HENDRICK FAILS TO BE INDORSED; IRISH SAVE FORD

G. O. P. and Tammany Act on Justice Turned Down by Bar Association.

PLAY FOR VOTES SEEN

Democrats Try to Win Back Desertions Among Emerald Isle Natives.

SWANN GETS BACKING

Fourteenth Street Favors District Attorney for Place on Supreme Court Bench.

To Justice Peter A. Hendrick, one of six Supreme Court Justices whose fourteen-year terms are expiring, was refused endorsement for re-nomination yesterday by both the Republican organization and Tammany Hall. He was turned down recently by the Bar Association by an overwhelming vote. On the other hand, Justice John Ford, who also failed of endorsement by the Bar Association, was selected by both parties. In this action was seen the influence of Irish societies, who this year promise to play an important role in the coming election.

There was some opposition to Ford in both organizations. The Republican opposition was based upon the fact that he was nominated originally by Hearst's Independence League and Tammany Hall, although a Republican, and because he voted for President Wilson four years ago. The Democrats objected because he is rated as a Republican, but then decided it would be the part of wisdom to renominate Ford.

Justice Hendrick, who appeared before the Tammany executive committee in person to withdraw his own name from consideration, advocated the nomination of Ford.

See Irish Desert Tammany.

Republican leaders are convinced that the Irish vote which resulted in such an overwhelming victory for the party in the city last fall, has not returned, and will not return to Tammany. Because of that fact no thought was given to a fusion arrangement with Tammany, which the latter was reported to have been willing to bring about on Justice Hendrick's place and the three places held by men serving under appointment of Governor Smith.

In the hope of getting back the Irish votes Tammany is losing no chance to please them.

Those in touch with the Irish voters believe they have simply laughed at the attempt to win them back with the plank for recognition of the Irish Republic slipped into the State platform. In view of the fact that Gov. Edwards had endorsed the Wilson League of Nations Covenant.

Tammany sprang a surprise by picking District Attorney Edward Swann for the place now held by Justice Hendrick. It also endorsed Justice Edward J. McGoldrick and William P. Burr, appointed recently to fill vacancies on the Supreme Court. Justice Edward J. Glennon, also serving by appointment, will retire voluntarily in favor of District Attorney Francis Martin of the Bronx, who will be the ninth man on Tammany's Supreme Court slate.

Indorsed by Committee.

The Republican Executive Committee, in place of Justice Hendrick, Burr, Goldrick and Glennon, indorsed the following: James O'Malley, Isidor Wasservogel and Robert W. Mackay, Manhattan, and Henry K. Davis of the Bronx.

Both the Republicans and the Democrats are indorsing for renomination all the Supreme Court Justices whose full terms are expiring, with the exception of Justice Hendrick. This means their refusal to endorse Justice Charles L. Gay, Mitchell L. Erlanger, Leonard A. Gieglersch and M. Wesley Platzek, all Democrats.

In the Court of General Sessions Judges T. C. T. Crain, Democrat, and Judge Otto Rosenthal, Republican, have been indorsed for renomination by both organizations. For the one City Court vacancy the Democrats are indorsing Justice Thomas T. Reilly, defeated a year ago and now sitting by appointment. The choice of the Republican organization is Gustave Hartman, for five years an Assemblyman, for five years a Municipal Court Justice and grand master of the Independent Order of Fifth Aham.

N. Y. EXPRESS HELD UP IN CHICAGO SUBURB

Four Bandits Get Passengers' Valuables and Escape.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Four armed men tonight held up the New York-Chicago day express train on the Pennsylvania Railroad near Englewood station in the Chicago suburb.

A dining car steward who resisted one of the bandits was shot and wounded in the leg.

The bandits are believed to have boarded the train at the Englewood station and have obtained a large amount of money and valuables from passengers. The train, due to arrive in Chicago at 10:30 P. M., was delayed about 30 minutes.

The suburbs jumped from the train between Englewood and downtown stations and escaped.

"Hooch Squealer" Will Go to Jail in Chicago

SPECIAL TO THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Fred Roseman went last week to Myer Lincker, Assistant District Attorney, and said he had bought a half pint of whiskey in the saloon of Fred and Richard Prill and paid $4.50 for it.

After Commissioner Mason had held the Prills for the Grand Jury to-day on bonds of $2,000 each on charges of selling liquor illicitly the District Attorney's office asked Roseman's arrest on a charge of having "purchased liquor without a permit in violation of the prohibition law."

"The Government," said Mr. Lincker, "doesn't have to depend upon a Judas to convict a violator of the law. No American jury would hesitate to give such an informer the limit of the law he has technically violated. And believe me, Roseman is going to get the limit if I have to go before the Grand Jury for an indictment."

He Resents Editorial Attack in Letter's Paper, in Which He Is Misquoted.

SPECIAL TO THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Senator William E. Borah is expected to go on the stump as one of the chief speakers for the Republican party, and it is understood that he will trail Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby, who will speak in the Eastern States in support of Gov. Cox and President Wilson's League of Nations.

Information received here is to the effect that Senator Borah and his friends are especially resentful over an editorial attack upon him published in the Dayton News of the date of May 1, in which the Senator is misquoted as saying: "People, and especially Republicans who are in favor of a League of Nations, are cowards." He said he had written a letter to the editor of the Dayton News, in which he pointed out that the Senator's speech had been misquoted.

OTTO KAHN IN DEAL TO BUY OUT MUMM'S

CHAMPAGNE INTERESTS TO OPERATE IN TWO CONTINENTS.

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. PARIS, Aug. 9.—Otto H. Kahn of New York is in conference with the members of the Society Otopro, which has purchased the Mumm champagne properties for $5,000,000 francs, according to the French newspapers.

Kahn is expected to meet with the heads of cloth mills in northern France, who, despite the fact that their properties were ravaged by the German advance in the European war, apparently still possess their fortunes.

The activities of the Society Otopro will not be confined to the operation of the one time Mumm champagne properties, as its charter provides for "commercial, industrial and financial operations in all countries, especially in European and Asiatic Russia, as well as in the States bordering thereon."

CHICAGO SEES GLAD WORK BY VORONOFF

French Surgeon Comes Here for Clinic Friday.

SPECIAL TO THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Prof. Serge Voronoff, the French surgeon who made the first successful transplantation of interstitial glands from an anthropoid ape to the body of a man, performed his celebrated operation for the first time in America at the American Hospital in Chicago to-day, using thyroid glands.

Four hundred of Chicago's foremost physicians and surgeons watched the transfer of glands. Two dead dogs were used.

"My operation to-day was more in the way of a demonstration," said Dr. Voronoff. "My work is still experimental. I have performed several operations which have been successful in restoring vigor to old men." He will leave Chicago Wednesday for New York to hold a larger clinic at Columbia University on Friday.

Great Crowd at Hyde Park Cheers His Formal Speech of Acceptance.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT OF THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 9.—In the presence of an admiring crowd of thousands and many friends high in Democratic councils from various sections of the country Franklin D. Roosevelt received formal notification this afternoon of his nomination for the Vice-Presidency on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Roosevelt's speech of acceptance marked the beginning of a strenuous speaking programme for the nominee and also made it clear that it is Mr. Roosevelt's purpose to make ratification of the League of Nations covenant with a minimum of reservations the principal issue of his campaign.

In fact, it was notable that during Mr. Roosevelt's speech the League of Nations was the subject which drew more enthusiastic applause and cheering than any other subject he mentioned. His expression of hope that the suffrage amendment soon would be ratified drew a big round of approval, particularly from the 150 women who came up from New York with the Tammany delegation. His only mention of the war issue was the statement that "we are opposed to a saloon ruled city," which reference passed without notice from his hearers.

Mr. Roosevelt received his notification on the front veranda of the beautiful, hilly house, his country estate, Springwood, where the several thousand attendees filled the front lawn and overflowed into the cornfield several hundred yards away. Virtually all of Poughkeepsie and vicinity turned out in automobiles, busses and afoot, while every train brought delegations from near and far.

Big Party Men There.

Among the early arrivals were William G. McAdoe, formerly Secretary of the Treasury, and Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy. They and other members of the notification committee, Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who was honored guest at a small luncheon at the Armistice Club of Poughkeepsie, rolled up in his automobile about an hour before the ceremonies started and was the centre of a warm demonstration. Soon afterward the Tammany Hall special brought about 500 from New York, Charles F. Murphy sent time.

Poughkeepsie and Hyde Park, decked out in flags and bunting, turned every available automobile over to visitors and kept a constant stream of them plying a road, several miles between the railway station at Poughkeepsie and Springwood.

Just before the notification party stepped on the flag draped veranda, Mr. Roosevelt, ruddy faced person pushed his breathless way through the throng.

"It's over yet?" he asked, anxiously, mopping his brow.

"It is just about to begin," he was informed.

"Thank heavens!" he breathed.

All the Way From Alaska.

He was L. T. Erwin, Alaska's member of the notification committee, who was just coming over the line in a six-wheeled motor coach against time. He stepped out after the convention in San Francisco he had to return to his home, and it had sort of crowded his programme to hop back over to Hyde Park.

Erwin is a member of the notification committee among the notable Democrats assembled on the plaza. Among them were Secretary Daniels, Mr. McAdoe, and others.

Won't Let Actor Talk.

Despite his lucid moments, the physician would not attempt yesterday to answer questions Sunday morning's affair, nor would he allow Detectives Love and Fitzpatrick of the West 109th street police station to question him. He said that what he needs is rest, and that he would be in a position to give his version of the occurrence during the day of the hospital to see and hear the patient's wife.

The action of the house committee of the Lambs Club was taken because many of the members felt that the row

Gov. Cox Puts His O. K. on Roosevelt's Speech

SPECIAL TO THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 9.—Commenting to-day on the speech of acceptance of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic Vice-Presidential nominee, Governor Cox said:

"Mr. Roosevelt's speech is characteristic of the man. It is a wholesome, sensible view of conditions, full of hope as to our future and radiant of the happiness of the individual. The Western country will like this splendid type of progressive statesman. After two years of gloom and carping, captious criticism from the Republican leaders, it will be a genuine refreshment in the great land Mr. Roosevelt now enters for the people to meet a representative of Government whose soul is possessed of the philosophy of joy."

M'GRAW BLAMED BY LAMBS CLUB

Giants' Manager Said to Have Picked Fight With Man Who Whipped Him.

INJURED ACTOR BETTER

Physician Will Not Let Detectives Question Slavin and Mystery Surrounds Case.

Inquiry into that Sunday morning party in which John C. Slavin, musical comedy actor, received a fractured skull and John J. McGraw, manager and part owner of the New York Giants, a battered nose and eye, brought forth three important developments last night.

Relatives of Slavin made known for the first time the fact that in addition to the injuries previously reported he had lost two of his front teeth.

It was reported in the theatrical district that the man who punched McGraw in the grill room of the Lambs Club some time before Slavin received his injuries was William H. Boyd, who was leading man for Miss Ethel Barrymore in "Deceit" last season and who has appeared in a number of motion picture productions.

After a meeting that lasted nearly two hours, the members of the house committee of the Lambs Club issued a public statement in which they declared McGraw had provoked the Sunday morning fight in their grill room, and that the actor who struck him had done so in self-defense.

It also was learned that the house committee will make a report to the Shepherd of the club, who will call a meeting of the executive committee for the purpose of taking action regarding the conduct of the Giants' manager.

Slavin Also Lost Two Teeth.

The discovery that Slavin lost teeth during the morning doings adds to the mystery which has surrounded the whole matter since he was rushed to St. Luke's hospital Sunday morning.

Yesterday the actor lay in bed in his private room at the hospital with only his private physician and his nurse about him. It was stated that his condition had improved and that he probably would recover. He had regained consciousness for a few minutes and spoke in a hoarse voice.

The first time that he was able to speak he asked for a dose of bromo-seltzer, which was not administered.

His injury, which took him to the hospital, seems to be a fracture of the base of the skull and a horizontal abrasion of the skin covering it. This abrasion, which indicates in the opinion of physicians that he fell backward, striking his head against the edge of a curb or stone step. They agree that it could not have been received by a fall upon a flat surface. Like the absence of the two teeth, this wound goes unexplained.

BANKRUPTCY CHARGED

Three Creditors With $750 in Notes File Petition Against 'Wizard.'

BIG DEALS CALLED MYTHS

Attorney-General Finds No Evidence of Trades in International Reply Coupons.

SPECIAL TO THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. BOSTON, Aug. 9.—Two new difficulties appeared to-day in the conduct of the business of the sensational Charles Ponzi, who claims to have made millions through international postal exchange.

Joseph C. Allen, Bank Commissioner, announced that Ponzi's account at the Hanover Trust Company was overdrawn and prohibited the bank from paying any more checks made by Ponzi or his agents. The account is in the name of Miss Lucy Martelli, his private secretary, as trustee.

After this came the action of three Boston men, James Fernald, Charles Cantwell and Henry Farrell, who have notes totaling $750, in filing an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the "wizard." The petition alleges that about July 15 Ponzi transferred $3,000 of his assets to one Charles Hoffman "with intent to give him preference over other creditors."

The audit of Ponzi's books, which had been going on ten days, was completed to-day by Edwin L. Fride, who immediately filed his report with Daniel J. Gallagher, Assistant United States District Attorney. Later, Ponzi and Gallagher were in a conference, which was attended also by Mr. Storch, expert of the Department of Justice from Washington; Daniel H. Coakley, former Assistant District Attorney; Gallagher and Fride received to discuss the result of the audit.

General Allen to-day, the first he has made since he became active in the case. Ponzi responded with more hot abuse against the State official, all more of less vague in nature.

The Attorney-General declared that "although Ponzi claims that his dealings in international reply coupons were conducted on a large scale, the investigation discloses nothing to confirm his statement. We find no evidence of his ever having received money from Europe through either of the institutions he decried."

Ponzi said tonight that in view of the orders of the Bank Commissioner he would not pay out any money to-morrow. He expected, he said, that the Bank Commissioner would allow him to transfer the public learns of to-day's developments, but that he would not buy back the notes that have run forty-five days.

Ponzi added that he had two accounts in the Hanover Trust Company, his personal account and another. His personal account, he said, is more than $150,000, six times the amount of his outstanding notes, but he is not permitted by the Bank Commissioner to transfer these funds to his other account.

"I will give Attorney-General Allen all the help possible when he begins to ascertain my liabilities," Ponzi said. "I will show him the money to cover them. But I will die before I will disclose, either to him or to any one else, of what my assets consist, where they are and how I made my money."

Ponzi declared that the officials would have to live him run away, but that he would not.

"I am going to fight them to the end," he said. "And I am going to win my fight."

Archbishop Calmly Submits to Removal by Scotland Yard Man Off Irish Coast.

'SILLY,' IS HIS COMMENT

Says He Was Going to Visit His Mother, and Not to Scatter Propaganda.

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. LONDON, Aug. 9.—The calmest man in all the storm over Archbishop Mannix of Australia was the free brand Archbishop himself when he was landed by a British destroyer at Penzance, the westernmost town in England. He announced that he was prohibited not only from going to Ireland, but to the great Irish colonies of Liverpool, Manchester and Glasgow.

The prelate left Penzance this evening and will arrive in London to-morrow morning. It was said that legal action will be started to permit him to go to Ireland, since it was declared that his sole purpose in going there was to see his mother, who is 88 years old, and her family.

The mysterious halting of the steamship Baltic off Queenstown last night was to permit the commander of the destroyer Wyvern to board her.

He informed Archbishop Mannix of the orders he had received. The other Archbishop accompanied the officer aboard the Wyvern, which proceeded to Penzance.

Archbishop Mannix had tea this afternoon with Father Wade, the Catholic priest at Penzance. Later, on the platform of the railroad station, with Informers Mole and Passmore of Scotland Yard standing by smiling with him, the Archbishop gave an interview to a reporter for THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD.

"I have had an easy job so far," he said, smiling at the two Scotland Yard inspectors. Then he complimented them and the commander of the Wyvern for their courtesy to him.

Takes Forced Passage Coolly.

"You may state that Archbishop Mannix and his secretary, Father Vaughn, arrived at Penzance this afternoon, none the worse for their enforced cruise on his Majesty's ship, the destroyer Wyvern," he said.

"When the Baltic came to the Irish coast a convoy of destroyers approached her and when, between 10 and 11 o'clock last night, the Baltic was off Queenstown one of the destroyers came alongside and I was told what I am allowed to land in Ireland and that the Baltic was not calling at Queenstown."

"Later I was told that I did not know before that I would not be allowed to land at Liverpool, whether the Baltic was going. Also I was not permitted to go to Glasgow or Manchester, and as the Baltic was going to Liverpool, I of the Baltic was to get off and was taken aboard a destroyer."

"It was intended originally, apparently, that I was to land at Fishguard, but a wireless message mentioned some objections."

What was really the reason why he did not land at Fishguard was the presence there of many photographers, "movie" men and Irishmen, who had gathered there when it was reported that Archbishop Mannix would be landed at that port.

"So far as I am personally concerned, I have no fault to find with anybody," Archbishop Mannix added. "In carrying out the orders of the British Government, the commander of the Wyvern has shown me great courtesy. He left nothing undone to make my involuntary

WAR IS UP TO PARLIAMENT; BLOCKADE THE NEXT MOVE; MUNITIONS TO AID POLAND

Labor Warns British Government It Will Fight Any Move for War to Aid Poland

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—"War between the Allied Powers and Soviet Russia over Poland would be an intolerable crime against humanity," and British labor has warned the British Government that organized labor will be used to defeat such a war. This decision was reached to-day at a meeting of the most prominent British labor leaders, who later issued this statement:

"This conference feels certain that war is being engineered between the allied Powers and Soviet Russia on the issue of Poland and declares that such a war would be an intolerable crime against humanity."

"It therefore warns the Government that the whole industrial power of the organized workers will be used to defeat this war."

It was resolved by the conference "to take such steps as may be necessary to carry the above decision into effect."

The statement advised all labor organizations to be prepared to send their leaders to London "to instruct their members to lay down their tools."

A "committee of action" appointed by the meeting will see Premier Lloyd George to-morrow. The conference, which represented the whole field of labor, is regarded as having presented an ultimatum to the Government threatening direct action.

British workmen held meetings in many of the manufacturing towns of the country to-day, notably at Liverpool, Glasgow, Manchester, Nottingham and London, and protested against a war to help Poland. A general strike in all the principal organized industries was advocated in resolutions passed at several meetings.

ALLIES BELIEVE WARSAW SAFE

Reds Can Be Cheeked if Capital Gets Supplies, Say Military Observers.

SOVIETS ORGANIZE CAPTURED TOWNS—EAST PRUSSIA FEELS BOLSHIEVICK INFLUENCE.

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Allied military observers who surveyed the defenses of Warsaw yesterday are confident that the Polish capital can resist the Bolshievik indefinitely. Their opinion is dependent upon the Allies furnishing the needed supplies and ammunition, and that Warsaw can be saved from serious bombardment.

The Reds now form an arc line from Lomza, about 100 versts (66 miles) northeast of Warsaw, to Wloclawek, about 120 versts (80 miles) northwest of the Polish capital. In the east they have recaptured Ostrolena, on the Narew River.

The Red drive west of that town has included military observers to the opinion that the Bolshievik staff has in mind the possibility of repeating the famous Russian exploit of 1831, when Warsaw was captured by advancing west to the town of Mlava, northeast of Plock, and then moving southward and encircling the city.

Meanwhile, the gradual evacuation of the foreign missions is progressing. The Polish Government is still debating the desirability of leaving Warsaw.

Attention to-day is being focused on the political activity of the Soviet—an activity which is regarded as more dangerous for the peace of the world than any other military measure. It is believed that they are establishing Soviet governments in towns they have captured.

A Soviet has been placed in authority in Lomza. Polish officials fear that the Bolshievik scheme is to delay the peace party until they have Soviets in every town behind the Red lines, with which they can dictate and compel the Polish Government to recognize them.

Russian aviators have scattered Bolshievik propaganda far and wide in the Polish army and in Polish towns, cities and villages. This propaganda announces the formation of revolutionary committees the supreme head of which is the head of the Central Casosovskia of Soviet Russia. The arrival in Warsaw of a Hungarian delegation promising military relief to the Poles has created great enthusiasm among observers here.

By the Associated Press.

JONASZEWICZ, East Prussia, Aug. 8.—German Communists on the east Prussian frontier and sympathizers with the Russian Bolshievik are elated by reports from Polish sources of continued Bolshievik victories along the entire northern front. To-day there were the first indications that they have assumed an aggressive attitude toward the security police and the interallied control officers.

Confidential information from the northern reaches of the frontier disclosed that there had been several attempts on the part of Germans to enter Russia, and it is believed a number of them have succeeded in their efforts. A German officer with four of his soldiers deliberately attempted to pass the border guards, saying he believed in the Bolshieviks and wanted to fight for them.

Control officers along the whole frontier say that they will leave their posts in the event of a Russian invasion, and it is believed these are their orders.

Reports from many of the Russian lines say that many Poles have taken up arms with the Soviet forces. German agents say also that it is known a large portion of the population of unconquered Poland is only awaiting the opportunity to give Bolshievikism arms support.

Premier Will Ask Commons to Approve Agreement With France.

EXPECTS QUICK ACTION

Fleets Ready to Seal Russian Ports at a Moment's Notice.

NO TROOPS FOR POLAND

Forces on Rhine to Be Used in Delivering Supplies—Hope in Minsk Parley.

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. LONDON, Aug. 9.—Premier Lloyd George will ask the House of Commons to-morrow to approve a state of war existing with Russia, but it will be a state of that strange, anomalous war in which no Allied troops will be employed. Also it will be with many "ifs" in it. If the Bolshievik make proper armistice terms and if they initiate a proper beginning for peace negotiations with the Poles at Minsk next Wednesday the state of war will be called off.

In short, the Allies feel that they are unable to trust the Bolshievik after the delays in the peace making, for which the Allies hold Moscow solely responsible. Furthermore, the sinister figure of Gen. Ludendorff has appeared anew on "The Red Bridge to the Rhine," according to trustworthy information received in British Foreign Office circles to-night.

Conference Agreed on Action.

The Hythe conference, after a struggle lasting two days, effected a substantial Anglo-French accord on the Russo-Polish question. Although official information here is closely guarded to-night, pending the Premier's statement before the House of Commons to-morrow, the correspondent of THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD is in a position to state that the programme agreed upon "subject to the approval of Parliament to-morrow," is, according to the Hythe agreement, as follows:

First, a strict blockade of Russia will be established. For this full orders have been drawn up and naval units are ready to actually enforce it the moment the word is given. This blockade was partially raised last November.

Second, the delivery to the Poles of all available military stores and the employment of the allied forces of occupation along the Rhine to effect delivery of these stores through the Danzig corridor or elsewhere.

Next, to help the Poles with military advice, leadership or any other way possible. Included in this help will be many aerial squadrons.

It was learned here to-day that British aerial squadrons in southern Germany and Czechoslovakia have been heavily reinforced with new personnel and materials during the last few days.

Commons Expected to Agree.

There is little doubt that the House of Commons will be docile in the hands of Premier Lloyd George and will agree to his programme after threats from the Labor benches and protests from the Asquithian Liberals. This group, which numbers about thirty members, held a meeting in the House to-night and passed a resolution protesting against any intervention against Russia by way of a blockade, men, money or munitions.

Premier Lloyd George will represent this not only the sole way out but that the successful adjustment of the Hythe negotiations with the French might be disturbed by any change of the programme.

Meanwhile it was authoritatively said that Leo Kamenoff and Leonid Krassin, Soviet envoys here, not only will be permitted to remain in London, but perhaps may be constituted to do so. If the Bolshievik actually reach an agreement with the Poles at Minsk these Bolshievik envoys will be useful for testing the agreement and planning the guarantee to carry it out.

Upon his return from Hythe to-night the Premier presided over a full Cabinet Council, when he reported the result of the conference and discussed its bearing in connection with the statement which is to be made to Parliament by him to-morrow.

"Is It War?" Crowd Demands.

When Premier Lloyd George arrived in London from Hythe the crowd at the railroad station cheered him repeatedly and shouted:
