A Good Whitewash.

As this is the season of the year when people begin to clean up; and make things look fresh for the approaching summer, we copy from the last Scientific American the following in respect to the best and cheapest whitewashes, for the inside of houses:—

"Take half a bushel of fresh-burned white lime, and slack it, either with hot or cold water, in a tub or barrel. When thoroughly slacked, dissolve in the water required to thin the lime, 2 quarts of common salt, stir it thoroughly, add one quart of sweet milk, and it is ready for use to put on with a brush."

This wash is for the outside of buildings, fences, &c., and is very durable.—Some put glue in whitewash, and others flour and rice paste; but this render it liable to scale off in very dry weather.

The above wash may be made a cream color, by the addition of ochre.

The above whitewash is all that can be desired for the interior of houses, excepting the salt, which must be omitted, as it tends to imbibe moisture. French white is superior to lime washes for the ceilings of rooms, as it is not so liable to turn yellowish in order, but it rubs off so easily that it cannot be used for side walls.

The Yankee and the Fox Skin.

"Mornin' Squire," said a down easter, giving a nod and a wink to Lyman & Towel, as those gentlemen stood in their store one morning, "up and dressed" for business.

"How are you, sir?" said the merchants.

"Poorty well, considering the state of things in general. I say, yeou sell skins here, don't yeou?"

"We do, occasionally was the response."

"Wall, so I calkelated; buy fox skins tew, I reckon?"

"Sometimes. Why, have you got some for sale?"

"Some. Yes, I guess I have one; its tew, I tell you."

"Let's look at it," said one of the merchants.

The owner of the skin tugged at the capacious pocket in his yellow overcoat a few minutes, and out came a pretty good sized hang-up of a venerable reynard.

"There it is, a perfect bewty it is tew. Ain't it?"

"Seen finer ones," said Towel.

"Praps yeou have, and praps yeon haint; but I dew think its a rale bewty, slick and shiny as a bran new hat."

"When did you get this skin?" said the merchant.

"When did I get it? Why, when I killed the darn'd critter, of course."

"Yes, we know, but was it in the fall or summer, or when?"

"Oh! yes; well I reckon 'twarn't far from the Fourth of July, any way, for I'd just cleaned up my old shootin' piece for p'rade on the glorious anniversary, and along comes the old critter, and I just give him a rip in the gizzard that settled his hash mighty sudden, I tell yeou."

"Fox skins," said the merchant, are not very good when taken in hot weather—the fur and hair is very thin, and not fit for much in the summer."

"Wal, neow, I reckon, since I come to think it over, 'twarnt hot weather when I shot the critter; no, I'll be darned if it was; made a thunderin mistake 'bout that for twas nigh on to Christmas, was, by golley, for I and Seth Peurkins were goin' to a frolic. I remember it like a book, cold as sixty, snowin' awful—was by ginger."

"Well," says the merchant, "was the fox very fat?"

"Fat? Oh! Molly, warn't it fat!—Never did see such a fat feller in all my born days." Why yeou, the fat came clean through the feller's hide, run down the fellers legs till the very airth was greasy where the darn'd varmint crawled along. Did, by Peurkins."

"Too fat, then, we guess, to be good," said Towle. "Fat skins, sir, are not good as those taken from an animal not more than ordinarily fat."

"Wal, guess it warn't so darn'd fat, nuther, come to think about it. 'twas another fox our Siah shot last fall; this critter warn't so darn'd fat, not overly fat fact I guess it was rather lean; kind o' lean, tree-men-jous lean; poor old varmint was about to die of pure starvation; never did see such a darn'd eternal starved, lean, lank, famished critter, on the Lord's airth before!"

"Very poor, ch?" says Lyman.

"Very poor? I guess it was; so almighty poor that the old critter's bones stuck clean, cout, almost through his skin hadn't killed it just when I did, 'twould hev died afore it got ten rods further along. Fact, by golly!

"Ah well," said the merchants, "we see that the skin is poor, the fur is thin and loose, and would not suit us."

"Wunt suit yew? Now, look ahere yeou," says the Yankee, folding up his versatile skin, "I don't kind o' like such dealin' as that, ef ye ketch me tradin' for skins with yeou again, there ain't no lumber in the State of Maine."

And the holder of the skin vamosed.

☞A Smart People.—Not long ago, writes a correspondent of the Kincerbocker, an attorney with considerable "swell," but not much brains, came to C——, in Ohio, to "locate." One day when the post-office was full, waiting the distribution of the mail, a half-witted fellow stepped up to him in the crowd, and said:

"Mr. S——' I'm told you have come here to practice law."

"Yes, I have."

Well, you will find it a first rate location. I hadn't lived here four months before I was sued ten times."

"Well, it seems to me I could live here for years without being sued at all."

"I presume you could," said our half-witted friend; "people here are pretty darned smart; they don't sue a fellow without he's good for the costs!"

☞What is fashion? A beautiful envelope for mortality, presenting a beautiful and polished exterior, the appearance of which gives no certain indication of the real value of what is contained within.

A Wonderful Liar.

An Englishman traveling on the Mississippi, told some rather tough stories about London thieves. A Cincinnati chap named Case heard these narratives with a silent and expressive umph, and then remarked that he thot the Western thieves beat the London operators all hollow.

"How so?" inquierd the Englishman with surprise. "Pray, sir, have you lived much in the West?"

"Not a great deal. I undertook to set up business at Des Moines Rapids; awhile ago; but the rascally people stole nearly everything I had, and finally a Welsh miner ran off with my wife."

'Gracious!' said the Englishman, "and have you never found her?'

'Never to this day. But that was not the worst of it.'

'Worst! What could be worse than stealing a man's wife?'

'Stealing the children. I should say,' said the implicable Case.

'Children?'

'Yes. A nigger woman, who had none of her own, abducting my youngest daughter, and sloped and joined the Injuns.'

'Did you see her?'

'See her? Yes. She hadn't ten rods the start of me; but plunged into the lake and swam off like a duck, and there wasn't a canoe to follow her with.'

The Englishman leaned back in his chair and called for another mug of 'ale and 'alf, while Case smoked his cigar.

'I shan't go any farther West. I think,' at length observed the excited John Bull.

'I should not advise any one to go,' said Case, quietly. 'My brother once lived there, but he had to leave, although his business was the best in the country.'

'What business was he in, pray?'

'Lumbering—had a saw mill.'

'And they stole his lumber?'

'Yes, and saw logs, too.'

'Saw logs?'

'Yes: whole dozens of black walnut logs were spirited away or carried off in a single night. True, upon my honor, sir. He tried every way to prevent it; and hired men to watch his logs, but it was no use. They would steal them out of the cove and even out of the railways.'

'Good gracious.'

'Just to give an idea how they steal out there,' sending a sly wink to the listening company, 'just to give you an idea—did you ever work in a saw mill?'

'Never.'

'Well, one day my brother bought an all-fired black-walnut log, four feet three at the butt, and not a knot in it. He was determined to keep that log anyhow, and hired two canny Scotchmen to watch it all night. Well, they took a small demijohn of whiskey with them, snaked the log up the side of the hill above the mill, built a fire and then sat down to play keerds, just to keep them awake, you see. 'Twas a monstrous big log, bark two inches thick. Well, as I was saying, they played keerds and drank whiskey all night, and it began to grow light, went-a-straddle of the log. About a minute after daylight George went over to the mill to see how they were getting on, and the log was gone.'

'What were the Scotchmen doing?'

Sitting on the bark. The thieves had drove an iron wedge into the buttend, which pointed down hill, and hitched a yoke of oxen and pulled it right out, leaving the shell, and the Scotchers sitting astride of it fast asleep!'

The Englishman here rose, dropped his cigar stump into the spittoon, looked at his watch, and said he thought he'd go on deck and see how far we'd be down the river before morning.

☞An indignant boy applied for alms at the house of an avaricious rector, and received a dry mouldy crust.—The rector inquired of the boy if he could say the Lord's prayer, and was answered in the negative.

"Then," said the rector, "I will teach you that now. Our Father!"

"Our Father!" said the boy, "is he my father as well as yours?"

"Yes, certainly."

"Then," asked the boy, "how could you give your brother this mouldy crust of bread?"

A MEDICAL REVOLUTION?
THE WORLD UNANIMOU

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT
THE GREAT COUNTER IRRITANT

The virtue of disease often makes its way to the internal organs through the pores of the skin. This penetrating Ointment, melting under the hand as it is rubbed in, is absorbed through the same channels, and, reaching the seat of inflamation, promply and invariably subdues it whether located in the kidneys, the liver, the lungs, or any other important organ. It penetrates the surface to the interior, through the countless tubes that communicate with the skin as summer rain passes into the fevered earth, diffusing its cool and regenerating influence.

Skin Diseases and Glandular Swellings.

Every species of exterior irritation is quickly reduced by the anti-inflammatory action of this Ointment. Angra ERUPTIONS, such as SALT RHEUM, ERYSIPELAS, TETTER RINGWORM, SCALD HEAD, NETTLE RASH, SCABIES (or Itch) &c., die out, to return no more, under its application.—Hospital experience in all parts of the world proves its infallibility in diseases of the skin the muscles, the joints and the glands.

ULCERS, SORES AND TUMORS.

The effect of this unrivaled external remedy upon Scrofula, and other virulent ulcers and sores, is almost miraculous. It first discharges the poison which produces suppuration and proud flesh, and thus the cures which its healing properties afterward complete are safe as well as permanent.

Wounds, Bruises, Burns and Scalds.

In cases of the fracture of bones, injuries caused by steam explosions, BRUISES, BURNS, SCALDS RHEUMATISM, STIFFNESS OF THE JOINTS, and contraction of the sinews, it is employed and warmly recommended by the faculty. This marvelous remedy has been introduced by its inventor in person into all the leading Hospitals of Europe and no private household should be without it.

UNDENIABLE TESTIMONY.

The Medical Staff of the French and English Armies in the Crimea have officially signed their approval of Holloway's Ointment, as the most reliable dressing for sabre cuts, stabs, and gun shot wounds. It is also used by the surgeons of the Allied Navies.

Both the Ointment and the Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bunions, Mercurial Eruptions, Swelled Glands, Burns, Piles, Sore Legs, Stiff Joints, Chapped Hands, Rheumatism, Sore Breasts, Sprains, Tetter, Chilblains, Ringworm, Ulcers, Fistula, Salt Rheum, Sore Throats, Gout, Venereal Sores, Scalds, Sores of all kinds, Wounds of all kinds, Lumbago, Skin Diseases,

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

The blood furnishes the material of every bone, muscle, gland and fibre in the human frame. When pure, it secures health to every organ; when corrupt, it necessarily produces disease. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS operate directly upon the elements of the stream of life, neutralizing the principle of diseases, and thus radically curing the malady, whether located in the nerves, the stomach, the liver, the bowels, the muscles, the skin, the brain, or any other part of the system.

Used Throughout The World!

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are equally efficacious in complaints common to the whole human race, and in disorders peculiar to certain climates and localities.

ALARMING DISORDERS.

Dyspepsia, and derangement of the liver, the source of infirmity and suffering, and the cause of innumerable deaths, yield to these curatives, in all cases, however aggravated, acting as a mild purgative, alterative and tonic; they relieve the bowels, purify the fluids, and invigorate the system and the constitution at the same time.

General Weakness—Nervous Complaints.

When all stimulants fail, the renovating and bracing properties of these Pills give firmness to the shaking nerves and enfeebled muscles of the victim of general debility.

DELICATE FEMALES.

All irregularities and ailments incident to the delicate and and sensitive organs of the sex are removed or prevented by a few doses of these mild, but infallible alteratives. No mother who regards her own or her children's health should fail to have them within her reach.

SCIENTIFIC ENDORSEMENTS.

The London "Lancet," the London "Medical Review," and the most eminent of the faculty in Great Britain France and Germany, have eulogized the Pills and their inventor.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy known in the world for the following diseases:
