THE EVENING NEWS

ALF. DOTEN, Managing Editor.

TUESDAY, : : : : OCTOBER 12, 1880

FOR PRESIDENT,

JAMES A. GARFIELD,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

CHESTER A. ARTHUR,

OF NEW YORK.

"In my opinion the best interests of the whole country, North and South, demand the success of the ticket headed by Garfield and Arthur."—U. S. GRANT.

Republicanism means "a government of the people, by the people, for the people."

Democratic party rule means a government of the people by the aristocracy, for the aristocracy, and not for the people or the nation.

TODAY'S ELECTIONS.

Tomorrow or next day we may be able to form some idea as to the result of the State elections in Ohio and Indiana, which are being held today. They do not and cannot of course decide the coming Presidential election, yet they cannot fail to indicate to a very considerable degree the relative strength of the leading political parties in those States, and the possibilities of the all-important election in November.

Ohio is of course Republican, and now should demonstrate that fact in the most unmistakable manner in view of the fact that General Garfield, the honored nominee of the Republican party, is from that State. The average Republican majority in Ohio, however, for several years past has not exceeded five or six thousand. Even if that is held good this time it will be sufficiently explicit, but the chances are in favor of a considerable increase of the Republican vote. The Democrats, however, are not by any means idle. They have been working like beavers and placing money where it is supposed to do the most good for their party, the main object beyond success for the Democracy being to reduce the Republican majority all possible and locally secure whatever spoils they can in the shape of county or township offices.

Indiana is not by any means safe for the Republicans. In fact, that State has been Democratic for the last ten years, except in 1872, and was so before the war. Two years ago the Democratic majority was over 14,000, and if the Republicans can overcome that, it will be most decidedly a triumph. In 1872, through a temporary disagreement in the Democratic ranks, the State went for Grant, but the normal condition of the State is Democratic. The Democracy have merely to hold their own if they can, while the fight of the Republicans is squarely an aggressive one, with everything to win. Much very effective work to that end has been done, and leading Republicans, best able to judge, confidently claim a victory.

It is quite significant to observe that the Democratic papers and leading Democrats are inclined to yield Indiana to the Republicans, and have already raised the cry of fraud and corrupt manipulation, charging that the Republicans have been rushing negro voters into that State as well as Ohio by thousands for months past, also that great sums of money have been brought to bear in the way of corruption. If this latter proposition is correct, and the Democrats receive their financial equivalent for being corrupted, honors are easy, and they have nothing to complain of. On the other hand there is a very good possibility that the Hancock boom has not been so favorably received in Indiana as was anticipated, and that honest Republicanism has been legitimately gaining ground in that State, which is claimed to be the case. Anyway we shall soon all know how far any of these speculations are correct.

The Democratic newspaper editors having exhausted themselves trying to prove that General Garfield is a great public robber, corruptionist and wicked man generally, have finally settled down to the proposition that he actually did receive $329 of the Credit Mobilier steal. They have stuck to this from the very first, and all other charges having been worn into threadbare nothingness and blown away they all join by common consent in one universal howl of "329!" The Democracy throughout the country take up the refrain and imagine it does them good. They write it on the walls of public buildings, private residences, bulletin boards and outhouses, and bear it on transparencies in public processions. In their estimation a man who will steal $329, or a man who cannot steal more than that, is totally unfit to be President. The New York Sun publishes columns of small, laboriously written editorial squibs, each containing those cabalistic figures, 329, and all the small fry Democratic journals from Bangor to San Diego exultingly follow suit. They evidently think it an excellent joke, and enjoy it hugely.

And this is what all their terrible charges against Garfield have ciphered down to. Refuted, defeated and exhausted on all the other lying propositions, they cling pertinaciously to this, and will stick to it to the last. It is a whimsical reminder of the unconquerable old woman who drowned sooner than yield in a hot dispute with her husband about what cut the boat loose. He said knife and she said scissors, until he finally shoved her overboard. She sank shouting "scissors!" and when she rose to the surface she defiantly stuck to her word. He chucked her under every time, and when at last she sank to rise no more, unable to speak, she raised her hand above the surface and went down imitating scissors with her fingers. Like that old woman, the Democracy will tenaciously shout 329 until, represented in Hancock, they sink out of sight at the polls on the second of November next.

HANCOCK, THE SOLDIER.

Congressman Daggett is doing excellent service out in the eastern part of the State on his speaking tour in company with Judge Adkison, or, as they call him out there, the "Comstock Nasby." Owing to a cold, Adkison has not been able to do his share of the speaking, but has done pretty well under the circumstances, and is improving. They had a rousing reception and grand Republican rally at Eureka last Friday evening. The Leader describes the meeting as a perfect jam; an enthusiastic outpouring of the people. Daggett was in his best speaking mood, and waltzed into the record and true inwardness of the Democracy in a lively style. The Sentinel complains that he said he did not propose to "wave the bloody shirt," but that he did flourish it, nevertheless, most furiously. The Leader gives a lengthy synopsis of Daggett's speech, from which we extract the following pertinent remarks about Hancock:

He said that in his youth, General Hancock made a contract with the government that in consideration of his being educated and placed in office he would render true service to the country should occasion require. He has fulfilled his part of the contract. At this point the Democrats in the audience were rather vociferous in their applause. The speaker remarked that Hancock had some friends in the audience and he was glad of it. He was glad to say that Hancock, as a soldier, did his duty, so did many thousands of gallant men now sleeping their last sleep in the trenches of Southern battle-fields. So had many others who were dragging their maimed bodies through the land and receiving pensions of eight dollars a month in consideration of honorable and disabling wounds. It is impossible to make all the soldiers who did their duty President of the United States. He then proceeded to review Hancock's political record, what there is of it, and showed conclusively that he would be but a tool in the hands of the Democratic leaders. Neither Hancock or Garfield are running for President. It is their respective parties that are running. They are simply the figure-heads and exponents of the two parties. The Democratic party that is running for President instead of Hancock cannot be trusted. The Solid South controls the Democratic party. Is it safe to turn over the government to that control?

New York Tribune: Zebulon B. Vance, who fought in the Confederate army, and made the remark, if we are not mistaken, about fighting until "h—l is so full of Yankees that their legs stick out of the windows," is a better authority upon Southern sentiment than General Hancock. General Hancock insists that "nobody wants or expects such unnatural action" as the payment of rebel claims. But Senator Vance says the South "asks" from the North compensation for "homes destroyed, farms laid waste and pillaged, property stolen and slaves released." This is a pretty large bill, General Hancock. It seems to show a very definite want and an enormous expectation. Which of these men, will the sensible Northern voter conclude, is telling the truth?

When Americans go wild over an actor or an actress they make no half-way work of it, but go it with a rush. The Bernhardt boom is the illustration of it at present. A New York dispatch of October 2d says: The sale of the Bernhardt tickets netted $21,000 yesterday in forty-five minutes. The line of patient watchers in the lobby of Booth's Theater was still unbroken when the light of morning appeared, the line having remained all night. Three hundred and fifty seats for the season, representing $21,000 in the treasury, were sold. The Tribune says that this is probably the largest amount of money ever received in a theatrical box office in one day.

Robert St. Clair, the murderer of Patrick Tully at Winnemucca, was on Saturday last sentenced to twenty-five years in the State Prison. The Silver State says it did not appear to affect him much, and he appeared as unconcerned as when the witnesses who saw him shoot on the evening of July 28th testified to that effect at the trial. His wife, who has the reputation of being an estimable lady, was deeply moved, and burst into tears when the sentence was announced.

Carson Items.

Appeal, October 12.

St. Clair, the man convicted of the murder of Patrick Tully, and who escaped from the Winnemucca jail, was brought to the State Prison yesterday morning by the Sheriff of Humboldt county, who gave a reward of $300 for his capture.

The following officers were elected by the Carson Guard last night to serve for the ensuing year: Abram Moger, Captain (re-elected); Wm. L. Taylor, First Lieutenant; E. H. Colver, Second Lieutenant; A. E. Pine, Secretary. Appointments for Sergeants will be announced at drill on Monday evening, October 18.

At the grand Republican ratification meeting this evening it is proposed to make arrangements for a good, old-fashioned barbecue, to which the State will be invited. The stanch Republican party of Ormsby will never be thoroughly united without a barbecue.

A NEW DISCOVERY.—Some very important discoveries of silver ore have recently been made about twelve miles east of Bodie, or six miles east of the Spring District mines. The ledges are large, strong and well defined, and the ore runs to silver. The quartz is less agatized than that of the Spring District—less so than on the eastern slope of Bodie Bluff even and some San Francisco mining men of experience who have become interested in the new district are highly pleased with the prospect.—Bodie Standard-News, October 8.

PROLIFIC WHEAT.—The Battle Mountain Messenger says: Judge McBeth, of Galena, sowed on his ranch in Galena, two pounds of white Russian Spring wheat, purchased from D. M. Terry & Co., Detroit, Michigan, from which he has just cleaned up 21¼ pounds. This he intends to sow on his valley ranch the coming season, and he thinks it will be the coming wheat of the country. It is perfectly clean, and is said to make the best quality of flour.

WESTERN DISPATCHES.

The Presidential Party.

SEATTLE, October 11.—The steamer Starr, with Presidential party, steamed down the Sound, and at Point Alki, five miles above Seattle, met a fleet of steamboats and tugs, and the revenue cutter Wolcott, all decorated with flags and evergreens and crowded with people. The steamboat Fanny Leke came alongside to allow the Reception Committee and reporters to get on board the Starr. Introductions but no speeches followed. The ride up the bay, attended by this escort, was grand. The weather was bright and the water, covered with the ornamental fleet and snow mountains in the distance, formed a picture rare in beauty and grandeur. All the party declared this parade of steamers the most novel and interesting attraction of their tour. Two unnamed snow mountains, rising far north of Seattle in the Cascade Range and visible from the bay, were by unanimous consent christened respectively Hayes and Ramsay. As the steamers neared the city the battery on shore boomed out a Presidential salute, and was seconded by bells and steam whistles, and the decks were crowded by thousands of people from the city and all ports of the Sound, who gave cheer after cheer. The President and others immediately on landing entered carriages and, escorted by the Grand Army of the Republic and mounted Marshals, headed by a band, passed between files of citizens to the Occidental Hotel. The crowd filled the square in front of the hotel. Responding to calls the party appeared on the balcony. Chief Justice Greene, in behalf of the citizens, addressed the President, assuring him of a hearty welcome. The President, on being introduced to the crowd, which numbered fully 4000, was greeted by three cheers and a tiger. After a few remarks, the President introduced Secretary Ramsey, who made a short speech and brought General Sherman forward. At the mention of Sherman's name the enthusiasm reached the highest pitch, many in the crowd calling out that they had been soldiers. The President took occasion to say that he was glad to see so many old soldiers and to especially thank the members of the Grand Army of the Republic for their personal escort from the boat to the hotel. General Sherman then addressed the crowd.

Miscellaneous.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 11.—The Supreme Court has reversed the judgment and order of the lower court in the suit of George W. Durkee vs. the Central Pacific Railroad Company, in which the jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff for $10,000. On July 2d, 1876, Milton W. Durkee, the son of the plaintiff, aged about five years, was run over by an engine belonging to the defendant, and was so seriously injured that amputation of both his legs became necessary. The father, consequently, brought the action to recover damages. The Supreme Court held that the Judge of the lower court was gravely in error in refusing to instruct the jury as follows: "Plaintiff is not entitled to recover in this action damages for the pain or suffering which his son, Milton W. Durkee, experienced from the injuries he received or for his disfigurement therefrom."

Speaking of Indiana, Kearney said yesterday: "That State, in next Tuesday's election, will go Democratic, and I will tell you why. It is because the Greenbackers in that State draw the most of their strength from the Republican party. This shows that in Indiana the Greenbackers are running in the interest of the Democratic party, does it? And in this State we are charged with being in the interest of the Republican party. Look at the inconsistency of these poor devils, our opponents!"

HANFORD, Cal., October 11.—Marshal Poole, with Deputies Gould and Dunlap, arrived this morning in a spring wagon from Kingsburg. A representative of the railroad company, a lawyer from Winnemucca, Nevada, S. S. Grass, has been here for several days anticipating their arrival. The deepest interest is felt in what may occur today, but no collision is expected.

SALT LAKE, October 11.—Before the adjournment of the Mormon Conference last evening, John Taylor was unanimously elected First President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, the position left vacant by the death of Brigham Young. Taylor has been the head of the church, but only President of the Twelve Apostles. George Q. Cannon is Taylor's First Counselor. The English Saints now control the church.

WOODLAND, CAL., October 10.—In the Superior Court Saturday, Alvin W. Taylor was found guilty of murder in the first degree for poisoning Robert Berham, of this county, last January, and was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

Bold Dash for Liberty.

Yankee Fork Herald, October 2.

At 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, the 23d ult., six prisoners escaped from the guards of the Territorial Penitentiary at Boise City. They escaped by seizing a guard while at work, and taking from him two revolvers. They afterwards secured other firearms. Soldiers and citizens pursued, and Newman, one of the guards, received a charge of buckshot in the face, and another in the back. Several shots were fired, and Corporal Coppage, of Company F, First Cavalry, was severely wounded. Wm. Reese, one of the convicts, was shot and killed at long range by a soldier. Four prisoners who escaped are described as follows:

William Mays, aged thirty, is six feet one inch in height, of light complexion, and has gray eyes and brown hair; William H. Overholtz, aged nineteen, complexion light, height five feet six inches, eyes and hair brown; John Wilson, aged thirty-two, light complexion, height five feet eleven inches, eyes blue, hair black; Maroni Hicks, aged twenty-one, is of sandy complexion, has brown hair, is six feet three inches in height, and has light colored eyes.

The Largest Vessel that Ever Floated.

Silver State, October 9.

Last evening two or three persons, one of them a tall, lank specimen from away down East, were discussing the relative size of sea-going vessels. One remarked that the City of Peking, which carries 150 car loads of tea across the Pacific Ocean, must compare favorably in size with the largest vessels on the ocean. Another said the Great Eastern, the largest vessel that ever floated, could carry the City of Peking and its cargo. At this the Down-Easter expectorated, and getting his throat cleared, said: "Your Pekin' and Great Eastern are nothing but mud-scows compared with the May Flower. There is more furniture scattered through New England that that ar' ship brought over than a dozen of your Pekins and Great Easterns would hold." The others did not question the truth of this assertion, and the discussion ceased.

ROAD MATTERS.

A Talk with H. M. Yerington.

Esmeralda Herald, Oct. 9.

H. M. Yerington arrived in Aurora by private conveyance last Wednesday evening, remained over night, visited Bodie Thursday, and returned here the same day. Yesterday morning a representative of this paper had a few minutes' talk with the gentleman. In regard to the railroad, Mr. Yerington said trains would be running to the foot of Walker Lake some time in December. It was intended to have had the road finished to that point much earlier, and such would have been the case had the company not been disappointed in getting their locomotive from the shop in Philadelphia, the arrangement being to have that necessary article here on the 1st of the present month. Word was received last Monday that the locomotive had only been shipped about the date it was expected to have arrived at the Mound House, thus putting the work back nearly a month. The track iron is on hand to commence operations immediately. All the grading is completed to the south end of the lake. When the track laying begins two or three miles will be completed every day. When the road is finished persons leaving San Francisco at 4 P. M. one day, will arrive in Aurora at 7 P. M. the next day.

The Bodie and Walker lake wagon road is being pushed to completion, and will be finished some time before the railroad. It is intended to make this one of the best wagon roads in the State, and the work done in the Del Monte canyon goes far toward establishing this statement as a fact.

It is the firm belief of Mr. Yerington that Aurora will be benefited materially by the road; and he also says that Aurora will, at no distant day, be one of the best mining camps in the State. In this connection he spoke of the necessity of an A 1 road from this point to the Del Monte mill, on Bodie creek, to tap the Walker lake and Bodie road. It needed widening in many places, to allow teams to pass, in order to make quick connection with up and down trains; and especially he would call the attention of the Board of Commissioners to the entrance into Aurora, the hill near the Exchange Hotel. The Company are willing to help the people of Aurora in this matter. The completion of the railroad and the wagon road would put many teams on the latter, and it is advisable to have the road leading from this town first-class in every respect.

Whenever the business of Aurora and Bodie warrants it, a branch railroad will be run from Walker lake to tap these two points, and the road bed up Del Monte canyon was being built with that object in view.

Mr. Yerington left here for Walker lake yesterday, thence down the line of the railroad to the Mound House.
