

PLANS Laid OR DISPOSITION OF MARINE BILL BY HOUSE MEMBERS

Fight Over the Administration Measure to Subsidize American Merchant Ships to Begin Today

VOTE 200 TO 110 TO GIVE IT PREFERENCE

Democrats Agree at a Caucus to Stand Solidly Against the Proposal; O'Connor Dissents

Washington, Nov. 22.—The road was swiftly cleared today for a caucus and the house fight over the administration shipping bill, which will begin tomorrow.

A special resolution giving the bill right of way was put through the house by a vote of 200 to 110. It followed party lines, although three democrats supported and 16 republicans opposed it. Generally speaking, leaders said, it did not indicate the line up when the house votes on final passage November 29.

Immediately after the action of the house, democrats agreed at a party caucus to stand up solidly against the measure, enactment of which was expected yesterday by President Harding in an address to a joint session of congress. One democrat at the caucus—O'Connor of Louisiana—served notice that he would not be bound by the decision, at the same time announcing he was in favor of the bill.

Soldier Bonus Issue
The soldier bonus issue was injected into the debate by Representative Johnson, republican of South Dakota, who announced that he would vote to permit the house to consider the bill, but would not vote for its passage. Mr. Johnson declared no party could survive that refused to give a bonus to soldiers and then give a bonus to ships.

Contrasting views were presented by Representative Mondell, Wyoming, the republican leader, and Representative Garrett, Tennessee, the democratic leader. Mr. Mondell said the republican administration had not been able in eighteen months to cure the evils left by a democratic administration, particularly with reference to the shipping bill.

Running True to Form
Mr. Garrett declared that in attempting to force the bill through the republican administration, "with the death rattle in its throat, was running true to form in favoring the special interests." It was surprising, he said, that the republican administration had immediately after the administration had been "reputated and discredited" at the polls.

Chairman Cannon, republican, challenged opponents of the bill to bring forward something better. Taking stock tonight after the first skirmish, republican leaders asserted the bill would get through with at least 25 votes to spare, but they declined to speculate on its chance in the senate.

DREAM OF GIRL TO GO WEST IS TO BE REALITY

Mrs. Geo. Stark Comes Here to Act as Nurse; Man in the Case Fined $35, Sentenced to Jail

Mrs. George Stark, Kansas City girl who claims to be a cousin of Robert M. La Follette, United States senator from Wisconsin, left Albuquerque last night to join her father in California, after a particularly trying experience here. Mrs. Stark is the 17-year-old girl who answered an advertisement in the Kansas City Star, which is alleged to have been inserted by Christian Dunn of this city, and then came to Albuquerque only to stumble into a case which police say skirted closely on the border of the Mann act.

Christian Dunn, the man who appeared in the case, was tried yesterday afternoon in the police court. Judge George Roddy presided and Attorney E. B. Garay was present to investigate.

Dunn Pleaded Guilty
Dunn pleaded guilty to having signed the register at a local hotel in his name and "wife," and to having agreed not to prosecute under the Mann act, providing Dunn would pay the expenses of Mrs. Stark to Ontario, Calif., where she is to join her father. Dunn agreed to pay the expenses and posted the money for this purpose. He was also fined $35 by Police Judge Roddy and was sentenced to serve three days in jail.

The story of Mrs. Stark gives the details of the case. Mrs. Stark, a beautiful brunette of 17 told her story to a representative of the Morning Journal last night, in a rooming house at the corner of Broadway and Second streets. At times she stopped in her narrative, apparently to gain composure, and then went on in the same simple manner.

She said she will be 15 years old December 31 next. Her maiden name was Lilla La Follette and she is, she said, a cousin of the United States senator from Wisconsin. Her father, G. C. La Follette, is now at Ontario, Calif. He is, she stated, a first cousin of Senator La Follette. Her mother, who is now Mrs. Alice Aetherberg, lives in Kansas City.

Decided to Marry
The girl had made her home with her mother in Kansas City. Last summer George Stark, a member of the United States navy, was granted a furlough to visit his father, who was in California. Mrs. Stark and the girl, now his wife, had been boy and girl sweethearts and they decided to marry during the period of his furlough, as it was the last time he would be away from his home for a year, before he would be freed from his enlistment in the navy.

They were married July 22 of this year. A short time after their marriage Stark was compelled to return to his ship, the time of his furlough having almost expired. He rejoined his ship, the U. S. S. Cleveland, and is now serving aboard that ship at Balboa, Canal Zone.

The young wife, left alone, decided she would obtain employment and thus add to the "nest egg" which Stark is putting by for a source in California. She decided to go to California, where her father is now located and she wanted to join him. Moreover, she and her husband had planned upon going to California to settle after he leaves the navy. She read the advertisement in the Star which she saw in the newspaper, and she decided to try to get a job in California.

Replyed to Advertisement
So Mrs. Stark wrote to Albuquerque in reply to the advertisement. Both she and the local police department were notified of her plans. Her father, upon hearing of her plans for transportation from Kansas City, she left there Monday night at 10:20.

Her mother was not an entirely satisfied as was the girl that all was well. So the mother wired the Albuquerque police asking them to investigate the case and to take whatever action these investigations led them to consider advisable.

The result of these investigations was that Chief of Police Galusha detailed Officer George E. Wyatt to meet the girl at the railway station. Upon her arrival at 11:35 Tuesday night, Wyatt met her and escorted her to the police station. As soon as she had given the police the information they sought she was escorted to her home.

The investigations further led to the police taking into custody Christian Dunn, the man alleged to have inserted the advertisement in the Kansas City Star and to have wired transportation to the girl. Dunn's trial and the sentence imposed yesterday afternoon followed.

Mrs. Stark left Albuquerque at 8:30 last night, en route for California. She will join her father at Ontario, Calif. Before leaving last night she said she intends to remain in Albuquerque until her husband is discharged from the navy and joins her.

LEGISLATION TO PROVIDE RELIEF FOR FARMERS IS CONGRESS' PLAN

Lawmakers From Agricultural States Plan to Broaden Nation's Credit System as Harding Urged

BILL IS INTRODUCED BY SENATOR NORRIS

Proposes to Create a Government-Capitalized Corporation to Buy and Sell Products of Farms

Washington, Nov. 22.—Encouraged by the recent endorsement of President Harding in Tuesday's message that the nation's credit system be broadened to provide relief for the farmers, members of congress today inaugurated steps to bring about enactment of rural credit legislation before the end of the present congress next March.

Development of the credit system is the subject of the most important introduction of a bill by Chairman Norris of the agriculture committee. The bill provides for the creation of a government-capitalized corporation to buy and sell farm products; an address in the senate by Senator Ladd, (republican of North Dakota), warning against enactment of rural credit legislation based on the rural reserve system and a conference between 18 senators from the livestock growing states and a committee of the American National Bankers' association, at the drafting of a new credit bill was discussed.

Senate Bloc to Meet
These developments, together with statements by leaders, indicated that the passage of rural credit legislation would occupy a foremost place on the program of the agricultural bloc. The first meeting of the bloc will hold the first meeting of the session next week and at that time will endeavor to agree upon a program of rural credit legislation.

The bill presented by Senator Norris would have created a corporation with a maximum capital of $100,000,000 and a directorate of three members, one secretary of agriculture and two others appointed by the president. The corporation, in brief would be authorized to acquire elevators and warehouses; to buy farm products in bulk; to sell such products abroad, and to operate unchartered government tonnage in the carriage of products of the farm.

Aid For Stockmen
The bill presented by the National Livestock Association provides for the creation of a corporation to buy and sell livestock products. The bill is similar to a measure offered by the agriculture committee chairman at the last session, but which was supplanted by Senator Ladd's bill.

Every wish of the feminine political patfunder—to be sworn in and placed legally on the senate rolls, to answer a senate roll call and to make a brief address—had been gratified before she left the capitol.

George Sworn In
Immediately afterward, her successor, Walter F. George, whose election credentials had made reception of the woman senator possible, was administered the oath of office.

What the Bill Contemplates
The bill contemplates utilization of the federal reserve bank machinery to a certain extent and drafts issued or drawn for agricultural purposes, secured by warehouse receipts and accepted by member banks, would be made available for discount with a maturity of six months instead of the present three months.

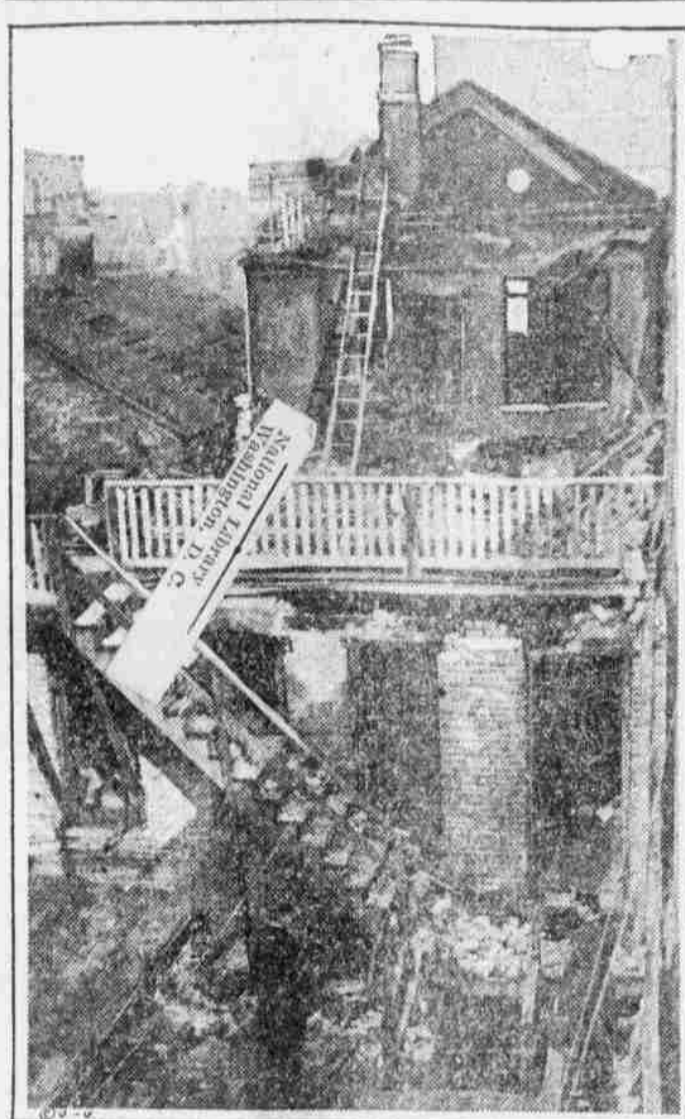

The use of federal reserve machinery was objected to by several of the senators attending the conference, who voiced the belief expressed earlier in the day by Senator Ladd, in his speech that a successful farm credit plan could not be worked with the federal reserve system.

KNOWLEDGE IN AGAINST FALL'S 'SPOTTED PARK' BY CLEMENCEAU

Project for Southern New Mexico Condemned in Club Resolution; District Magazine Appears

The proposed "All Year National Park" for southern New Mexico received another boost today when the Kiwanis club passed a resolution condemning the plan and urging that a national park be established in a part of the state holding greater scenic and historic attractions.

The resolution was presented by Pearce C. Roddy, who spoke at length on the subject, and the Kiwanis club passed a resolution condemning the plan and urging that a national park be established in a part of the state holding greater scenic and historic attractions.

The proposed park would include the Indian pueblos, Salpeter Springs and Jemez, the Old Caliente and possibly as far west as the wonderful ruins of Chaco Canyon.

M. L. Fox supplemented the remarks of Mr. Roddy by saying that the park bill might better be called a "bill for supplying the Indian people with water" since these provisions are included in the bill. A motion to table the resolution made by J. H. Coons was defeated almost unanimously and the resolution was adopted.

U. S. BLAMED FOR UNREST ABROAD BY CLEMENCEAU

'Tiger' Declares That American Left France in the Lurch After the War; It Was a Great Mistake

New York, Nov. 22 (By the Associated Press)—George Clemenceau today had the door of the United States blame for all the unrest in which Europe now settles.

Speaking before his second New York audience—an audience of business men at the chamber of commerce of the State of New York, the aged French war hero declared that "America had left France in the lurch" after the war.

"It was a great mistake to leave without any proposal for an adjustment of matters," he declared. "It was the greatest mistake and the source of all the evil that is taking place now."

One of the High Spots
The chamber speech was but one of the high spots in the most striking day Clemenceau had had since he first arrived here last Saturday for a tour, the aim of which was to be the winning of America to a closer relationship with France.

Guided by a double force of motorcycle police, because some one signing himself "World War Veteran" had sent a threatening letter, the 73-year-old statesman, with a French interpreter, made his way to the downtown financial district, through a big cheering crowd. His Metropolitan opera house address last night attracted a big, outspoken old statesman.

70 KNOWN DEAD AS THE RESULT OF A BLAST IN ALABAMA MINE

Fate of 205 Others Entombed Is Regarded as Uncertain; 50 of the Rescued Men Are Injured

BODIES STREWN ALONG THE MAIN PASSAGEWAY

Fire Which Follows the Explosion Hinders the Work of Searchers; Reports Are Less Hopeful

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 22.—Seventy miners are known to be dead and the fate of 205 others entombed in No. 3 mine of the Woodward Iron company at Dolomite was regarded as uncertain by rescue crews who early tonight were augmenting their forces for exploration of all entries of the pit.

One hundred and twenty-five men of a total of 400 in the mine when it was partly wrecked by a dust explosion at 2:40 o'clock this afternoon, were removed last night from the mine by means of a man-way connecting mines No. 2 and 3 of the Woodward company. Fifty of the men were reported injured, a few seriously.

Rescue workers reported that the number of dead probably would run high. It being believed that many of the remaining 205 unaccounted for would be found dead or injured.

Fire which followed the explosion hindered the work of rescue and was believed to have been responsible for many deaths. The injured from the first men rescued were removed to Bessemer hospitals.

Half of the men are white. As the work of rescue progressed, reports to the surface grew less hopeful. Men were rescued by means of a man-way connecting mines No. 2 and 3 of the Woodward company. Fifty of the men were reported injured, a few seriously.

As darkness came women and children, white and black, crowded close about the man-way, waiting in common horror, word from the pit. The injured were being removed by rescue crews, while undertakers' assistants were preparing to remove the bodies of the dead found in the entries nearest the man-way. No attempt at identification of the dead or seriously injured had been attempted. The injured from the first men rescued were removed to Bessemer hospitals.

At a company's office it was stated that the mines who checked in for work today 400 were underground when the explosion occurred. According to mine officials a broken electric circuit caused by the runway of a train of trip cars was responsible for ignition of the dust.

A detail of Alabama national guard units at the railroad strike area in Birmingham was ordered to the mine. Assistant Superintendent T. W. Tracy and four men were injured when they were trapped in the "top house" following the explosion while endeavoring to sound the alarm in the pit when they discovered the train "running wild."

Rescue workers reported that the number of dead probably would run high. It being believed that many of the remaining 205 unaccounted for would be found dead or injured.
