

GRADING WORK AFTER FLOOD

Above photo shows the grading work going on between the Roanoke Mills Company plant No. 1 buildings as hundreds of employees worked day and night to get the mill running again. Parts of the mill started up this week. More is expected to start soon, with the entire mill getting underway in a very short time.

So many handshakes, so many well wishes has completely unnerved me that I don't know what to say. After all Johnny, I don't know what to say.

Anyway the Romancos did it again, and when I say did it I mean the hard way. You know, Fans, it's awfully hard for Champions to repeat no matter whether it's a city or a state race.

I'd like to state that first of all on my list is "Swink" Lee—Dick, I really appreciate your advice and wholehearted support during the past season. When I say I think you are the best team man I ever coached, I really mean it.

To old Russ DeBerry, my undying thanks. I preached to you for three years to get ice water in your veins, and you finally did it, and I admire you for it—Keep it up.

To Allsbrook, Speight, Riggan, Capt. Lefty Everett, Hank Stewart, Murray Stacia, Frank Rhome—and last but not least Lindsay Sadler—Chet Simms, Hurley Midgett, Red Carver, "Horsefly" Gray, Doug. Worsham, and George Gurley. A swell gang.

To Howard Pruden, Ned Manning and Carroll Wilson for their support and advice in regard to the team. I'll never forget it.

To Maxine Mason, Mable Allsbrook, Margaret Butler, Helen Stewart, "Snag" Lee and many of the girls' softball team, Our thanks. May we deserve them. I'll be seeing you.

Entertain Friends

Misses Margaret Anne and Bettye Wynne Ingram entertained with a party at their home on Hamilton Street Friday night, honoring Miss Mary Evelyn Darden of Emporia, Va. Games and dancing were enjoyed by everyone, after which punch, ice cream, cake, nuts and mints were served. Those attending the party were: Misses Grace Taylor, Ruby Lee Williams, Heler Ray Johnson, Lorraine Kidd, Frances Doyle, Louise Doyle, Helen Knight, Anne Grizzard, Ann Georgia Williams, Theresa Wolhar, Margaret Anne Ingram, Bettye Wynne Ingram, Mary Evelyn Darden, and Messrs. Willis Murphrey, L. W. Pullen, Bill Hawkins, Graham Warren, Navarro Hux, Graham Bryant, Hamilton Duncan, Eugene Hudson, Charles Wright, Bynum Neal, Dickie Wilson, Carl Churchill Johnnie Wolhar, Jimmie Ingram.

Meth. Women To Organize Society

The five women's circles of the Roanoke Rapids Methodist Church met Tuesday night in the church to discuss the organization of a Woman's Society of Social Service. There were fifty present.

From 7:30 until 8:00 o'clock, separate class meetings were held, then all met in the auditorium and were led in songs and prayer by Rev. Daniel Lane. Mrs. W. A. Thorne made a very interesting talk telling some of the things she learned while spending a few days attending meetings at Lake Junaluska. She also talked about the forming of a new society and how and when to organize.

A meeting will be held Sunday morning at 11:45 following the morning service. Officers will be elected for the new society. All women are invited to attend the meeting and to become charter members.

Marvin Collier, Jr., student at Washington, D. C., spent the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Collier.

Hardison - Bland

In a setting both unusual and charming, Miss Katy Etta Bland of Whitakers, N. C., and Henry Tilghman Hardison of Plymouth, N. C., were united in marriage on Saturday evening, August 31st, at 8 o'clock.

Both the processional and the recessional wedding marches were played by Miss Katherine Bradley. Immediately preceding the ceremony, Mr. D. E. Poole of Asheville and Roper, sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told", accompanied by Mrs. Helen Knowles Everette of Roper, at the piano, and Miss Elinor Sugg, of Wilmington, on the violin.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, William Arthur Roebuck, of Plymouth, N. C., acted as best man.

The Reverend O. L. Hardwicke, Methodist minister, of Plymouth, officiated, using the ring ceremony.

Mrs. Hardison is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lee Bland, of Whitakers, N. C. She received her education at Eastern Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, N. C. For the past two years, she has been a member of the Roper school faculty, which position she still holds. Mr. Hardison is the son of Mrs. Mollie Hardison and the late Mr. Hardison, of Plymouth, N. C. He received his education in the Roanoke Rapids, N. C. Schools, and at Chowan College, in Murfreesboro, N. C.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hardison left by motor for a trip in Western North Carolina. The young couple will make their home in Plymouth, N. C., where Mr. Hardison is employed as city mail carrier.

T. R. Everett Resigns At Seaboard HS

T. R. Everett, for thirteen years the principal of the Seaboard High School and an active participant in school and community activities in Northampton and Halifax counties, resigned his position at Seaboard recently to accept the job of principal at the model school at Penderlea Farms, a federal government project near Burgaw in Pender County.

While serving at Seaboard Mr. Everett became known throughout the state as one of the leading educators in the secondary schools of the state. His widely recognized work in the Seaboard school won for him the promotion which is an honor to his years of outstanding service.
