BOTH CONTINENTS.

A Terrible and Fatal Boiler Explosion at Cleveland, Ohio.

Collision of Two Steamers Near Portsmouth, England, One of Which is Missing.

A Negro Prisoner Has an Opportunity to Escape, but Being Recaptured is Hanged.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury on the Men Killed by the Militia Near Ashland, Kentucky.

Boiler Explosion.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 13.—About five p. m. the boiler in the Forest city iron works exploded, with terrific force, killing two men and seriously injuring four or five others, and wounding half a dozen more. The wonder is that a larger number were not killed, as nearly 350 men were at work, in the building which is open at both ends and sides, under one roof and there is no partition. A large part of the roof torn off and fragments of the boiler were hurled a great distance. The killed are, Wm. Atkins, master machinist of the works; the top of his legs was blown off and both of his legs were wrenched from the trunk; the body was horribly mangled. D. W. Wright had the top of his skull cut off by a knife, and the brains scooped out; his face was blackened almost beyond recognition. John Gallagher, a furnace man, had his skull broken across the forehead. The first engineer's head was smashed and his body mangled. Wright and Williams were instantly killed. Gallagher lingered three hours.

Steamer Collision.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A collision occurred at two this morning, one of the steamers is missing; the steamer was bark rigged, and nothing was seen after the collision. Captain Ludwig of the Westphalia, immediately dispatched a boat to try and find her, and then made ready all the other boats, in the event of water gaining on the Westphalia, all the pumps were kept going without intermission. The mails and ninety passengers were landed at Portsmouth this afternoon, and will be forwarded to destination, at the earliest opportunity. The Westphalia is now moored alongside the dockyard and kept clear of water, by pumps. The cargo is not greatly damaged, and great praise is accorded to Captain Ludwig and the officers and crew for their coolness and courage, from the moment of collision. There was a very heavy sea on, and it was too dark to see a ship's length.

Quite a Time.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 13.—The Appeal's Columbus, Miss. special says: Last Monday evening, near Bigbee Valley, about twenty miles below here, Miss Rose White, a woman of loose reputation, was murdered by a negro, and her body was found in the woods, near the road, with the skull fractured. The murderer was captured, examined, committed to jail, escaped, was recaptured, and Thursday night was taken from the custody of the justice of the peace by a mob and hanged.

The Kentucky Mob.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 13.—An Ashland Kentucky special says: A coroner's jury inquiring into the case of the death of Colonel Ruppert and others who were killed during the transfer of New and Craft, from Catterburg to Lexington, Ky., have to-day rendered a verdict, finding that the deceased was killed by bullets fired from the guns of the state militia, on the steamer Granite State, while they were guarding the prisoners Neal and Craft. That said firing was not done, in the line of their duty, and further the jury holds that Major Allen the commander of the troops culpable for ordering and permitting the firing.

A Queer Husband.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—The Times will publish a story in this morning's issue, to the effect that the Chinese dwarf, Chemah, forty-five years old, and forty-four inches high, is about to marry a young woman aged nineteen, who gives her name as Fannie Coleman and is said to be of well-to-do Catholic parents, in New York. The story, as told, is that the girl saw Chemah, on exhibition, in New York, and fell violently in love with him, the attachment being reciprocated. The girl's parents objected, and none of the Catholic priests in New York would marry them. The Buddhist dwarf has been here on exhibition three weeks and the girl is here also. The priests have refused to marry them, but they go next to St. Louis, and the girl says if the priest will not marry them, they will ask a protestant minister, to perform the ceremony.

The Cold Weather.

The present extraordinary "spell of weather" is explained by the following reports from various points in the northwest:

ST. PAUL, Nov. 11.—A report received here from Crookston, Minnesota, states that it is snowing fast, and in some places has already drifted ten to twelve feet high.

A Mandan special says ice is commencing to run heavily on the Missouri. Weather quite cold and blustery. Navigation likely to close in a day or two.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Navigation closed on the Missouri river today. Five boats will winter at Bismarck, one at Fort Buford, the rest of the fleet at points below.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Specials to the Tribune to-night from Bismarck and Fargo report cold weather all along the Northern Pacific. Much ice is being driven by the Missouri river. It has been snowing all day at Bismarck. The weather after a storm of twenty-four hours is clearing and growing cold fast.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—A general snow has fallen in the Missouri valley and a general rain in the upper Mississippi valley and the lake regions. The temperature has fallen from thirty to twenty degrees in Iowa and Kansas, where a norther is passing to the southwest.

Postal Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Assistant Attorney-General Freeman, for the post-office, has sent the first official notice to the St. Elmo Marriage Insurance company, Chattanooga, Tennessee, to show cause why it should not be debarred from receiving money orders and registered letters because of its alleged fraudulent character. This will be a test case. It is stated that the southern mails are so loaded down with marriage association circulars that the distribution of the mails are several days behind, and that in Texas alone these associations have received over $2,000,000.

Postmaster-General Howe has been debating the propriety of recommending, in his annual report, the establishment of postal saving banks, in connection with the money order system of the postoffice department and has finally come to the conclusion, not to make such a recommendation, but to leave the matter to congress. For the past few years, each succeeding general from Creswell down to Maynard has recommended postal savings banks, but congress has never taken kindly to the idea. The time for such banks in the opinion of postoffice officials, who have strongly advocated them, is now passed, as a postal savings bank system, predisposes of a permanent national debt, and that savings deposited may find an investment for which postmaster the government is responsible. In fifteen years at the present rate of paying off the debt, there would be no government bonds in market, and there will hence be no basis upon which to build a postal saving bank system.

The Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—An amendment made in the rules of the Supreme Court to-day, will deprive Clerk McKenney of probably one-fourth of his income. Chief Justice Waite in announcing changes in the rules, said the statute appointing clerks, was passed in 1793, and that is the practice as it now exists in all material respects, and is just what it had been for more than fifty years. There is an apparent conflict between the two rules, added Judge Waite, between the rules, and the practice under them, which ought not to exist. It is also evident that what fifty years ago was no more than a reasonable compensation, is now under the operation of the rules, as constructed, larger than it ought to be. Several cases, some of importance, were decided to-day.

In the case of the Equator mining and smelting company vs. Geo. W. Hall, the judgment of the circuit court of Colorado, was reversed and a new trial ordered. The court holding that under the code of that State, each party to the suit is entitled to a new trial, without alleging the cause or the payment of costs. The case of County of San Mateo vs. Southern Pacific road was advanced on the calendar, provided the day is fixed in this year, this is a test case, and Senator Edmunds requested an early hearing.

Heavy Failure.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 14.—The total liabilities of Payne & Sackett, woolen manufacturers, whose paper was protested to-day, amounted to $312,000, exclusive of $100,000 secured by a mortgage on the mill. The assets exclusive of mill property is estimated at $150,000, losses in business, in the two years past, has caused the failure. The parties are young, spirited men who have the respect of the community.

Only a Headed a Day.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—At a meeting of the Senate Committee investigating the conduct of the receivers of life insurance companies the Counsel suggested that they should investigate the Continental Life insurance company of which William Grace, the present mayor was receiver, while a private citizen and who was paid one hundred dollars per day for his services.

The Land League.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 13.—The central council of the Irish National Land League will to-morrow send out a circular deciding that a special convention relative to the Dublin conference is unnecessary.

Artesian Well.

DENVER, Nov. 13.—The artesian well which is to be sunk at Akron, will be about one hundred miles east of Denver, will be 2,500 feet deep. J. A. Flennig & Co. the contractors began to bore to-day.

Verdict set Aside.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 13.—Some of the old lottery and gambling cases were again before the court and the verdict of two years in the penitentiary against Bruner was set aside.

Made an Assignment.

DENVER, Nov. 13.—Spangler & Leaf wholesale liquor dealers at Gunnison have made an assignment, estimated liabilities, are $19,000 assets are small.

Big Sale.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 13.—The Drummy silver mine at Helena was sold to-day, to a London syndicate, for $1,500,000.

Jail Escape.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 13.—The Courier-Journal's special from Bowling Green says: Three prisoners have escaped from the Warren county jail.

Heavy Loss by Fire.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 13.—A fire at Riverton yesterday destroyed fifteen buildings in the heart of the business portion. The loss is over $50,000; insurance about $15,000. The supposed incendiary is under arrest, and threats of lynching him are freely made.

Suspended.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The District Commissioners to-day suspended Detective Geo. Miller, pending an investigation of the charges brought against him by the department of justice, that he deflected to star route counsel, instead of the proper authorities.

Their First Exhibit.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 13.—The first international exhibition of bolters, will open in this city to-morrow. Exhibitors from England and all parts of the United States, with machinery and appliances peculiar to the trade. The exhibition promises to be a great success.

An Editor in Luck.

DENVER, Nov. 13.—Mr. N. P. Babcock managing editor of the Gunison News Democrat has been offered and has accepted the position of private secretary to Governor-elect Grant. Mr. Babcock is a good selection and earned the position by hard work at the recent election for the Democratic ticket.

A Big Company.

Boston, Nov. 13.—Joe V. Meigs has petitioned the legislature for the incorporation of a company with authority to construct and maintain an elevated railroad, in which the authorities thereof may be granted leave to have a capital stock of $1,000,000.

A Regular Land Office Business.

HURON, D. T., Nov. 13.—Monday was the day set for the land office open, and at 3 o'clock this morning over five hundred attorneys assembled in front of the building in readiness for business. At 9 o'clock, when the doors opened there was such a rush that doors and windows were broken and several fights occurred in the eagerness to file applications first. The Receiver was compelled to make the announcement that all applications would be regarded as having been filed simultaneously. Over $9,000 worth was sold for cash the first day, 100,000 acres were entered, and that with protests and applications made it the largest day's work that has ever been done at any land office in this country.

The Fire Flood.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 13.—The Knickerbocker block burned this morning. It was valued at $30,000; insurance $23,000. The building was occupied by the Knickerbocker furniture company and Middlemast & Taylor. The former's loss is $50,000; insurance $25,000. Middlemast & Taylor's loss is $123,000; insured for $60,000. The falling walls crushed in a wooden building, occupied as a millinery store, valued at $5,000. The Harbor block adjoining was damaged to the extent of $5,000.

Something New.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—For several days past it has been rumored that John C. New would soon retire from his position as assistant secretary of the treasury, and yesterday the report was circulated that owing to the change of the management of the Republican, which occurred on Wednesday, G. D. Graham would be free to accept the position vacated by New.

The change in the editorship of the Republican is not regarded as by any means certain, while New, who arrived to-day, says that he has not the remotest idea of resigning.

Some Money.

HAYANA, Nov. 13.—The steamer City of Washington for New York takes $255,000 in gold.

A GOOD LETTER.

From Our Correspondent on the Wing—Albuquerque Compared With Her Sister Cities—An Arsenal to be Established here Efforts to be Made to build a Territorial Penitentiary.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—Having arrived at the Missouri river and visited all the principal towns between here and Albuquerque, a sort of plums feeling seems to have taken possession of your correspondent and after much deliberation as to its cause, and at first ascribing it to climatic changes the true cause has been made apparent on recalling the appearances, and experiences, in the various towns already mentioned, for after leaving the stirring and active metropolis of the southwest all other places seem as if experiencing an eternal Sunday so quiet do they seem in comparison, hence this plume. Yet it can not be said that these places are dull in a business sense. There is enough commercial activity to keep them well up to the merchantile front, but certainly Albuquerque does not do much business in a day, it seems to me as most of these places in a week. Upon the same train with your correspondent was a representative of and partner in one of the largest houses in New York, who does business in the west, and he stated that Albuquerque did more business than Santa Fe and Las Vegas put together. This was the opinion based upon experience of a gentleman who spends nine out of the twelve months of the year traveling about this western country, and visiting and doing business with every town in it. As a proof of the high estimation with which disinterested parties regard Albuquerque as a distributing point and business center, your correspondent will relate that which will be news to most of the people of Albuquerque. Some time since the chief of the ordinance department, U. S. A., ordered Lieutenant Russell, of that department, to inspect the country comprising the southwestern Territories and select some place favorably located upon trunk lines of railway, which could be used by the department as a distributing point, and where an arsenal would be established for the storage of munitions of war. It is useless to add that after traveling over the country and carefully examining all localities, none were found that so eminently filled all the requirements as Albuquerque; for it is not only the geographical center of New Mexico, but of all the great southwest as well; and so Lieutenant Russell will report to his department in favor of Albuquerque; and Messrs. Mack & Wheeler have been requested to furnish one of their maps of the town which will probably accompany Lieutenant Russell's report. Thus Albuquerque will receive another addition to her marvelous prosperity and growth. It is not for your correspondent to hint that this step is only the first of others that may bring the military headquarters to Albuquerque. They were established at Santa Fe when the ancient city was the great distributing point for the whole southwest. But since the advent of railways the business and commercial center has moved to Albuquerque, and it cannot be long before the headquarters of this department is moved to Albuquerque for the same reasons that originally brought them to Santa Fe. Among those from the central city who were fellow passengers with your correspondent was Mr. Elwood Maden who recently sold the Maden house to eastern parties for $30,000. Mr. Maden, however, does not intend leaving Albuquerque permanently. He goes east for the purpose of purchasing a large stock of glassware, crockery, silverplated ware, etc., and it is his intention of doing a wholesale and jobbing business in these goods. This will be the main branch of the business, but a retail department will also be established. Mr. Maden intends purchasing his fine imported goods in New York. His store will occupy the premises formerly tenanted by the Maden house office and bar room.

Conspicuous among the fellow travelers of your correspondent was Gov. Sheldon of this Territory, who is on his way to his old home in Ohio. The Governor will be absent from New Mexico for some time, but our citizens may rest assured that he will never neglect their interests. In conversation with your correspondent he said he had in view an intention of getting it possible an appropriation for the purpose of establishing and building a Territorial penitentiary, which should be located near any mines or quarries upon or adjacent to the railroad. He remarked that at present the people of this Territory were at an annual expense of nearly $20,000 for the purpose of maintaining their criminals in the penitentiary belonging to other States. All of this could be saved if we had a penitentiary as could be made self sustaining out of the labor of the convicts and also furnish a place of safe keeping for prisoners of various countries awaiting trial. Let us wish the Governor all the success the project deserves.

It is reported to your correspondent that another of the large business houses of Santa Fe is about to establish itself in Albuquerque though the removal will not take place immediately.

The weather is unusually warm in the vicinity of eastern Kansas at present, and an Indian summer of unusual intensity seems to prevail. All the cities and towns are apparently doing a prosperous business and there are no complaints from the merchants anywhere. The indications point to an active and busy winter in commercial circles, and it is safe to say that Albuquerque will reap her share of the harvest.
