THE MAKING OF THE COX CODE

bate of Tuesday, served to accent one result of this extraordinary session, the most marked result perhaps after the passage of the code itself. Never before has Mr. Cox of Cincinnati been brought forward in the limelight of publicity as he has during this session, which resulted in the Legislature doing absolutely the will of this unofficial but all powerful personage. Never before have the methods by which Mr. Cox dominates the government of Cincinnati and the ways in which he works his will through Republican Legislatures and the Republican party of the State been so clearly outlined for the benefit of the interested and intelligent voters of the State. In no past session of the Assembly and in no past Legislature has it been so easy to trace results back to causes as on this occasion, when the interests of every municipal government of Ohio were at stake. And at no time in the past has it been so clearly demonstrated that members of the majority party in Ohio, who are sent to the Legislature to represent their constituents, feel themselves compelled to yield policy, principle and conviction when these run counter to the determination of Senator Hanna, Mr. Cox and other leaders.

The people of the State saw the members of the House reject the provisions of the Nash board plan code and draft a measure of their own, carefully and well, a bill whose system of single elective heads of departments was undoubtedly the most popular of any suggested at this session. In deference to the wishes of Mr. Cox the people saw their legislators sacrifice this code and reverse their action. In deference to the wishes of Senator Hanna they saw even the optional provision for the organization of cities which Mr. Cox who cared for nothing but his political interests in Cincinnati, was willing to have left in the code, eliminated. And the people saw the Republican members of the House accept and enact with their votes the result which these same members did not hesitate to denounce as an imposition and an outrage upon their constituents. Never was a clearer demonstration.

Politicians who recognize these facts are watching with intense interest for the political outcome. If the people make no protest the precedent set at this special session will certainly be followed in future assemblies. It is a simple and easy method, much more effective and straightforward than those hitherto employed by political dictators to secure the enactment of their will by the Legislature. For heretofore it has been considered necessary to resort to subterfuges that would at least leave the impression that the result was the work of the people themselves and their representatives. The direct method is preferable to the politicians. They will adopt it unless trouble at the polls and in convention warns them to be more cautious in the future. In a measure the people will express their opinion of the innovation at the polls this fall. But with greater interest the leaders are waiting for the next Republican State convention and the Legislative campaign of next fall. Mr. Cox, who is conceded to be responsible for the present code, will come before the next Republican State convention prominently as usual and probably with several candidates for places on the ticket. The treatment he and his candidates receive will measure the willingness of the Republicans of Ohio to submit to his further dictation.

BLOOD
And Rumors of a Murder Stirred Up the Police For a Time.

Benjamin Kimball Arrested For Assault and Battery.

Reports that came to Police headquarters last night from White Pond hotel, led the officers to believe for a time that murder had been committed, and when they went out there the appearance of great blotches of blood at certain points about the place strengthened their first belief, though subsequent observation led them to believe differently.

Benjamin Kimball, who lives at the hotel, was arrested and charged with assault and battery. His opponent, who was also the man who lost so much blood, was Robert Turner, of Copley. Kimball stated when arraigned in Police court, Thursday that Turner had been to Akron and had sold a load of hay. He went to the White Pond road house on his way home, stopped there and began drinking. Kimball states that he offered no trouble to Turner.

"I was standing on the porch," he said, "and suddenly Turner rushed out of the door, and struck me on the back of the head. He was drunk and had had trouble in the saloon. I fell senseless and when I got my senses I felt that he was still pounding me. I reached out and got hold of a galvanized iron trough from which the chickens at the place drink. I got on my feet and hit him with that." Turner had a deep scalp wound and bled profusely. Many stitches were required to close the wound. Kimball's face is scratched and bruised. Turner did not appear against Kimball Thursday and the case was continued for another day.

juries were attended to at once, and an effort was made to find out where the missile could have come from. Some time later it was ascertained that at the iron yards of Emermatt Brothers, at the corner of Broadway and Chestnut sts., men were at work breaking up old iron with dynamite, and it is believed that the fragment came way from there, a distance of at least a quarter of a mile.

LANTERN SLIDES AGAIN THIS YEAR

Camera Club Makes Plans For Interesting Lesson.

A business meeting was held by the Camera club, Tuesday evening, and the matter of remaining in the American Lantern Slide Interchange was considered. It was unanimously decided to be represented in the exchange next year, and a director of slides was chosen. The club will be required to furnish a set of slides by Nov. 15th, and each member who will contribute to the set is urged to make several slides from his best negatives as soon as possible and bring them to the club. A testing will be given them in the near future.

About a dozen new members were reported by the Board of Directors and added to the roll. The Executive committee has prepared programs for the meetings until Jan. 1, as follows:
October 28—"Elementary Lessons in Photography—Development" with demonstrations, George F. Kunz, J. Dwight Palmer, Chas. E. Smith.

December 9—Christmas Card Contest, prize, Photographic Annual, cloth bound, presented by Dr. J. L. Lee.

HARD COAL
The First Akron Has Seen For a Long Time.

Four cars, filled with "black diamonds," passed through the city Thursday morning over the Erie. This is the first hard coal that has gone through Akron for some considerable time. The coal attracted much attention at the Union depot but the presence of the depot policeman prevented any of the curious from getting specimens of the anthracite for souvenirs.

WOMEN
Were Ordered to Leave Akron.

Police Claim They Stabbed Wm. Robinson.

It is probable that after Friday night, the names of Helen English and Hattie Smith will no longer have a rightful place in the Akron directory, for in Police court Thursday morning they were given until they get out of town. Otherwise, fines of $25 and costs each and 90 day workhouse sentences will be imposed.

The charge against them was intoxicated. It was claimed that they became intoxicated in a down town saloon last night, where they were in company with William Robinson, and that they had a quarrel which resulted in one of the women stabbing Robinson in the back. Robinson, who was arrested at the same time for intoxication, showed a small cut in his coat where he claimed he had been stabbed. He was not hurt.

All three at first pleaded not guilty, but they changed their minds and their pleas, a little later. Prosecutor Wells urged that some disposition be made of the cases which would rid Akron of both women. He stated that he believed that Akron would be better without them. Both women promised to go, and afterward broke down and cried bitterly. Robinson was fined $2 and costs.

SHORT ILLNESS
Resulted In Charles O'Neill's Death.

Was Well-Known In Akron as a Contractor.

Charles O'Neill, the well known local contractor, died at his home, 146 South High st., Thursday morning, of stomach trouble, after an illness of two weeks. It was not thought until almost at the last that the illness would have a fatal result. Mr. O'Neill was born in Ireland 45 years ago, and had been a resident of Akron for 21 years. As a contractor in grading and sewer digging he made many friends and was known as a man of great natural intelligence and energy. He leaves a wife and four sons, John, Charles, Patrick and Michael. The funeral will be held from St. Vincent's church Saturday morning. Interment in St. Vincent's cemetery. The local branch of the C. K. of O., of which Mr. O'Neill was a member, will probably attend the funeral in a body.

HAD NO DESIRE FOR RUNNING

Officer Heckathorne's Gun Caused Him to Stand Still.

"Where is your partner?" asked the Mayor of George Barnes, of Painesville, who was in Police court for clinging to a moving train.
"He ran away when the policeman got me."
"Why didn't you run, too?" asked the Mayor.
"Think I'm going to run with a big gun pointed at me?" asked Barnes.
Officer Heckathorne arrested Barnes, who is but 20 years old. He gave several references, and if they are found to be reliable, the boy will be released and permitted to go home.

ALICE ROOSEVELT IS NOT ENGAGED

Washington, Oct. 23.—There is no truth the story wired from Little Rock, Ark., last night to several eastern papers that Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the President, is engaged to marry John Greenway, the former rough rider.

WIFE
Gathered Coal to Cook With, And Bought the Children's Clothing, Though Husband Admits He Earns $15 Weekly.

Mayor Doyle can usually be relied upon to "go after" a man who is found guilty in Police court of non-support. Henry Bergdorf, who was tried Thursday morning, found this out, for he was fined $25 and costs and will spend 30 days in the Cleveland workhouse. In addition to this he was obliged to listen to an arraignment of himself that was thorough, to say the least. Mrs. Bergdorf, with her two small children, was in court, and testified against her husband. She stated that she has been obliged to gather coal on the railway tracks, and clothe the two children out of the money she earns by taking in washing, though her husband testified that he earns $15 a week.

ARBITRATION
Board Will Begin Work Tomorrow.

Judge Gray Will Be Named Chairman.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of Labor and recorder of the Coal Strike Arbitration Board, which is to meet in this city tomorrow morning, today made public the details for the preliminary meeting as agreed upon between President Roosevelt and himself. The Commissioners will assemble at the temporary White House at 10 a. m. Recorder Wright will call the meeting to order. A message from President Roosevelt, in writing, will be submitted, and organization will follow. Judge Gray will be elected chairman.

Talked of Shakespearean Play and Characters.

The New Century club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Herbert Hale, 584 East Buchtel ave. The president, Mrs. Smith, with the delegate, Miss Hillis, being in attendance at the meeting of the state Federation, in Toledo, Mrs. Bruner, the vice president, occupied the chair.

The subject for study was Shakespeare's "Coriolanus." Miss Scott told of the circumstances leading up to the play and gave a good synopsis of the same. Mrs. Kratz read an interesting character sketch of Volturnia, Coriolanus' Mother, who she said was Shakespeare's ideal of a Roman matron. Mrs. Wilson told of Virginia, Coriolanus' wife, a true, sweet, womanly woman. Mrs. Ella Allen explained the divisions and officers of the Roman army and gave short character sketches of Philip Sidney and Sir Walter Raleigh. The club adjourned to meet with Miss Hillis, Nov. 12.

Piano Bargains Going Fast
At the A. B. Smith Clearing Out Sale of Pianos Returned From His Outside Agencies That He Has Discontinued.
Easy Payments If Desired.

To Piano Buyers:
My announcement yesterday of this great clearing-out sale of good pianos at the greatest of bargain prices brought out an unusually large number of buyers.
I gave the reason for this sale, and I mean every word of it. It is no wonder that the first days of the sale were largely attended and many pianos sold, for I always advertise facts.
Many of the pianos that I am bringing in from the agencies I have closed up are shop-worn, but they are new, and we are selling them at less than wholesale cost. In addition, we decided to place the entire stock on sale, and have marked every piano at prices that will astonish you. You can actually save from $75 to $125 by buying a piano from us now.
Four new and pretty cased upright pianos, former price, $250 and $275; take your choice at $126, $142 and $168, $15 cash and $6 a month buys them.
Several new and thoroughly reliable upright pianos, various makes and finishes, former prices $275 to $300. $80 price, $172 to $187; $15 cash and $7 a month takes one.
We ship anywhere to reliable people on the easy payment plan.
The very best makes of $375 to $450 pianos are marked to clear out at the remarkably low figures of $217, $223 to $287—$25 cash and $10 a month buys any piano in the house.
Used upright pianos from $48 to $110. See them. They are great bargains. The stock will not last long at the rate they were sold in the first two days. Sale now going on at my store, 220 South Main st., Akron. Store open evenings.
