The Colfax County Stockman, of Springer, says: "It seems that the opposition to Andrews is losing ground. Many Republicans throughout the Territory look upon the candidacy of Spiess and Mann as two huge jokes."

Well, if it is a joke, it is apt to be a good one, and who ever is nominated, whether it be Andrews, Mann or Spiess, the Democratic nominee is sure to be the butt.

If Democratic success in the coming national campaign is to be measured by the length of the noise and the amount of racket the national Democratic convention was able to make in its ovation to the "Peerless One," then the country will hereafter have a change in the policy of its administration. But noise was about all there was to the demonstration. The Republican convention at Chicago shouted forty-six minutes at the mention of the name of Taft, and the Democrats had to go this record one better, but it was an awful strain. The men at the head of affairs planned the demonstration with great skill, and the noise makers carried out the plan nobly. It was well done, and will no doubt catch a few doubtful voters, but the trick is easily seen through.

If we could only see ourselves as others see us. The Colfax County Stockman has evidently forgotten the old adage that "People who live in glass houses should undress in the dark." In a recent editorial it says: "The American people are not appreciating the fact that a retiring President was permitted to name his successor in office. Taft is the man named by Roosevelt; Taft is the man Roosevelt forced on the Republican party; Taft is the man Roosevelt said 'If you take him you'll have to take me'; Taft is the man Roosevelt says must be elected. Are we bordering on monarchy?"

Now, isn't that the limit? Was there ever a greater piece of bossism displayed than the work of the Democratic nominee for President, the "Peerless One" from Nebraska, in the Denver convention? Were ever the reins of control in more arbitrary hands than Bryan's during that convention? His word was not only law from which no appeal was granted, but he saw fit to enforce his decrees in a most high handed manner. Even Tammany bowed down and licked his boots. The Democratic platform is Bryan's, and he suffered no change to take place? It may be that the Stockman is not well informed, or it may be that it has so long bluffed without being called that it has forgotten the value of the hands it holds. But in either case, its plight is similar to that of the pot when it called the kettle black.

Under the heading "Unity and Loyalty Necessary for Republican Success" published in its columns on July 11th, the Santa Fe New Mexican voices the feelings of most of the Republicans in the Territory and, as the Citizen understands the situation, of every candidate for nomination as Delegate to Congress on the Republican ticket. The article is well written and the logic is clear in as far as the article touches on Unity and Loyalty. No one can gainsay the correctness of the New Mexican's statements in this respect. Every Republican knows, or should know, that the Democrats are making arrangements to do their utmost this fall. Every one knows, or should know, that while both the Republican and Democratic National conventions have adopted a statehood plank in their platforms, the admission of New Mexico as a state under a Republican administration and Republican congress will be more pregnant with good results if a Republican delegate to congress is elected.

The only exception to the sentiment expressed in the article alluded to, which the Citizen takes, is that W. H. Andrews is the best man to send to congress. That he is a far more able man, a more skilled politician than is the Democratic nominee; that he would be able to accomplish more good for the Territory and those who make New Mexico their home than would Larrizola are all obvious facts. But the Citizen disagrees with the New Mexican in its belief that Andrews is the best man the Republicans can offer. It has heretofore announced that it believes Hon. Chas. A. Spiess to be the best qualified man for the high office, and it still continues in this belief. The New Mexican bases its belief on what it, in effect, terms the glorious past achievements of Mr. Andrews. It points to the numerous pensions granted, and brings forward long resolutions adopted by members of the G. A. R. praising the present delegate for his efforts in their behalf. It points with exaggerated pride to the appropriation Congress made toward the coming Irrigation Congress at Albuquerque and then says that Andrews did it. It features the fact that Albuquerque has obtained a new Federal building, the result of the efforts of Andrews, so we are told but there it stops, or practically so. We are to believe that Congress is as wax in the hands of Mr. Andrews to be moulded as he sees fit, a puppet to dance when he pulls the string.

The Citizen is as ready and willing to accord to Mr. Andrews his full share of glory and to give him due credit for what he has done, and we must admit that he has been very busy, as is any one. But what has been done in the past is not of necessity proof that it will be again done in the future, nor is it a conclusive argument that no other than Andrews could accomplish the same results, provided that other be a Republican.

Denver May Be Chosen As National Headquarters For Campaign

Colorado Springs, July 20.—Unless the unexpected happens, Denver will be selected by Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock and the Western Republican leaders as Western headquarters for the Republican national central committee. The Denver boosters—and they are here from all over the Rocky mountain section, as well as from the Queen City—are here in force, and sentiment in favor of the Colorado capital as a headquarters is rapidly developing. Salt Lake is an active rival for the honor, but Denver already has the lead, and its supporters say it will not be overtaken in the race.

The conference between Chairman Hitchcock and the Western leaders was called to order at the Antlers hotel shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, and will remain in session for two days, after which Mr. Hitchcock will hold conferences with the various state chairmen and representatives from each state.

The object of the present gathering is to devise ways and means to absolutely insure the carrying of every state and territory in the West for Taft and Sherman, and to secure active and effective co-operation among the leaders of the different states in this region.

"We want cohesion and co-operation," said Chairman Hitchcock, which will absolutely insure the success of the Republican ticket in every state and territory in the west next fall."

Chairman Hitchcock arrived in Colorado Springs last evening and immediately went into conference with various Colorado leaders.

When asked what Western states he regards as safely Republican, and what ones he classes as doubtful, Mr. Hitchcock said: "I have determined not to make any predictions at any time. That will be my policy throughout the campaign. We won't neglect any territory where there is a bare chance of victory, either North, or South, East or West, but I shall not indulge in forecasts."

DAWSON VS. TRINIDAD

The Dawson ball team, accompanied by a train load of loyal New Mexico fans and their sixty-piece band invaded Colorado Saturday and Sunday. J. Pluvius spoiled the fun on Saturday when the Dawsonites had made a run in the first inning and it began look bad for the Trinidads. Sunday was a perfect day, however, and two games, the best ever played in the Southern Colorado metropolis, were won by Trinidad by scores of 2 to 1 and 5 to 1 respectively. There was no disgrace in the defeat, however, and the Dawson fans returned home Sunday night, more loyal and enthusiastic than ever.

It was a great day for Northern New Mexico and Southern Colorado, and no occasion in recent years has served better to bring about a more friendly and neighborly feeling.

Over two thousand people were packed into the stands when the first game was called.

The first game, McClelland, the old leaguer, secured their run in the fourth inning. He singled, was advanced by another and scored when Owens juggled Hood's hot roller.

Trinidad scored one in the sixth when Brierly walked and scored on another error by the Dawson second baseman.

The second run came in the eighth on two errors, a steal and a couple of passes.

Honska, who has signed with the Pueblo Indians, was induced to stay over to pitch the first game.

The second game was more one-sided. The visitors scored in the first on an error and McClelland's long drive to right.

Trinidad secured two runs in the third on a bunch of singles, steals and errors, one in the seventh on two clean hits and two in the eighth on three hits and an error.

Local fans have every reason to feel proud of the showing made by both Honska and Barngrover in the two games. In the face of the heaviest litters that have appeared here this year, Honska pitched like a veteran and no combination of conditions served to rattle him in the least. Barngrover, not content with issuing no passes and allowing but three hits, boosted the scoring along by a couple of clean singles.

In spite of the two defeats, there is no reason to believe but that the visitors had the time of their lives.

Never was the city visited by a better-natured and more orderly company. The park did a big business as did all the other amusement places of the city. Raton was represented by a big delegation which rooted royally for the New Mexico team, but admitted with good grace at the close that Trinidad's team made the better showing. The special train left at eleven o'clock on Sunday night with a tired but happy bunch of excursionists aboard.

The members of the Chamber of Commerce and Manager Byers of Central Park are to be congratulated upon the successful manner in which the Trinidad end of the excursion was kept up. No effort was spared in entertaining the visitors, a fact which was appreciated. More than anything else, the excursion served to demonstrate that Trinidad affords the best center in this section, for amusements as well as business. It is hoped that the Sunday program is but one on many similar ones.

Score by innings: First game— Dawson 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 Trinidad 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 * 2 Batteries: Barr and Ritchie; Honska and Brierly. Hits, Dawson 7, Trinidad 4. Errors, Dawson 4; Trinidad 1.

Second game— Dawson 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 Trinidad 0 0 0 0 1 2 * 5 Batteries: Lopez and Ritchie; Barngrover and Brierly. Hits: Dawson 3, Trinidad 7. Errors, Dawson 6; Trinidad 2.

Geologist Parker, of the United States survey, can see no anthracite after 2055. Here is the doom of one greedy trust, let the law out as it will.

The period of self-control for the candidates is while they must pretend not to know it until the notification committees call.

That is a good civil-service report from the Pennsylvania railroad which shows among the company's active employes 1,350 men who have been at work more than forty years. Evidently the idea prevails in the general offices that it does not hurt a man in efficiency to mature with the business.

PITCHER AND WAITER IN SCRAP

Trinidad, Colo., (Special), July 22.—Robert Barngrover, the crack Trinidad pitcher, and Claude Reynolds, a waiter, yesterday afternoon engaged in a street altercation that resulted in Barngrover getting a black eye and both paying a fine of seven dollars in police court two hours later.

After paying his fine, Barngrover, exasperated at the manner in which he had been dragged into the affair, again attacked his enemy and dealt him several blows in the presence of a packed court. The men were separated without further injury to either.

The trouble started near the corner of Main and Commercial streets. Words were exchanged and Barngrover slapped Reynolds with the flat of his hand, knocking him into the street. Reynolds turned and ran down Commercial street. A few minutes later he returned and Barngrover, who had been warned that his enemy had a gun, deliberately turned his back upon him.

Reynolds then dealt the pitcher a heavy blow over the right eye, inflicting a deep cut and felling him to the ground.

Both were arrested and tried almost at once. Bad blood has existed between the men for several days. Mike Skiles, a bartender at the Park Cafe, was fined $25 and costs yesterday on the charge of "beating up" a woman of the red light district. Charles Leggett was also fined $25 and costs for beating his
