IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

Beginning of Chaves Murder Trial Before Judge Hamilton—Susano Ortiz and Felix Griego Sentenced by Judge Laughlin—Former Appeals.

The territorial district court convened at 9 o'clock this morning with both Judges Laughlin and Hamilton on the bench. Soon after Sheriff Cunningham and two deputies escorted Francisco Gonzales y Borrego, Antonio Gonzales y Borrego, Chiuo Alarid and Patricio Valencia, indicted for the murder of Francisco Chaves, and Susano Ortiz, twice convicted of sheep stealing, into the court room. The handcuffs were removed by the sheriff at the entrance of the court room.

Judge Laughlin promptly called Susano Ortiz to the bar and asked him if he knew of any reason why sentence should not be passed upon him. The convicted man knew of none. Thereupon the judge sentenced him to three years in the penitentiary and to pay a fine of $1,000 under the first conviction and to the same imprisonment and fine under the second conviction, the first sentence to begin at once and the latter at the expiration of the first.

Judge Downs made a motion for an appeal to the supreme court, which was granted, and the bond was fixed at $5,000, to be approved by the court. The prisoner was then returned to the custody of the sheriff.

BEGINNING OF THE CHAVES MURDER TRIAL. Judge Laughlin then announced that Judge Hamilton had kindly left his home and business in another district to come here for the purpose of relieving him (Laughlin) of the embarrassment incident to his having appeared as one of the counsel at the preliminary hearing of the pending murder case and would preside during the trial.

District Attorney Crist asked if the defendants would waive objection to Judge Laughlin's remaining in the district during the trial. Mr. Catron responded that he understood that the defendants could waive any objection in a case of this kind, but so far as he was concerned, he was perfectly willing to waive the objection suggested and have the fact entered of record. It was so entered.

Judge Laughlin thereupon left the bench and the four defendants named at the beginning of this report were arraigned for the murder of Francisco Chaves, May 29, 1892, before Judge Hamilton. They all pleaded not guilty. The prisoners were all neatly dressed, smooth-shaven with hair trimmed, and appeared as if they had just come out of a bath. Their excellent appearance, after being continuously confined in jail for about fifteen months, occasioned comment among the large crowd of spectators.

SELECTING A JURY. Twelve jurors of the regular panel were called to the box and the work of examining them as to their qualifications to sit at the trial was at once begun by the district attorney.

The prosecution will be conducted by District Attorney Crist, assisted by Messrs. W. H. Pope and H. L. Ortiz, and the defense by Messrs. Catron & Spies. Mr. L. G. Reed is temporarily officiating as interpreter and Mr. A. B. Renshan is acting as official stenographer. At noon court adjourned until 1:30 p. m., and the jury then in the box retired in charge of Deputy Tuckey and Sandral, who were expressly instructed by the court not to talk to the men in their charge or to permit anyone else to communicate with them. At the hour of adjournment sixteen jurors had been called, eleven passed for cause and four excused by the territory and one remained to be examined by the district attorney. As the defendants have eighteen preemptory challenges the prospect of securing a jury this afternoon is not very brilliant.

SEVEN YEARS FOR ATTEMPTED RAPE. On yesterday afternoon, Judge Laughlin sentenced Felix Griego, convicted of attempted rape in Santa Fe, September 5, 1893, to seven years in the penitentiary and he was promptly turned over to the tender mercies of Col. Bergmann.

Conklin Robbery. It appears that Charles B. Conklin was robbed of $64 instead of $74 on Saturday evening. One of his three assailants suddenly threw a handkerchief over his face and threw him violently to the ground, but assured him he would not be hurt if he kept quiet. After taking his money and breaking his watch chain the hold-ups ran rapidly into the darkness. Conklin recognized none of them, but thinks they were young men. They seemed to be fairly well dressed. One was taller than the other two and wore a white hat. No clue, as yet.

ROUND ABOUT TOWN. Ascension day comes on Thursday, May 23. A telephone message to the New Mexican from the Cochiti ferry announces that the cable has been replaced and regular trips across the Rio Bravo will be resumed this afternoon.

Ernest Mecke, local agent for the Continental Oil company, has his storage depot so full of goods that he has been compelled to rent an uptown annex. He is to-day unloading a car load of candles and storing them in the Ortiz block on Water and Gaspar streets.

Ex-Policeman Jose Amado Martinez has been placed in charge of the plaza by the W. B. T., and he is doing good work on the walks and grass plots. He should be, however, supplied with grass seed for filling in the bare patches occurring here and there about the grounds.

R. H. Goings, an old time Santa Fe blacksmith who went to Fort Defiance with Lieut. Plummer when he assumed charge of the Navajo, has resigned his position at the agency and removed to the thriving city of Gallup, where he will engage in business in order to give his daughter better educational advantages.

Councilman E. Andrews said this morning that arrangements had been made to inaugurate the street sprinkling system and that in two weeks it would be in operation. One of the immense Studebaker two-horse sprinkling wagons is to be used and a heavy team is to be purchased. When not occupied in sprinkling the team will be used to haul off garbage, and other city work.

The quantity of misinformation rife in every community is something amazing. The newspaper reporter conscientiously comes in contact with it every day, and, in spite of his best efforts to winnow the grains of truth from the mass of chaff, is often misled into making inaccurate or incorrect statements. Yet the persons most addicted to misstatements are the first to point out the most trivial errors in the newspaper and to pronounce it untrustworthy.

MINES AT WHITE OAKS.

Old Abe Eagle and North and South Homestakes Described—Great Producers of Free Gold—Repairing Old Abe Shaft—Other Prospects.

In a recent interview Deputy Sheriff Mayer, of Lincoln county, gave the New Mexican a most satisfactory account of the great gold mines at White Oaks. Since the fire in the Old Abe Eagle mine about a month ago, which damaged the property about $15,000, development work has necessarily been suspended and every effort has been put forth to repair the works as soon as possible. This will be in a week or so. Besides repairing the damages caused by fire new engines will be put into the shaft and the hoister will be improved. When this work is completed the plant will be one of the safest and finest in the territory. A 125 horse power engine furnishes power for operating both the mine and the Old Abe Eagle 20-stamp mill. The shaft is down 700 with levels running both ways on the lead at regular intervals of fifty feet.

The escape shaft, which is only down about 300 feet, will immediately be dropped down as deep as the main shaft. Some of the drifts are from 350 to 450 feet long and Mr. Mayer says that Santa Fe's court house could be put into some of the slopes. Just before the fire a large body of rich ore was struck in the thirteenth level and it is thought that this alone will keep the mill running night and day for some time. W. M. Hoyle, a twelfth owner, is superintendent in charge, and James McDonald is foreman.

Before the fire about fifty men all told were employed in the mill and mine and in hauling. Mr. Mayer says the following is not an extravagant statement: The Old Abe was first opened in December, 1890, and has ever since proved a good paying property. During ten months of the year 1892, from 11,064 tons of ore, it produced $296,817.71.

NOTICE. About two weeks ago work was started up on the North Homestake, which has been idle for three years, by the owners, Messrs. Yankee & Johns, of Denver, and this has given a fresh impulse to the camp. About forty men are employed, twenty to a shift, and the Old Abe Eagle mill has been leased until the repairs on the Old Abe mine are completed. This property is well developed by a 300-foot shaft with levels every fifty feet all the way down. The drifts vary from fifty to 200 feet in length. The ore is free milling gold, like that in the Old Abe Eagle and in all the other mines of the camp, and runs from $10 to $20 in the yellow stuff. About 20,000 tons of this sort of ore have been taken out of the property. A mill of sufficient capacity will soon be put up at the mine. Frank Lloyd is superintendent and foreman.

The South Homestake mine and twenty-stamp mill have been opened without interruption during the past two years. This great property is developed by three shafts, one 700 and the other two each about 600 feet deep, with levels in each shaft at intervals of fifty feet all the way down. The drifts vary in length from forty to 350 feet. The workings are well timbered. This mine is under the successful management of E. W. Parker, superintendent, and Joseph Gieshaber, foreman. It has been worked off and on for ten years and has yielded a vast amount of bullion. The fact that, in spite of the sleepless vigilance of officers and owners, probably $200,000 worth of ore has been stolen from the three mines above mentioned will give the reader a faint idea of their richness.

OTHER VALUABLE PROSPECTS. B. H. Dye is down about 160 feet on the Soltaire, between the North and South Homestakes, and will soon have a mill run on fifty tons of ore taken out of the shaft. The Miner's Cabin and the Silver Cliff, situated between the Old Abe Eagle and the South Homestake, are also believed to be valuable properties. These properties were located in 1883 by John Wilson, the original locator of the South Homestake, and are owned by his heirs. The Miner's Cabin has been worked chiefly on the surface under a three years' lease. It is the general belief that if the shaft was sunk 200 feet it would cut the Old Abe Eagle lead.

Frank Lloyd has been successfully operating a cyanide plant during the past nine months. He even works over the mill tailings at a handsome profit.

Two Robberies. Mr. W. F. Read's house on the Cerrillos road near Glorieta orchard was burglarized last night. Mr. Read is employed as night guard at the penitentiary and his family was absent from home at the time. The thieves carried away a sack of flour, a feather bed and all the family clothing. Mr. Read estimates his loss at about $100. A vigorous search for the parties is being made.

A Postal-Cable message informs the New Mexican that at Cerrillos last night John Krick, the well known saloon man, was held up and robbed of $85 in cash and a gold watch. A young German named Waldon, about 19 years old, is suspected of the crime and officers are in pursuit of him.
