers and refugees. Grants are made to these various institutions by the Dutch and Belgian governments.

The entire work of re-education promise to be a lasting honor to Holland and its traditional hospitality.

A PROGRAM FOR SCORES OF FINE COUNTRY LIFE INSTITUTES HOMES IN COUNTY

Chapel Hill, July 5.—The extension bureau of the University has just issued a new 20 page bulletin which discusses fully country life institutes, and gives helpful working programs. It outlines subjects, indicates available speakers, and names bulletins and books for (1) "A Country Church and Sunday School Day," (2) "A Rural Recreation Day," (3) "A Rural Organization Day," (4) "A Sunday program devoted to the church and community service."

This bulletin makes it possible for any community to hold its country life institute, that is, wherever there is alert leadership and sufficient fellowship. The suggestion came to the University in the spring from Rev. T. S. Coble of Mocksville. Early last May a conference of ministers of the various denominations in the state was held in Chapel Hill, with the purpose of discussing these country life institutes and the part the country minister and the country church should take in directing these. At that time a committee was appointed, consisting of representatives of all the churches to outline such subjects as might be discussed profitably in these institutes, to suggest suitable speakers to assist in the work, and to draw up a list of helpful books. The above bulletin is the result of these efforts.

Chapel Hill will hold its own country life institute this week. In this it follows closely the plans laid down in the bulletin. Some of the best religious and social workers in the state have been secured to appear on the program, as well as experts in various problems pertaining to country life work and activities. The Institute convenes on Wednesday and continues through the following Sunday. Wednesday will be spent in discussing problems of the country church and Sunday school. Rev. J. M. Arnette of Mehane, Rev. T. S. Coble, Mocksville, Rev. J. M. Ormond, Hertford, Mr. J. M. Broughton, Jr., Raleigh, Prof. E. L. Middleton, Raleigh, and Dr. Archibald Johnson, Thomasville, will appear on the programs for this day. The other days have meetings planned of equal importance and interest. Dr. Edgar J. Banks, noted explorer, will give illustrated lectures on the first three evenings of the Institute.

Chapel Hill's celebration of the Fourth of July is a noteworthy contribution to North Carolina state history. Some of the scenes given in the past are: "The Boyhood of Sir Walter Raleigh," by students of Meredith College; "Ralph Lane and His Companions Take Possession of America," Trinity and Louisburg Colleges; "The Baptism of Virginia Dare," St. Mary's and Salem College; "Durant Boys Land from Kileokanah," Wake Forest; "A Gentleman at Home on His Plantation," University and State Normal students; "The Marriage of Hugh and Mary Haynes, 1757," Greensboro College for Women and Littleton; "The Battle of Moore's Creek, 1776," Flora McDonald College; "A Brave Carolinian," Peace and Davidson College; "An Early Quarrel with Virginia," Elon and Oxford Colleges.

The attendance upon the summer school has continued to grow. This year 1030 students are enrolled here doing work for the summer in the University. 978 of these are normal and college students.

Accompanying Mr. Adrian Shuford of Conover Tuesday afternoon, the reporter went over a beautiful section of Catawba county and saw many pretty farms and farm homes. The trip was down the Newton road to Conover, where Mr. Shuford left the main highway and carried the newspaper man to St. Paul's union church, and from there the automobile started off for the county home, a punctured tire, however, necessitating a return to Conover, where Mr. Brady and Sheriff Fehouwer lent assistance and whirled the reporter back to Hickory.

Catawba has more beautiful farms and commodious residences than any other country in the state that this reporter knows anything about, and it is a joy to see the evidences of progress. Especially is it gratifying to see homes ten times prettier than stock barns—and this in a county that boasts of its magnificent dairy herds. Conover is one of the prettiest little places in the state. Its homes all look fresh, and wide verandas give to them an air of comfort that is refreshing. Soon Conover will have an $8,000 graded school building, which will be erected on a beautiful site, and that town will continue to make even greater progress. Every point out from Hickory is a good one, and every section can point to its model farms and beautiful country homes. There was more fruit in evidence around Conover than anywhere else the reporter has been this summer—and large frying-pan chickens crossed the trail every few minutes. The air was charged with prosperity, and if one did not know many of the men who make the county prosperous, he could not mistake real progress.

RUSSIAN CAVALRY PATROLS CROSS THE CARPATHIANS

London, July 5.—Russian cavalry patrols have crossed the Carpathians and entered Hungary, according to a wireless dispatch received here from Bucharest. The dispatch says that the patrols advanced from Kimpoling and entered Hungarian territory on Tuesday. They cut telegraph wires and blew up buildings in which food and munitions were stored. It is added that the news that invaders are again on Hungarian soil caused a deep impression in Budapest.

Are Singing the Praises of the First Building & Loan Association

Of Hickory WHY?

BECAUSE this association has done more for the upbuilding of Hickory and vicinity than any other combination of enterprises. BECAUSE it has been the medium of helping its citizens to own their homes, thereby making better citizens. BECAUSE it is paying its shareholders more profit than they can make on their small weekly or monthly savings. BECAUSE this association ranks fourth, in size in North Carolina, and is paying its stockholders more actual profit on their stock than most any association in the State. BECAUSE of its record for 26 years, without the loss of a single penny in loans and today its loans amount to over a Half Million Dollars.

Federal Inquiry of Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be referred to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employes, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employes for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion and that eventually the matter in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railroads be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods: 1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railroads, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, promptly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and 2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employes are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence. The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board. Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employes as wages; and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public. The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employes, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preference of $100,000,000 a year to these employes, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employes, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.
