

FESTIVAL

Of St. Vincent de Paul Observed In Local Church With High Mass On Tuesday Morning

The Catholic church today keeps the festival of St. Vincent de Paul, known in history as the apostle of charity and founder of the Sisters of Charity, who now number some 50,000, in every part of the world, engaged in various works of charity, education and religion.

As this is the name of the local church and parish, the day was celebrated by high mass sung by the Rev. Father Mulhane. The closing exercises of the spiritual retreat for the Sisters took place also. This has lasted for eight days and was conducted by Rev. John of Maguire, a Jesuit priest from Chicago. About forty Sisters were present from various points in Ohio, Barton, Belleaire, Bridgeport, Maynard, Martin's Ferry, Dennison, Corning, Shawnee, Circleville, in addition to those in Mt. Vernon.

MARKERS

For Deceased Soldiers Buried In Cemeteries Can Be Obtained If Application Is Made

To Capt. M. M. Murphy Before October 10

Deceased ex-soldiers, sailors and marines of the United States, of all wars, whose remains are interred in any of our cemeteries, and whose graves are not marked by monument or headstone, can be furnished marble stones by the government, free, and freight paid to the nearest railroad station.

Captain M. M. Murphy, Commander of Joe Hooker Post No. 21, G. A. R., of Mt. Vernon, makes requisition twice a year for headstones, and if parties in any part of Knox county will furnish him lists of names of such unmarked graves, giving the name, company and regiment, date of death, location and name of the cemetery, name and post-office address of the person who will receive and set up the stone, also the name of the railroad station to which the stone is to be shipped, he will be glad to include the names in his next requisition. Unless all of the particulars above mentioned are furnished in each case, the stones cannot be ordered.

All lists for 1910 should be in by October 1st.

NEWARK GRAND JURY AT WORK

Probe of Riot and Lynching Begins In Earnest.

JUDGE SEWARD MAKES CHARGE

Places Responsibility For Trouble on Shoulders of Lawless Element Among Saloon Keepers—Tells of Other Attacks on Leaders in Dry Movement—Denman Plans to Bring Leaders to Trial in August While Excitement Runs High.

Newark, O., July 19.—The grand jury that is to conduct an investigation relative to the riot of Friday, July 8, and the lynching of a dry detective, Carl Etherington, on the same night by a mob, began its labors when it was charged by Judge C. W. Seward, Attorney General U. G. Denman and his assistant, William Miller, are here to work with Prosecutor P. B. Smythe in presenting the evidence in the case.

William Wurster, a 19-year-old boy of Zanesville, was brought here under a first degree murder charge. It is claimed that he adjusted the noose around the neck of Etherington.

Attorney General Denman addressed the court. He asked the court to say in the record that the proceedings were by the authority of Governor Harmon and the authority of this court. The court announced that the record of the court would so show.

It was indicated by the court that Dr. J. N. Wright should act as foreman of the jury. The other members are: Theodore F. Ball, carriage blacksmith; R. S. McKay, manager Newark Paint company; James E. Jones, dealer in carriages, wagons, etc.; L. P. Sisson, secretary of American-Devon Cattle club; Cliff S. Kerr, feed and coal dealer; Frank J. Kinney, stove moulder; J. F. Keller, farmer; Edward Simmons, farmer; Robert H. Evans, farmer; George W. Smith, farmer; J. O. Cooksey; Thomas Orr, farmer; H. A. Billman, farmer; Horton Butt, farmer.

The Judge's Charge.

Judge Seward, in his charge, among other things said: "The court ventures to say that the immediate cause of the terrible tragedy was the fact that quite a number of men engaged in the retail liquor business in this county made up their minds to disregard and prevent the enforcement of a law on that subject, passed by both houses of the legislature, approved by the governor and ratified by a majority of more than 700 of the legal voters of the county. An attempt by some of the citizens to enforce this law resulted in an assault on witnesses almost in the immediate presence of the court; in an assault upon the house occupied by the court; in threats of death and destruction of the homes and loved ones of those who were engaged in the prosecution, if they did not desist, and finally in the shooting of Howard and the lynching of Etherington."

At the council meeting ex-Mayor Atherton's resignation was accepted, Mayor Ankele's bond approved and W. D. Fulton elected president of council. Councilman Elmer Orr was named president pro tem, and Phillip Vogelmeier elected to fill the vacancy caused by Fulton's promotion.

Newark, O., July 20.—George Bohon, president of the Mercer National bank of Harrodsburg, Ky., and administrator of the estate of Carl Etherington, the Anti-Saloon detective lynched here July 8, made formal demand on the Licking county authorities for the $5,000 damages authorized by the state to be paid by the county to the estate of persons lynched.

Bohon said that he would bring suit in the federal court for $40,000 damages against Former Sheriff Linke and his bondsmen. He has retained a Columbus attorney. That Etherington was but a few months over 17 years of age when lynched was declared by Bohon.

The grand jury is making slow progress in its probing of the affair. But a comparatively few witnesses have been examined, and while it has been the belief that they would finish their work in three or four days, it is now thought that it will be almost a week before a report is made.

The first man to be released out of the 25 or 30 in custody for the lynching was William Wurster, the Zanesville lad, who was arrested with the charge of murder against him.

Wurster's father at once secured the services of an attorney and a determined fight was made to get the lad released. The charge of first degree murder was withdrawn and Wurster was admitted to bail in the sum of $2,000, which was furnished.

Cupid Captures Murderer.

Warren, O., July 20.—Love for an old sweetheart cost Philip Gastano, convicted slayer of Edwin C. Wilson, his liberty. He escaped from the county jail following his sentence to the penitentiary for life, and walked to the outskirts of Youngstown, where he spent a day with a woman he once courted. His delay there resulted in his arrest at Newcastle, Pa.
