Hammond, armed with a pistol, crept to the parlor, where three men were prowling. He immediately fired, discharging four shots. The burglars escaped through the window, but from the cry of pain and blood-stains in the room, on the fence and in the yard, it is believed one at least was badly wounded. Two small firms, F. H. Stevens and J. W. Brown, failed yesterday, liabilities light.

The creditors of the suspended firm of Many & Marshall, dealers in builders' hardware, have elected Uriah C. Burnap, of the firm of Harding & Burnap, assignee.

The case attracted a great deal of attention all over the State, in Ohio and Iowa, from the fact that Taylor is a grandson of an Ex-President, and was on the staff of General Sherman during the war. Children's Fears.

The objects that excite the fears of children are often as curious and unaccountable as their secret intensity. Miss Martineau told me once, that a special object of horror to her, when she was a child, were the colors of the prism, a thing in itself so beautiful, that it is difficult to conceive how any imagination could be so painfully impressed by it; but her terror of these magical colors was such that she used to rush past the room, even when the door was closed, where she had seen them reflected from the chandelier, by the sunlight, on the wall.

A bright, clever boy of mine, by no means particularly nervous or timid, told me once that the whole story of Aladdin was frightful to him; but he was never able to explain why it made this impression upon him. A very curious instance of strong nervous apprehension, not, however, in any way connected with supernatural terror, occurred to a young girl about eight years old, the daughter of a friend of mine.

The mother, the gentlest and most reasonably indulgent of parents, sent her up to her room at night, cautioning her not to let it fall; the child, by her own account, stood at the top of the stairs with the water in her hand, till the conviction that she certainly should let it fall took such dreadful and complete possession of her that she dashed it down, and then came in a paroxysm of the most distressing nervous excitement to tell her mother what she had done. Mrs. Kemble, in September Atlantic.

Swift Ocean Voyages.

Only a few years ago the impression prevailed among steamship owners that for the attainment of speed on the ocean it was necessary to use side-wheel steamers. The owners of the vessels which were the first to be provided with screws used them for purposes of economy and presumed safety. It was ascertained that propellers required a much less quantity of coal than side-wheel steamers, and in severe storms the danger of shipwreck was decreased, as there were no wheel-houses to be wrenched and broken by the waves. The belief that great speed could not be obtained with screws has been dispelled, and within a month two iron screw steamships belonging to two different lines have made the quickest time ever attained on a western passage between Queenstown and New York. The steamer City of Richmond, of the Inman line, left Queenstown on July 15, and arrived at Sandy Hook at 12:30 a. m. on July 24, making the run in eight days and twelve minutes, mean time. The new steamer, Germania, of the White Star Line, left Queenstown on July 30, and arrived at Sandy Hook at 6:20 a. m. August 7, making the run in eight days and twenty-three hours, the quickest time on record.
