

DARROW IS CONCLUDING ARGUMENT FOR HAYWOOD

End of Long Case Expected When Borah Closes Tomorrow Night.

WHY ADAMS WAS NOT USED ON STAND

Attorney Explains Reason For Not Using Some Witnesses and For Having Put Moyer Before Jury, Though a Prisoner.

Boise, Idaho, July 25.—In resuming his address to the Haywood jury this morning, Clarence E. Darrow, who is having the last word for the defense, took up the defense of Jack Simpkins' flight after the arrest of Orchard.

Darrow was very hoarse as a result of speaking five hours and forty minutes yesterday and spoke today with the greatest effort.

He said that the reason Simpkins was not here was because he was afraid to be in Boise. He did not know whether Simpkins is innocent or not, but took issue with the statement of President Darrow that his flight proved his guilt.

He said that if that be true, the fact that Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone did not testify proved their innocence, but neither proposition is true.

Why Adams Was Not Used.

"Hawley blamed the Federation for the re-election of Simpkins to the executive board, but if he had not been re-elected, Simpkins would have said that showed beyond a doubt that the man was guilty," said the attorney.

Darrow here went into a lengthy discussion as to why the defense had not put Steve Adams and George A. Pettibone on the stand. He demanded to know why the prosecution had not put C. C. Sterling, detective of the Mine Owners' association on the stand. Adams, the attorney explained, is on trial for the murder of a man in northern Idaho. Under the circumstances, Darrow said, he would rather cut off his right arm than allow Adams to go on the stand, much as he desired the acquittal of Haywood.

Must be Protected.

"I am not afraid of what he would say against Haywood, but I am afraid to let Adams, my client, turn himself wrong side out under the cunning cross examination of Senator Borah and then have his testimony used against him when the second trial for his life begins. No witness should be permitted to do such a thing would be worthy of the name."

As to Pettibone Darrow said the same thing was true.

No Case Against Moyer.

The reason he had put Moyer on the stand while he too is awaiting trial, Darrow said, is that there is no evidence of any sort for Moyer to explain. He expressed the belief that Moyer would be tried.

Darrow demanded to know why McParland and Sterling have not been indicted. He charged the Mine Owners' association directly with the blowing up of the Colorado labor depot, so that they might take the law in their own hands and drive out the Federation and all the men, women and children who sympathized with it.

Plunging vigorously into the Cripple Creek troubles, Darrow declared "When some day the people get the right angle of this case and look back upon the Colorado labor struggles, they will have had one of the most important and pregnant chapters in the history of the United States."

Ridicules Orchard's Religion.

Darrow dwelt for the last hour of the morning session upon the Bradley explosion in San Francisco. "He declared that all the evidence pointed to a gas explosion and described the testimony in support of Orchard's story as to the bomb as 'manufactured in Pinkerton McParland's perjury factory.'"

The attorney asserted that it was impossible for Orchard to have gained the roof of the Bradley apartment except by climbing the gutter pipe.

"And you don't catch Harry climbing any pipes," he went on. "Oh, no, no chance like that for Harry. He might fall down and hurt his finger, and if he hurt his finger he might not be able to play the harp in kingdom come."

The luncheon recess taken at this point, continued until 2 p. m. Darrow will complete his plea of this afternoon and Senator Borah will commence his closing argument tonight.

Case Nearly Concluded.

The case is now almost closed, as Senator Borah will undoubtedly conclude his argument sometime tomorrow. He has already here that he did not propose to consume much time in answering the argument of the defense.

Should the case go to the jury before Saturday noon, a verdict might be expected sometime during the afternoon, as it is not expected that the jury will be out many hours. Indeed there is a sentiment here that the jury will agree on their verdict within a few minutes after retiring.

HUSBAND DYING, WIFE STARVED TO DEATH.

Married Daughter's Chum Soon After His Wife Suicided

Mrs. Faye Graham Magill, Who Married the Clinton, Ill., Banker, Who is Charged With Murdering His First Wife.

DID MAGILL MAKE FAY MANZANO DAY WILL BE GRAHAM WRITE A PERMANENT LETTERS? AFFAIR

Present Girl-Wife Said to Have Penned Suicidal Notes. MAY BE INDICTED AS ACCESSORY FORMAL ORGANIZATION HAS BEEN PERFECTED

Clinton, Ill., July 25.—Fay Graham Magill, the young bride of Fred H. Magill, probably will be held by a special grand jury that is to gather here Saturday, on the charge of having written the letters generally ascribed to the deceased, Pet Gandy Magill. It is considered certain that Fred Magill will be held on the charge of murder. There has been some doubt as to what the jurors will do with his youthful wife.

Ever since the discovery of Pet Magill's body and the simultaneous appearance of the letters supposed to have been written by her the theorists have been working overtime as to the authorship of the communications. The adherents to the suicide theory claimed that Pet Magill herself wrote them.

Did She Write Letters?

A person well acquainted with the case and on the inside explained the theory in this way:

"When it came to the last ditch Fred Magill was afraid. He did not want to write the letters, and so he hinted to Fay that she might try her hand at them. I do not say she did it, but it is not beyond reason. She is a stenographer by training and a mighty smart woman. What would prevent her obeying Fred in this as she has in other matters?"

According to this authority, the state has obtained a specimen of the company's handwriting and will turn it over to the experts as soon as the Pet Magill epistles are obtained. The latter are believed to be in the possession of Marguerite Magill, Fred Magill's daughter. The state is worried over the disappearance of the notes.

Points in His Favor.

Circumstances in Fred Magill's favor are these:

He is a man of pleasant disposition and never has been accused of absolute cruelty.

His wife was subject to severe headaches and complained for years of the nagging of her husband's relatives.

She told members of her circle, and even of the jury that later sat in inquest over her body, that she was a victim of the constant criticisms to which she was being subjected, and would do away with herself.

She was unquestionably the victim of a husband's peculiar powers of suggestion; or she was in terror of her husband.

The suggestion from him that he was tired of her and preferred the company of Fay Graham might, it is claimed, create in her mind the purpose of suicide, without her husband, however, making any threat or direct request.

There are, too, other things that favor the defense. All the evidence is circumstantial, and the discovery of the body with the face covered with a chloroformed cloth is prima facie evidence of death from that cause. The doctors so stated, and even if the Chicago experts who are examining the dead woman's internal organs should report the presence of strychnine, a jury would probably say the doubt as to what caused death—chloroform or strychnine—was so strong that the defendant should be discharged.

REGULATIONS ON DENATURED ALCOHOL

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Amended denatured alcohol regulations have been issued by the commissioner of internal revenue, to take the place on September 1st of regulations heretofore issued, and which are made necessary by the act passed by the last congress.

In addition to denatured warehouses on distillery premises, central denaturing warehouses may be constructed at such points as the business interests may require, and alcohol may be transferred from distillery warehouses by means of tanks or tank cars to consumers.

Manufacturers using completely denatured alcohol are not required to swear to their applications for permits, and a permit when secured, continues until recalled.

Retail dealers are not required to keep a record of any kind. Industrial or farm distilleries may produce alcohol from anything that contains fermentable matter, and one room may be used as a combined cistern, distillery, warehouse and denatured warehouse.

JEWISH WOMEN WRECK KOSHER BUTCHER SHOPS

Show Their Objection, to Rise in Price of Meat, in Very Violent Manner.

CAUSE MUCH DAMAGE IN FEW MINUTES

They Broke Windows and Fixtures, Drove Out Customers, Poured Kerosene on Meat and Otherwise Showed Displeasure.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 25.—The Jewish quarter was the scene of wild disorder today when the women of the quarter made a demonstration against all kosher butchers as a protest against the increase in the price of beef. The shops were invaded by angry women, prospective customers driven out, windows broken, and kerosene in a number of instances, poured over the meat. Several women were arrested and the police had to use considerable force in dispersing the crowds.

The rise in price of meat in the kosher butcher shops, is of course, due to the rise in price of live stock which prevails all over the country and is generally credited to the fact before the additional blue coat on the price the cost of post mortem and other pure food law examinations. This is a fact that is not generally understood among the foreigners of this city, and the increased cost of living has caused much discussion.

The fact that kosher meat must be strictly prepared according to the Jewish ritual, and in addition must be properly handled and under certain restrictions of the church, has always made that class of meat a high priced article, but the Jews use no other.

A Real Issue.

The additional price angered the housewives of the section to such a pitch that they were unable longer to control themselves. On reaching the markets the morning they began to gather in animated groups and despite the fact that a watchful policeman, used to the signs of coming storm in that quarter, called for help, before the additional blue coat could reach the scene, great havoc had been wrought among the kosher shops.

The proprietors were beaten with fists and sticks by the enraged women and some of them even brandished the market owners with their own sharp knives and cleavers. It required a full hour for the police to gain control of the district and even then it was with difficulty that the feeling of resentment was kept below fighting pitch.

LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL IS JUDGE POPE'S DECISION

Man Who Accepts Advance Wages May Not Be Held.

Roswell, N. M., July 25.—Some time ago Antonio Love was sent to jail for receiving an advance payment of money from a sheepman and then failing to go to work when he had promised the grower that the law is lacking in the certainty requisite to a criminal statute.

Alleging the territorial law in the case to be unconstitutional, Love sought discharge upon habeas corpus. Judge Pope has discharged the prisoner upon the ground that the law is lacking in the certainty requisite to a criminal statute.

It creates a distinction between the rich and the poor as is now the case, and the republican principle which proclaims all men equal before the law, he says.

It is in contravention to the Spring-er act which prohibits special legislation. It is in disregard to the constitutional guarantee that no man shall be denied the equal protection of the law.

Judge Pope further says "I cannot consider valid a statute which, while penalizing a fraud says to the offender that if he has money enough to pay up his offense stands condoned. It says in effect to the party who may have committed a fraud: If you have the money to repay your creditor and you pay him, you are not a criminal; if you have not, you are."

CIMARRON COMING FOR TWO GAMES.

O. A. Matson, manager of the McIntosh Browns, received word this afternoon that the Cimarron ball team would be in Albuquerque to play two games, one on next Saturday afternoon and the other on Sunday. These men from the mountains have been up to some fancy ball playing this season and their visit to this city means business. But whatever they have in the way of skill they are not suffering with cold feet. The two games promise to be lively and exciting.

She Took Her Life for Love of Lieut. Goodrich, Killed on Georgia

Miss Laura Donaldson, Rich Bachelor Girl, Who Took Her Life for Love of Lieutenant Goodrich.

LOVE TRAGEDY CLIMAX TO BATTLESHIP HORROR

Lieut. Goodrich's Sweetheart Suicided Because of Intense Grief.

HIS PHOTOGRAPH STOOD ON MANTEL

New York, July 25.—Miss Laura D. Donaldson, who was found dead with a pistol beside her on a couch in her apartments at the Hotel La Porte, No. 1161 Amsterdam avenue, was of English and American descent and was a native of New York, though of late years her home has been with a wealthy uncle, Dr. Charles Ritz, of Lewistown, Pa. Among her effects in the luxuriously furnished rooms at the hotel was displayed prominently a photograph of Lieut. Casper Goodrich, who lost his life in the accident aboard the battleship Georgia last week. Miss Donaldson and Lieut. Goodrich were known to be very good friends, but their engagement, if they were engaged, had not been announced. The girl, after learning of his death, became morbid and refused to see her friends, finally locking herself in her apartments, where she was found dead.

Miss Donaldson was in very good spirits until the day of the explosion of the battleship Georgia. She was returning from a walk that evening, happy and in good health. She had just spoken to a friend of her brave sailor boy and his shoulder straps and blue uniform, whom she expected to see in a short time.

Death Shock to Her.

A newsboy ran to her with an armful of "extras." He cries out something about "explosion on the Georgia," and she looked at the big headlines of the paper he offered. Seeing the name "Lieut. Goodrich" in big black letters, she purchased a paper and in a moment, the harm had been wrought, for she learned that her sweetheart was dying.

From that minute her life became a matter of no value to her and she gradually drifted into the melancholy which caused her to take her own life.

Miss Donaldson was well-to-do in her own right, and there was no other reason for her suicide than grief over Goodrich's death.

NATIVE SHOTS GIRL FROM HER HORSE

Solomonville, Ariz., July 25.—Ambrosio Lecanna, a native well known in this vicinity, is being sought by officers here for the murder of his sweetheart, Miss Grochans, a beautiful native girl who resided near Morenci, a small town in this vicinity. Angered by jealousy, Lecanna waylaid the girl and shot her as she rode by his hiding place, a second shot killing her horse.

Parties who heard the shots ran to the spot and found the dead girl and horse. Tracks leading to where Lecanna's horse had been tied gave them a clue as to the murderer.

NEW CONVENTION MADE BETWEEN JAPAN AND KOREA

Ministers of Latter Country Bitterly Opposed Its Adoption for Many Hours.

RESIDENT GENERAL WILL HAVE CONTROL

Practically All Official Acts Are in Charge of Japanese Who Will Exercise Protectorate Power Over Empire.

Tokio, Japan, July 25.—A new convention between Japan and Korea was signed today at 1 p. m. after no small opposition by the Korean court. The provisions are believed to be briefly as follows:

First—That the administration of Korea shall secure the guidance of the Japanese resident general.

Second—That the enactment of all laws and ordinances, also all important state affairs, shall receive the approval of the resident general.

Third—That the appointment of all high or responsible officials shall receive the approval of the resident general.

Fourth—That only persons recommended by the resident general shall be eligible for office in the Korean government.

Fifth—That a distinct demarcation shall be drawn between the administrative and judicial affairs.

Sixth—That foreigners shall be employed only on consent of the resident general.

Seventh—That the first clause of the convention of August 22, 1904, providing for the employment of a financial advisor, shall be annulled. The new convention will now be submitted to the privy council of Japan.

Ex-Emperor Active.

Seoul, July 25.—Ex-Emperor Yi Heul's pernicious activity since he was forced to abdicate has caused the Japanese much worry.

Not only has he stirred up his former subjects to repeated acts of violence, but he has also caused a serious defection in the cabinet, and, worst of all, has dictated actions of the new emperor, his son, including him, among other things, to refuse to sign a proclamation the new cabinet had drawn up "to calm the people and restore order."

The first "conspiracy" laid to the emperor was his ordering the imperial guard to seize the palace last Friday night and save him from being put off the throne by the Japs.

The Korean army's defying the minister of war and remaining loyal to their old emperor is deemed evidence of another of Yi Heul's "conspiracies."

The attack on the Japanese palace at the grand ball, led by a Korean army official, is regarded as proof of still another.

Acts of a Mob.

The discovery of a plot against the throne resulted in the arrest between midnight and dawn today of the elder statesmen of the Korean government with Pake Yung Ho, who was appointed minister of the Imperial household, and Yi Do Chal, grand chamberlain of the former emperor. The minister of war and remaining loyal to their old emperor is deemed evidence of another of Yi Heul's "conspiracies."

Dislocation is spreading rapidly and rioting of the people throughout the peninsula are apprehended.

WOMAN REVOLUTIONIST HANGED AT MOSCOW

Moscow, July 25.—With the observance of the greatest privacy Madame Fremkina, who in March last attempted to assassinate General Rheubet, ex-prefect of police, and who in May attempted to murder the inspector of political prisoners here, wounding him with a pistol mysteriously smuggled into her cell, was hanged at sunrise today. She obstinately refused to appeal to the emperor for mercy.
