ATTACK ON WILSON GETS BY UNNOTICED

Speaker Calls Him "World's Most Exalted Instigator of Social Revolt."

OBJECTION COMES LATER

Remark Finally Is Wiped From Records of Federation Discussion of Red Peril.

VERMONT GOVERNOR AGAINST PROHIBITION

Refuses to Join States Opposing Rhode Island Fight.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 16.—Gov. Percival W. Clement of Vermont has sent a letter to Gov. Carl E. Milliken of Maine in reply to a request for Vermont to join Maine and other States in opposing Rhode Island's fight against the Federal prohibition amendment...

"Since 192 Vermont has voted against prohibition whenever the question has been before the people of the State," says Gov. Clement's letter. "The Anti-Saloon League secured a majority of the Legislature (1897) for the eighteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution, but I do not feel warranted in placing Vermont in opposition to the Constitution of Rhode Island..."

Objects to Statement. During that interval, however, some of the officers of the federation noted the sentence in the official stenographic record of the proceedings in typed characters it did not look pretty. So, when the afternoon session was called to order by Mr. Easley, Samuel Gompers afterward taking the chair, Rabbi Silverman arose and read "Mr. Wood's words as quoted. Then he said: 'I desire to take decided issue with this statement and to express my disagreement with both its points. First, the Socialist movement does not take its rise from the lower East Side, and, second, it does not find its climax in the White House. We should not by our silence seem to sanction any such statement. I have too much respect for our President to connect him directly or indirectly with the revolutionary Socialist tendencies of to-day...'"
