Durham Cattle—Question of Color.

FRIEND HARRIS: In answer to interrogatories propounded by H. C. B., in the January number of the Cultivator, I give you the result of my experience as a breeder of Short Horns.

Having purchased some Durham cattle in Kentucky, prior to the sale of the Scioto Importing Company's stock in 1834, my prejudices against white cattle were such that I bought none of that color at the Scioto Co.'s sale. Our purchases were confined to red and brown; and up to the year '46, I think I did not own a single white animal, from that time up to the present, I have owned and bred a number, and have some fine head in my herd at present, numbering in all forty head. And my experience the last five years has satisfied me that there is no difference in hardihood or beef, attributable to color. On the contrary, some of the hardiest and best feeders of my herd are white cattle. They are all treated alike in feed and stabling, of cold nights and in storms; and had there been any marked difference, I should have discovered it. Other than I speak of, there was none. As a general rule, a very thin skinned animal of any collor makes no difference as to this; white cattle are no more subject to thin hides than others.

As to the effect color has on the quality of the flesh, I am not aware that it makes any difference as between reds, roans, or whites. As to blacks I have no experience. You will find coarse handlers and coarse fleshed animals of the same.

I know it is claimed by a majority, perhaps, of tha breeders of fine cattle, that the handling qualities of an animal decide the quality of the flesh. Although a stickler for good handlidg qualities, I confess that I can better judge the quality of the flesh than by the touch.

I know, as a general rule, that good handling qualities denote thrift, good feeders, a propensity as well as capacity to take on flesh; and an animal of this description is certainly more aft to have quality of flesh than a harsh, coarse handler; but that is an infallible test, I have my doubts.

As to the latter question, taking cattle from a colder to a warmer climate; or warmer to colder, unless the extreme is very great, I should think would make but little difference. Durham cattle, taken from here, or from Kentucky, to Louisiana, Mississippi, or Texas, suffer greatly from the change of climate; and experience has proved that perhaps the larger portion of them die from heat before they acclimated.

The change from a warm to a colder climate, I should think would be more congenial to the habits of the Durham; his propensity to take on fat and flesh, with good keep, would enable him to withstand cold better then to endure heat.

GUANO.—In the prosecution of its useful labors the Agricultural Bureau of the Patent Office has published the following instructions for using guano:

"In the application of this valuable manure it is necessary to keep in view its powerful properties, and to exercise great care to prevent its coming into immediate contact with the newly sown seed or the foliage of plants and flowers. It never should be placed in contact with seeds in the process of germination give off a greater or less quantity of carbonic acid and vinegar; and these acids, having strong affinities for the ammonicle portion of the guano, are apt to attract it so powerfully as to check and even destroy vegetation."

FARMERS, NOTE THIS.—In a cloudy morning it is a matter of importance to the farmer to know whether it will be sun-shiny or showery in the afternoon. If the ants have cleaned their holes nicely, and piled up light, it seldoms fails to bring a clear day to the farmer. Spider webs will be very numerous about the tops of the grass and grain, some cloudy mornings, and fifty years observation has shown the writer of this that these little weather guessers seldom fail in their predictions of a fair day.

What I Have Noticed.

I have noticed that all men speak well of a man's virtues when he is dead, and the tomb stones are marked with epitaphs of "good and virtuous." Is there a cemetery where the bad are buried?

I have noticed that the prayers of every selfish man is "forgive us our debts," but he makes every body who owes him pay to the utsermost farthing.

I notice that death is a merciless judge, though not impartial. Every man owes a debt. Death summons the debtor to down the dust in the currency of mortality.

I have noticed that he who thinks every man a rogue, is very certain to see one when he shaves himself. What a rascal Diogones must have been at that rate.

I have noticed that money is the fool's wisdom, the knaves reputation, the wise man's jewel, the rich man's trouble, the poor man's desire, the covetous man's ambition, and the idol of all.

I have noticed that merit is measured by its success.

I have noticed that in order to be a reasonable creature, is is necesssary to be down right mad.

I have noticed that we are always wishing instead of working for fortunes. We are disappointed, and call dame fortune blind. I have noticed that purses hold pennies as well as pounds.

THE WORST OF MURDERERS.—A man named McLean, a resident of Heron Island, New Brunswick, during one of the coldest blowy days of winter, drove his sick wife off her bed and swore he would kill her with the ax he had in his hand if she refused to go. Her son, a boy of sixteen, was absent at school at the time, but hearing of the circumstances, he started in search of his mother and found her within a quarter of a mile of home a frigid corpse. She had attempted to cross on the ice to the main, but her strength was unequal to the task, and thus she perished. McLean has been arrested and lodged in jail to await trial.—Boston Courier.

Luck in Farming.

There are few words oftener upon the lips of a certain class of farmers than LUCK. Smith is a 'lucky dog,' because his corn never rots, never Winter kills, his sheep never get into his rye, and his cows never invade his meadows and orchards. His crops are better than his neighbor's, his butter brings more in the market, and even his wife and children have a more contented look than other people. Everything he touches thrives. What a lucky man Smith is!

Now, the fact is, luck has nothing to do with Smith's success in life. If you watch the man, you will find that every result he reaches is anticipated and planned for, and comes of his own wit and work. It is the legitimate reward of his labors, and it would have been bad luck, if it had turned otherwise.—His corn always comes up, because he always selects the seed himself, and hangs it up by the husks in the garret where it is thoroughly dried. He does not plant until the sun has warmed the soil enough to give the germ an immediate start. He drains his wheat fields with tile, and the water that used to freeze and thaw upon the surface, and throw the roots of the wheat out, and kill them, now passes down into the drains, and runs off. His fields are green and beautiful in the spring, when his neighbors are russet, brown and desolate. His fences are in good repair, and his animals are not made breechy by the continual temptation of dilapidated walls. His wife and children are comfortably clothed and fed, and are not kept in a nontinual fret and worry by husband and father who has no system or energy in his business.—"A time and place for every thing." is his motto carefully carried out. The Shoemaker is always called in when his services are needed, and none of his household get wet feet, catch cold, have lung fever, and run up a doctor's bill of twenty dollars, for want of a cent's worth of leather at the right time and in the right place.

Smith does not believe in luck. He knows that health in the family, and thrift upon the farm depend upon a thousand little things, that many of his neighbors are too lazy or careless to look after. So while they are at the tavern, or loafing in the village, or running a muck in politics, he is looking after these little things, and laying his plans for next year. He has good corn, even in the poorest year, because the soil has the extra manure it needed to bring out good, long, plump, well capped ears. He meant to have 90 bushels to the acre, and he has it, good measure and running over. Talk with him about luck, and he will say to you.

"It's all nonsense. Bad luck is simply a man with his hands in his breeches pockets, and a pipe in his mouth, looking on to see how it will come out. Good luck is a man of pluck to meet difficulties, his sleeves rolled up, and working to make it come out right. He rarely fails. At least I never did."

Smith is right. Attend to your business, and you will have good luck Am. Ag.

☞ There are some sad sights in this world—a city sacked and burnt—a battle field after a great slaughter—a London in the midst of the plague—a ship burning at sea—a family pining in starvation—a jug of molasses wrecked upon the pavement—a pair of irrecoverably damaged pantaloons—but the saddest to us of all is an old bachelor, steadily walking towards his end, his great duties undone, his shirt buttons off, his stockings out at the toes, and nobody to leave his money to. Were we such a man, the mild reproving eyes of a widow or maiden lady would drive us mad. But there is still another hope. Uglier and older men than any of our friends have married beautiful wives, who trained them admirably and spent their money elegantly.

A MEDICAL REVOLUTION?
THE WORLD UNANIMOU

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT

THE GREAT COUNTER IRRITANT

The virtue of disease often makes its way to the internal organs through the pores of the skin. This penetrating Ointment, melting under the hand as it is rubbed in, is absorbed thro' the same channels, and, reaching the seat of inflamation, promptly and invariably subdues it, whether located in the kidneys, the liver, the lungs, or any other important organ. It penetrates the surface to the interior, through the countless tubes that communicate with the skin as summer rain passes into the fevered earth, diffusing its cool and regenerating influence.

Skin Diseases and Glandular Swellings.

Every species of exterior irritation is quickly reduced by the anti-inflammatory action of this Ointment. Angra Eruptions, such as SALT RHEUM, ERYSIPELAS, TETTER RINGWORM, SCALE HEAD, NETTLE RASH, SCABIES (or Itch) &c., die out, to return no more, under its application.—Hospital experience in all parts of the world proves its infallibility in diseases of the skin, the muscles, the joints and the glands.

ULCERS, SORES AND TUMORS.

The effect of this unrivaled external remedy upon Scrofula, and other virulent ulcers and sores, is almost miraculous. It first discharges the poison which produces suppuration and proud flesh, and thus the cures which its healing properties afterward complete are safe as well as permanent.

Wounds, Bruises, Burns and Scalds.

In cases of the fracture of bones, injuries caused by steam explosions, BRUISES, BURNS, SCALDS, RHEUMATISE, STIFFNESS OF THE JOINTS, and contraction of the sinews, it is employed and warmly recommended by the faculty. This marvelous remedy has been introduced by its inventor in person into all the leading Hospitals of Europe, and no private household should be without it.

UNDENIABLE TESTIMONY.

HEALTH OR SICKNESS?

CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

The blood furnishes the material of every bone, muscle, gland and fibre in the human frame. When pure, it secures health to every organ; when corrupt, it necessarily produces disease. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS operate directly upon the elements of the stream of life, neutralizing the principle of diseases, and thus radically curing the malady, whether located in the nerves, the stomach, the liver, the bowels, the muscles, the skin, the brain, or any other part of the system.

Used Throughout The World!

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are equally efficacious in complaints common to the whole human race, and in disorders peculiar to certain climates and localities.

ALARMING DISORDERS.

Dyspepsia, and derangement of the liver, the source of infirmity and suffering, and the cause of innumerable deaths, yield to these curatives, in all cases, however aggravated, acting as a mild purgative, alterative and tonic; they relieve the bowels, purify the fluids, and invigorate the system and the constitution at the same time.

General Weakness---Nervous Complaints.

When all stimulants fail, the renovating and bracing properties of these Pills give firmness to the shaking nerves and enfeebled muscles of the victim of general debility.

DELICATE FEMALES,

All irregularities and ailments incident to the delicate and and sensitive organs of the sex are removed or prevented by a few doses of these mild, but infallible alteratives. No mother who regards the health of her children's health should fail to have them within her reach.

SCIENTIFIC ENDORSEMENTS,

The London "Lancet," the London "Medical Review," and the most eminent of the faculty in Great Britain France and Germany, have eulogized the Pills and their inventor.
