

GEORGE PRICE.

Everything Ready for His Hanging-- His Last Days in Jail--Efforts to Get a Reprieve.

George Allen Price is to be hanged in the jail-yard day after to-morrow, provided the Governor does not interfere. A petition, signed by about fourteen hundred persons, was sent to the Governor yesterday, begging him to commute the death sentence of Price to imprisonment for life.

In addition to this Price's wife with about fifty of the friends of her husband and family, white and colored, went to Columbus with Judge Guthrie yesterday morning over the Pan-Handle Road to intercede personally with the Governor on behalf of the doomed man.

Since last Saturday no less than 1,600 people have visited the Jail, mostly from morbid curiosity to see Price. He has comfortable quarters, with plenty of reading and writing material, books, flowers and delicacies sent to him by tender and sympathetic friends, many of them of the female persuasion. His cell is lighted by two large windows on the north side, through which a current of fresh air flows day and night, and the ventilation is perfect. He sleeps on an iron bedstead, provided with a good bed and bedding, clean sheets and pillows, and his last days are being rendered as comfortable as possible.

Yesterday evening a number of Christian ladies paid him a visit. Price was not especially unfriendly to them, but rather indifferently. A conversation ensued, as follows: "Friend, do you believe in God?" "Yes, ma'm." "Do you believe in a Heaven?" "I believe in a future." "Do you believe in a Hell?" "It would be beneficial for you, young lady, and even necessary, to believe in a Hell, as the fear of it would probably prevent you from taking many a step for which you would be sorry for, I have no fear of it. Do not believe that Almighty God would have us commit sins here and then punish us in the next world. If earthly punishments are not enough, God ought to keep people from sinning."

"Shall I pray for you?" "I can attend to that myself. You can do no good. I must myself turn to God if I want to be heard." The ladies thereupon fell on their knees and commenced to pray. Price said, "Go on, that's good; I can pray without kneeling." The ladies finished and left, while Price smiled, and turning to a friend, said: "Those ladies think wonders what good they have done me; I don't need their prayers. We were all born to die, and it is ordained that I must die at thirty-seven or fifty years. I will do so. What matters the time as long as you must die?" He then commenced to joke with his friend, and when he was asked if he wanted some whisky he replied, "Yes, but get a label put on the flask that it is for me, or else the bottle will pass through so many hands before I get it that there will be only enough liquor in it to keep me from saying that I didn't get it." And then Price laughed heartily at his joke.

His friend said: "If that is the case, your watchman ought to hang instead of you, or at least you ought to draw straws to see who should hang." Again Price laughed and felt happy.

Last night a reporter had a talk with the prisoner. He said he did not know who had gone to Columbus to intercede for him, and he had not approved of the movement. He did not want Judge Longworth to buy him a new suit of clothes, which had been promised to be done for him. He would rather have the money for the same to be given to his wife.

He said Judge Longworth did not know as much about the case as he ought to, or he would have asked the Governor to do something for him, or he would have judged differently during the trial. He said if the facts about the tobacco had a favorable effect upon the jury; but for some unaccountable reason his counsel did not develop the facts. He said he could have proved conclusively by a man named Ed. Davis that he was not about on the night the tobacco was said to have been stolen from Black's warehouse; and, further, he could have proven that Black never lost any tobacco by its being stolen.

He could show that the hogheads were erroneously directed for shipment, as was afterwards ascertained.

The tobacco that How received from Black's house was trash and scraps that the boys used to hang in the dump and throw away, being of very little value. How said that if they would have healed to his place he would pay for it, as he could use it in some way or other. It was in this way that the trash got to be hauled to How's warehouse. He paid the boys for it, sometimes from 50 cents up to $1.50, and it was divided among them, and they got the beer with it.

He says that on the morning of the shooting he had gone to Black for some money for market purposes, but that he was insulted there, and even cut in the hand by a tumbler thrown at him. He thereupon got into one of his insane fits, during which he lost control of himself and did the shooting. His attack on Major Blackburn in the Court-room was also due to one of these fits.

Price bitterly complains of the unjust remarks made against him by some newspapers, and this is the reason that he refuses to talk to newspaper men. Jailer Birnbaum is about the only man for whom he has a liking.

Last night he wrote a letter to Judge Longworth, which was turned over to the latter this morning.

Price's habits have been very regular while in jail. In the morning he rises with the call at the usual hour, refreshes and vigorous after the rest afforded during the previous night, and partakes of a hearty meal of coffee, bread and butter, ham and eggs and vegetables in season. His dinner consists of tea or coffee, chicken or roast beef, or some other kind of meat, with vegetables, dessert of ice-cream or pie or pudding, furnished from the private table of the jailer, and any little nicknacks that the jailer or his wife may think of. His supper is very simple, consisting of tea, bread and butter, fried potatoes, mush and milk, or toast, milk or buttered.

He is in good health, weighs about 165 pounds, and is about five feet seven inches in height.

To-morrow the prisoners will be locked up, and in the afternoon the Jail will be free to all.

The talk around town this morning is that Price will not hang on Friday. This is due to a dispatch received from Columbus last night that Judge Guthrie had made a long argument before Governor Foster in favor of a reprieve. The plea was that Price was insane at the time of the murder, and was so now.

The Governor replied that if such was the case a commission to inquire into the matter should be appointed, and if Price was insane he would be reprieved. The matter of investigating into the condemned's sanity was left with Judge Guthrie, who immediately left for this city to institute inquiries by experts into the murderer's

OVER THE BRIDGE.

The jury in the Standifer will case yesterday sustained the will.

Mr. John Monahan, a prominent merchant of Louisville, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John McGill.

The annual banquet following the meeting of the Kentucky Central Railroad Directors took place yesterday.

A special Council meeting is called for to-morrow night to choose Bridge Directors and do any other business it pleases.

The Florence Dramatic Club is flourishing. They have recently admitted six new members, all of whom are dramatic par-lays.

There will be a number of vacancies in the Public Schools this season, and consequently Trustees are annoyed to death by applicants.

The body of John Glick, who was drowned in Licking River last night, was recovered to-day. Coroner DeGruyter held an inquest.

Pursuant to a telegram Mr. J. H. Gausepohl left to-day for Richmond, Ind., to attend the bedside of his brother, who is dangerously ill.

A little child of Mr. Oberding, in Austinburg, was badly bitten by a vicious dog last evening. Officer McGrow killed the canine this morning.

The Fifth Street Christian Church will give a picnic Saturday at Parlor Grove. Their Strawberry Festival last night was a financial success.

Rev. W. H. W. Rees will leave here to-morrow morning for Corning, Iowa. His visit here was one of profit as well as pleasure and right long he remembered his host of friends.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Wm. S. Carey and May E. Goodloe, both of Ludlow; Bernard Macke and Margaret Weaver; Albert Prichthoff and Lizzie Heving; Edward Davis and Amanda Rice; Wm. A. Kaiter and Lina Goebble, all of Covington; Margus D. Harding and Sallie Sechrest, of Ludlow; John T. Linneman and Elizabeth Meyerhoff.

A young man by the name of John Glick, who lived at 162 West Seventh street, was drowned in the Licking River between 9 and 10 o'clock last night, opposite Livesay's saw mill. The body has not been found, but an effort was made to recover it at a late hour last night. The young man drowned was bathing in the Licking with a party of friends.

INDIANAPOLIS.

Special to the Star. INDIANAPOLIS, May 26.—The thirteenth annual session of the National Woman Suffrage Convention met at the Park Theater yesterday, with a large attendance of delegates and visitors. The meeting was called to order by the First Vice President, Miss Susan B. Anthony, and among the delegates are:

Ordo—Mrs. Amanda B. Merriam, Mrs. Cordelia A. Plympton, Cincinnati; Sophia L. O. Allen, Eva L. Pinney, South Newbury.

Indiana—Mary E. Haggart, Vice President; Martha Grimes, Zerolda G. Wallace, A. P. Stanto, Salem McCain, Crawfordville; Mrs. Helen M. Gongar, Lafayette; Thomas Atkinson, Oxford; Mrs. Dr. Rogers, Greencastle.

Kentucky—Mary B. Clay, Richmond, Vice President.

A long letter was read from Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and many speeches were made in the afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Mary B. Clay, of Kentucky, a daughter of Cassius M. Clay, was introduced, and gave a gratifying exhibit of the progress of the suffrage work in the "dark and bloody ground."

Mrs. Elizabeth L. Saxon, one of the delegates to the Convention, and probably the best speaker of the lot, is a wealthy lady of New Orleans, and during the prevalence of yellow fever in that city heroically threw open her house and devoted her time and means to the sufferers from that dreadful disease.

Parker Pillsbury speaks this afternoon, and Belsa A. Lockwood, of Washington, to-night.

KENTUCKY KNICKKNACKS. Special Collected in the Corncriacker Commonwealth.

Specials to the Star. MOUNT VERNON, May 26.—The Rogers-Caywood trial at Williamsburg resulted in the acquittal of the defendants. After the jury had deliberated two days they returned a verdict of not guilty. The result was hailed with enthusiasm by the friends of the parties. A banquet was prepared at Dr. Coy's Hotel, at which the jury feasted and drank.

MAYSVILLE, May 26.—Accidents among the men employed by the Water-works Company are of almost daily occurrence. Last week a man was blown up by the premature explosion of a blast and badly injured. On Saturday a man had his head crushed by a rock in the hands of a fellow-workman, and yesterday Tom Mahan prematurely exploded a blast, which knocked him down, badly bruising his whole body.

VERSAILES, May 26.—A little son of Wm. Radmon, who lives at Clifton, in this county, was killed yesterday by a large log rolling over him.

MAYSVILLE, May 26.—John McCarthy, an old soldier of the war of 1812, died at the residence of his son-in-law, John Masterson, near here, yesterday morning at 4 o'clock. He was eighty-nine years of age.

PADUCAH, May 26.—Dan. F. Jones, a saloon keeper of Murray, Calloway County, yesterday shot and killed Joel Ferguson, Town Marshal. Jones was drinking and got into a difficulty with a citizen and drew his pistol to shoot. Ferguson interfered, when Jones got a shot-gun and killed him. Jones is in jail.

Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias special to the Star. DAYTON, O., May 26.—The Knights of Pythias parade got a late start yesterday evening, but it carried out the line of march proposed, and was certainly one of the finest processions ever seen on our streets.

The reception at Tivoli Garden last night was a brilliant success and the dancing was kept up all night.

The prize drills and the band tournament take place at the Soldiers' Home to-day. The band tournament opened at 9 o'clock and is now in progress. The prizes are all in gold.

The prizes will be awarded at the close of the drill, and after a dress parade by the Brown Guard, the Knights will return to the city.

The Grand Lodge will not accomplish much work to-day.

Presbyterian General Assembly, National Associated Press to the Star. MADISON, Wis., May 26.—In the Presbyterian General Assembly the Judicial Committee, through its Chairman, Rev. Dr. L. H. Atwater, of Princeton, reported cases submitted to it. Case four, an appeal from the Synod of New Jersey in the case of a man convicted of rape, the report went over on account of the special order, the report of the Home Mission Committee on its coming report, which was discussed at length, and after several unimportant amendments, the Committee on Revision of the Book of Discipline reported, which was adopted.

It is impossible for a woman after a faithful course of treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to continue to suffer with a weakness of the uterus. Inclose a stamp to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western avenue, Lynn, Massachusetts, for her pamphlets.

RESTORE HIM TO CONSCIOUSNESS, AND WERE FINALLY SUCCESSFUL. OVERCOME BY HEAT PROBABLY WAS THE CAUSE.

About 6 p. m. yesterday a horse attached to a phaeton, left unguarded for a moment at the entrance of the Union Depot, took fright and dashed through the depot at break-neck speed. He was caught some distance below the depot and brought back with the top of the phaeton considerably damaged. Strange to say, no one was injured.

It was uncomfortably warm yesterday and people suffered with heat on the street, especially did the Knights, as their uniform dress suits consisted of heavy woolen goods, and in order to appear dresy, they had to keep their coats buttoned up to the collar. Many of them also wore metallic caps, which were not only heavy and uncomfortable, but extremely heating. There were elegant uniformed companies and well drilled, and the parade presented a picture of grandeur and beauty not likely to be forgotten soon by those who were so fortunate as to witness it.

It is earnestly requested by the Committee on Flowers that all true and patriotic citizens lend their assistance by the way of furnishing all the flowers they can to be used in the decoration of soldiers' graves Saturday next. Let everyone who can give their effort toward making this grand and patriotic work a success and they will be amply rewarded by the heartfelt thanks of the surviving comrades and friends and by the conscious feelings in their own hearts that they have shown a due respect for those who lost their lives that they might enjoy the blessings of a free and glorious country.

The Groble House, or the house on the corner of Sixth and Main for many years known by the above name, is now refitted and placed in splendid condition for the accommodation of the traveling public. Its present proprietor, Mr. Baker, although a stranger to us, apparently seems like a man properly adapted to the business he represents, and we feel safe in commending him to all who will favor him with their patronage. His house is convenient to the Depot, and to the sensible-minded man would seem preferable to many high-priced houses. We have not learned as yet whether the name of the house will be changed or not.

HOME CITY AND DELHI. The funeral of Mr. Saylor's infant daughter took place this morning at 11 o'clock.

Don't forget the strawberry festival given by the members of the Presbyterian Church this evening.

There was a rumor afloat of a "ratling mill" between two of our prominent citizens at sunrise this morning. The cause has not been ascertained, and the damage is not irreparable.

DAYTON, KY. Mrs. Colonel Thos. Jones, who was improving, has taken a relapse and is very much worse to-day.

The social given by the Presbyterian ladies at Mr. Donaldson's grounds last night was a happy success.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFER.—Steven Smith to Thos. Stevens, Lot 29, Block 17, in Dayton, 33 by 110 feet, on Third street; $300.

Property owners who are dissatisfied with the appraisement of Assessor Kueven should file their complaints with the Board of Equalization now in session.

All discharged soldiers and sailors interested in the decoration of soldiers' graves, will meet at the car stables on Sunday morning where some action will probably be taken. Mr. Harry Lambie states that the friends of deceased soldiers can have the graves of their dead friends properly cared for by leaving word at the Newport engine house.

A WORTHY TEACHER REMEMBERED.—Mr. Henry Appel, teacher of the school attached to St. John's Protestant Church, was agreeably surprised this morning on reaching the school by finding his room and desk profusely decorated with elegant flowers and plants, it being the fortieth anniversary of his birthday.

The following young girls were on hand at an early hour this morning, and had everything in readiness on the arrival of the teacher: Misses Kate Hetsch, Ann Keifer, Riggie Berry, Sophia Schaffenberg, Maria Klingner, Lizzie Kratz, Louisa Lickert, Dora Enslin, Tilly Wiedeman and Sophia Huber.

The young misses are also spreading tables with the rarest delicacies of the season, which all of the pupils and teacher will partake of this evening, when also a feast of song and music will be indulged in. The teacher dismissed the school for the day.

VOICE FROM THE BLACK HILLS.—An old stager about 60 years of age and who looked as though he had a heap of trouble in getting through the world, strayed into Harry Buchanan's back yard, on Jefferson street, last evening, and when found was minus his clothing, with the exception of his shirt, and settling down for a night's rest on the grass.

The police made him don his clothes and brought him to the Court-house and turned him loose in the yard. He was found early this morning asleep on the grass with the same apparel he had on the evening previous. He is returning from the Black Hills, and while there had both feet badly frost bitten, and is now trying to make his way to Pittsburg where he has relatives living.

ADDITIONAL SUBURBAN. DAYTON, O. To-day the grand races commenced.

The Chief of Police J. W. Lingo, of Columbus, was in the city yesterday.

George Ricker and wife, formerly of this city but now of Columbus, Ind., were here yesterday.

The cross examination of Wm. P. Huffman, in the Huffman will case, was begun in the afternoon yesterday.

VEGETINE. GIVES A GOOD, CLEAR COMPLEXION. PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 6, 1877. MR. H. R. STEVENS, Boston—Dear Sir: The great benefit I have received from the use of Vegetine induces me to give testimony in its favor. For several years my face has been covered with pimples, which caused me much annoyance, and knowing it to be a blood disease, I consulted a number of doctors and also tried many preparations without obtaining any benefit, until I commenced taking Vegetine, and before I had used the first bottle I saw I had the right medicine. I have used three bottles and find my health much improved, my humor entirely cured.

Yours respectfully, MISS N. KEEFE, 1139 Carpenter street.

Vegetine. Reports from Ottawa. OTTAWA, CANADA, Dec. 21, 1876. MR. H. R. STEVENS, Boston, Mass.—Dear Sir: I have used your Vegetine in my family for several years, and consider it an invaluable medicine. I most cheerfully recommend its use to those suffering a safe and effectual remedy for diseases of the stomach and impurities of the blood. I can add that I have advocated its use to several of my friends and acquaintances with the most satisfying and satisfactory results.

Very respectfully yours, MRS. W. G. PERLEY.

No one can doubt the truthfulness of the above certificate, coming from so responsible and influential parties. Mr. Perley is the senior member of the firm of Perley & Pattee, one of the largest and most extensive lumber firms in America.

Vegetine. Cured Scrofula. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 15, 1877. MR. H. R. STEVENS, Dear Sir—I can cheerfully recommend your Vegetine as the "Great Blood Purifier." I have been ailing from Scrofula for years, and was cured by your Vegetine. I use it constantly on hand to keep my bowels regular, and am constantly recommending it to all whom I hear needing a remedy like yours.

Truly yours, JOHN McGETTIGAN. Being personally acquainted with Mr. McGettigan, I can vouch for him as being reliable in his statement, as I have sold him Vegetine. DR. J. W. ABEL, Druggist, 1024 Beach street.

Vegetine. Gives Life and Vigor. HASTINGS, MINN., Dec. 16, 1876. H. R. STEVENS, Boston—Dear Sir: I will do all I can in regard to the Vegetine, which has done the saving of my life, and I believe thousands of others. It is good for General Debility and Female Weakness, and will give you vigor and strength to both sexes. Yours, with respect, MRS. SUMNER WALTON.

Vegetine. Druggist's Report. PHILADELPHIA, July 6, 1877. MR. H. R. STEVENS, Boston, Mass.—We have sold your Vegetine for some years past, and our customers recommend it as being the best and safest "Blood Purifier" in use. We have sold many articles of the same description, but Vegetine gives the most universal satisfaction. We always recommend it with confidence. HANSELL BROS., Druggists, 1626 Market street.
