Centenary
Celebration
Columbus
(OHIO)

Positively Closes Sunday, July 13th

Described by William C. Freeman, Associated with Paul Hock, Inc., New York, Chicago, Detroit, Boston.

Only three days after today remain for those who have not yet seen this MASTER EXPOSITION OF MODERN TIMES—to see it.

IT WILL BE A GREAT PITY IF YOU DON'T SEE IT.

WILLIAM G. McADOO, Ex-Secretary of the Treasury—a very level-headed business man, who is not given to saying things he does not mean, told me that this is the most unique, the most remarkable, the most constructive, the most far-reaching exposition he had ever seen.

He was tremendously pleased also with the wonderful attention he received from over 15,000 people who heard him deliver his great League of Nations speech, from the grandstand in the oval, on July Fourth—one of the hottest days either he or his hearers ever experienced.

BUT HEAT DOES NOT AFFECT THE ARDOR OF THE PEOPLE WHO ATTEND THIS CENTENARY CELEBRATION. NOTHING AFFECTS IT.

There is a great wave of approval and deep appreciation shown by the hundreds of thousands of people that have seen it.

Everywhere I went among the crowds during the 72 hours I visited this GREAT EXPOSITION—6 days—I heard most enthusiastic comments.

Furthermore, a great many men and women to whom I spoke without the formality of introduction (this illustrates the democracy of this wonderful Exposition) said to me:

This Centenary Celebration should repeat itself in all sections of the United States, for it is a marvelous example of what can be accomplished in rebuilding the world when the work done by so many thousands of earnest men and women, who give up everything for the benefit of others—is so intelligent, so humane, so sincere, so helpful."

I believe myself that the Centenary Celebration, which has proved to be far more impressive and effective than even the committee in charge and the thousands of volunteer workers, who helped so wonderfully to make it a success—dreamed it would be—that there will be a great cry go up in all parts of America

"BRING IT TO US! BRING IT TO US! WE WANT TO SEE WHAT IS BEING DONE TO PUT ALL PEOPLES OF ALL COUNTRIES ON THE SAME FOOTING AS WE ARE HERE IN AMERICA."

JOSEPHUS DANIELS, secretary of the Navy—fine Christian gentleman that he is, visited the Exposition on July 5th.

He talked to representatives of the great body of Methodist Minute Men now representing an enrollment of over 68,000—and, accustomed as he is to "wonder work" on the part of the great bodies of earnest and fearless fighting men, he marvels at the grand work accomplished by these Methodist Minute Men—and he also marvels at the magnificent display of exhibits that illustrate the thoroughness with which Methodist Missionaries perform their charities and humanities in foreign lands.

Oh, readers, this Centenary Celebration opens wide the door to you to get a closer and surer grip on your own humanities.

You need the human lesson it will teach you as well as the intellectual treat that it will give you.

See it before it closes its gates on Sunday evening, July 13th.

He had not been in good health for some time, the immediate cause of death being heart affection. He leaves a wife and three daughters, one of whom lives in Cleveland and the other, Mrs. A. H. Misses Alice Weston and Jennie Fawcett are the guests of Bryant Chandler and family at Columbus and are also attending the centenary.

We have a suggestion to offer the Community club and we think it one worthy of consideration. Fredericktown and vicinity had over forty boys in the great world war. Other communities are erecting some sort of a memorial or a tribute for their service. This could be done here in the way of a fountain in some part of our public park. The water is already piped there with sufficient pressure and the conditions for drainage are perfect. This would not only serve to honor the boys in khaki but would be an ornament that would add to the beauty of the park and would reflect credit on the promoters of the project.

Council met in regular session Monday evening, and after transacting the routine business, took up the question of the removal of the stock yards. The yards, which are situated on Mansfield avenue, have long been an eyesore to the residents of that avenue, and not only that but it had come to a point where they were on the point of having to purchase gas masks, as the stench had become stifling. Then stock was placed there and left several days at a time and the bleating of lambs, the bawling of calves and cows, mingled with the P. D. Armour squeal, all went to make life miserable on this avenue. Some time ago, the state board of health got wise as to the unsanitary conditions at the yards and paid them a personal visit, the result being that the company was notified to remove the yards to a more remote location. On this same visit John Jones was appointed as health officer of the village, with power to clean up, the act of which was approved by council at its meeting, and we can now look forward to a general cleaning up of the unsightly and disease-breeding places, of which there are a few. Now if the fire marshal can put next some of the unsightly buildings can be junked.

There will be regular preaching services at the M. E. church next Sunday and, if possible, a former pastor will fill the pulpit.

Mrs. William Jacobs, who was recently operated upon at Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, was brought home in an ambulance last Saturday, making the trip in comfort, and at present is getting along nicely. Mr. Jacobs went over and accompanied her home.

Mr. A. C. Huddle, who recently underwent his second operation, is doing well and his many friends hope to soon see him return to home and business activities.

The I. O. O. F. lodges of Fredericktown and Levering will hold their memorial services in the Christian church at Levering on Sunday, July 13, at 2 o'clock. There will be good music and good speaking. All Odd Fellows are requested to attend.

Miss Laura Brentlinger, who is employed in the office of the Ohio Industrial Commission, Columbus, was the weekend guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Brentlinger.

RED CROSS NURSE IS COMING HERE

Public Health Nursing and Home Hygiene Instruction Part of Peace Time Program.

SPEAKS AT CHAUTAUQUA.

"Nurse the Most Needed Woman in the World," Says Miss Jane A. Delano, Director of the Department of Nursing of the American Red Cross.

To place the public health on a higher plane than it has ever been is the object of a national program undertaken by the American Red Cross as part of its peace time plan. From coast to coast is spreading the gospel of good health and of the proper care of the sick by fostering the study and practice of nursing, both by organized public health activities and by members of the family in every home. Through the Chautauqua an official representative of the Red Cross Department of Nursing will soon tell the people of this community the story of what is being done and will ask their co-operation.

One of the great lessons of the world war is found in the unnecessarily low standards of physical health revealed. This was brought out most forcibly in the great number of rejections of young men called to the colors under the Selective Service Law. Records show that throughout the United States one-third of the young men examined for military service were disqualified from bearing arms for their country through minor physical defects, a large proportion of which might have been avoided by compulsory school examination and proper medical and nursing care.

Urgent Need of Nurses. Further proof of the general urgent need of women trained in nursing was supplied by the epidemics of Spanish influenza that have caused terrific loss of life and suffering throughout the country. Hundreds of thousands of persons died, and in many communities the plague spread without any adequate means of checking it because of the impossibility of obtaining women capable of caring for the victims.

Reports show that many persons actually died without attention because the overworked doctors could not reach them all, nurses could not be found who knew what to do, and neighbors feared to go near the help-less patients.

The uselessness and danger of such a waste of "human power" is only too apparent for the health and strength of a nation can only be measured by the health and strength of its people. Recognizing the fact that the crux of the whole situation lies in giving every community the means of building up its own nursing strength, the American Red Cross, in co-operation with the various Chautauquas, is sending broadcast the message that none can afford to ignore.

Phases of Public Health Nursing.

Public health nursing includes many phases, such as bedside nursing, in which the nurse visits the patients and gives them hourly care as necessary; school nursing; care of expectant mothers, babies and small children; work in factories and industrial centers; rural nursing, and instruction in Red Cross courses, home hygiene, home dietetics, care of the sick, and various other forms of community service.

To all American women the Red Cross sends this message:

"If you are interested in nursing as a profession, enter one of the training schools for nurses, many of which offer scholarships, and specialize in public health work. If you are already a graduate nurse and anxious to enter this field, the Red Cross has scholarships and loan funds which will equip you for this work. Wives and mothers are urged to take the Red Cross Course of Instruction in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick so that they will be able to maintain to the highest degree the health and to nurse members of their household in time of minor illnesses."

Throughout the length and breadth of the land the American Red Cross, spreading the gospel of good health, is sounding a call to American women to adopt the study of nursing, either to join a profession which is daily becoming more highly valued or to fit themselves for nursing in the home.

The Red Cross lecturer soon to appear here will help her hearers visualize the remarkable history of nursing service at home and abroad and will expound the ideals of health conservation so often neglected in many communities. Supplementing the sentimental side of nursing, the mother touch, the lecturer will give a demonstration of efficiency in the sick room. Modern methods of sanitation and scientific handling of the individual sick and of epidemics will also be outlined to her audience.

NURSES FOLLOWED THE ARMY.

"For four years," declares Miss Jane A. Delano, Director of the Department of Nursing of the American Red Cross, "wherever the armies of Europe and America have gone the Red Cross nurses followed. Now that peace has come, she is still the most needed woman in the world, for it is her privilege to lead in a great nation-wide crusade against the ignorance and neglect which allows epidemics and disease to drain the vitality and life of our citizens."
