

UNLOADING CARGO OF DEUTSCHLAND BEGUN

Port Formalities Fail to Cast Light on Value of Submarine's Load.

GUARDING AGAINST SPIES

Josephus Daniels Likely to Be Only Newspaper Man to See German Trader.

New London, Conn., Nov. 2.—Having had a chance to get the crew cramps out of their heads and recuperate from the strain of twenty-one days of travel, the crew of the submarine Deutschland, Capt. Koenig and his merry men today began things humming in the way of unloading the cargo inside the submarine at the pier.

It is a week's job, and after it will come the equally important task of loading the 500 tons of food, fuel, and other supplies to be taken back to Germany.

Of course, before the unloading could be begun the ship had to be entered in the customs office. This was done this afternoon, but the manifest was not ready yesterday. However, so far as the unloading is concerned, the formalities were not a hindrance.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

It is not to be understood that Capt. Koenig and his twenty-nine officers and men personally unloaded the cargo. They were assisted by a crew of about 100 men.

to New London Saturday, not, it is true, to see what a submarine trader looks like, but as a campaign orator after Nimitz State vote. He is to have a reception at the City Hall, and then will be invited to see the Deutschland, if he has time during his four hour stay.

Another event of the submarine's visit in a social way, is a banquet being arranged by the Chamber of Commerce for Saturday at the Crocker House for Capt. Koenig of the Deutschland, Capt. Jacob Pachena of the Wilhelm and their officers.

Everybody Happy. According to Capt. Koenig and his men, the claims of the Allies that scores of U-boats were sunk during the war or entangled in nets, is not true. Only nineteen fighting submarines have been destroyed since the war started, they said, and the Bremen, if she is lost, makes twenty.

Everybody is happy on the Deutschland. The sailors have been given unlimited shore leave and are parading about town, the Indians of the natives. One of them, a handsome lad by the name of Hans, who was sold to the price of $2. All of them are being coaxed for iron pennies from Germany and other souvenirs.

The food is excellent, to judge from the supply that was taken aboard today. There were whole hogs, several cases of fish, bags of various vegetables and a large amount of beer, all for the crew of the two ships and the stevedores. Thirty barrels of beer came ashore, which the men buy at three cents a cask from the commissary.

It was learned today, will be the same as for the previous voyage. They are Herman Metz & Co., the Bayer Company and Berliner Aniline Works.

FATHER AND SON IN CELLS AS COINERS

Lucie and Cousin of H. C. Wilken, Recently Caught After Five Year Search.

Secret service operatives working under Chief William J. Flynn arrested yesterday in Brooklyn two of the alleged associates of H. C. Wilken, who was taken into custody in Santa Cruz, Cal., recently on a charge of counterfeiting after five years' hiding in the States.

The Russes, it is said, worked with Wilken in his plant at 250 West 125th street, Manhattan, where Wilken posed as an expert in this city as designer. It was here that Wilken is alleged to have perfected his system for making paper which was an exact duplicate of the official stock on which money is engraved.

The elder Russel is a wax process engraver and for fifteen years was employed at that capacity by the American Bank Note Company. He gave up his job four years ago in order, the Federal authorities say, to join Wilken. Joseph Russel, who in spite of his years is still a vigorous and energetic man, is said not only to have helped in the printing of the bills, but also to the passing of between $50 and $100 of money in this city and its suburbs and as far distant as Chicago.

The two Russels were brought to Manhattan and lodged in police headquarters. They are being held in the cell at the Greenwich street station. They probably will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Brantton this morning.

GIRLS ON THE JOB IN MESSENGER STRIKE

Make Their Appearance at Produce Exchange and at Fourteenth Street.

Messenger girls delivered telegrams in New York yesterday for the first time, it is believed, in the history of the city. The girls were in the streets, pressed into new lines of employment by war, these girls were put on the job because of the war which is on between the United States and Germany.

The girls were unemployed, but male strikers have a lively and not altogether pleasant day. There were juvenile riots from the Battery to Harlem, and on occasion the busier messengers did not hesitate to lay the police. Strikers and four patrolmen battled in Ninety-third street, near Columbus avenue, with the result that three of the strikers were arrested.

A favorite amusement of pickets was to find strike breakers who wore spectacles, then to tear off the glasses and stamp on them. Charles Rotter, of 38 East Seventy-sixth street, a strike picket, was hit with a brick in a riot in Pine street. Bricks flew in many of the little scraps and shrapnel of the police. Electric windows were frequently the targets.

Strike headquarters was one of the busiest of places. Representatives of the various unions met here and there had returned to work. Committees were despatched promptly to all such points to call the boys and girls back to get out of their way. The messengers in Brooklyn and Queens had joined the strike brought loud cheers. Delegations went to The Bronx last night to call out the boys and girls, who were reported to be ready for the move.

The strike committee was in conference last night with the officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in an effort to bring about a settlement. The conference was brought about by the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration.

ZAYAS LEADS IN CUBAN VOTE. Indications of Menocal's Defeat Despite Conservative Claims.

HAVANA, Nov. 2.—Official figures of the voting yesterday for President of Cuba gave Alfredo Zayas a majority of 50,000 over the conservatives, with $35 colleges missing.

COAL CONSPIRATORS FACING PROSECUTION

U. S. and County Officials Are Ready to Act on Increases in Price.

SHORTAGE IS ANALYZED

Fewer Miners, Greater Factory Demand and Lack of Cars Given as Reasons.

Although men in the trade insist that the present scarcity of coal and the soaring prices are due to a shortage of coal, there was talk yesterday of initiating investigations to determine if speculation is at the bottom of an illegal boosting of the cost of that commodity.

District Attorney Swan said he would take pleasure in entertaining a complaint against any persons who had secured illegally "to send coal up to combined price of $12 a ton," providing there was specific information that such action was taken within the State.

County Judge Hylan of Kings sent a letter to District Attorney Lewis calling his attention to the increase in the price of coal in Brooklyn and asking for an investigation. He announced that he would make an inquiry and said his office had received some information already.

United States Attorney H. Snowden Marchant said he will prosecute any adequate complaint if it can be shown that an illegal combination exists wrongfully to raise the price of coal to the consumer.

Speculators Get 15 Per Cent. It was said at the office of the Coal Trade Association, Inc., that 15 per cent of the total coal output is disposed of on contract, while the remainder, 85 per cent, is handled by speculation.

The men who are trying their best to supply New York with coal hope for a continuance of mild weather. They admit they do not like to think that might happen, but they feel that it is the only way to keep the coal supply from being depleted.

Arthur P. Rice, commissioner of the Coal Merchants Association, Inc., said yesterday concerning newspaper statements relative to the coal situation: "While the quotations of prices asked by the big companies are undoubtedly correct, something has been left unsaid which has a most important bearing on the situation, namely, that although these companies have not delivered coal and are not delivering it in anything like the quantities required under even normal conditions."

Analyses the Shortage. "Briefly stated," Mr. Rice said, "the present deplorable condition here is due to: First—An admitted shortage of miners and laborers in the coal region amounting to between 15 and 20 per cent. Second—An unrepresented consumption of coal by manufacturing plants. Third—Shortage of cars and empty bargons on transportation. Fourth—Exhaustion of the surplus stock of coal on account of the increased demand and the partial suspension of mining earlier in the season. Fifth—The unavoidable disadvantage of a large part of the coal being sold by shipping to other parts of the country."

CHICAGO INQUIRY BEGUN

Committee Formed to Handle Cases Outside of City.

Joseph H. Choate, president of the State Charities Aid Association, announced yesterday that a special committee on the part of the State Board of Health will be formed in New York State outside of the city. The object is to secure proper treatment for children who have recovered but are in need of muscle training.

MT. LASSEN ACTING AGAIN.

Observers Express Belief That Center is Bubbling (Continued).

Resping, Cal., Nov. 2.—Lassen Peak began belching lively blasts of black smoke today at intervals of from five to ten minutes. Those who have watched the mountain since it awoke out of a fifty years' torpor in May, 1914, expressed the opinion that the peak's crater is a bubbling cauldron seething with the shocks of a great explosion.

MISS HELEN ZINSSER, one of three sisters who must cook a meal to get $10,000 legacies under their grandmother's will. The picture shows Miss Helen in the costume she wore as a girl at the flower show last spring.

COAL CONSPIRATORS FACING PROSECUTION

U. S. and County Officials Are Ready to Act on Increases in Price.

SHORTAGE IS ANALYZED

Fewer Miners, Greater Factory Demand and Lack of Cars Given as Reasons.

Although men in the trade insist that the present scarcity of coal and the soaring prices are due to a shortage of coal, there was talk yesterday of initiating investigations to determine if speculation is at the bottom of an illegal boosting of the cost of that commodity.

District Attorney Swan said he would take pleasure in entertaining a complaint against any persons who had secured illegally "to send coal up to combined price of $12 a ton," providing there was specific information that such action was taken within the State.

County Judge Hylan of Kings sent a letter to District Attorney Lewis calling his attention to the increase in the price of coal in Brooklyn and asking for an investigation. He announced that he would make an inquiry and said his office had received some information already.

United States Attorney H. Snowden Marchant said he will prosecute any adequate complaint if it can be shown that an illegal combination exists wrongfully to raise the price of coal to the consumer.

Speculators Get 15 Per Cent. It was said at the office of the Coal Trade Association, Inc., that 15 per cent of the total coal output is disposed of on contract, while the remainder, 85 per cent, is handled by speculation.

The men who are trying their best to supply New York with coal hope for a continuance of mild weather. They admit they do not like to think that might happen, but they feel that it is the only way to keep the coal supply from being depleted.

Arthur P. Rice, commissioner of the Coal Merchants Association, Inc., said yesterday concerning newspaper statements relative to the coal situation: "While the quotations of prices asked by the big companies are undoubtedly correct, something has been left unsaid which has a most important bearing on the situation, namely, that although these companies have not delivered coal and are not delivering it in anything like the quantities required under even normal conditions."

Analyses the Shortage. "Briefly stated," Mr. Rice said, "the present deplorable condition here is due to: First—An admitted shortage of miners and laborers in the coal region amounting to between 15 and 20 per cent. Second—An unrepresented consumption of coal by manufacturing plants. Third—Shortage of cars and empty bargons on transportation. Fourth—Exhaustion of the surplus stock of coal on account of the increased demand and the partial suspension of mining earlier in the season. Fifth—The unavoidable disadvantage of a large part of the coal being sold by shipping to other parts of the country."

CHICAGO INQUIRY BEGUN

Committee Formed to Handle Cases Outside of City.

MT. LASSEN ACTING AGAIN.

Observers Express Belief That Center is Bubbling (Continued).

Resping, Cal., Nov. 2.—Lassen Peak began belching lively blasts of black smoke today at intervals of from five to ten minutes. Those who have watched the mountain since it awoke out of a fifty years' torpor in May, 1914, expressed the opinion that the peak's crater is a bubbling cauldron seething with the shocks of a great explosion.

MISS HELEN ZINSSER, one of three sisters who must cook a meal to get $10,000 legacies under their grandmother's will. The picture shows Miss Helen in the costume she wore as a girl at the flower show last spring.

GARNIVALE COMES TO AID OF ROFRANO

Gaimari Convict Says He Had Nothing to Do With the Murder.

DENIES TELEPHONE CALL

Defence Tries to Show That Killing Was Result of a Gamblers' Feud.

Rocco Carnivale, barber, hotel keeper and gambler, blamed by Michael Rofrano for a lot of his troubles, took the stand yesterday at Rofrano's trial for the murder of Gaimari.

On the witness stand Carnivale denied he had ever called him on the telephone about having "the horse," as Gaimari was known, killed. He denied the conference at which Montenegro said Carnivale tried to cut him with a knife because he hesitated at shooting Gaimari.

And through Carnivale and Nick Sassi, a chunky little gangster, who had been mixed up in every gang feud in the second district in years, Martin Littleton, Rofrano's counsel, began to lay the foundation for the theory that Gaimari was not killed because of a political fight, but because of a gamblers' fight in which Carnivale and Sassi took part.

At Variance With La Salle. Carnivale told of Joe La Salle's coming to Pauline Samuels' flat New Year's night and telling that he had shot Montenegro, but that La Salle and Carnivale's stories began to differ. La Salle said Carnivale telephoned Rofrano, but Carnivale denied it. He said he told Rofrano that he had shot Montenegro, but that La Salle could use the telephone if he wanted to. La Salle did telephone to Rofrano, but refused to speak to him, said Carnivale.

"Did you tell him that Rofrano wanted you to kill Mike Gaimari?" asked Mr. Littleton. "No, sir," replied Carnivale. "When Carnivale was brought to New York from Danmora prison and taken to District Attorney Perkins' office he said he did not know anything about the killing of Gaimari."

"I don't want any commutation from you. I don't want anything. I know Rofrano is innocent, nobody knows that better than I do. I won't say anything to send him to the electric chair."

Carnivale also told the District Attorney about the gambling and said that better than anyone he knew anything about the night between the Pennino and the Gaimari gangs. Frank Pennino had broken away from Gaimari and started his own gambling place and then Al Gaimari and Nick Sassi started a place near Pennino's.

Carnivale told one time when he grabbed a man known as Sully and Frank Pennino just as they were about to start shooting. Later he heard that trouble was about to start and get out of bed to go down and ask Gaimari and Mike the Dog to do something to stop it.

ASK "MAD MONK" FOR $2,000.

IF HE RETURNS ADVANCE HE CAN HAVE COURT STORIES BANK.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

GARNIVALE COMES TO AID OF ROFRANO

Gaimari Convict Says He Had Nothing to Do With the Murder.

DENIES TELEPHONE CALL

Defence Tries to Show That Killing Was Result of a Gamblers' Feud.

Rocco Carnivale, barber, hotel keeper and gambler, blamed by Michael Rofrano for a lot of his troubles, took the stand yesterday at Rofrano's trial for the murder of Gaimari.

On the witness stand Carnivale denied he had ever called him on the telephone about having "the horse," as Gaimari was known, killed. He denied the conference at which Montenegro said Carnivale tried to cut him with a knife because he hesitated at shooting Gaimari.

And through Carnivale and Nick Sassi, a chunky little gangster, who had been mixed up in every gang feud in the second district in years, Martin Littleton, Rofrano's counsel, began to lay the foundation for the theory that Gaimari was not killed because of a political fight, but because of a gamblers' fight in which Carnivale and Sassi took part.

At Variance With La Salle. Carnivale told of Joe La Salle's coming to Pauline Samuels' flat New Year's night and telling that he had shot Montenegro, but that La Salle and Carnivale's stories began to differ. La Salle said Carnivale telephoned Rofrano, but Carnivale denied it. He said he told Rofrano that he had shot Montenegro, but that La Salle could use the telephone if he wanted to. La Salle did telephone to Rofrano, but refused to speak to him, said Carnivale.

"Did you tell him that Rofrano wanted you to kill Mike Gaimari?" asked Mr. Littleton. "No, sir," replied Carnivale. "When Carnivale was brought to New York from Danmora prison and taken to District Attorney Perkins' office he said he did not know anything about the killing of Gaimari."

"I don't want any commutation from you. I don't want anything. I know Rofrano is innocent, nobody knows that better than I do. I won't say anything to send him to the electric chair."

Carnivale also told the District Attorney about the gambling and said that better than anyone he knew anything about the night between the Pennino and the Gaimari gangs. Frank Pennino had broken away from Gaimari and started his own gambling place and then Al Gaimari and Nick Sassi started a place near Pennino's.

Carnivale told one time when he grabbed a man known as Sully and Frank Pennino just as they were about to start shooting. Later he heard that trouble was about to start and get out of bed to go down and ask Gaimari and Mike the Dog to do something to stop it.

ASK "MAD MONK" FOR $2,000.

IF HE RETURNS ADVANCE HE CAN HAVE COURT STORIES BANK.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

Pinch for Treatment Dwellers.

for ten minutes on the floor. Beat it! He didn't want to quit and Sully pushed him off the place. That was all there was to it.

Then things began to happen fast. The next day Buster met Sully and punched him, and Frank Pennino punched Al in coffee house and knocked him over a table. Mike Gaimari was across the street being shaved, and when he heard of it he got out his pistol and ran down to Pennino's place.

Soon after the shooting up of the Pennino room, in which Pennino was shot, Mike Gaimari was stabbed. When he left the hospital Sully went to him and told him he had had a real deal. "I shook his hand and told him I would be his friend," he said. "You want to be my friend?" and he said "Yes," and he said "Have you got a gun?" and I said "I ain't got no gun," and he gave me a gun that long. We went to Brooklyn, Buster, Mike and Mike the Dog and me; there was four in the mob, and went to Frank Pennino's house and laid for him."

But Pennino did not put in an appearance. Rofrano's wife and mother took the stand earlier in the day to corroborate his story that he was at home at the time of the alleged bridge conference, and S. S. Koenig, chairman of the republican county committee, said he was with Rofrano at the time of one of the telephone calls.

BIDS ON NAVY YARD "JUNK" RUN HIGHER

Nineteen Cents Offered for Plug Tobacco — Glassware With Emblem in Demand.

Bids received yesterday by the Paymaster of the New York Navy Yard for the condemned stores were better on the average than those which have been made in the past.

The highest bid for thirty-one tons of plug tobacco was nineteen cents a pound, two cents better than the price paid by the successful bidder last winter, when a similar quality of leaf was sold, but far below the market price, it is asserted by many tobacco men. There were about thirty bidders on hand, and the quality of the bids are acceptable will be made later by the Department.

The highest offer for 1,600 pounds of linen thread, however, was only thirty-eight cents a pound, or only thirty-three cents better than the price paid last February this year. Brought about 20 per cent of its cost. Prices yesterday were almost double that figure.

Wine sets a record for the Navy Department. The highest bid for a single size variety of clear glasses was $1.55 a dozen. One bidder offered to take the entire 156 dozen at $1 a dozen. Sherry decanters brought a high bid of $1.25 a dozen. The highest bid for a small size variety of clear glasses was $1.55 a dozen. One bidder offered to take the entire 156 dozen at $1 a dozen. Sherry decanters brought a high bid of $1.25 a dozen. The highest bid for a small size variety of clear glasses was $1.55 a dozen. One bidder offered to take the entire 156 dozen at $1 a dozen. Sherry decanters brought a high bid of $1.25 a dozen.

TO FIGHT BARUCH ANNULLMENT.

Guardian Asks Court for $5,000 to Oppose Husband's Suit.

Henry A. Gillespie, special guardian for Mrs. Annie S. Harsh, who is now in Bloomingdale Asylum, asked Judge Justice Colahan for an order of $5,000 with which to fight the suit for annulment of marriage brought by her husband, Harry S. Harsh, whose brother of 69 Broadway, The Harshes were married on April 15, 1909, and have two children.

Five years after the wedding Harsh declares he discovered that his wife had dementia praecox and she was committed to the asylum. Decision was reversed on her husband's application.

These three popular prices $20, $23 and $25 afford a range of choice in Saks-Made Suits not generally obtainable in "popular" selections

A "popular" price usually implies limitations. But not at Saks'. Any time we find it necessary to cut down on assortments in popular-priced clothes we'll cut out popular-priced clothes altogether. Until that time you can look to Saks' to lead the way in popular-priced values and in popular-priced varieties.

We can give you better values in popular-priced suits because we make them ourselves, from bench to you. We can give you better varieties because we do our own choosing, and base our selections of models and materials on Metropolitan tastes and tendencies. And we can give you better tailoring and better style because as a result of our Maker-to-Wearer methods we are able to buy better tailoring talent than is usually employed on popular-priced propositions.

At $20, $23 and $25 We can show you models and materials and values which you cannot duplicate in any other shop. Saks & Company Broadway at 34th Street

THE GENUINE EDISON Dictating Machine

Press the Button—dictate any lines—any speed—any correction—while typing costs half. Proven free on your own work. Ask for the BUYER'S GUIDE.

Efficiently and sufficiently custom-tailored of fine imported cloth, earmarking a two-fifty value, my

ENGLISH OXFORD SHIRTS $2.00

Four for $7.50 will contribute much to your satisfaction and my reputation. Light and dark grounds, colors checked, soft and stiff cuffs, negligee bosoms, all sizes.

Wm. G. White HIMSELF PRESIDENT WHITE & WHITE 35 Broadway Cor. Worth St. 25 Cortland St. near Church St.

Kennedy 12 Cortland St. THE BIG SHOE STORE. Leather costs more, but we cut profits and keep up quality.

Mahogany Corlovas $5.50 and $7.50. Dark Mahogany Call Shoes $2.97 and $3.98. Elsewhere $4.00 and $5.00. Socket-Fit Arch Shoes, $6.00. For weak arches and flat foot.

PINCHOT PLEADS FOR BOY. Tells Justice Collins Informatories Make Youths Worse.

Amos B. B. Pinchot pleaded yesterday in behalf of a youth whom he had charged with theft and immorality, by presenting a detailed statement of his reform.

Timothy John Pinchot, of 15 West Sixty-sixth street, was arrested July 24 in connection with the disappearance of $10 worth of goods from a store owned by Mr. Pinchot. When released was called in Special Sessions of Pinchot, who had previously pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny, and was sentenced to the House of Correction.

These three popular prices $20, $23 and $25 afford a range of choice in Saks-Made Suits not generally obtainable in "popular" selections

A "popular" price usually implies limitations. But not at Saks'. Any time we find it necessary to cut down on assortments in popular-priced clothes we'll cut out popular-priced clothes altogether. Until that time you can look to Saks' to lead the way in popular-priced values and in popular-priced varieties.

We can give you better values in popular-priced suits because we make them ourselves, from bench to you. We can give you better varieties because we do our own choosing, and base our selections of models and materials on Metropolitan tastes and tendencies. And we can give you better tailoring and better style because as a result of our Maker-to-Wearer methods we are able to buy better tailoring talent than is usually employed on popular-priced propositions.

At $20, $23 and $25 We can show you models and materials and values which you cannot duplicate in any other shop. Saks & Company Broadway at 34th Street

Bayer Aspirin advertisement. Includes image of a Bayer Aspirin tablet and text: "That's the Bayer Cross. It is the mark of the one genuine, unadulterated Aspirin. Ask for Bayer Tablets of Aspirin and see that every package and every tablet bears 'The Bayer Cross—Your Guarantee of Purity'."

Saks & Company advertisement. Includes text: "Saks & Company Broadway at 34th Street. Today and tomorrow! A Sale of Men's Hats. In the prevailing colors and styles. A good hat at $1.65 is a bargain—and one of these $3 hats at $1.65 is even better. Unusual activity in our hat department has left a number of broken lots of our most popular numbers—those which have been selling at $3 and up all season! To insure quick action we are offering these hats at $1.65. The styles are those in demand by active New Yorkers and the colors include: Brown, Green, Grey, Faun and Black. Also—A Fine Lot of Derbies at $1.95. BROWN is the last word in headgear for men. We are showing shades of brown in derbies today that afford a pleasing change from the conventional Aldine Brown, Malay Brown & Onion Skin Brown. Every hat in the lot worth $3—maybe more."