LONGER SCHOOL TERMS

The youngsters of Las Vegas are swelling the fact that school will open for the fall term on August 31. This is the first time they have been delayed away from their summer vacation at so early a date in several years.

The best educators of the country, working on the theory that the child's advancement is more rapid if his attention is held constantly than if he is made to study hard for nine months and then allowed to run wild for three months, are inducing boards of education throughout the country to lengthen their terms of school work.

In accordance with this theory, school terms are being lengthened and the character of the work done is being altered. Relief from the strain of book work is given by the introduction of industrial education. During the summer months when school is in session, work along educational lines is supplemented by systematic athletic training, gardening and other outdoor work that partakes of the nature of a pastime.

STATUTE IS INVALID Santa Fe, Aug. 21.—That the old territorial statute of 1856, which was originally passed in Spanish, is too vague and is also invalid, is the argument made in the brief of the appellant in the case of State vs. W. T. Chenault, filed today in the state supreme court.

RAILROAD IS SUED Santa Fe, Aug. 21.—Sult has been filed against the El Paso & Southwestern Railroad company for $25,000 damages by W. W. Woodson and wife for injuries received at Alamogordo after a trip to Cloudcroft.

WHAT WILL HE DO? General Carranza, head of the Mexican constitutionalists, having reached the capital of the southern republic, largely through the assistance of the United States by its refusal to recognize Huerta and the raising of the embargo on arms, it remains to be seen what will be his attitude toward this country.

Carranza's attitude toward the United States as provisional president of Mexico should at least be friendly. Will it? There arises the question, too, as to how long the constitutionalist chief will be able to preserve peace and tranquility in the battle-torn republic.

Here's hoping Carranza can hold down his new job, for peace and tranquility in Mexico, even if preserved at the point of the sword, is something devoutly to be desired.

JIM FLYNN HAS A DESIRE TO FIGHT

THE PUEBLO FIREMAN LOOKS FOR A BOUT IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Aug. 21.—Jima da Flynn is getting turbulent these days. If some roughneck promoter doesn't give him a chance to wallop someone he says that he is going to enlist in some combative army and do some slugging.

There is nothing artistic in the way Jim sells his wares. He will never receive a Carnegie medal for boxing, Jim knows all of this and never has tried to improve himself in the boxing ring.

Flynn has appeared only twice in Kansas City and on both occasions he has biffed away to crowded houses and his mixups with Al Kaufman and Jack Dillon were the best bouts ever staged by the Grand Avenue Athletic club.

"Half of the gang turns out to see me killed and the other half to see me buried," said Flynn this morning. "I guess I am about as unpopular as a German in Paris, but the box office receipts show that I am a bear when it comes to serving the public."

FLYNN IS HERE NAGGING AT Al Norton, who also is a visitor. If Al can't be induced to do battle bring on Jack Dillon or Carl Morris. In fact, if Norton doesn't like the Flynn ideal Carl Morris would fit in nicely.

MASONIC BODIES TO MEET IN OCTOBER

ALBUQUERQUE WILL BE MECCA OF THE NEW MEXICO LODGES

Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 21.—October will be marked in Albuquerque by the greatest assemblage of Masonic ever held in New Mexico. Every Masonic body in the state, including the Eastern Star, the feminine auxiliary of the order, will hold state meetings here.

As has already been noted, Ballut Abyad Temple, Mystic Shrine, will hold a big session here October 7, at which time Ill. Noble Fred R. Smith, imperial potentate; Ill. Noble J. Putnam Stevens, deputy imperial potentate; Ill. Noble Henry Neldringhaus, imperial chief rabban, and Ill. Noble William S. Brown, imperial treasurer, and their party will be present.

There will be a short lull after that excitement, and then will come Masonic week, beginning October 19. On October 19, 20 and 21 the New Mexico jurisdiction of the Blue Lodge will be in session. The Royal Arch Masons will meet in state session on October 22.

Masons from all over the state will attend the meetings. It is a bit too early yet for programs of the various meetings, but it is expected that the sessions will be the most noteworthy in the history of Masonry in New Mexico.

Ample and hearty doings will mark the ceremonial session of Balut Abyad Temple October 7, to which Shriners from every nook and cranny of the state are expected to flock. The visit of the imperial officers will make it the most important occasion in the history of Abyad and the Shrine in New Mexico and the nobles will extend themselves to hit the bulls-eye at every shot in the campaign of celebration and entertainment.

The imperial officers are coming here on their way from the ceremonial Shrine session at the bottom of the Grand Canyon. There are a number of local Shriners who would like to attend that session at the Canyon bottom, but it falls on an inconvenient date. The active members of Ballut Abyad are anxious to be on the job in preparing for the session here, and to go to the Canyon for the doings there on the sixth would leave them no time to help finally line up things here for the seventh.

SALMON INDUSTRY ALMOST RUINED

AN EXPERT TELLS CONGRESS THE BIG FISH MUST HAVE PROTECTION

Portland, Ore., Aug. 21.—The salmon industry in the Columbia river will be ruined unless drastic action is taken to protect the fish, H. M. Lornsten, an Astoria, Ore., fisherman, testified today before the federal industrial relations commission.

"The Columbia river is the only stream in the country on which protective laws are carried out on destructive lines," he said. "Fishing below tide water and with stationary appliances are the two principal abuses that should be corrected," he continued. "The annual salmon catch from the stream should be about 600,000 pounds. The present yield is about 300,000 pounds. If proper protection were thrown around the fish the yield would double in five years."

TOO MUCH COMPETITION Washington, Aug. 21.—The revolution in the Dominican republic is at an end according to a message received late today at the Dominican legation. The American peace delegates and the faction leaders reached an agreement today for the selection of a president, who has not yet been named the message said.

GERMAN TACTICS ARE LIKE OURS

AMERICAN MILITARY METHODS ARE ON TRIAL IN THE BIG EUROPEAN WAR

Fort Leavenworth, Kan., Aug. 21.—The tactics of the American army are on trial in the European war. For years it has been known that the American and the German modes of warfare have been similar. Except for the open order formations—in which America goes to the furthest extreme—the two armies are directed by almost the same system.

It is also true that the French tactics are somewhat similar to parts of the German and where they depart from them they begin to parallel ours, so whatever the outcome of the European war, the tactics of America will receive a severe test that may result in the inauguration of radical changes.

America closed its mind to things belligerent at the close of the Spanish-American war, yet nothing could be more fatal than to judge the army of any nation by the standards existing then. In the brief lapse of 16 years the army has received the closest study and has been benefited by more inventions than at any other period of its existence.

There are several innovations that this war will either make or break. One is the efficiency of light artillery, another is the motor car in the dual test as an armored scout and as a mode of transportation. Still another is camp sanitation. This last feature has developed highly since the Spanish-American war and will be subjected to its most severe test by the tremendous European enlistments.

The last three years have marked the development of the indirect fire. By this method, perfected by the French, and already in use in America, an invisible enemy is located, and shells containing 200 rifle size bullets, with range timed fuses, are played on them long before there is an actual view. In a hilly or rolling country, the indirect fire is practicable unassailable by either light or heavy artillery, and for a range one thousand yards or over, the parabola is great enough to allow shelter behind a pretty high hill.

Modern warfare is drawn to an exact science, and it is a safe prediction that this war will revolutionize the rules of the war game. The old hazardous and hysterical charges have passed into oblivion. It is now governed by carefully thought out plans, orders communicated and obeyed and men placed in strategic positions—all without confusion. Gunners know to a mathematical certainty the range of their guns. Advancing armies sally forth to attack a certain stronghold with complete information of the strength of that position.

The Germans will wage a fierce but careful campaign. They depend upon their terrific onslaughts to break the enemy. Their losses will be immense but they estimate the great sacrifice of life at the time of the charge as compensated in the shortening of the time of the war.

The French will exercise caution. They will fight fiercely, but in open formation, and will probably annihilate the advance line of the enemy with their expert handling of the artillery.

BIG HOG MORTALITY Santa Fe, Aug. 21.—Diseases caused the swine breeding of New Mexico to lose 1,200 hogs last year. The monetary loss was $12,000. The average death rate was 21 per 1,000 head, while in the previous year it was 27 per 1,000, the total loss then having been 1,400 head. There are 56,000 hogs in New Mexico valued at $566,000. In the United States seven million hogs died from disease during the last fiscal year, the rate being 119 per thousand, or almost six times that of New Mexico.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 21.—Suit for the appointment of a receiver for the Bankers' Trust company, a St. Louis concern, that own stock in many small town banks in the northwest, was filed in the circuit court here today.

A BITTER FIGHT FOR OFFICIAL PLUM

SANTA FE DESPAIRS OF EVER GETTING ITS NEW POSTMASTER

Santa Fe, Aug. 21.—That a political battle is being fought today in Washington over the Santa Fe postmaster ship is the well founded rumor circulated in democratic political circles. It appears that the nomination of Adolph P. Hill for state corporation commissioner and his withdrawal from the race for Santa Fe's postmaster has found several Barkises willing to accept the honor. One of the most formidable candidates now in the race is said to be Romulo Martinez, of Upper Palace avenue. He was former sheriff of this county and former United States marshal. He owns extensive business interests here. He is regarded as one of the democratic war horses and would, in the opinion of many democrats, take precedence over a number of the younger democrats who have signified their willingness to accept the $2,500 office.

It is understood, however, that Arthur Seligman, the Santa Fe county democratic leader, has been in Washington and has talked to Congressman Harvey R. Fergusson in the interest of his brother, James L. Seligman. Mr. Seligman denied only mildly today that he had "fixed up Hill's nomination" for corporation commissioner to clear the track for "Jim." "Arthur has probably put Jim over already" was the way one prominent democrat in the capitol described the situation.

It is generally believed that the fight has narrowed itself down to James Seligman and Romulo Martinez and it is said the telegraph wires have been kept hot today with messages to Mr. Fergusson. It is believed that Mr. Fergusson can decide the matter and now that Hill's name has been withdrawn by the president, Mr. Wilson will make an appointment of a postmaster at an early date—even before congress adjourns. In fact many democrats declare that congress will not adjourn at all.

AN ITALIAN CARDINAL TO SUCCEED PIUS X

the late Pope Pius X, had died in Rome shortly after the passing away of her brother. Shock, caused by the pontiff's end, was given as the cause. It appears today that this report was the result of a telegraphic error, which occurred in the transmission of a dispatch from Rome. The pope's sister is alive, although suffering from shock. She was already indisposed when the pontiff was taken ill, and yesterday was obliged to take to her bed. She is under the care of Dr. Amici.
