SHERIFF CIMINO IS HONOR GUEST HERE

Republicans Enjoy Outing at Lake Lenape

All roads in the county led to Lenape Park last Sunday, where "Cimino Day" was observed in an appropriate manner by the assembled friends of the popular sheriff, James Cimino, in whose honor the affair was staged by the Republican League of Buena Vista Township, of which he is a member. More than 1,000 attended.

The organizations from Dorothy and Milmay were also present. It was a field day and rally day combined to which the public was invited and large numbers of Mays Landing folks journeyed to the park and report that they had a royal good time. "Jimmie" as the friends of the sheriff call him, was a busy man all day, shaking hands with men, women and kiddies. He seemed to know the whole county, calling them all by name as he shook hands with them, big and little. A division of opinion often multiplies the trouble. The pianist who plays by note has to face the music. Poets who write promissory notes are never forgotten. Occasionally a man rises from nothing to something worse.

ETTA KETT The Proper Prescription BY PAUL ROBINSON. A comic strip with five panels. Panel 1: A man says 'MY HEART BLEEDS TO SEE YOU ILL MISS ETTA-I BROUGHT OVER MY NEWEST POEMS TO CHEER YOU'. SEES BIG RATTLER NEAR MAYS LANDING Maurice McCrossan Gives Snake a Wide Berth

While canoeing on the Great Egg Harbor River a few days ago a short distance above Lake Lenape, Maurice McCrossan, title searcher for the Atlantic Title Co., had a narrow escape from a big rattlesnake which was coiled and ready to strike at him when he heard the rattle of the enraged reptile. McCrossan was slowly paddling along the bank of the stream, under the branches of the overhanging trees, and was about to step ashore when he heard the deadly rattle, with which he was familiar while in Florida. He looked where the sound came from, almost alongside of him, and saw the vicious head raised above the serpent's coils. He estimated that it was between four and five long, with a large circumference. Having no club handy and not wishing to risk breaking his paddle, and also not wishing to risk a bite from the rattler, as he did not know where to get "something for snake bites," in this locality, McCrossan went on his way without attempting to kill the snake.
