

INQUIRY INTO GAMBLES BUT UNSUSPECTED SCANDALS

Brown and Sullivan, supposed to be the gamblers or fellows that were fixing it for the gamblers...

Q. And you would know them if you saw them? A. I would know them if I saw them...

Q. Who informed you of that? A. Chick Gandil.

Q. Right then and there? A. No; not right then and there; just right after that; just as I got into the hall...

Q. Who had a meeting in Cincinnati with the ball players; where was that? A. That was in the hotel, in Chick Gandil's room.

Q. How much did you keep? A. I kept $5,000 of it.

Q. Did you ever ask Gandil or any one else? A. (Interrupting) I never even talked to Gandil from that day to this.

Q. Did you talk to any of the other ball players? A. I never talked to one.

Q. Now, is that all you know about the whole thing? A. That is all I know.

Q. Now, Mr. Williams, the $10,000 you got was in two separate envelopes? A. Yes.

Q. Five thousand in each? A. Five thousand in each envelope.

Q. So that you knew that half of that was to go to Jackson? A. Yes.

Q. Did you know what games the Sox were to lose for all this money they were getting? A. Why, they were supposed to lose the first two to Cincinnati, and I never did hear whether they were to lose or to win the one with Kerr.

SQUARE THIS YEAR, FELSCH CONTENTS

Continued from First Page.

quite a bit away from where I thought it out to be.

"The other man in the 'know' thought that I had lost the ball deliberately and that I was putting on a clown exhibition.

"Whether I could actually have got up enough nerve to carry out my part in throwing the game I can't say.

"I looked easy to me too. It's just as easy for a good player to make a ball as it is to catch it—just a slow start or a stumble at the right time or a slow throw and the job is done.

"But you can't get away with that stuff indefinitely. You may be able to fool the public, but you can't fool yourself."

"How did Cloutie get $10,000? Felsch was asked.

"Because he was wise enough to stand pat for it; that's all. Cloutie has brains. The rest of us round heads just took their word for the proposition that we were to get an even split on the $100,000.

"Cloutie was going to make sure of his share from the jump off. He made them come across with it."

"I don't know how much he got. I don't know how much he kept. I don't know how much he gave to Jackson."

"I don't know how much he gave to Jackson."

"I don't know how much he gave to Jackson."

"I don't know how much he gave to Jackson."

WEAVER WILL JOIN PARADE OF CONFESSING BALL PLAYERS

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—"Buck" Weaver called up Assistant State Attorney Replogle to-night and made overtures to go before the Grand Jury and confess.

"We have enough evidence to convict Hal Chase, Heinie Zimmerman and Lee Magee," said Mr. Replogle.

"We shall hold up the indictments until McGraw returns with Fred Toney and Benny Kauff. We want to clinch all the evidence possible against crooked players."

Zimmerman approached Fred Toney and Benny Kauff last year to 'throw' games. Zimmerman said he was acting for somebody else. We have the evidence to convict that 'somebody else.'"

But that, it is feared, now will be abandoned.

Comiskey has given many demonstrations of his liberal policy and his progressiveness. When Connie Mack decided to break up his great Philadelphia machine and put his stars on the market, Comiskey started the baseball world by purchasing the services of the rest of the second baseman, for $50,000.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

SCHANZ MEN'S TAILORS. Clothes tailored by Schanz are recognized for their inherent smartness and distinctiveness. MADE-TO-MEASURE AND READY-TO-WEAR. 14 EAST 40TH STREET NEW YORK.

Franklin Simon & Co. FIFTH AVENUE, 37th and 38th Sts. For Women and Misses. A Lamb's Wool-Lined Silk Lounging Robe. 24.50 copy of an original Paris model dolman in line, fashioned of a new crinkled silk, lined with silk, lamb's wool interlined, and smartly cross-quilted—thus are grace and cozy warmth combined! And the price is lower than the former cost of production.

PLOTTERS MUST PAY INCOME TAX ON GRAFT. U. S. Is Looking Up Returns of Bribed Players. WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Should an investigation disclose that the Chicago White Sox players who received money for throwing the 1919 world series failed to make a return to the Internal Revenue Bureau on these funds for purposes of taxes precautions will be instituted.

OTHER WARMTH-GIVING ROBES. 7.50 to 195.00. NEGLIGEE SHOP—First Floor.

COMISKEY HIT HARD BY CROOKED BLOW

Grand Old Man of Baseball, in Ill Health, Feels Keenly the Ingratitude.

ALWAYS ON THE SQUARE

In Baseball Most of His Life, and Popular With Players and the Public.

Clear of blame and towering above the baseball mess which has been brought to light in Chicago stands the man of sorrow of the American League—Charles Comiskey, owner of the maligned White Sox.

Suffering from a chronic illness that has laid him low repeatedly in the last three years, chagrined over the disclosure that followed fast in the wake of the confession of Eddie Cloutie, with the rest of us round heads just took their word for the proposition that we were to get an even split on the $100,000.

Comiskey has given many demonstrations of his liberal policy and his progressiveness. When Connie Mack decided to break up his great Philadelphia machine and put his stars on the market, Comiskey started the baseball world by purchasing the services of the rest of the second baseman, for $50,000.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

Standing with Comiskey above the mess are Ray Schalk, the catcher; Eddie Collins, Dickey Kerr, the pitcher, and John Collins, the first baseman, who in the 1919 world's series played the outfield.

SOX'S 'SQUARE GUYS' FAR FROM GLOOMY

Deportation of 'Traitors' Lits Big Load From Once Unhappy Family.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The "square guys" sat around in the clubhouse at the White Sox ball park to-day. They talked about the "critical" series with St. Louis, and if they could win the three straight games they'd have a chance at the pennant.

Comiskey has grown up with baseball, and in it. He has been ball boy, player, manager, owner. He has risen from the minor leagues to the ownership of an American League pennant winner and a team which won the world's series, the highest position to be attained by any mortal playing the national game.

Comiskey has grown up with baseball, and in it. He has been ball boy, player, manager, owner. He has risen from the minor leagues to the ownership of an American League pennant winner and a team which won the world's series, the highest position to be attained by any mortal playing the national game.

Comiskey has grown up with baseball, and in it. He has been ball boy, player, manager, owner. He has risen from the minor leagues to the ownership of an American League pennant winner and a team which won the world's series, the highest position to be attained by any mortal playing the national game.

Comiskey has grown up with baseball, and in it. He has been ball boy, player, manager, owner. He has risen from the minor leagues to the ownership of an American League pennant winner and a team which won the world's series, the highest position to be attained by any mortal playing the national game.

Comiskey has grown up with baseball, and in it. He has been ball boy, player, manager, owner. He has risen from the minor leagues to the ownership of an American League pennant winner and a team which won the world's series, the highest position to be attained by any mortal playing the national game.

Comiskey has grown up with baseball, and in it. He has been ball boy, player, manager, owner. He has risen from the minor leagues to the ownership of an American League pennant winner and a team which won the world's series, the highest position to be attained by any mortal playing the national game.

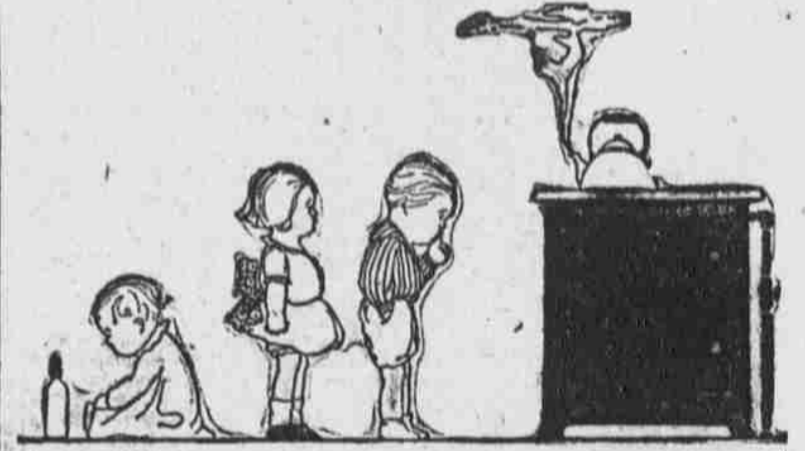

Comiskey has grown up with baseball, and in it. He has been ball boy, player, manager, owner. He has risen from the minor leagues to the ownership of an American League pennant winner and a team which won the world's series, the highest position to be attained by any mortal playing the national game.

Comiskey has grown up with baseball, and in it. He has been ball boy, player, manager, owner. He has risen from the minor leagues to the ownership of an American League pennant winner and a team which won the world's series, the highest position to be attained by any mortal playing the national game.

Comiskey has grown up with baseball, and in it. He has been ball boy, player, manager, owner. He has risen from the minor leagues to the ownership of an American League pennant winner and a team which won the world's series, the highest position to be attained by any mortal playing the national game.

Comiskey has grown up with baseball, and in it. He has been ball boy, player, manager, owner. He has risen from the minor leagues to the ownership of an American League pennant winner and a team which won the world's series, the highest position to be attained by any mortal playing the national game.

Comiskey has grown up with baseball, and in it. He has been ball boy, player, manager, owner. He has risen from the minor leagues to the ownership of an American League pennant winner and a team which won the world's series, the highest position to be attained by any mortal playing the national game.

"Please Pass the Bread to Me" Learn to use that phrase at table often—several times at every meal. Teach your children to say it and let the bread plate be kept piled high with HUBBARD'S Mother Hubbard BREAD. The practice of eating plenty of MOTHER HUBBARD BREAD at every meal—enough to total at least a pound a day—is one that will help build better health and put a silver lining on the cloud of H. C. L.

THE STORY OF REVILLON FURS. An Exhibition of Temper. The pure bred Malemute dog, while obedient and docile to a firm master, is anything but gentle with a stranger or with other dogs. At feeding time, a spirit of fierce competition develops and each dog bolts his food as rapidly as possible, since the last scraps will be fought for fiercely by the entire team.

"SUMP'N COOKIN'!" While Baby's only interest is his bottle, the other tots know that there is "sump'n cookin'" of which mother will let them eat all they want. It is delicious potato soup, made with milk—the perfect food for children—and grown-ups, too. Children need Borden's milk, it contains every element for growth and health—and is the most economical food of all when energy food value is considered. Melt the butter in a two-quart sauce pan and gently cook the onion and green pepper in it until tender. Add the milk and seasonings, together with the potato, and cook till the latter is tender, then add the parsley—bring to boiling point and serve.