

THE WOMAN WHO WHINES.

HUMAN VAMPIRE IN WHAT ONE OF HER SEX CALLS HER.

She is Worse Than a Bore and is Capable of Driving Man and Woman to Desperation.

Human vampire is the way one woman describes certain of her acquaintances.

"You are a vampire," said the woman who was sitting at the table with me.

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

Most of the combinations are nothing short of startling.

"Bargain time is here. A mere man said that he counted the number of times he heard the word 'bargain' in the car between Twenty-third and Fifty-third streets and Twenty-third street the other morning, and it reached the seventy-seven mark.

"What you mean, especially when it comes to bargains? There are bargain sales of this, that, and the other thing for every day in the week and every hour in every day.

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

PROPER CARE OF BABIES.

LESS SICKNESS AS WOMEN BECOME BETTER EDUCATED.

Nonsense Talked About Fashionable Mothers and the Effect of the Higher Education of Women—Simple Rules That Would Prevent Much Sickness Among Babies.

These are busy days for the dispensaries and fatal days for the babies.

"Fully seven-tenths of the illness among babies is directly due to the ignorance, laziness or incompetency of the mothers," said a physician who has gained wide reputation for his success in the treatment of babies' diseases.

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

OSOLETE TOWNS.

A Form of Official Extinction of Incorporated Communities Peculiar to New York.

The New York Legislature exercised until 1840, when the power was given to local Boards of Supervisors, the double right of creating and abolishing towns.

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

NOW FOR KIMONS AND POI.

HAWAIIAN DELIGHTS THAT WOMEN LOOK FORWARD TO.

Long-Drawn-Out Sweeties That Look Like Skirts of Embroidery Silk—Favorable Views of the Mother Hubbard—Attractive Dress of a Japanese Woman in a Kimono.

So much of the importance in the country's history is going on just now that the mere announcement of some islands in the Pacific causing a ripple of satisfied comment in the exciting present, yet these are people to be discovered in the act of rejoicing over the annexation of the Hawaiians—people who have been there and experienced the delights of the country for themselves.

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

"You are a vampire," she said, "but I am not a vampire."

ROUGH ON ROACHES advertisement with illustration of a woman and roaches.

ROUGH ON RATS advertisement with illustration of a rat and a person.

ROUGH ON BUNIONS advertisement with illustration of a foot and a person.

ROUGH ON RATS advertisement with illustration of a rat.

ROUGH ON BUNIONS advertisement with illustration of a foot and a person.

ROUGH ON CORNS advertisement with illustration of a foot and a person.

ROUGH ON FLEA advertisement with illustration of a flea and a person.

ROUGH ON HEADACHE TABLETS advertisement with illustration of a person's head.