Road Booster Visited Murphy.
 E. L. Amburn of Ducktown, Tenn., was a visitor here Tuesday. Mr. Amburn is one of the Commissioners of Polk County, Tenn., and is a good road booster. The object of his visit here was to try to arouse interest in a hard road from Murphy to the Tennessee line and connecting with the Ducktown road. Such a road would place us in close touch with the whole copper basin which is a fine market for the produce of the farmers of the western part of the county, and place us on a direct good road to Chattanooga and Knoxville.—Murphy Scout.

Will Buy Farm and Erect Co. Home.
 The county commissioners have decided to buy a good farm and erect suitable buildings for a county home. They are advertising for bids to be presented on or before September 4th. Swain county has long needed a suitable home for its indigent citizens a place where they can be cared for with some degree of comfort.—Bryson City Times.

Cutting on Forney Creek.
 Last Saturday Baxter Parris was badly cut by a knife in the hands of Fate Green. Both men work on the head of Forney Creek and were in one of the camps when the cutting occurred. The trouble arose at the table over some trivial matter. It is reported that Parris started the row by hitting Green with his fist. Green drew his knife and seriously wounded Parris. Parris is said to be in a very bad condition. Green was lodged in the county jail.—Bryson City Times.

Corn Field Completely Covered Up.
 A. W. Gilliam, of Crooked Creek township, was in town Monday this being his first trip to Marion since the flood. He says his apple house was washed away; that his orchard and from six to eight acres of good land was badly damaged, and that his corn field is completely covered up with huge rocks and other debris. He estimates his damage at about $1,000.—Marion Progress.

Old Fort Fared Well.
 It is becoming more apparent every day that in comparison to the damage suffered by the recent flood, Old Fort fared well. Being cut off from the outside world so long, created a gloomier aspect than other conditions justified.—Old Fort Sentinel.

Postoffice Work Progressing.
 The new postoffice building has reached the first floor and the interior supporting steel is being placed. Pretty soon the brick on the main body will be started.—Cleveland Star.

Haywood Crops and Summer Guests.
 Haywood crops in the main are good. Excessive rains have interfered and done some damage but we are much better off than many others. The crop of summer guests also coming along nicely. Every train swells the number while autos bring many.

Came Near Losing His Life.
 John Fullbright while connecting up some electric wires at the Waynesville Inn Saturday afternoon came near losing his life. He got hold of a wire he didn't know was grounded and a large amount of "juice" passed through his body. Those near were afraid to touch and help and his cries brought Mr. Hawk from across the street, who knew what to do. His hands were very much blistered from the experience.—Carolina Mountaineer.

Haywood Man to be Texas Sheriff.
 From a Sherman, Texas, paper we learn that an old Haywood county boy is to be the next sheriff of Grayson county.

Tom Roberts who was born in this county in 1868 who is a brother of Mrs. W. J. Haynes left here for Texas in 1892 and settled in Grayson county. In the Democratic primaries July 22 he was nominated for sheriff, receiving 3,110 votes when six others were running for the same office. The office in that county is worth $7,000 or $8,000 a year and we congratulate Mr. Roberts in winning his race. He has a wife and seven children and resides now at Thompsonville, Texas.—Carolina Mountaineer.

Off For England.
 Dr. Joe Cabaness, son of Mrs. Eidey Hamrick, left Tuesday night for New York from which point he will sail on the 20th inst. for London, England, to do research work under Dr. William Osler, one of the most famous physicians and surgeons in the world. Dr. Cabaness will be with a party of 12 young American physicians and will be gone not less than six months. The hospital where they will be on duty takes care of many convalescent patients brought there from the war front.—Cleveland Star.

To Spend Labor Day at Junaluska.
 It has been announced that the employees of the Champion Fibre company, with their families, will have the privilege of spending Labor Day at Lake Junaluska, and special trains will be run to the grounds with all transportation charges paid by the company. A program of athletic contests and field events is being arranged for the occasion. The management of the company has in the past given a holiday on Labor day. There has also been a celebration of some kind, but this year they have decided to spend the day at the assembly grounds if the men desired the outing. It is needless to say that the efforts of the company in planning for the mutual pleasure and safety of the employees are appreciated.—Canton Observer.

Thousands at Work.
 The floods did great damage to the railways in the mountain section beyond Marion. The Southern Railway system is hard hit by landslides, bridges washed away, track torn up and covered by mud near river, cars overturned and other property damages. Everybody is working in this section about Marion. Southern railway officials are giving work to thousands of men and paying fine prices. They have established camps at Bridgewater, Marion and Old Fort.

The bad washout two miles west of Marion and a trestle over the river near Greenlee are the chief impediments to getting a work train to Old Fort. They are hopeful of getting the two points fixed in a short time. The road above Old Fort to Asheville will require several months of hard work to get in shape again.—Rutherfordton Sun.

EGG LOSSES IN HOT WEATHER.
Heat Causes Germ Growth, Embryo and Mold Development—Nearly All Loss Can be Avoided.

(By H. L. Kempster, Missouri Agricultural College.)
 Statistics show that during the summer months from one-fourth to over one-half the eggs produced in Missouri are a total or partial loss. Heat is directly or indirectly responsible for a loss to Missouri farmers of $2,500,000 worth of eggs annually. Heat causes germ growth, embryo and mold development, increases evaporation and causes eggs to become bad in a very short time. April eggs are high in quality because of the lower temperature which prevails at that time.

According to studies made at the Missouri agricultural college, nearly all of the loss in eggs due to heat can be avoided by the ordinary conveniences that the average farm provides. If farmers would take the same care of eggs that they do of butter before and during the time it is taken to market, there would be practically no loss from heat. Any temperature above 70 degrees is too warm. Even under the best conditions eggs should be taken to market at least once each week.

Eggs should be collected daily and should be cooled as quickly as possible. A sweet, fresh basement which is cool or a cyclone cellar makes a satisfactory place to store eggs. They may also be kept cool by placing them in a bucket lowered into a well. Avoid storing them in musty basements and keep them away from flies. If these directions are followed and eggs are carefully protected from heat, while being taken to market, the value of Missouri's egg crop may be increased $2,500,000 during the next four months.

SHOW FARMERS HOW TO USE PRINTERS' INK.

The Oregon farmer can swell his annual receipts by using good printing and by occasional advertising in the weeklies of his county, says D. W. Morton, dean of the new school of commerce of the University of Oregon. A farm letterhead should carry the name of the farm, the name of the owner, the location of the farm, and perhaps a small picture of some feature of the place, says Dean Morton, who regards the farmer as a business man with a substantial investment upon which he should make every effort to pay interest.

"It gives a farmer certain business standing if he has a neat letterhead of good grade, and it improves the value of his farm to have a name and something of an individuality," he said. "There is some initial expense in having a picture taken and a cut made, but the publisher of the nearest country paper will attend to the details and afterward will do the printing reasonably."

"If the farmer raises high-class animals, his letterheads may contain a picture of a prize animal with its record; or if he has a stock farm, a picture of a bunch of stock; or if he has the best house or barn in the neighborhood, a picture of that; or a picture of a grove or a stream is usually effective on stationery. There are few Oregon farms not worth naming, and few that do not provide something worthy a permanent picture."

"Advertising rates are very low in Oregon country papers, and a farmer at a cost from 10 to 50 cents may often sell a horse, a second-hand machine, or some other thing about the place he does not need by putting the small advertisement in his weekly paper."

"A farmer's advertising should of course conform to the best advertising standards; it should be very definite and absolutely truthful."—The Progressive Farmer.
