A Novel Courtship.

Three months since, a young Parisian was traveling per railroad in Germany, from Augsburg to Berlin. The cars unlike those here, are divided into compartments, like the inside of a coach.

In the copartments he selected were four other persons, two mammas and two daughters.

The young man fell into a revery, during which the conductor demanded his ticket, when he pretended not to understand German, transacted his business by signs. A moment after, the young ladies commenced conversation.

"This young man is very handsome,' said one.

"Hist, Bertha," said the other with affright.

"Why," she said, "he dosn't know a word of german. We can talk freely —how do you like him?"

"Only ordinary."

"You are difficult. He has a charming figure."

"Oh, he is too pale, and you know I don't love dark."

"And you know I prefer dark to blonde. We have nothing but blonde in Germany, and it is so monotonous and very common place."

"You forgot you are blonde."

"For women, it is different—he has pretty mustachios."

(She is busy with her talk; beside it is no great hurt to speak of mustachios, if they are pretty.)

"Bertha, if your mother should only hear you!"

"I prefer the blond mustachios of Frederick."

"I understand that Frederick is espoused to you. I have no one, and I like this young man."

"But his eyes have no expression."

"You do not know. It is a pity he don't talk German."

"Would you marry a Frenchman?"

"Why not, if he is like this one, and well born?"

"Oh, I can hardly help laughing at him! See, he does not mistrust what we are saying."

The young traveler looked carefully at Bertha, and his resolution was taken.

At a station, the conductor came for the tickets. Our young man in excellent German said:

"Ah, well, you want my ticket. Let me see—it is in my portmonnaie. Yes, here it is."

The effect was startling!

Bertha nearly fainted away, but soon recovered under the polite apologies of the young Frenchman.

They were pleased with each other, and in a few weeks Bertha ratified her good opinion of the young man, and her willingness to mary a Frenchman. They live at Hamburg.

A Conversation with a Senator.'

The following dialogue, between two 'gemmen ob color,' was overheard by a friend, whom it pleased so well that he noted it down at the time. A flashy dressed young darkey was standing on the steps of one of those hotels for which Church street is so famous, when he was accosted by another darkey with:

'Hello, Sam, whar's you bin all dis time?'

'Oh, I bin all ober. Bin trabbelin wid Massa Green.'

'Trabbelin, hab you? Whar you bin trabbelin to?'

'Oh, ebery whar; New Jersey, Philadelfy, Washington, and a hull lot of places.'

'Washington! was you in de house ob Congress dar?'

'Oh, yes; had a short conversation wid a Senator dar.'

'You don't say so. What did he say to you?'

'Why, you see, I was just standing on de steps ob da house ob Congress, when up come de Senator, an sez he: 'What de debil do you want here, you tunder-cloud?'

'Oh, sah,' sez I, 'I heerd dar was to be a fight 'tween de publicans and you fellahs from de Souf, an I came to see it dat's all.'

'De debil you did,' sez he rappin me ober de head wid his cane, 'you leave.'

'An I golly, Pomp, you better b'lieve I left quick enough, for dat cane hurted, it did.'

OUR FUTURE WIVES AND MOTHERS.—In Mrs. Ellis' lecture on the "Future Wives of England," she says:

"My pretty little dears, you are no more fit for matrimony than a pullet is to look after a family of fourteen chickens. The truth is, my dear girls, you want, generally speaking, more liberty and less fashionable restrain; more kitchen and less parlor; more leg exercise and less sofa; more pudding and less piano; more frankness and less mock modesty; more breakfast and less bustle. I like the buxom, bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked, full-breasted, bouncing lass, who can darn stockings, mend her own frocks, mend trowsers, command a regiment of pots and shoot a wild duck as well as the Duchess of Marlboro, or the Queen of Spain, and be a lady withal in the drawing-room. But as for your pining, moping, screwing-up, wasp-wasted, putty faced, music-murdering, novel-devouring daughters of fashion and idleness, with your consumption-soled silk stockings, and calico-shifts, you won't do for the future wives and mothers of England."

As the above is quite as applicable to the modern dolls and drawing room puppet of our own country as well as those of England, we hope it will be extensively read and digested.—N. Y. Weekly.

Genuine Fools.

He who wipes his nose on a nutmeg grater, and picks his teeth with a razor.

She who says 'no' to a proposal of a gentleman when she has teached the age of thirty.

He who gets so drunk at night, that he puts his clothes to bed, and hangs himself on the back of a chair.

He who puts on his hat, and takes his cane, and starts out in pursuit of an honest and disinterested politician.

She who pinches and slaps a child to make it quit bawling.

Gardening for Ladies.

We wish to say a few words, this month to our lady readers about gardening. As we have looked into a few attempts to make home cheerful by cultivating a few house plants. Some of you had the skill and good fortune to make a fine show; others have succeeded but indifferently. The verbenas would dry up, or damp off. The geraniums would drop their yellow leaves and look scrawny; the roses were covered with insects and would not bloom. You had almost begun to lose faith in gardening. But we will say nothing more at present on that point. Spring is now opening and you will undoubtedly succeed better in out door operations. Light, air, moisture and temperature are better regulated by nature than we can manage them.

Our little sermon to you, now, is suggested by the sight of the early bulbs just peeping up in the warm border on the south side of our dwelling. The snow drop and crocus are beginning to show their blossom buds; and daffodils, hyacinths, and tulips are coming up, ready to flower in their turn. And yet, not far away are snow banks. Why should not this sheltered spot be as it one of our family pets? Here Spring shows herself first, and here Autumn lingers latest. We therefore advise you to seek out a warm corner like this, under a high, tight fence, or a wall, or the protected side of your house, and make a bed there for early bulbs. In this neighborhood, also it might be well to put a few early shrubs, such as Mazereon, Japan Quince, Flowering Almond, and these might be planted now. It is too late, however, to set out bulbs for Spring flowering; but now, while your mind is upon it, secure the spot for planting in the Fall. Such a spot as this is an excellent one, also, for setting out late flowering plants, which would be injured by the frosts of Autumn, if growing in the open garden. Last Fall, we had Chinese Chrysanthemums flowering in our border, after nearly every other plant in other situations had been killed by the cold.

Now is the time, also, to prepare for improvements in your your grounds at large. Have you a front yard? Trim up those lilacks, prune out the dead branches of those rose bushes, and tie up the remainder to neat stakes. Persuade husband or brother to hoe out the weeds from the falks, and to dig up all thistles and foul stuffs from the grass-plat. A little pure grass-seed and white clover scattered over the ground will do no harm, especially, if a light dressing of old composit is added, and the whole is raked off smooth and neat. Of course, you want some flowers in your front yard. But we could not advise you to set herbaceous perennials there, or to sow annuals. The latter are a long while coming into bloom, and the former after they have flowered, begin to die down and to look shabby. Set this kind of flowers in a garden by themselves, a little aside your front lawn.—But prepare a border by the side of your walks, in front of the house, for such plants as bloom all the season, and whose foliage is always fresh. Or, in place of a formal border, cut out circular beds (or those or any fanciful shape,) in the grass near the walks, and fill them with the plants last mentioned. Of these, the best are verbenas, petunias, scarlet geraniums, helitropes, lantanas, pyrethrum, &c. Any or all of these can be got at low rates, of the florists in your neighborhood. Their perpetual bloom will repay well all their cost.—You can exercise much skill and taste in arranging colors. Blue contrasts finally with white; stradge with purple; white with pink, scarlet, &c., &c. But why should we attempt to teach ladies anything about arrangement of colors! They will, however, let us advise them to keep the grass of the lawn shaven smooth all summer, in order to get the full beauty of this stole of gardening.

THE PERFUME OF THE
WESTERN HEMISPHERE
FRESH FROM LIVING FLOWERS.

MURRAY AND LANMANS
FLORIDA WATER.

This rare perfume and cosmetic is prepared from TROPICAL FLOWERS of surpassing fragrance, without any admixture of coarse essential oils, which form the staple of many "Essences" and "Extracts for the Toilet." Its Aroma is as inexhaustable as that of the "Farina Cologne," and as fresh and delicate as the breath of LIVING BLOSSOMS.

What are its Antecedents!

For twenty years it has maintained its ascendency over all other perfumes throughout Cuba, South America and the West Indies. It has been introduced into the United States, in response to the earnest demand growing out of its SOUTHERN REPUTATION. A cure for HEADACHE AND FAINTNESS!

As an odor for the handkerchief, it is as delicious as the "Otto of Roses." It lends freshness and transparency to the complexion; and removes headache and faitness.

and require no Mercury to be taken before or after them. They do their work more thoroughly than any of the nauseous Vermifuges of the day.

THE PRIMARY CAUSE OF DEATH

is considered by the most distinguished Physicians, to be worms among children. It is scarcely necessary, therefore, to put mothers on their guard against this insidious complaint or to recommend them to take prompt steps to remove it by the use of the only true remedy, KEMP'S PASTILLES, presented in such a palatable form, that children take them eagerly without coaxing. Nothing is more desirable to such Patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation but a barefaced Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits—in one of which the patient may expire. Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases—

INSANITY and CONSUMPTION?

The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. The countenance is actually sadden and quite destitute—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

A MEDICAL REVOLUTION?
THE WORLD UNANIMOU

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

THE GREAT COUNTER IRRITANT

The virtue of disease often makes its way to the internal organs through the pores of the skin. This penetrating Ointment, melting under the hand as it is rubbed in, is absorbed into the same channels, and, reaching the seat of inflamation, promply and invariably subdues it whether located in the kidneys, the liver, the lungs, or any other important organ. It penetrates the surface to the interior, through the countless tubes that communicate with the skin as summer rain passes into the fevered earth diffusing its cool and regenerating influence.

Skin Diseases and Glandular Swellings.

Every species of exterior irritation is quickly reduced by the anti-inflamatory action of this Ointment. Angra Eruptions, such as SALT RHEUM, ERYSIPELAS, TETTER RINGWORM, SCALD HEAD, NETTLE RASH, SCABIES (or Itch) &c., die out, to return no more, under its application.—Hospital experience in all parts of the world proves its infallibility in diseases of the skin the muscles, the joints and the glands.

ULCERS, SORES AND TUMORS.

The effect of this unrivaled external remedy upon Scrofula, and other virulent ulcers and sores, is all but miraculous. It first discharges the poison which produces suppuration and proud flesh, and thus the cures which its healing properties afterward complete are safe as well as permanent.

Wounds, Bruises, Burns and Scalds.

In cases of the fracture of bones, injuries caused by steam explosions, Bruises, Burns, Scalds Rheumatism, Stiffness of the Joints, and contraction of the sinews, it is employed and warmly recommended by the faculty. This marvelous remedy has been introduced by its inventor to person into all the leading Hospitals of Europe and no private household should be without it.

UNDENIABLE TESTIMONY.

The Medical Staff of the French and English Armies in the Crimea have officially signed their approval of Holloway's Ointment, as the most reliable dressing for sabre cuts, stabs, and gun shot wounds. It is also used by the surgeons of the Allied Navies.

Both the Ointment and the Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bunions, Mercurial Eruptions, Swelled Glands, Burns, Piles, Sore Legs, Stiff Joints, Chapped Hands, Rheumatism,
