PRESIDENT DAY IS HOME.

HE COMES BACK EMPTY HANDED AND NOT IN THE BEST HUMOR.

Some Day He Expects to Get a Team Just as He Did a Ball Ground Last Season—Buck Ewing Tells About Mr. Day's Trip to Cincinnati—Other Ball News.

President John B. Day of the New York Club has never been charged with being impulsive; on the contrary, he has always been credited with having one of the most amiable of dispositions. To have met him yesterday, however, one would have never thought that it was the suave John B. Day of old. He was sullen and morose, and was almost unapproachable. He seemed to have a perfect abhorrence of newspaper men. When a SUN reporter was assigned the task of interviewing Mr. Day upon the result of his late Western trip he congratulated himself upon the fact that his mission would be an easy and pleasant one.

Mr. Day left Indianapolis on the 2:30 P. M. limited express on Wednesday, which was due to arrive in New York early on Thursday evening. He evidently laid off somewhere, for he did not reach the city until yesterday morning, and quietly slipped into his business office at 121 Maiden lane, and there THE SUN reporter met him.

"Good morning, Mr. Day, glad to see you," the reporter said.

"What can I do for you?" was the rather cold reply.

"You had a pleasant chat with Buck Ewing it is said?"

"Yes, I was with him for two or three hours."

"Well, was the conference a very encouraging one to you?"

"I have nothing to say on that point."

"It has been stated that you offered Ewing $33,000 for three years. Is that true?"

He merely shook his head and then in a rather petulant manner said: "I don't care about talking of such things. There has enough been said about it already. I have already met a dozen reporters and I said to them as I say now, I have nothing to communicate."

Mr. Day then walked away from the reporter, but he was asked whether it was true that he was trying to make a deal with the Cincinnati Club for Carpenter and two or three other players.

"Well, Carpenter is a good man," said he.

Mr. Day was asked about his visit to Indianapolis.

"Mr. Brush and I had a very pleasant talk," he replied, "but I cannot say anything further than that."

"What is your opinion of a ten-club league?"

"I would like to see eight clubs, that is all there is about it." With this Mr. Day showed an utter disinclination to talk any further, and the reporter withdrew.

Among the best posted base ball men the impression seems to be that President Day's trip was chiefly planned to get Buck Ewing back into the League ranks. There is no doubt but that he had a long talk with the great player, and the presumption is that he offered Buck a fabulous amount of money to return. With Ewing back into the fold there seems to be no question that others of the New York Club would follow in his wake. Therefore Mr. Day's move in trying to get Ewing was a wise one, and there are many who believe that the latter will yet be corralled by the New Yorks.

It is surmised that Ewing's visit to New York at this time is by appointment with Mr. Day. Danny Richardson and Roger Connor is also expected in the city, and it is claimed that these players will meet Mr. Day at some secluded place and each sign a New York Club contract. The three men will then be on the same level, as no one can charge that one man broke his contract with the Brotherhood before the other. It is also reported that President Brush will be compelled to give up two men to the New Yorks if there is a chance of the Hoosiers staying in the League.

Another very important question the reporter asked Mr. Day was whether he had seen Danny Richardson during his trip. He shook his head and said that he had not. The following despatch, however, from THE SUN correspondent at Elmira tells a different tale:

ELMIRA, Feb. 21.—John B. Day, President of the New York League Club, was in Elmira last night on his way home from his interview with Buck Ewing in Cincinnati. He had a long interview with Danny Richardson, which action refuses to talk about Day's visit, but says he has not left the Brotherhood.

Every member of the Brooklyn League team has been notified to report for duty by March 1. On Monday, March 3, they take passage on the steamer Iroquois of the Clyde line and go direct to Jacksonville. Their ultimate destination will be St. Augustine, the grounds of that city being leased by Presidents Spalding and Byrne for the spring season. The team will play a few games with the Philadelphians, but their chief practice will be with the local club. The Brooklyns will comprise Caruthers, Terry, Hughes, and Lovett, pitchers; Bushong, Clark, Tom Daly, Reynolds, Sallings, and Newnan, catchers; Foutz, first base; Collins, second base; Pinkney, third base; Smith, short stop; O'Brien, left field; Corkhill, centre field; Burns, right field. The trip will last until March 31.

Next Wednesday at 3 P. M. Manager Mutrie with fourteen players will embark on the steamer Delaware of the Clyde line for Charleston, S. C., from which point he will make a practice trip through the Sunny South. Manager Mutrie anticipates the trip with much pleasure, as he has made many friends among the warm-hearted southern people during his former visits, and is determined to have his team merit their approval on this trip.

Among the fourteen men Mutrie takes with him are some players of national reputation—just enough, he says, to "steady the new men and develop them into the Ewings, Kellys, Clarksons, and Connors of the future." Most of the men have reported, and they are certainly a fine-looking body of athletes. Manager Mutrie is extremely proud of them, and says, "I will surprise the New York people with my team when we return from the South."

SHAMOKIN, Feb. 21.—Buck Ewing of the New York Brotherhood team is visiting his wife's parents in this place. He left Cincinnati last Tuesday and came right through. The captain and his wife will depart for New York to-morrow morning over the Lehigh Valley road and make connection at Tampa with the Jersey Central. He is in the pink of health, and is twenty pounds heavier than in playing condition. In an interview this evening Buck stated that under no circumstances would he play with the National League team, but that the deal with Cincinnati an attempt to have him disclose his conversation with John B. Day failed, but since his sojourn in the coal metropolis he thought it best that his brother players should know just what his plans were. He was on the ball two consecutive days, using all kinds of effects to have him leave the Brotherhood. An offer of $8,500 a year for three seasons was rejected. The reason that Buck was subjected to forty-eight hours of extraordinary pleadings on the part of Day was that, owing to the high regard in which Ewing is held, Day thought Buck treated him in a firm and compassionate manner, and did not have the heart to be abrupt.

Like a drowning person, the President grasped at imaginary straws. Day claimed he could secure Richardson and Connor if the captain would yield, which Ewing knew him to was acting in an underhand manner; that he knew the man said nothing of the kind.

"Why do you call it underhand, Buck?" said Day.

"Because you could go to the same men and use the identical argument, with no more a pigeon stool. I am captain of the team, and the last man you should approach."

Day assured Ewing that he was the most liberal man in the Brotherhood. When Buck stated that the men could make more money and be treated whiter than they ever were in the old League, Day said he would sooner take back John Ward but never Whitney and O'Rourke, as the latter players acted falsely with him in claiming to be with the League when in reality they were with the Brotherhood.

Buck received a telegram from Richardson this afternoon admonishing the captain to discredit stories about him; that he was just as solid as Ewing. "The New York Brotherhood team will be on top when the season closes. I feel confident," remarked Ewing, "and I think that the Buffalo team will be at the bottom."

"Do you think any of the New York team will prove disloyal?"

"Not one of them," replied Ewing, in a determined manner. "They are all in the fight to stay."

"How is it you were the last man to sign with the Brotherhood?"

"I desired to weigh the situation accurately, and many important moves on the magnates' part were turned into good use when I finally went into the new movement, as I was talked to continuously by the League people, who reasoned I would never leave them. John Day is beloved by all the Brotherhood people, but if he does not stop his dirty tricks he will become most unpopular."

Ewing thinks that the League people have reached the end of the string in securing deserters from the Brotherhood, and extresses contempt at Clarkson and Glasscock.

Base Ball Notes.

It is said that Joe Reilly, James Richly, and William Wild of last season's N. J. A. C. team, have signed with the Sidways.

Yesterday's cold weather made the amateur players restless. Their daily practice has not been resumed in the west or clerk recs'd to bring warmer weather.

Catcher Clark of the Brooklyn nine has so far almost recovered from his injury received in the world's series, and that he is looking forward anticipatory to the trip to Florida.

President Byrne received a letter yesterday from Tom Daly, dated at the Hot Springs, in which Tom says Burns has reduced flesh so much that he may be considered in the light-weight class; at the same time

BOWLING.

The New York Athletic Club won both games from the strange team last night on the former team's alley. The home team never rolled in better form, as in both games they succeeded in rolling high scores. The visitors rolled in very poor form, as in neither of the games were any of the players able to roll extraordinary high scores. The scores:

Bowling Notes.

At the last meeting of the Rosedale Club it was resolved to enter the United Bowling tournament.

Duke's alleys, located at Wood's Hall, Jersey City, are destined to become the Mecca of bowlers from every nook and corner in the three neighboring cities.

There is no reason why the "Big Five" of the Jersey City Athletic Club should not succeed to the top seat in the Athletic Bowling League, as they have two series of games in succession at home.

The splendid manner in which graceful Fred Carter of the Palma Club has been rolling the wooden spheres of late season will give him an average that will surpass all others made by players in the various leagues.

The Travers Bowling Club will bowl Hillary Bowling Club this afternoon, five men on each team, 3 best games out of 5, on Dunham's alleys, Eighty-sixth street and Third avenue. This is the first match the Travers Club bowl. Their team consists of Joe Gordon, brown, Max Brown, Wm. Brown, Wm. Morse—a bunch five, but the Hillarys are old timers and will put in five men fully worth to defend the prestige of the Hillary Club.

The Jersey City Athletic Club will shortly be in possession of two championship pennants as their respective natures on the Pyramid second team competitions of the Amateur Bowling Association League have now attained such a lead as to present deprivation of the same. The Jersey City Athletic Bowling League all-star team although their lapse of weakness during the past few weeks has been somewhat detrimental to them in the way of securing first honors.

Winters Defeats Kelly.

About 200 members of the Metropolitan Rowing Club and the Crib Club of Harlem assembled in the gymnasium of the latter on 125th street last night to witness the final bout in the special 140 pound class for a gold watch, between Hugh Winters, Bridge Athletic Club, and P. F. Kelly, West Side Athletic Club, offered by the Metropolitan Rowing Club. This bout was deferred from last Saturday night's competitions held at Parepa Hall on account of lateness. Great interest was taken in the bout, as the men were believed to be nearly matched and but few present would venture to pick the winner.

A preliminary bout of three rounds was sparred by P. J. Herbert and James Ryan, both of the West Side Athletic Club after which Kelly and Winters entered the ring. In the first two rounds Winters had clearly the best of it, but in the third Kelly started to do some work and the round was of the give-and-take order, with a good deal of mugbting. The judges agreed on Winters.

Winters was attended to by Wm. McGarry of the Star Athletic Club, and Kelly by James Brown and John Clarke of the West Side Athletic Club. A prominent athletic referee was the third referee. Frank Banman and Billy Oliver acted as judges, while G. C. Johnson and Abe Masters were timekeepers.

Curling Match in Albany.

ALBANY, Feb. 21.—The first of a series of three match games between the Albany City and Empire Curling Clubs of this city occurred to day. The rinks and scores were:

Rink No. 1.—Empires—John S. Foster, John J. McCabe, Alexander Simpson, and H. Gardner, skip, 17. Albanys—J. J. Van Schoonven, E. O. Roessle, R. L. Banks jr., and William Kirk, skip, 19.

Rink No. 2.—Empires—John A. Lehman, T. O. Spencer, Charles Gould, and Thomas A. Gardner, skip, 18. Albanys—George Moffett, Alex. Hyslop, John Laing, and Andrew McMurray, skip, 20.

To-morrow the great international match for the Gordon Medal will be played at the covered rink of the Albany City Curling Club. The Canadians have not arrived yet, but are expected to-night. The New York rink—James Stewart, Robert Etho, James Kellogg, and Robert Frazer, skip—reached here this afternoon. The Albany curlers who with the New York men are to be matched against the Canadian players are R. L. Banks jr. John C. Laing, Wm. Kirk, and Andrew McMurray, skip.

The Scots Elect a President.

An unusually large number of the leading members of the Scottish American Athletic Club of Jersey City attended the regular meeting of that organization which convened in the club house last evening. Their main object of being in attendance was to elect a new President to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Henry Regan, and also two members on the Board of Trustees to fill the places of Mr. Hendrickenberg and Mr McBride resigned. There were five candidates for the Presidency and as many more for the other offices. The following gentlemen were elected: President, John Rotherman; Board of Trustees unexpired terms, Walter Ince and Robert Alexander. The Committee on Constitution and By Laws went in a revision of the club's form of workings, and it is expected that the new rules will aid greatly in placing the club on a firmer basis than it is at present.

The Champion Pool Players.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 21.—This afternoon's pool tournament games resulted as follows:

De Oro (Italio)—10, 9, 7, 14, 5, 4, 4, 8, 12, 10, 13, 10, 10—126.

Heart—5, 6, 8, 1, 10, 11, 11, 7, 3, 5, 2, 5, 5, 5—79.

Buntzsch—8, 3, 7, 9, 10, 6, 0, 5, 15, 2, 6, 6, 0—76.

Dunning—7, 12, 12, 6, 5, 9, 15, 6, 0, 13, 7, 15, 9, 10—125.

The Syracuse team won by 51 points. The evening was a very exciting contest between Clasee and Eggleston. The score:

Eggleston—7, 15, 14, 8, 9, 5, 8, 5, 5, 5, 15, 4, 4, 10, 1, 15—125.

Clasee—6, 0, 1, 7, 6, 10, 7, 12, 10, 10, 0, 11, 11, 5, 14, 0, 0—125.

The Atalanta Pool Tourney.

As the boys wanted to get away to a reception there was some lively pool playing in the Atalanta Boat Club's house, on Fifth avenue, last night. In the first game senior Lieutenant Howard A. MacLean and Irving Fairchild played together. The lieutenant won by 25 to 22.

Booth and Fairchild played the next game and it was a dandy. Both members of the rosters in the tourney, but a loss of last night's game has spoiled his average slightly. It was a close game at the start, and very interesting, as Fairchild's visiting power MacLean had given him confidence, and he won by 25 to 21.

The Waterloo Cup.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—The contests between the four dogs—Fullerton, Greenfern, Downpour, and Donald O'Dane—the winners in yesterday's runs for the Waterloo Cup took place this morning. Fullerton beat Greenfern, and Downpour beat Donald O'Dane. The last run between Fullerton and Downpour—then took place. It resulted in a victory for Fullerton, who beat Downpour by three lengths and won the cup. The betting before the final race was 11 to 2 on Fullerton.

Kentucky Horse News.

LEXINGTON, Feb. 21.—Lou, dam of the sensational Axtell, arrived here to-day from Independence, Iowa, with her filly foal, eight days old. The filly is a full sister to Axtell. She will be bred back to William L. The filly stood the trip very well.

Hourt, b. m., 6, by Onward, dam Jesse Turner, by Mambrino Patchen, has been sold by J. R. Cornell, Mt.

FAVORITES IN THE VAN.

THE TALENT SELECT FOUR OUT OF SIX WINNERS AT CLIFTON.

Little Jim and Col. Clark were the Hard Nuts that Failed to Crack—Umpire and Golden Rod Have a Lively Fight—Prodigal Wins Again—Thompson's Three.

Those who went to Clifton yesterday had a touch of winter racing in earnest, the weather being raw and cold. Four favorites out of six got home safely, and it wasn't such a bad day for backers as it might have been; still, those who bet on Little Jim in the opening event and Col. Clark in the Delaware Handicap were hardly satisfied.

The first race saw Dan Hope in the van, while the second enabled John Arkins to win a race at last after many trials. Prodigal was favorite for the third at odds on, and he won with ease. The Delaware Handicap saw Umpire and Golden Rod finish necks apart, with the favorite, Col. Clark, in the ruck, the old horse breaking down. Golden Rod got away badly, and was by far the best horse in the race. The Abbess showed how game she is by winning the fifth race after being out of it at the half, and Young Duke galloped away from his field in the last event in his old style.

Thompson rode three winners and a place horse.

Riverside Wheelmen's Reception.

Numerous entertainments and receptions have been tendered by the Entertainment Committee of the Riverside Wheelmen to their members during the past season all of which have proved great successes. The last of these receptions was held at the club's quarters on Friday evening, March 14, 1890, which was no exception to the previous one in regard to being a success. About forty couple enjoyed the club's hospitality among whom were members of the New York Citizen, Manhattan, and Harlem Clubs, until a late hour.

Wheelmen Dine.

A large delegation of cyclists, members of the Citizens' Bicycle Club of this city, sat down to a sumptuous spread last evening in the Grand Union Hotel. It was the yearly dinner of the club. Current wheeling matters were discussed and toasts were responded to after a number of humorous members of the organization. While the Citizens Club is not particularly active on the road the club is foremost in social matters. The committee in charge of the affair were: L. Lange, F. Wilson, F. Sharer, F. Blackhurst, and W. G. Frazer.

Fighting Notes.

L. P. L.—Yes, once at Madison Square Garden.

A Constant Reader—Cal McCarthy is in the feather-weight class.

F. A. Samein.—It is located at Seventh avenue and Thirty-fourth street.

Dan Gallagher says that he has an unknown who he will match against Jack Smith for any amount from $500 to $1,000 a side.

Jack Quinn says that he will fight Jimmy Nelson of Brooklyn to a finish for $25 a side, or for the $40 purse offered by the Coney Island Athletic Club of Providence.

Thad Birch, a 160 pound colored pugilist, is now in training for a ten round contest with an unknown. Birch is a new comer in the pugilistic world, and has already proved himself to be very handy with the gloves.

Lawrence, the 21-Jimmy Carroll, a local boxer, knocked out Mike Barry of Portland, ex-champion light weight of Maine in the seventh round of a ten round set to here last night by a terrific right-hander on the jaw.

Harry Umlah says that since Swinea the Newsboy has crawled and refused to meet his unknown "coon," he will back him against any 125 pound man who will accept the challenge. Umlah has entered two amateurs in the New York Athletic Club boxing tournament.

Prof. J. Haley of New York, formerly of Buffalo, offers to meet Tommy Danforth before the Young Men's Gymnastic Club of New Orleans for the $850 offered by that organization. This purse was originally offered for Danforth and Haley to fight, but owing to some misunderstanding the match was declared off. Haley fights at 124 pounds, give or take two, and is ready to go south at a moment's notice.

Jack Ring, the well-known pugilist and heavy weight champion of Vermont, has regarded a challenge to the Police Gazette, in which he agrees to meet George Godfrey, the colored heavy weight of Boston, for $500 or $1,000 a side and the championship belt. Ring is confident that he can defeat Godfrey for a $1,000 purse in the Parnell Club at Boston or the Gladstone Club at Providence, R. I. If Godfrey does not accept the challenge, King will offer the same terms to Joe Lannion of Lowell, Jack Ashton of Providence, or Jack Fallon of Brooklyn.

Frank Moore of Elizabeth was at the Illustrated News office yesterday for the purpose of arranging a match with Mike Donovan for the latter's benefit on Sept. 1 next. Moore left a deposit of $50, which will remain on two weeks, and if Bresin means business he will meet Moore at the same office on the 27th inst. and put up a forfeit. Moore is willing to go for $250 a side, to take place within four weeks. If Bresin fails to keep this appointment Moore is open to fight any 125-pound man, give or take two pounds, under the same conditions. He trainers Paddy McCarthy or
