M'COY-CHOYNSKI FIGHT TO-NIGHT.

MEET FOR FOURTH TIME IN THE PUGILISTIC RING.

JOE CHOYNSKI.

"KID" M'COY

Never a Decisive Battle, Though, and Both Are Now Confident.

(Special to The Evening World.)
BROADWAY A. C. ARENA, Jan. 12.—The doors of this club were again thrown open to-night to an eager throng of lovers of pugilistic combats. This time it was no championship contest, but a victory meant one step higher toward the pinnacle of fame now occupied by James J. Jeffries. A win meant a great deal aside from the mere pecuniary consideration attached.

The principals were "Kid" McCoy, who only two weeks ago started the New Year well by knocking out Peter Maher in five rounds, and Joe Choynski, hero of many a hard-fought battle of the prize ring. These men bear no love for one another, for each believes he is the other's superior.

No two men could be more evenly matched. Both are the latter-day type of clean, scientific, long-range fighters, cautious and careful to a degree. Both are clever. Each is well versed in science, footwork and ring generalship. Sing experts, however, viewed McCoy with a favorable eye and made him the favorite.

stronger and better than he ever was. Those who saw Choynski say he was in fine fettle. The Californian as a matter of fact never went into the ring unless he was in perfect shape.

M'COY IN FINE FORM.
After his bout with Maher, McCoy went back to White Plains and resumed his training under the direction of Muldoon. His improvement continued and he was in grand form to-night. He stopped training this morning and walked from Muldoon's to the railroad station, where he took a train for this city.

Choynski had been in town for some days. He was introduced to the public at the McGovern-Dixon bout on Tuesday night.

Owing to the fact that the men are clean, clever boxers, are well matched and promise a good fight, the interest in the battle had been aroused to an unusual pitch. The prize to-night was very modest, also, and judging by the crowd that was waiting at the doors at 7 o'clock there was every indication that the attendance of the McGovern-Dixon fight would be nearly equalled.

The crowd numbered several hundred at the above hour. They were crammed out in line far up Broadway and one was not cognizant of what was going on he might readily suppose that it was first night at the arena. There was no disorder, no trouble and the force of policemen had an easy task. As a rule tight crowds are very orderly and peaceable.

BIG CROWD PRESENT.
The crowd increased up to 8 o'clock, when the doors were thrown open and the men dribbled slowly through the benches and dispersed through the big building. The boldest spots on the bleacherettes were quickly grabbed up.

These admission seats filled up very quickly and by the time the preliminary was put on there were no vacant spaces. Cigars and pipes were in order then, and the streams of smoke soon gave everything a spectral appearance. The boxes filled late. Holders of box seats generally dine late and have no interest in preliminaries, so that part of the house was virtually empty when the two eager youngsters clambered through the ropes for the first bout.

SUICIDE AT WIFE'S DOOR.
Beyer's Family Refused to Take Him Back, So He Shot Himself.
Antos Beyer, fifty-two years of age, a mechanic, of 31 Spring street, West Hoboken, committed suicide to-day by shooting himself in the head. Beyer had no trouble at home recently, and one month ago his wife left him and took with her her nine children. Beyer visited her last Sunday and asked her to take him back. She refused. Whereupon he threatened to kill her. He returned to the house again to-day, and when she refused to let him in he stood outside of the door, placed the muzzle of the revolver in his mouth and discharged it. The bullet passed through his head.

AFTER STOCK LIBELLERS.
District-Attorney Gardner Tells Why He Asked for an Extra Grand Jury for Next Week.
District-Attorney Gardner through his assistant, John F. McIntyre, this afternoon issued a statement telling his reasons for the summoning of an extra Grand Jury for next month.

"Last month," says the statement, "the attention of the Grand Jury was called to a violation of the Penal Code in the circulation of alleged false and malicious rumors and intelligence in order to affect injuriously the credit of certain stock corporations organized under the laws of this State.

"The Grand Jury found themselves unable, with other pressing business before them, to go into the subject exhaustively or do more than examine a number of witnesses and make a preliminary recommending further inquiry.

"The District-Attorney therefore found himself constrained, in order not to interfere with current business, to ask the Supreme Court for a Grand Jury for February, to attend to the present and to other matters of importance in addition to the ordinary Grand Jury in the Court of General Sessions."

GERMANY'S REVENGE.
Forbids Krupp to Furnish Arms to England, as Kaiser is Neutral in War.
BERLIN, Jan. 12.—The semi-official Norddeutsche Gazette says the Government has decided that it would not be compatible with strict neutrality to allow war materials to be sent from Germany either to Great Britain or the Transvaal.

When it was reported that Herr Krupp was making steel shells for Great Britain the firm was promptly requested to stop any intended dispatch of arms, guns, ammunition or other war munitions to either belligerent.

LADY MATHUEN DENIES IT.
Declares the General is Not ill and Was Not Injured by Pulling Off His Horse.
LONDON, Jan. 12.—Lady Mathuen has issued an absolute contradiction of the rumors that Lord Mathuen is ill or that he was injured by the falling of his horse at the battle of Magersfontein.

SNOW IS FALLING STEADILY UP THE STATE.
MALONE, Jan. 12.—Snow has fallen steadily here during the last twelve hours, and excellent sleighing now prevails. Lumbermen on the northern slope of the Adirondacks were getting nervous, and a lot of sleds of logs on the lake

10 P.M. EXTRA BIG CROWD TO SEE M'COY BATTLE WITH CHOYNSKI.

Judging by the crowds piling in an appearance at the Broadway Athletic Club, the attendance will equal that of the McGovern-Dixon bout. Choynski and McCoy are in the pink of condition, and ready to put up a great fight. The betting is 100 to 60 on McCoy, but little money being wagered.

TEACHERS WILL BE PAID MONDAY

There was great rejoicing in educational circles late this afternoon when word was received at the Board of Education in Grand street from the office of the City Paymaster that the payrolls of the teachers in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx would be paid on Monday next when they are due to be paid in accordance with regular procedure.

ANOTHER WOMAN CLAIMS GANO'S BODY

A woman called at the morgue late this afternoon and asked to see the body of Samuel Gano. The attendants recalled the fact that Samuel Gano, a truckman, forty-one years old, of 20 Cornelia street, had been drowned at the foot of West Thirtieth street, and his body found covered with contusions. The woman was told that Gano had been buried to his wife.

She became indignant and said that Gano was her husband and had lived with her on Hudson street, Jersey City, she has saying it would claim the man's body.

MORRISON ARRESTED AND NOW IN JAIL

PROF. ALFRED MORRISON.

Dream Killer Taken on Warrant for Homicide.

Alfred Morrison was arrested in Mount Vernon this afternoon charged with the murder of his wife, Alida. The arrest of the "dream-killer" was upon a warrant issued by City Judge Schatz upon evidence told in The Evening World and introduced by the District-Attorney.

The warrant was issued on a specific complaint, made by Chief Foley, charging Morrison with wilful murder.

Although Judge Schatz issued the warrant before 4 o'clock, no effort was made to take the accused man into custody until half an hour later.

Chief Foley had promised Judge Appell, counsel for the prisoner, not to arrest Morrison until Appell reached Mount Vernon, the lawyer having been summoned out of town on other business.

At 4:30 Judge Appell arrived at Police Headquarters. The warrant was handed to Detective Lynch, who, accompanied by Detective Grant and the lawyer, went to Morrison's house.

Morrison had been expecting them, and although almost in a state of collapse from dread, he obeyed Judge Appell's directions to hold himself together. A great throng was in the street near the house, here was considerable commotion and the prisoner looked about apprehensively, as though fearing an attack.

The detective hustled him along in lively fashion and soon had him at the City Court, where he was arraigned.

The crowd pushed into the court-room after Morrison, and it was some time before order was restored.

Morrison was brought to the bar and charged with murder. Judge Appell pleaded not guilty in behalf of his client and advised examination. He asked that his client be held for the Grand Jury.

This course was followed, Judge Schatz committing him to jail without bail.

District-Attorney Andrews arrived in Mount Vernon shortly before noon and went to Police Headquarters, where he checked up regarding the necessary papers in the case.

District-Attorney George C. Andrews says he has found new evidence which goes to prove that Morrison secured his usual position in bed on the night of the tragedy, sleeping with his head toward the foot of the bed, with Morrison's feet toward the door, and that Morrison had several feet snow on his victim when he shot. This is contrary to the testimony of the coroner, who said that Morrison was sleeping on the floor.

OSBORNE'S LAST TRUMP CARD.

NEW LETTER SIGNED BARNET, PRODUCED.

Another Link to Show that Molineux Filled In Medicine Blank.

A new "Barnet" letter was introduced in evidence at the Molineux trial and it came in the nature of a confession.

It was signed H. C. Barnet. The writer asked for a "five-days" treatment," and after the signature was "Box 217, No. 257 West Fort-Second street, New York City."

The envelope showed that the letter had been posted at 5 P. M.—the time Molineux usually came to this city.

Harry Cornish and Mrs. Rogers identified the poison glass and upon seeing when Mrs. Adams took the fatal dose.

Prof. Withers resumed the stand and testified that he found enough evidence of money in Mrs. Adams's
