

Preble County Democrat.

L. G. GOULD, Editor and Proprietor.

"PLEADED BUT TO TRUTH, TO LIBERTY AND LAW."

$1.50 PER ANNUM IN ADVANCE.

VOLUME XIII.

EATON, PREBLE COUNTY, O. OCT., 1, 1857.

NUMBER XXXVIII.

ADDRESS Of the Democratic State Central Committee—To the People of Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10, 1857.
The State Central Committee deem it their duty to return to a practice for some time fallen into disuse, and briefly address their fellow citizens upon the issues involved in the present political canvass.

Comprehending, as they think them, the importance of the people, and fully impressed with the conviction that the popular will is about to recall the Democratic party to administer the affairs of the State, the Committee believe that they ought not to neglect to confer with their fellow citizens in this manner.

The perpetuity of the Union is now, as heretofore, the object upon which the Democracy are inflexibly resolved. The party in this State, one of the largest integers in the National Democracy, have always made it a cardinal principle of their faith. The preservation of the liberties of the people is the chief end of the Democracy, and the maintenance of the Union is indispensable to its attainment.

The State Central Committee deem it their duty to return to a practice for some time fallen into disuse, and briefly address their fellow citizens upon the issues involved in the present political canvass. Comprehending, as they think them, the importance of the people, and fully impressed with the conviction that the popular will is about to recall the Democratic party to administer the affairs of the State, the Committee believe that they ought not to neglect to confer with their fellow citizens in this manner.

The State Central Committee deem it their duty to return to a practice for some time fallen into disuse, and briefly address their fellow citizens upon the issues involved in the present political canvass. Comprehending, as they think them, the importance of the people, and fully impressed with the conviction that the popular will is about to recall the Democratic party to administer the affairs of the State, the Committee believe that they ought not to neglect to confer with their fellow citizens in this manner.

regions where the waters of the Oregon mingle with the sea; and beating back, all over the continent, the mongrel descendants of the degenerate Spaniard, the Indian and the Negro, it marches on the broad path of Empire, reaching from shore to shore of both Oceans, with thundering tread.

Ohio, in the centre of the confederacy and upon the borders of the two slave States cannot trifle with this grave question, as the States of the remote North and East may do. The negro element is and must be larger in your State than in Maine or Massachusetts. Its increase from abroad should be discouraged rather than invited.

The Committee believe that they ought not to neglect to confer with their fellow citizens in this manner. The perpetuity of the Union is now, as heretofore, the object upon which the Democracy are inflexibly resolved.

The State Central Committee deem it their duty to return to a practice for some time fallen into disuse, and briefly address their fellow citizens upon the issues involved in the present political canvass. Comprehending, as they think them, the importance of the people, and fully impressed with the conviction that the popular will is about to recall the Democratic party to administer the affairs of the State, the Committee believe that they ought not to neglect to confer with their fellow citizens in this manner.

The State Central Committee deem it their duty to return to a practice for some time fallen into disuse, and briefly address their fellow citizens upon the issues involved in the present political canvass. Comprehending, as they think them, the importance of the people, and fully impressed with the conviction that the popular will is about to recall the Democratic party to administer the affairs of the State, the Committee believe that they ought not to neglect to confer with their fellow citizens in this manner.

The State Central Committee deem it their duty to return to a practice for some time fallen into disuse, and briefly address their fellow citizens upon the issues involved in the present political canvass. Comprehending, as they think them, the importance of the people, and fully impressed with the conviction that the popular will is about to recall the Democratic party to administer the affairs of the State, the Committee believe that they ought not to neglect to confer with their fellow citizens in this manner.

Two Ways of Managing a Husband.
Few things are more common in domestic life than for the husband and wife to strive for the mastery; and thus human beings who ought to assist each other, and dwell together in affection, frequently pass a life of discord in rendering each other unhappy.

Mr. Connor was a well-meaning man, of very little energy of character, and was completely under the control of his wife. Mrs. Connor was essentially a woman who had the distinguishing trait, the reputation of a flirt and a belle, and whose father has heaps of cash; for that she had spirit, and that she could make him do what she liked at any time.

Mr. Connor was a well-meaning man, of very little energy of character, and was completely under the control of his wife. Mrs. Connor was essentially a woman who had the distinguishing trait, the reputation of a flirt and a belle, and whose father has heaps of cash; for that she had spirit, and that she could make him do what she liked at any time.

Mr. Connor was a well-meaning man, of very little energy of character, and was completely under the control of his wife. Mrs. Connor was essentially a woman who had the distinguishing trait, the reputation of a flirt and a belle, and whose father has heaps of cash; for that she had spirit, and that she could make him do what she liked at any time.

Mr. Connor was a well-meaning man, of very little energy of character, and was completely under the control of his wife. Mrs. Connor was essentially a woman who had the distinguishing trait, the reputation of a flirt and a belle, and whose father has heaps of cash; for that she had spirit, and that she could make him do what she liked at any time.

Mr. Connor was a well-meaning man, of very little energy of character, and was completely under the control of his wife. Mrs. Connor was essentially a woman who had the distinguishing trait, the reputation of a flirt and a belle, and whose father has heaps of cash; for that she had spirit, and that she could make him do what she liked at any time.

DON'T BE A BACHELOR.
The world man—don't be a bachelor. It is not good for you. It will neither improve your morals, your health, nor your beauty.

THE PASSION FOR DISPLAY.
The world is crazy. The call for show—show—and still show. There is not one person in a thousand, male or female, who dares fall back on nothing but their real simple self for a power by whose aid to get through the world, and extract enjoyment as he goes along.

THE LOVE OF HOME.
It is only shallow-minded pretenders who make either distinguished origin a matter of personal merit, or obscure origin a matter of personal reproach.

WHICH IS THE HAPPIEST SEASON?
At a festive party of old and young, the question was asked—"Which season of the year is most happy?" After being freely discussed by the guests, it was referred for answer to the host, upon whom was the burden of foregone years.

What it is to have a Husband.
Charlotte, said an elderly lady to her niece, "if you are not more reserved in your manners, you will never get married."

FREE PASSES.—A fireman of the N. York Central Railroad asked the Superintendent for a pass, which he declined to give saying—"the company employ you and pay you so much for your services, and there are no trade ends. If you were at work for a farmer for a dollar a day, and wanted to go to Saratoga, would you expect him to hitch up his team and take you there for nothing?"

Married life says the New York Pick, often begins with rosewood and ends with pine. Think of that, my dears, before you furnish your parlors.

THE PASSION FOR DISPLAY.
The world is crazy. The call for show—show—and still show. There is not one person in a thousand, male or female, who dares fall back on nothing but their real simple self for a power by whose aid to get through the world, and extract enjoyment as he goes along.

THE LOVE OF HOME.
It is only shallow-minded pretenders who make either distinguished origin a matter of personal merit, or obscure origin a matter of personal reproach.

WHICH IS THE HAPPIEST SEASON?
At a festive party of old and young, the question was asked—"Which season of the year is most happy?" After being freely discussed by the guests, it was referred for answer to the host, upon whom was the burden of foregone years.

What it is to have a Husband.
Charlotte, said an elderly lady to her niece, "if you are not more reserved in your manners, you will never get married."

FREE PASSES.—A fireman of the N. York Central Railroad asked the Superintendent for a pass, which he declined to give saying—"the company employ you and pay you so much for your services, and there are no trade ends. If you were at work for a farmer for a dollar a day, and wanted to go to Saratoga, would you expect him to hitch up his team and take you there for nothing?"

Married life says the New York Pick, often begins with rosewood and ends with pine. Think of that, my dears, before you furnish your parlors.

THE PASSION FOR DISPLAY.
The world is crazy. The call for show—show—and still show. There is not one person in a thousand, male or female, who dares fall back on nothing but their real simple self for a power by whose aid to get through the world, and extract enjoyment as he goes along.

THE LOVE OF HOME.
It is only shallow-minded pretenders who make either distinguished origin a matter of personal merit, or obscure origin a matter of personal reproach.

WHICH IS THE HAPPIEST SEASON?
At a festive party of old and young, the question was asked—"Which season of the year is most happy?" After being freely discussed by the guests, it was referred for answer to the host, upon whom was the burden of foregone years.

What it is to have a Husband.
Charlotte, said an elderly lady to her niece, "if you are not more reserved in your manners, you will never get married."

FREE PASSES.—A fireman of the N. York Central Railroad asked the Superintendent for a pass, which he declined to give saying—"the company employ you and pay you so much for your services, and there are no trade ends. If you were at work for a farmer for a dollar a day, and wanted to go to Saratoga, would you expect him to hitch up his team and take you there for nothing?"

Married life says the New York Pick, often begins with rosewood and ends with pine. Think of that, my dears, before you furnish your parlors.

"Dirty, Lying Dogs."
These dirty lying dogs! was the choice phrase applied by Gov. Chase, in his ratification speech from the State House steps, to all the Democratic assailants of his administration.

"Dirty, Lying Dogs." was the phrase applied at the same time and place, by the Governor, to those who dared to condemn the Gibsonism—the "positive weakness"—of his administration—and there charged that the Democrats had stolen all the money, and the Republicans had none when he knew that the Snelling committees had counted the missing half million, and Gibson had sworn that it was properly in the Treasury, and when he knew some other things besides, which will come out before this election.

"Dirty, Lying Dogs." was the phrase applied at the same time and place, by the Governor, to those who dared to condemn the Gibsonism—the "positive weakness"—of his administration—and there charged that the Democrats had stolen all the money, and the Republicans had none when he knew that the Snelling committees had counted the missing half million, and Gibson had sworn that it was properly in the Treasury, and when he knew some other things besides, which will come out before this election.

"Dirty, Lying Dogs." was the phrase applied at the same time and place, by the Governor, to those who dared to condemn the Gibsonism—the "positive weakness"—of his administration—and there charged that the Democrats had stolen all the money, and the Republicans had none when he knew that the Snelling committees had counted the missing half million, and Gibson had sworn that it was properly in the Treasury, and when he knew some other things besides, which will come out before this election.

What does Gov. Chase want?—What does he mean?
We have on the table before us, the Ohio State Journal, containing Gov. Chase's recent speech at Cincinnati. In the course of that speech, he says: "I WANT TO SEE SLAVERY OVERTHROWN, and I intend to help overthrow it."

To hold property inviolate;
To bear testimony;
To sue and be sued in all State Courts.

To attend the public schools;
To be protected in life, limb and liberty.