

GOSSIP OF WALL STREET.

The Steel Earnings.

Wall Street received a very agreeable surprise yesterday afternoon in the shape of a quarterly statement from the Steel Corporation showing net earnings of $3.85 a share on its common stock, against $3.27 a share for the final 1919 quarter.

A Pool in Reading?

In connection with the weakness in Reading in the last week, in which the stock declined to 87 1/2 after selling up to 94 1/2, a new high since 1918, it was learned yesterday that a new pool had been formed in the stock for the purpose of making it the speculative leader in the market.

Weakness in Motor Shares.

One reason given for the weakness in the motor stocks yesterday was the report that some banks which are carrying great amounts of these securities are planning to look ashore at those accounts.

Gold Shipments.

Reports that the movement of gold from England to New York in anticipation of payment of the American debt by Great Britain would be accompanied by a large arrival of gold within the next few days were current yesterday.

Money at 10 Per Cent.

The call money rate ran up suddenly yesterday afternoon to 10 per cent from 7 per cent, where it apparently has been pegged for several days.

Good Old Six Per Cents.

An investment demand for bonds that yield the purchaser just 6 per cent, but are being grown preceptly stronger for several weeks and has broadened within the last few days by the naming of the word to the savings banks the conservators of the bond market.

American Woolen's Year.

Reports of tremendous earnings rolled up by the American Woolen Company do not appear to have been exaggerated.

Studebaker Corporation.

The extra dividend of 34 1/2 per cent in stock declared by the Studebaker Corporation on its common stock for the year ended December 31, 1919, is being paid today.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND COMMENT

Advance of Money Rate Checks Rally in Market as Gains Are Increasing.

SETBACK IS ONLY SLIGHT United States Steel Corporation's Favorable Statement Pleases Street.

For the best part of yesterday's session the stock market was inclined to rally. The news developments were generally better and there was a feeling in speculative circles that if the Steel statement was as good as it was expected to be, and as turned out to be the case, it might produce a temporary repulsion of the market.
