

Alexander Hamilton.

NO man—not even George Washington—has left a more lasting impression upon our higher laws and institutions than this romantic and handsome young Revolutionary General and Statesman, who died so tragically in a duel at the very zenith of his fame.

Upon every clause of the Constitution of the United States his individuality is indelibly stamped. Daniel Webster says of him: "He smote the rock of National resources and abundant streams of revenue gushed forth; he touched the dead corpse of public credit and it sprang upon its feet."

He believed in protecting the brewing industry, and drank good beer all of his days.

Budweiser

The Natural Drink of America

In every glass is health; and what is health but efficiency and power? It comes to your table a delicious sparkling food—a wholesome malt beverage exhaling the aroma of hop gardens and the fragrant scent of new mown northern barley fields.

The little alcohol in it promotes cheerfulness of mind—which is the best of all medicines. The Lupulin in the hops soothes the nerves and acts as a digestive tonic; while the juice of the barley contains a high percentage of substantial nutriment.

BOARD SETS DATE OF MONTEZUMA FUNCTION

COMMITTEE ON GRAND BALL IS APPOINTED

Work Progressing Rapidly on Exposition Buildings and Imposing General Effect in Becoming Visible.

At the meeting of the board of control of the Sixteenth National Irrigation congress and exposition held last night in the congress headquarters, Friday of the second week of the event was set as the date for the big Montezuma ball, the brilliant social function of the exposition and of the year in New Mexico.

The Montezuma ball committee was appointed as follows: Lewis Heiberg, chairman; Dr. E. J. Allen, Sam Eickard, J. H. O'Reilly, Mr. McCracken, B. Spitz and Maynard Gilbert.

The board attended to quite mass of routine business connected with the approaching exposition, and reports from all quarters showed that the preparations for the event are moving along steadily and systematically.

The visitor to the exposition grounds who has not kept track of the preparations in progress there will be agreeably surprised.

The main exposition building, remodelled from an old structure, is practically completed and is handsome and imposing in appearance.

The horticultural building is about half finished, and machinery hall needs only the finishing touches. Work on the forestry building, the contract for which was let some time ago, will be started at once.

The Santa Fe company has a large force of men at work on the Santa Fe building which will be one of the most spacious and handsome on the grounds. Other work is in progress and there is a general air of industry which shows that the board is preparing in a business like way to be ready for the great week when it arrives.

BOARD SETS DATE OF MONTEZUMA FUNCTION

annual Colfax county fair, which it is promised will be bigger and better than ever before. The Colfax County Stockman says:

The big Colfax county fair is to be held in Springer, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 16, 17 and 18.

It will be the biggest thing Colfax county has ever had. Live men, including George H. Webster of Cimarron, H. C. Abbott, Dr. S. Locke, M. N. Mikesell, M. M. Salazar and a number of others are at work, and it is bound to be a success.

Immediately after the fair the big exhibit is to be shipped to Albuquerque to the county's building, where it will compete for prizes at the national irrigation congress. The county, Mr. Webster in charge, is erecting a fine building and elaborate grounds, in and on which its exhibit will be displayed during the congress.

Last week officers and directors of the association were elected, and H. C. Abbott was chosen manager. The entire quota was chosen from this city for the reason that much work is to be done which requires the attention of men on the ground, and the next list of officers and directors will be chosen from the entire county.

New buildings, stock pens, sheds, stalls and other improvements are to be placed on the grounds.

The program list will be large, and a great effort is being made for an extensive display from every section of the county, including agriculture, horticulture, cattle, sheep, hogs, school work, culinary work, fancy work, preserves, pickles, jellies, dairy, poultry, and in fact everything will be recognized in the program list.

BRONCO BUSTING FOR THE UNITED STATES CAVALRY

How the Mounted Soldier of Uncle Sam Gets His Mount Already Trained Into Docility Without Breaking Spirit.

(Chicago Drivers' Journal.)

The average cavalryman is not a bronco buster and does not take kindly to breaking his mount to saddle. The government, to equip the cavalry regiments with requisite mounts, is compelled to draw largely from the unbroken horses of the western ranches, as such animals, when handled, have proved very manageable mounts and can be purchased at figures much below the value of stabled horses.

It has been necessary for the government to employ professional horse breakers to manage new consignments before the mounts are assigned to regular service. The breaking of these horses under the rough ranch methods often sours their disposition and makes them unreliable and difficult to manage. To meet conditions that are annually becoming more aggravated the government has decided to establish remount stations, where green mounts can be broken to saddle before being assigned to service.

Old Fort Irwin has been equipped as one of the remount stations, and it is expected that the management will be able to graduate more than 1,000 horses annually for cavalry mounts. As soon as new stables can be built the mounting school will open. The first pupils will comprise good year-olds drafted from the reservations.

These army remount stations are no innovation, as such establishments have been in operation with signal success in England and France, and should the new department accomplish as much as is expected all horses for cavalry mounts will be graduates of remount stations. Cavalry horses usually last an average of seven years, when they are condemned and replaced by new mounts.

There will be no bronco busters employed to manage the new mounts. The old regime of breaking the young horse's heart and spirit will be supplanted by a system of kindness which will develop the courage and docility of the young mounts. The mounting will be under the direction of expert civilians. When an incalculable is discovered the animal will be inspected and condemned. A rebellious, stubborn horse throws the whole regiment into confusion when practicing army evolutions. The cavalryman will be assigned as mount with a view to saddle, but not to the cavalry drill.

The province of the soldier is to instruct his mount in field work. It is the province of the civilian trainer to school his charge to good manners under the saddle and the soldier is expected to train his mount in the art of war.

San Francisco Man Arrested in Los Angeles on Warrant For Embezzlement of Customer's Securities.

(By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire.)

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 6.—President Roosevelt remained at home today and no statements of any kind came from the chief executive. His only visitor was Jacob Ellis from New York, who arrived this evening and will be guest of the president over night. Tomorrow the president will have a real strenuous day with a political conference and a conference on the West Point cadet case on his hands.

Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the national republican committee, will come to Sagamore Hill, and he will discuss the present situation of the entire country with Mr. Roosevelt. It is believed that the situation in New York state will also be talked over and that Mr. Hitchcock will be made aware of the president's views on this subject.

Whether the visit of Secretary of the Treasury George H. Cortelyou to the president last Tuesday and his visit yesterday to Chairman Hitchcock in New York has any significance in view of the fact that Mr. Cortelyou has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the New York state gubernatorial nomination can not be learned here.

Secretary Wright and U. S. Military Academy Supt. Hugh L. Scott will come to see the president tomorrow, and it is likely that some definite decision regarding the dismissal or reinstatement of the eight West Point cadets will be reached.

It is believed a statement will be made at the conclusion of the conference.

FIGHTFUL BRUTALITY IS PERMITTED IN PRESCOTT

(Prescott Journal-Miner.)

When the authorities of Prescott and Yavapai county wish to take cognizance of the brutality which almost monthly transpires in the saloons and dark corners of Prescott business houses in the shape of fights to the death between a poor badger, confined in a barrel or box without food or drink, or even a decent supply of fresh air, and then jerked out into the daylight, dimly lighted cellar into the very teeth of a horse bound with a scene was witnessed last evening, just as the shades of night were falling fast, and the pretty stars were peeping from the blue canopy of heaven. It was a scene that which drew the laughter and jeers of a hundred men in Joe Dillon's cellar, which has made the angels weep. It has taken more than a Dickens, or a Thackeray, or even Edgar Allan Poe to his most morbid flights to have done justice to that scene.

Think of George Butler, the undertaker, standing with a bull chain in his hand, pulling back with all his mighty strength to keep the boxing bloodhound from tearing the box to pieces in his mad desire to get at that putting badger within the frail but almost air tight walls. Think of an immigrant theatrical man, one Marco who has been mystifying thousands at the Elks' theater this week, standing by Butler's side with another end of a chain in his hand, waiting for the signal to spring the door and jerk the poor badgered badger into the dim light and the teeth of the Simon Legree best awaiting him. Think of a creature called "Misonid" for short, standing just behind these two, with pistol cocked and ready to give the signal to spring the trap, and yet begging for just a moment's more time in which to egg on some better in the crowd to take just twenty dollars more of his money that the badger would whip the dog in ten minutes.

TENNIS LOVERS HAVE ORGANIZED A CLUB

Twenty-Six Charter Members of Organization Which Will do Much to Make Game Popular in Albuquerque.

Last night at the office of Mayor Felix H. Lester a large number of tennis enthusiasts, after a short meeting, organized a club which starts off with a charter membership of twenty-six and which will grow in numbers rapidly, as many other devotees of the game have expressed their intention to join the club. The officers elected last night are: E. H. Collier, president; Roy A. Stamm, secretary and treasurer. The following committee were appointed:

Committee on the construction and equipment of courts—Dr. Robert Smart, Herbert F. Reynolds and Roy Stamm.

Committee on by-laws and constitution—F. H. Lester, Raymond Stamm and Howard Clarke.

The charter members of the club are as follows: H. F. Reynolds, Roy A. Stamm, F. H. Lester, Howard Clarke, John Lee Clarke, Dr. Robert Smart, Ross M. Merrill, Charles White, Julius Staab, Gerry Johnson, B. D. Bronson, Raymond Stamm, H.

H. Collier, Sam Pickard, Dr. E. J. Alger, Roy McDonald, Frank H. Moore, A. B. Stroup, Sidney Earle Benson, Newell M. O. Chadbourne, Melville Summers, Herbert Brooks, A. R. McGaffey, Clark M. Carr and R. E. Putney.

The courts, which will likely be four in number, will be laid out in the vicinity of Robinson park, and will be constructed along the most modern lines. Ladies are to be received as members, and it is understood quite a number of amateur tennis players will enroll themselves. The initiation fee for gentlemen is $10 and for ladies $5. The dues will be 20 cents a month. Tournaments are to be arranged between members of the club and later with outside teams and it is expected the organization will do much to make the game popular in this city. It is hoped that a series of games may be arranged for the exposition this fall. If this is done it will add a most attractive feature to the program of sports. There is nothing prettier, fiercer, more exciting than a good tennis tournament. Albuquerque has some skilled players, and games with teams from other cities can probably be easily arranged.

HUGE CROWDS AT THE TEMPTATION SALE

Golden Rule Management Kept Busy From Morning Till Night on First Day of Great Bargain Event.

The great "Temptation Sale," the class in every way all previous dry goods cut price bazaars held in the city, opened with a rush at the big Golden Rule Dry Goods store yesterday morning. The store was literally jammed from the opening to the closing hour. It will pay one just to go into the Golden Rule and take a good look at the crowds. Marshall Field's Chicago department store on a Saturday afternoon last in it. A Morning Journal representative wandered into the "big store with the little price" yesterday afternoon and the crowd was so dense he had difficulty getting out. Every one seemed to be buying something. The secret of the "Temptation Sale" is that the prices are chopped so recklessly that the temptation to buy, just can't be resisted. Fifty salespeople were kept on the jump all day attending to the wants of the patrons.
