

TRADE IN CURB MARKET IS QUIET

Generally Firm Tone Is Presented—Active Independent Oil Trend Upward.

Trading in the outside market yesterday was quiet, but a generally firm tone was presented. The trend of several more active independent oils was upward throughout the session, but pressure in the afternoon wiped out some of those gains. General Asphalt stood prominently with a substantial advance to 76.

INDUSTRIALS.

Table of industrial stock prices including American Cyanamid, American Lumber, and various oil stocks.

STANDARD OILS.

Table of standard oil stock prices including American Oil, Standard Oil, and others.

INDEPENDENT OILS.

Table of independent oil stock prices including Shell, Esso, and others.

MINING.

Table of mining stock prices including Anaconda, Deere, and others.

BOSTON.

Table of Boston stock prices including various local companies.

BONDS.

Table of bond prices including various government and corporate bonds.

FOREIGN BONDS.

Table of foreign bond prices including international securities.

COTTON MARKET.

The cotton market rose approximately half a cent a pound yesterday under influence of less favorable weather in the South, which caused many shorts to run to cover.

The weather map was bullish, showing heavy precipitation in the central belt and more than an inch of rain in the South.

Liverpool cables were about as due, but the market for spots in Liverpool continued quiet, sales of the actual amounting to but 4,000 bales.

The best buying of the day developed in the afternoon, when most of the active list rose about 50 points from

MISCELLANEOUS MARKETS.

NEW YORK CITY BONDS.

Table of New York City bond prices including various municipal and city bonds.

NEW YORK STATE BONDS.

Table of New York State bond prices including various state government bonds.

STANDARD OILS.

Table of standard oil stock prices including American Oil, Standard Oil, and others.

INDEPENDENT OILS.

Table of independent oil stock prices including Shell, Esso, and others.

MINING.

Table of mining stock prices including Anaconda, Deere, and others.

BOSTON.

Table of Boston stock prices including various local companies.

BONDS.

Table of bond prices including various government and corporate bonds.

COTTON MARKET.

The cotton market rose approximately half a cent a pound yesterday under influence of less favorable weather in the South, which caused many shorts to run to cover.

The weather map was bullish, showing heavy precipitation in the central belt and more than an inch of rain in the South.

Liverpool cables were about as due, but the market for spots in Liverpool continued quiet, sales of the actual amounting to but 4,000 bales.

The best buying of the day developed in the afternoon, when most of the active list rose about 50 points from

MISCELLANEOUS MARKETS.

NEW YORK CITY BONDS.

Table of New York City bond prices including various municipal and city bonds.

NEW YORK STATE BONDS.

Table of New York State bond prices including various state government bonds.

STANDARD OILS.

Table of standard oil stock prices including American Oil, Standard Oil, and others.

INDEPENDENT OILS.

Table of independent oil stock prices including Shell, Esso, and others.

MINING.

Table of mining stock prices including Anaconda, Deere, and others.

BOSTON.

Table of Boston stock prices including various local companies.

BONDS.

Table of bond prices including various government and corporate bonds.

THURSDAY'S CLOSING.

Support came mainly from shorts, but there was also buying for local commission house account.

Many operators thinking the bull case was over, and the report of the Southern Products Company, which placed the crop's condition on June 8 at 67.9 per cent of a normal against 69.9

per cent two weeks ago, aroused but scant attention. The market after finding its high in the last hour the market sagged off a bit from the best near the close, finishing with a net gain of 5 1/2 points. Local spot was unchanged at 39.25 cents a pound.

The weather map was bullish, showing heavy precipitation in the central belt and more than an inch of rain in the South.

Liverpool cables were about as due, but the market for spots in Liverpool continued quiet, sales of the actual amounting to but 4,000 bales.

The best buying of the day developed in the afternoon, when most of the active list rose about 50 points from

MISCELLANEOUS MARKETS.

NEW YORK CITY BONDS.

Table of New York City bond prices including various municipal and city bonds.

NEW YORK STATE BONDS.

Table of New York State bond prices including various state government bonds.

STANDARD OILS.

Table of standard oil stock prices including American Oil, Standard Oil, and others.

INDEPENDENT OILS.

Table of independent oil stock prices including Shell, Esso, and others.

MINING.

Table of mining stock prices including Anaconda, Deere, and others.

BOSTON.

Table of Boston stock prices including various local companies.

BOND AND STOCK EXCHANGE

FRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1920.

Table of bond and stock exchange data including closing prices and volume.

RANGE OF LIBERTY BONDS.

Table showing the range of Liberty bonds including various denominations.

COTTON STATISTICS.

Table of cotton statistics including production, exports, and stocks.

NEW YORK CITY BONDS.

Table of New York City bond prices including various municipal and city bonds.

NEW YORK STATE BONDS.

Table of New York State bond prices including various state government bonds.

STANDARD OILS.

Table of standard oil stock prices including American Oil, Standard Oil, and others.

INDEPENDENT OILS.

Table of independent oil stock prices including Shell, Esso, and others.

MINING.

Table of mining stock prices including Anaconda, Deere, and others.

BOSTON.

Table of Boston stock prices including various local companies.

BONDS.

Table of bond prices including various government and corporate bonds.

Executors Trustee

Chartered 1822. The Farmers' Loan and Trust Company. Nos. 16, 18, 20 & 22 William Street. Branch Office, 475 Fifth Avenue. At Forty-first Street, New York.

London Paris Foreign Exchange

Administrator Guardian. Member Federal Reserve System and New York Clearing House.

GRAIN MARKET.

Complaints of damage to the oats crop and higher cash prices were responsible for yesterday's strong tone of the corn market.

Reports from the grain belt declared that the oats crop in Kansas and parts of Illinois was heading short and its yield would be light.

Cash prices were quoted as 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents higher than Thursday's close on estimated receipts of 175 cars.

These bullish factors induced a leading elevator interest, which was believed short on sales to the East, to buy heavily.

Professionals also were inspired to buy corn, which added to the upward pressure on the market.

The market tone was strong after the early decline, which was small and of short duration.

That drop resulted from the rumor that the switchmen's strike had been settled and favorable weather reports.

Strength in the market after corn was reported to have been in the market after the early drop.

Weather reports were favorable, but were believed to have been offset by indications of better weather.

Strength in the market and higher cash prices were responsible for yesterday's strong tone of the corn market.

Reports from the grain belt declared that the oats crop in Kansas and parts of Illinois was heading short and its yield would be light.

Cash prices were quoted as 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents higher than Thursday's close on estimated receipts of 175 cars.

These bullish factors induced a leading elevator interest, which was believed short on sales to the East, to buy heavily.

Professionals also were inspired to buy corn, which added to the upward pressure on the market.