NIAGARA CONFERENCE DEADLOCKS, ONLY CONCESSIONS BY WILSON OR HUERTA CAN PREVENT GRAVE SITUATION

Minister Naon of Argentina, Member of Mediation Commission, Appears Unexpectedly in Washington to Confer With President and Secretary of State; Serious Crisis at Hand and Indications Are That Mediators Will Disband Without Accomplishing Desired End.

PRESIDENT ANNOUNCES HE WILL STAND SQUARELY ON PRINCIPLES ENUNCIATED AT BEGINNING OF JUNTA

Has No Plans for Going Before Congress With Any Phase of Mexican Situation and All Talk of Further Armed Intervention Is Groundless; The United States Has No Thought of Recognizing Carranza, Villa or Any Other Factions in Mexico; Detailed Statement from White House Promised.

Washington, June 19.—Mediation stands today on the brink of failure. Only concessions by President Wilson or Huerta can save it. While the Niagara conference halted, Minister Naon of Argentina, one of the three south American mediators, returned to Washington for a conference with Secretary Bryan and probably to see President Wilson. He planned to start back to Niagara Falls tonight carrying word whether the conference shall proceed or disband.

Announcement at the White House that the president squarely on the principles enunciated in the statement of the American delegate seemed to make it certain that the United States will not be satisfied with anything less than the choice of a man approved by the constitutionalists to head the new provisional government. The firm attitude of the Huerta delegates for a so-called "neutral" seemed to hold out no hope of a break in the deadlock.

The situation, admittedly another crisis, was discussed in the cabinet meeting and some sort of official statement from the president himself informing the public fully in case mediation fails was promised. Officials closest to the president declared that all talk of further armed intervention of Carranza or Villa at this stage was unfounded.

Romulo S. Naon, minister from Argentina and one of the mediators at the Niagara conference, arrived unexpectedly today. He did not go to the legation, but took quarters in a hotel near the White House.

The return of the mediator to the capital, undoubtedly for conferences with Secretary Bryan or President Wilson, or both, at 7 time when the Niagara conference is marking time and threatened with complete failure was regarded as highly significant. It was known officially that Minister Naon was to return, news of it was carefully guarded.

President Wilson stands squarely on the statement given out at Niagara Falls by the American delegates and will accept no settlement of the Mexican problem which is not based on the principles outlined therein. This was made clear by officials after the president himself in a conference with Secretary Bryan. If mediation fails the president plans to issue a statement fully informing the public of the position of the administration and outlining his future course. The president has no plans for going before congress with any phase of the Mexican question, and all talk of further armed intervention is groundless.

The same, they say, may be said of reports that the United States plans to recognize General Carranza, General Villa or any other faction in Mexico. The American and Huerta delegates hold firmly today to the opposite views expressed by them in public statements explaining the type of man desired by each side for provisional president of Mexico.

Both sides have gone on record, the prospect is that neither will give way and that there will be a complete breakdown of mediation.

that one of these will be acceptable, but even the mediators do not profess optimism. Aside from the inability to select a man for provisional president, a controversy has developed between the American and Huerta delegates as to how the elections for permanent president to be conducted by the provisional government, should be supervised. Likewise, the American delegates insist on a constitutionalist for provisional president, but argued that the constitutionalist party not only dominates the country from a military point of view but is numerically in the majority.

Emilio Rabasa, the head of the Mexican delegation, emphatically denies today that the constitutionalists controlled the greater population, saying millions of people had been passed over and had not indicated in any way that they favored the revolution. He argued also the impracticability of a bipartisan election board, such as has been proposed by the American delegation.

The Mexican delegates were in conference early today discussing whether they should issue another statement in answer to the American delegates' utterance of last night.

The American representatives utterly repudiate any suggestions that the American president has any intention of destroying the electoral liberty of Mexico, was the reply made to the suggestion of Mr. Rabasa that the putting of the constitutionalists in control of the election machinery was tantamount to abetting and even exciting fraud, at the elections.

The general belief was that Mr. Naon had returned to Washington to use his efforts with the president and secretary of state to prevent a break. Almost at the hour of Mr. Naon's arrival a long message was received at the White House from the American delegates. Secretary Bryan, after its receipt, said he understood there will be a meeting in Niagara Falls late today. The cabinet assembled at the White House as the news of Minister Naon's return became known. After a short stay at his hotel Minister Naon went to the Argentine legation. He said he did not expect to have any conference there but planned to see Secretary Bryan later today.

Although the leading agents of the constitutionalist junta here, including those with whom the American delegates conferred at Buffalo, were in the same hotel with Mr. Naon, it was said the would have no conference with them whatever.

Those officials who regard mediation as having definitely failed, look upon the minister's visit as one of courtesy to officially notify President Wilson of the deadlock and inquire formally if there is anything further said he would have no conference with them.

TRUST BILLS TO BE DISPOSED OF DURING THIS SESSION

President Insists on Action Being Taken on Important Legislation; Majority Leader Underwood Gives Assurance.

STRONG SENTIMENT IN HOUSE TO ADJOURN

Indications Are That Administration Conservation Bills Will Also Be Taken Care of Before Congress Decides to Quit.

Washington, June 19.—Representative Underwood conferred with President Wilson today over the legislative situation in congress and told the president there was a strong sentiment in the house for an early adjournment. Mr. Wilson insisted that the trust bills must be disposed of at this session and the majority leader thought not only that would be done, but that the administration conservation bills would be disposed of.

SENATOR SMITH STAKES RESPONSIBILITY ON ACCUSATION

Washington, June 19.—A telegram from Brown Brothers and Securities and Company, New York bankers, read in the senate today on presentation by Senator O'Gorman and denying they had profited secretly by Nicaragua bond issues, brought out a demand from Senator Smith of Michigan that the bond issues be investigated.

The telegram declared Senator Smith's resolution charging the bankers with large profits was incorrect and a baseless accusation.

After stating that he had thoroughly investigated the Nicaragua bond issues before he introduced his resolution, Senator Smith said:

"On my responsibility to the country as an American senator, I allege that the indebtedness now sought to be validated and imposed on the republic of Nicaragua is in the main fraudulent and ought not to receive the approval of the senate."

CONTESTANT TAKES PRIVILEGE ON HOUSE FLOOR

Washington, June 19.—The house today pressed toward a vote the election contest for the seat of the Twelfth Missouri district, between L. C. Dyer, the incumbent, Republican, and Michael J. Gill, Democrat.

A majority of the elections committee, which reported a resolution unseating Dyer and giving Gill the place, contended that the election in 1912 was so tainted with fraud that the returns from seven precincts should be thrown out. That would give Gill the election by a plurality of 97.

The house was treated to the rare scene of being addressed in its own hall by a man not a member. Gill, the contestant, who under the rules has the right to speak for himself, took the floor and made a brief speech supporting his claims to Dyer's seat. He declared he had been an "honest, lifelong, hard-working Democrat," and resented any intimation that his representatives had tampered with the ballots.

Although many election contests have been tried in the house, it has been several years since a contestant has availed himself of the right to speak for himself.

Quebec, June 19.—The Empress of Ireland wreck inquiry opened today with explanation and apologies by C. S. Haight of counsel for the owners of the collier Stordal, which sank the Empress. He said that he had not meant to imply yesterday that the Canadian Pacific railway, owners of the Empress, had tried to spirit witness away. This was the impression made by Mr. Haight yesterday when he placed on the stand James Galway, a quartermaster of the Empress who testified that the ship's steering gear was defective. ## DENSE SMOKE CLOUDS ISSUE FROM PIT MOUTH

Sixty-five Bodies Have Been Recovered; Hope Is Abandoned That Any of Entrapped Victims Will Be Rescued Alive.

Calgary, Alta., June 19.—Two hundred men are believed to have been trapped and killed as the result of an explosion in Hill Crest collieries mines, at Hill Crest, near Frank, on the Crow's Nest line, this morning. About 600 men went into the mine this morning before the explosion occurred. More than 400 men escaped but 200 were left and it is said there is no hope for them.

Canadian Pacific railroad company officials directed the equipment of a special relief train here. The special, carrying surgeons, nurses and a number of company officials, with a large amount of hospital supplies, was expected to reach the Hill Crest mine this afternoon.

The distance from St. Johns, N. F., to the Azores is 1,195 miles and Lieut. Porte believes he can do it in twenty hours.

The consumption of gasoline to the Azores will lighten the load to such an extent that Callan's weight will make no difference.

The man to whom the beer was consigned was taken to the selected spot on the river bank, ordered to open each bottle separately and pour the contents into the river.

Col. J. Lockett this morning granted permission for a number of saloon men to open their places for the sale of soft drinks.

WHAT HAPPENED? WHERE? WHEN? HOW?

The alert evening newspaper makes it a small world in which to live. For the thing that happens to John Smith—if it is something unusual, and of marked "human interest"—becomes "news," and the facts, about it are read, on the evening of the day it happened, in the homes of John Smith's own city, and of hundreds of other cities. If its intrinsic interest is strong enough, it may travel beyond the seas.

What happened? Where—when—how—how does the event concern me? This demand TO KNOW—the ruling passion with normal human beings—is answered and satisfied by the enterprising evening newspaper—and answered PROMPTLY.

The same DESIRE TO KNOW gives to advertising its special importance. "If I can save a dollar, I want to know HOW, WHERE, WHEN." This thought inspires ad-readers—tinges "the ads" with the glow of INTEREST—quickens their appeal to the self-interest of the reader.

Unless an "Ad" makes no appeal to the self-interest of the reader it cannot fail to bring RESULTS.
