RESIGNED.

Henry M. Hagelbarger
Will Practice Law.

Has Been Court Stenographer More Than Seven Years.

Henry M. Hagelbarger, for the past seven and a half years official court stenographer, has handed in his resignation, to take effect Sept. 11, the first day of the Fall term of Common Pleas court.

Mr. Hagelbarger, who is a member of the Summit County Bar Association, will take up the practice of law. He will have an office with Young & Wanamaker, at 182 South Main st.

The announcement of Mr. Hagelbarger's resignation will be received with general regret by all those who have known him in his official capacity. He has been uniformly courteous, efficient and obliging. His start in professional life begins with the best wishes of his friends, and they are legion.

Wilford H. Collins, of the Aultman, Miller & Co. office, is a candidate to succeed Mr. Hagelbarger and it is generally believed that he will be appointed. The position pays $1,450 per year and the appointment is for three years.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for testimonials, free.

And This Explains How at Last it is Possible to Cure Disease of the Stomach.

USUAL STORY OF THE DISEASE.

In many cases diseases of the nose and throat, if neglected and unchecked, instead of extending down into the bronchial tubes, extend along the oesophagus, or swallow, into the stomach.
The mucous discharge is dropped in the throat from the back part of the nose, and in the daytime is hawked and expelled.
At night this nauseating material still continues to drop into the throat.

It first collects in the pharynx, then it is brought into contact with the foul and impure air from the lungs and is mixed with the germs of decay.
Decomposition results, and in this condition the vile material is swallowed while sleep and goes to the stomach.
The decomposing discharges so swallowed are poisons—not deadly ones, but poisons nevertheless—which act slowly but surely, undermining the patient's constitution.

The thousands of little glands situated in the lining are free to pour out the juices that are needed to digest the food in the healthy stomach.
With disease attacking the lining of the stomach, the little glands are choked up by the swelling, and their exit is blocked by the sticky mucus which has resulted from the inflammation.

As a consequence there are not enough digestive juices formed and poured out into the cavity of the stomach.
The food, not having the necessary materials to dissolve it, lies in the stomach like lead.

Instead of being converted into nourishment for the blood, it is changed into poisonous gases, which distend the stomach, dilating it so that the organs press upward on the heart and lungs.
This causes a sense of smothering, relief from which is only obtained by belching up the gas, or its passages along the bowels, where it causes a sense of distension and rumbling.

There is nausea and sometimes vomiting in the morning, with hawking and gagging upon arising, and it requires quite an effort to free the stomach of the mass of mucus that has accumulated in it during the night.

In some cases there is waterbrash or heartburn, with constipation to complicate matters.
The old plan of doctoring for stomach troubles consisted in purges and emetics.
Drugs that irritated or inflamed the stomach.
Drugs that increased the suffering rather than allayed it.

Under the Ramsey treatment the inflamed and diseased lining of the stomach is first soothed and quieted by the use of proper remedies.

The sore and inflamed spots are healed, and the lining of the organ is restored to its wonted tone and healthy condition.

Under this plan healing drugs quiet the sore and inflamed spots that have been throwing out quantities of sticky, slimy mucus that is mixed with the food and has coated it over, thus preventing the gastric juices from dissolving and digesting it.

When once healed, the lining of the stomach is enabled to serve the purpose that nature intended it to serve.
The hawking and spitting in the morning becomes less, the appetite for breakfast returns, there is no more nausea where there should be desire for food, the heartburn or waterbrash pass away, the bloating in the stomach after taking food gives place to the pleasant sense of fullness that accompanies the taking of a full meal.

The foul gases that were belched up are no longer formed and the bowels become regular.
The entire system experiences new vigor from the abundance of nourishment absorbed into the blood, where foul poisons had been previously offered it.
