

MISS GEORGETTE COHAN HOME WITH FOREIGN AIR AND FAME

George M. Cohan's Daughter Tells of Playing Peter Pan.

MISS GEORGETTE COHAN

MISS GEORGETTE COHAN, daughter of America's own George M., is a sort of feminine League of Nations. She talks like an English girl and has the poise, French demure, and yet the directness and quickness of mind of her American father...

After this came further schooling in England, after which she travelled extensively in Great Britain, Austria, Spain, France and Cuba, although she admits she is one of the few tourists who never took a gift-edged plunge into the sea or Monte Carlo, or San Sebastian and Biarritz seemed large enough to hold all her curiosity for that species of amusement...

theatrical debut in London when "Peter Pan" was revived in the last Christmas holidays and she gave an impression of Sir James M. Barry's immortal spruce that made the British surrender to her without a struggle.

AMUSEMENTS. NEW YORK'S LEADING THEATRES AND SUCCESSES

Grid of theatre advertisements including: BARRYMORE "Declassée", HENRY MILLER'S THEATRE "Henry Miller and Blanche Bates", PUNCH & JUDY, COHAN HARRIS "The Hole In The Wall", MONSIEUR BEUCAIRE, ED WYNN CARNIVAL, HACKETT, CLARENCE, EMILY STEVENS SOPHIE, and others.

Advertisement for "SHAVINGS" by Henry W. Safire, featuring a review of the play and its success.

Advertisement for "THE VIRGIN OF STAMBOUL" starring Priscilla Dean at the Broadway Theatre.

Large advertisement for John Barrymore in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" at the Capitol Theatre.

Advertisement for "THE BEST EVER!!" circus, featuring Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey combined.

Advertisement for "HARRY FOX" musical comedy and motion picture at the Metropolitan Theatre.

Advertisement for "THE BETTER 'OLE'" musical comedy at the Montauk Theatre.

Advertisement for "SCHUMANN-HEINK" at the Brooklyn Academy of Music.

Advertisement for "Up in Mabel's Room" at the Empire Theatre.

Advertisement for "PALACE" theatre, featuring "MME. EMMA TRENTINI" and "SANTLEY & SAWYER CO." productions.

Advertisement for "CAPITOL" theatre, featuring "MARION DAVIES" in "APRIL FOLLY" and "CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA".