YOUNG AMERICA.

A Number of Boys Experiment With Natural Gas With Disastrous Result. WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 14.—A natural gas explosion at Mt. Morris seriously injured a number of boys. The little fellows had rigged up an old feed-cutter and placed it in an abandoned building. Natural gas was brought through a pipe laid from a well near by, the pipe being placed so that the escaping gas would strike a fan wheel and put the cutter in motion. Five boys, named Donnelly, Fox, South and Barris, visited the building in the evening to see how the thing worked. The gas was turned on, and one of the boys, whose curiosity was not satisfied, struck a match to further inspect the new invention. In an instant there was a flash and an explosion. The feed-cutter was blown to pieces and the flames spread so quickly that the boys had to make their way through the fire to escape. They were all terribly burned about their heads and faces, but it is thought none were fatally injured.

Miner's injuries are most fatal, as it is thought he is also hurt internally. The men presented a sickening sight when assistance arrived. The mill property was not damaged.

Armed Forces for Hours Battling in the Streets.

Barrieraes From Which Deadly Volleys are Poured, Until the Eversoles are Driven to the Mountains.

HAZARD, Ky., Nov. 15.—The circuit court convened on Monday, the 11th inst. Judge Lilly, the regular judge, not being present, the Bar elected Captain W. L. Hurst, of Wolfe County, to preside. There was a good crowd in attendance, and every thing started off serenely, with apparently no danger of trouble. It soon became apparent that the Eversole faction, the leader of the Eversole faction, came into town on Monday evening before court with fifteen armed men, but as most of them were under bond to appear at this term of court, nothing was thought of it. The Eversole party kept increasing in numbers until it reached thirty well-armed men. There were only a few of the French party in town. It soon became apparent that there would be trouble. French was aware of the warlike preparations, and placed himself, with a strong force, in easy reach of town, so as to be able to relieve his friends in event of trouble. Thursday evening Wesley Whittaker, of the Eversole faction, fired upon Henry Davidson, of the French party, who was standing in the door of the jailor's residence, a few yards from the court house. Whittaker had barred himself in a small log house on the opposite side of the street. Davidson was soon joined by Tom and Bill Smith and others. Whittaker in the mean time had also been joined by several of his friends, and a lively fight took place between the four men of the French party and the Eversoles. The court, which was in session, stampeded. The fight lasted fifteen minutes. When the smoke cleared away it was found that Ed Campbell, of the Eversole party, had been killed. This fight took place about 4 o'clock in the evening. The parties rested on their arms till dark, when the fight was renewed with increased fierceness. The French party had been reinforced by the Davidson boys, Jesse Morgan, brother of E. C. Morgan, who was killed by the Eversoles, and others. B. F. French himself came into town about 10 o'clock with reinforcements, to the relief of his beleaguered friends. At day break the fight raged with new fury. The Eversole party was stationed in the courthouse and in J. C. Eversole's old fort. The French party occupied what positions they could find. But the main fight took place between Jesse Fields and Tom Smith, who occupied the top of the hill back of the position held by the Eversoles. Fields and Field occupied a strongly fortified position commanding the enemy's works, and they kept up a steady fire on the Eversoles. The battle lasted about an hour, when the Eversole party beat a hasty retreat, fording the river on foot and disappearing in the mountain on the other side, leaving their dead. Ed Campbell and John McKnight were killed. Several were wounded on the Eversole side. Jesse A. Fields, of the French side, received a flesh wound in the arm. Court broke up without ceremony, the judge leaving for home as quickly as possible.

A Rising in Brazil for the Establishment of a Republic. It Supports the Movement, and is in Control.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A private cipher cable dispatch from Rio Janeiro states that a revolution has broken out there. The dispatch gives no particulars. Other dispatches from Rio Janeiro assert that a movement in favor of a republican form of government has recently been strongly favored in Brazil, and is the sole cause of the rising. Up to the present hour, however, there is little information of a tangible character. The announcement is made in the cipher cable already at hand that the Brazilian Ministers have tendered their resignations, and that the situation is controlled by the army.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Messrs. Charles E. Flint & Co. received the following cablegram yesterday, dated Rio Janeiro: "Revolution has broken out here. The Brazilian army is in control. There were fifty-five empty rifle shells found on the levee this morning in front of their store. The operator at the Alsatia store was repeatedly called, but did not answer. We have not heard of any personal injury or the destruction of any property further than the effect of the Winchester rifle balls on the buildings and the things inside that they came in contact with. Our people denounce the midnight outrage in unmeasured terms, and prompt steps will be taken to ferret out the wrong-doers.

"Do you suppose they kissed each other in the beautifully described hereafter?" she said. "Bah! Don't be deceived. So-called Christians will tell you such things. What we want are men in this world. Let God, Christ and all religious authorities take care of themselves. This is the teaching of Anarchy, and as such it will live.
