Mrs. Quentin Feitner of Shore Field Club Wins Woman's Metropolitan Golf Championship for the Sixth Time

GOLF TITLE FOR MRS. Q. F. FEITNER

Defeats Miss G M. Bishop in Greenwich Final, 2 and 1.

By KERR N. PETRIE.

Making the most of the advantage which her remarkably long game gave her on the long holes, Mrs. Quentin F. Feitner of Shore Field Club, Bayshore, L. I., yesterday turned a two hole deficit into a victory, and by scoring four straight successes between the thirteenth and sixteenth holes annexed the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association championship for the sixth time in her career when she defeated Miss Georgiana M. Bishop of Brooklawn Country Club, Bridgeport, Conn., by 2 up and 1 to play in the final of the annual classic over the links of the Greenwich Country Club.

Up to the time that the finalists started down the long stretch that sheers away from the thirteenth tee and offers plenty of scope for the use of the brassie Miss Bishop looked very much as if she intended to upset all predictions and scamper away with the title from a player who outdrove her by so great a distance that she generally gained a stroke on every two full swipes. To these long holes Mrs. Feitner's admirers were looking for her to swing the match and turn the tables. Nor were they disappointed, for the South Shore star gave an even more dazzling display than she had done the day before in defeating Mrs. C. M. Knight, the Englishwoman, and registered distances on her shots that will remain for years the marvel and despair of the average woman player and something for the golfers of the male persuasion to try to emulate.

Makes Good Beginning.

No doubt realizing that she required to make the most of every shot, Miss Bishop settled down to her game right at the first hole, for she was on with her second and all set for the par 4. Meanwhile Mrs. Feitner had begun unsteadily, hooking her ball into the rough and taking two more to cut her way clear. She lost this one, of course, and although she was on with her tee shot at the 175 yard second she required three more to hole out, thereby allowing her opponent to halve after being over the green with her first.

On the third hole everything went well with Mrs. Feitner up to the green, but when she wasted another putt and lost the hole in 6 against a 5 her friends began to feel a trifle uneasy. Her work up to this stage had been vastly different from what she had shown against Mrs. Knight.

Playing her second shot for the fourth, a hold brassie over the traps, Mrs. Feitner came dangerously close to repeating her mistake of the previous day, when she sliced into a bush and had to pick up. However, this time she had something to spare, even if she did slice, but, nothing daunted, she again used wood, blazing away for the green in an endeavor to gain a stroke on Miss Bishop, who had been playing it safe. Mrs. Feitner's ball again slid off to the right, but while she had to play her fourth from the rough she came through in fine shape and the hole was halved in 6.

For the fifth Mrs. Feitner gained a stroke on her first two, so that she was on in three against Miss Bishop's four. With her first putt the South Shore star again showed that her putting touch was not of the best by swinging her ball wide and four feet beyond. However, she made the return shot without a tremor and won in 5 to 6.

With her second shot for the sixth Mrs. Feitner gave the gallery a real thrill by carrying the brook with her brassie. It was a magnificent stroke, but scarcely worth the risk incurred. As it was, the ball cleared the hazard by only a few feet. Miss Bishop, who again had played safe, put her third short of the green and followed by running up within a club's length of the cup. This putt she sank after Mrs. Feitner had played her third on to the green, and from a distance of twenty feet had laid her ball on the lip of the hole.

Miss Bishop Is Outdriven.

Miss Bishop was left behind on the shot from the seventh tee so badly that she took three to reach the green, while Mrs. Feitner used an iron for her second. In playing her approach the latter had sliced a bit and her third she had to make from her sand trap. The shot was perfectly executed and an even half seemed certain until with her putt Mrs. Feitner got her opponent a half stymie. That changed the complexion of the hole entirely, for Miss Bishop's ball caromed from that of her opponent and with the shot Mrs. Feitner had the match all square.

This player took the lead on the next, when Miss Bishop made a complete hash of the hole, but the shoe was on the other foot at the ninth, for Mrs. Feitner, from the bank of the steep green, played her second all the way over into another trap, wasted a shot getting out from a hanging lie on a grassy mound and with her fourth sent the ball over the green again in the opposite direction. Miss Bishop was on in 2, and although she putted weakly on her third shot she had the hole at her mercy and Mrs. Feitner, after playing back on her fifth and trying a long putt for a 6 picked up.

There was some sensational play at the outset of the second half, for Miss Bishop won both the tenth and twelfth and about this stage looked all over the champion. On the tenth Mrs. Feitner overplayed her tee shot and got a hanging lie on the far side of the horseshoe bunker, wasting a shot getting clear. Miss Bishop had this one in 3 and she repeated the figure at the twelfth, approaching up the hill almost dead to the hole.

To a great many of the gallery this one was a distinct shock, as Mrs. Feitner drove the green, sending her ball whooping up the hill 190 yards. A splendid run up looked as if it might save the situation, but Mrs. Feitner missed a four foot putt.

It was at the next that Mrs. Feitner assumed command of the game. Her second she half topped, but with an iron she played a magnificent shot to the green and scored a par 5 on this 445 yard hole even after the mishap with her brassie stroke. Miss Bishop also had a good fourth, but she would have had to hole in one outt to snatch a half.

For the 585 yard fourteenth Mrs. Feitner strung together three of the most wonderful wooden club shots ever made by a woman in this country. Her ball from the last rolled past the pin and over the green, and when Miss Bishop finally chipped on she found that she had played two more. A chip up by Mrs. Feitner laid the ball close, and although she missed her putt she still had the hole by the margin of a stroke.

There was just another exhibition of fearless golf at the fifteenth, for Mrs. Feitner went straight for the bunker and laid her ball up on the plateau. Miss Bishop had to play to the left to keep clear of the trap. Her second she placed within a dozen feet of the cup, but it was not good enough, as Mrs. Feitner approached to within four feet of the cup and holed her putt for a 3 after her opponent had missed.

This left Mrs. Feitner 1 up. She became dormie 2 at the next after another powerful, fearless and flawless exhibition of hitting, for, although the hole is 420 yards long and was slightly against the wind, Mrs. Feitner elected to play a brassie to the green after a magnificent tee shot. The brassie was the acme of perfection. The ball went off with a low trajectory, cleared the hill that kick toward the bunkers and went dancing on to the green. This sort of golf Miss Bishop simply was unable to cope with. At best she would have taken three to reach the green. However, with her second she started a succession of tops and flubs that wound up in a bunker short of the green after she had played 5.

There was no longer any doubt in the minds of the gallery. Mrs. Feitner at last had struck her true gait and was playing like a champion of champions. On the deciding hole she played an iron for her second. The ball kicked off the green into the rough, but she recovered perfectly, bumped the cup on her fourth and easily scored the five that gave her the title for the sixth time. The card:

MATHEY IN SEMI-FINAL.

After a delay of two days because of rain play was resumed in the New York State tennis championship for men on the turf courts of the Orange Lawn Tennis Club yesterday. The turf was still soft and soggy, but some of the best tennis of the tournament was played nevertheless.

Dean Mathey, showing a flash of the form that earned him a place in the first ten of the national ranking list a few years ago, defeated Alfred D. Hammett and Alrick H. Man, Jr., without being extended and advanced to the semi-final round. His net attack proved too strong for his opponents, who found their best efforts deflected for placements. Man, after a poor first set, improved considerably in the second and led at 4—3 in games, but Mathey came through with a rally that earned him the next three games in short order for the set and match.

The summary:

Men's New York State Tennis Championship, Singles—Third Round—Willard Botsford defeated Commander W. S. Anderson, 7—5, 4—6, 6—3; Paul Vandeventer defeated Frank Seiler, 6—4, 6—1; Percy L. YACHT TRIAL HALTED AGAIN.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 18.—For the third successive day the race committee was compelled this afternoon to call off the America's Cup trial between the Resolute and the Vanitie because of bad weather. At noon, when there was a clearing spell, the cup boats were ordered to make sail at their anchorage in Brenton's Cove. If conditions had improved the committee planned to start a race at 1 o'clock.

By the time the Resolute's big mainsail had been bent on and raised it was blowing harder than ever from the northeast, with a drizzling rain, and the signal letter H, calling the attempt off, was sent up on the committee boat. It is probable that the cup boats will race on Sunday to make up for one of the days lost.

SURPRISES AT WILMINGTON.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 18.—Surprises featured the second day of the Wilmington Country Club invitation golf tournament when G. V. Rotan, the Texas champion and qualifying medal winner yesterday, was eliminated by W. H. Gardner of Buffalo in a sensational twenty hole match by 1 up. Another big surprise was the defeat of Capt. J. S. Dean of the Princeton University team by J. S. Bush, Jr., of Yale, 1 up. Rotan and Dean were finalists in the recent Lynwood Hall cup tournament.

TOO WET FOR POLO.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD.

CEDARHURST, L. I., June 18.—Rain prevented the polo match this afternoon on the grounds of the Rockaway Hunt Club at Cedarhurst for the Independence cups. It will be played on Sunday between Meadow Brook and Eatontown.

Weather permitting, the final match for the Westbury challenge cup will be played at Meadow Brook to-morrow afternoon between the first team of Meadow Brook and Cooperstown, two of the strongest teams in this country. It promises to be replete with action.

STANLEY PEARSON WINS.

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 18.—Stanley Pearson, Philadelphia district lawn tennis champion, scored a notable victory to-day when he defeated Wallace Bates of the University of California in the third round of the Pennsylvania State title tournament here, 6—1, 6—4.

G. I. LAWYER IS GOLF SURPRISE

Albany Player in Fox Hills Semi-final.

Unless G. I. Lawyer of Albany is able to convince all and sundry to-day that golfers have no right to monopolize the honors of their own invitation tournament there is nothing on earth that can prevent the chief cup in the annual invitation tournament of the Fox Hills Golf Club from finding a resting place on Staten Island. Yesterday the tournament was carried through to the semi-final round, with Lawyer left to face J. D. Newman of Fox Hills in the top half of the bracket and A. C. Perry of the home club matched against H. Miller Jones of Richmond County lower down. Most of the day was spent by Lawyer in convincing opponents that Albany is or ought to be noted for other things besides investigations, deputations and legislation, and the fact that this visitor eliminated in the second round Harry Scharff of the Scottish American by 2 up was no small feather in his cap, because in the first eighteen holes Harry had gently ousted by the same score the qualifying medalist, W. E. Donahue of Shackamaxon.

For a public links golfer Scharff proved himself a surprise, but only to those who had not noticed how he had taken D. E. Sawyer to the home green in the first round of the metropolitan championship last week. Harry led Lawyer a merry dance, for he squared the match on the sixteenth green after being 3 down with 5 to play. The seventeenth the Albany man won with a 3 and he also annexed the home hole to make his margin 2 up.

In the Donahue-Scharff contest there was also a double reversal, for from 3 down at the tenth Donahue squared at the sixteenth, only to have his opponent win the seventeenth and then lay him a stymie at the home hole, which made the margin of the Scottish-American representative two clear holes.

Newman had a twenty hole match in the morning against W. W. Van Loan of Fox Hills, but he still had enough fight in him later on to dispose of F. S. Danforth of North Fork by 3 and 2.

Perry won from T. D. Conroy, a clubmate, in the first round and later on eliminated H. E. Buchanan of Shackamaxon, winning by 5 and 4 each time. Jones beat Ray W. Thompson of the Engineers Club, 2 and 1, and then ousted H. T. Allen of Fox Hills by 2 up. Allen and Buchanan each had an extra hole match in the morning.

The summary:

First Sixteen—First Round—J. D. Newman, Fox Hills, defeated W. W. Van Loan, Fox Hills, 1 up, 20 holes; F. S. Danforth, North Fork, defeated R. G. B. Haltermen Have Busy Day at Jamaica Track

Claims and Bid Ups Come After Each Event—Manœuvre, Snapdragon, Explosion, Hindoostan and Asterisk Change Barns.

By HENRY V. KING.

It was bid-up day at the Jamaica track yesterday afternoon. The card was made up of claiming and selling races and immediately after each event there was a wild scramble to claim the platers. As a result of the wholesale bidding the races on Monday will be worth at least twice their original value and it is expected that each event will have a record entry.

Scarcely had Explosion won the first race, a five furlong affair for cheap juveniles, than there was a rush for the claiming box. Explosion was entered for $800 by A. H. Morris, but Hal Parr thought so well of him that he put in a bid for $1,905, and got him at that figure.

When Lawrence Waterbury's Nightstick was returned an easy winner of the second race he was offered for sale at $800. Several would be buyers went into the ring and boosted his price to $1,200. This was not enough for Mr. Waterbury's trainer protected him with an additional bid of $5. Hindoostan, which finished second to him, was claimed by E. J. Crawford for $5,210. Kashmir was bid up to $5,110.

Manœuvre, which finished second in the third, caused some spirited claiming. He was entered for $800, but before he had returned to the scales there were a dozen claims in for him. He ran in the colors of W. P. Burch, and among those who wanted him was John Sanford, the New Amsterdam sportsman, for whom Mr. Burch formerly trained. When the claim envelopes were opened Mr. Sanford's bid of $4,000 was found to be the largest, but because there was a report that Mr. Sanford was claiming his own horse and thereby violating the new selling race rule he waived all right to the horse and Manœuvre went to Samuel Louis, whose claim amounted to $3,865. Asterisk, which finished third in this event, was claimed by J. M. Collins for $1,600.

There were several claims in for Lawrence Waterbury's Tom McTaggart when he was defeated in the fourth event, but Mr. Waterbury's bid of $5,005 was the largest and the horse remained in his old barn. Charles E. Stoneham's Snapdragon, which finished fourth, was claimed by E. J. Crawford for $5,210.

After the last race the ballot box was nearly full with claims for several of the juveniles which competed, but which of those changed hands will not be known until to-day.

The charge on the claiming box showed plainly that thoroughbreds are scarce and that the proper kind of programmes are not being arranged by the secretaries. Several of the contestants were worth more than they had been entered for, but because there were not proper races for them their owners were compelled to take a chance at prices much below their value.

The bidding also showed that the selling race rule is far from perfect. Under it any unscrupulous horseman can violate it with impunity. All that is necessary for a horseman to retain his own horse is to have a friend put in a claim for him.

In the opinion of nine out of every ten horsemen the rule should be the same as that in Kentucky. In the Blue Grass region the claiming must be done before the race.

Title sprang a big surprise in the third race. He led from start to finish and won in easy fashion. Manœuvre, which finished second, was considered a sure winner and was backed heavily. He ran to his best form, but Title proved his superior and never left the result in doubt.

Kashmir, which stepped home in front in the fourth race, also was a surprise. J. J. Hallenbeck, his owner, and F. M. Taylor, his trainer, didn't believe he had a chance of beating Tom McTaggart and Damrosch and told all of their friends so. But when it came to racing he proved the best. Kummer rated him behind the pace to the homestretch. There he gave him his head and Kashmir closed fast on the outside and won going away by half a length.

Explosive, after forcing all the pace, bore out badly in the stretch and interfered with Thornhedge, who was making his run on the outside; finished gamely when straightened and held Mary Head perfectly safe. Latter saved ground in the stretch, after working her way up on the outside, but tired in the going on the rail. Thornhedge was closing resolutely when interfered with by the winner. Gladys, slow to begin, saved ground in the stretch and finished going well. Lady Lovitt had no excuse. Canteen Girl quit early.

Nightstick, coming into improved form over his previous effort, came away very easily in the stretch, after being badly pocketed in the run through the backstretch. Zouave and Link Boy stopped.

Title was rushed up on the outside on the first turn and going into a good lead in the backstretch saved ground all the way and hanging on well had something left at the end, though he was ridden out smartly. Manoevre broke slowly, was in very close quarters on the first turn, under slight restraint until three furlongs from home and then faltered badly when driven in the stretch. Asterisk ran the race of his life but was never far from the pace. Tapageur had no excuse. Basilius broke slowly and was very sluggish in the early stages. Goldcrest Boy closed some ground. Thistle Queen stopped badly.

Overweights—Asterisk, 2½; Thistle Queen, 1½; Phalaris, 3; Tapageur, 5; Basilius, 2.

Scratched—Bar Joy, 105; Cheraibino, 91; Favour, 100; Pierre-a-Feu, 107; Paddy Dear, 112; Air Man, 109; Mr. Specs, 105.

Kashmir, intelligently ridden, was rated behind the pace to the stretch, where he closed with a rush on the outside and was going away at the end. Tom McTaggart was raced close to the
