

THE ORGAN OF THE TEMPERANCE REFORM, PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY, AT THE Ben Franklin Steam Printing House, BY CALEB CLARK.

TERMS: Single subscriptions, $1 50; Clubs of ten and upwards, $1 00. All subscriptions must be accompanied with the cash, and addressed, postage paid, to CALEB CLARK, BEN FRANKLIN PRINTING HOUSE, CINCINNATI, O.

Poetry. THE SHOE BINDER. BY J. E. Where the lamp upon the ceiling Throws a dainty ray...

Selected Tale. [From the New York Dutchman.] KATE'S HUSBAND. OR "BAGGING" A LIVE NORLEMAN. BY KATE MONTAGUE.

A few years before her womanly and queenly Majesty, Victoria, ascended the throne of those puissant realms, a very pretty scene was being enacted in one of the splendid reception rooms of the mansion of the ancient titled family of Castlearden.

Thomas made a salam that nearly brought his flushed face to the carpet, and backed himself out of the room with a treacherous smile. The beautiful girl, proud of this trifling proof of her superiority, retired to dress, and, in about an hour afterwards, she sprang like a bird into the gaily caparisoned carriage of the haughty Lady Castlearden.

Thomas made a salam that nearly brought his flushed face to the carpet, and backed himself out of the room with a treacherous smile. The beautiful girl, proud of this trifling proof of her superiority, retired to dress, and, in about an hour afterwards, she sprang like a bird into the gaily caparisoned carriage of the haughty Lady Castlearden.

Thomas made a salam that nearly brought his flushed face to the carpet, and backed himself out of the room with a treacherous smile. The beautiful girl, proud of this trifling proof of her superiority, retired to dress, and, in about an hour afterwards, she sprang like a bird into the gaily caparisoned carriage of the haughty Lady Castlearden.

Thomas made a salam that nearly brought his flushed face to the carpet, and backed himself out of the room with a treacherous smile. The beautiful girl, proud of this trifling proof of her superiority, retired to dress, and, in about an hour afterwards, she sprang like a bird into the gaily caparisoned carriage of the haughty Lady Castlearden.

Thomas made a salam that nearly brought his flushed face to the carpet, and backed himself out of the room with a treacherous smile. The beautiful girl, proud of this trifling proof of her superiority, retired to dress, and, in about an hour afterwards, she sprang like a bird into the gaily caparisoned carriage of the haughty Lady Castlearden.