THE LADDER.

Every person must climb life's ladder. No matter who or what they are or where they come from, the ladder is placed before them to climb. Some run up its rounds actively and with apparent ease; others are slow but sure; others fall when half way up; others reach all but the last step.

Some of our people deserve the success they have attained; they are entitled to a resting place on the top round of life's ladder; their pluck, tact and business energy has placed them there, a position they are justly entitled to hold.

There are probably few business men in this part of the state in the same line of trade, who by dint of honesty and years of steady earnest toil, have reached as lofty a position on the ladder of fame as Messrs. Saur & Balsley, proprietors of the far famed Drug, Book and Wall Paper House under their control. Their business career in Napoleon dates back over a quarter of a century, during which period they have constantly studied the wants of the people in this locality and their efforts have been duly appreciated.

The firm has had an unprecedented holiday trade, but many articles, both useful and ornamental is still on exhibition which they are offering at extremely low figures, in order to make room for their usual spring stock. It will repay any one to take advantage of the goods and prices now ranging at this house.

In the way of wall and ceiling papers, paints, oils, varnishes, brushes, etc., a large and varied stock is always shown and the record of this house on these goods is not allowed to lag. The stock is complete throughout, and the brands and quality of the goods tested, and all sold as cheap if not cheaper than can be had in the great Northwest.

With a small outlay you can decorate your homes, making them both attractive and comfortable, two of the requisites of a perfect and happy fireside. To still make the expense less one can place these papers up on the walls themselves; it requires no expert. Then why not do this for your families, by buying some of the fine patterns of wall paper on sale at Saur & Balsley's?

All the celebrated patent medicines always on hand, for the cure of any ache and pain known to the human and animal family. Pure and fresh drugs, for which this house is noted.

Everybody is welcome to the store of Saur & Balsley, whether they wish to purchase or not, and everybody is invited to call and take a look over the vast stock.

Notice to Teachers.

On account of repairing at the court house, the county examination, Saturday and all following ones until further notice, will be held at the high school room in the Union School Building.

Notice.

District Convention W. R. C. will convene at Napoleon, Ohio, Wednesday, February 20th. It is desired that all members of Choate Corps be in attendance. Convention will open at 9 o'clock, a. m. sharp.

Semi-Annual Taxes Collected.

The following are the totals of the taxes for the last half of the 1890 collection: State fund $10,392.90, county $11,932.67, bridge $9,628.16, building $1,924.57, indigent soldiers $1,154.75, road $9,186.20, debt or sinking fund $11,547.46, township $6,757.25, school $24,459.83, special $25,021.24, village $4,463.18, Dogs $1,513.68. Total $117,463.98. For both collections of 1890 the amount aggregates $237,031.17.

He Was Surprised.

Monday was the 37th anniversary of Richard Bruns, one of Napoleon's leading merchants. His wife arranged a little surprise which culminated about 7 o'clock p. m., in over fifty friends and relatives lying in wait for Mr. Bruns on his return from business. The surprise was complete and a thoroughly enjoyable evening followed. A number of tasteful and ornamental presents were made.

Death of Mrs. Dackenhans.

The wife of township trustee Henry Dackenhans, died at her home on Monday morning last, in the 60th year of her age. She had been a sufferer for some time with cancer of the stomach, from the effects of which she died. The funeral took place on Saturday, from the Hanover settlement church, Rev. Damman officiating, her remains being followed to their last resting place by a large concourse of neighbors and friends.

He was Fastidious.

Ira Hayes of McClure gave way to his charitable disposition Wednesday of last week and paid the Johnson House a day's board for one Geo. Albright a wandering man of a retired nature. He boarded the allotted time out and returned his earnest thanks by stealing Hayes' Sunday pants and vest and at once prepared to depart. He was arrested and brought before Squire Tressler who fined him $10 and costs amounting to $19.20. The thief said "no" and the sentence was changed to 30 days of hard labor in the work house at Toledo, whither he was taken Thursday morning.

Preparing for Spring.

Only about two more weeks in which to get ready for spring, is the reason why Saur & Balsley have placed so many of their goods on the special sale list. This means that they will be sold at largely reduced prices, in order to make the necessary room for their spring stock, much of which has already been purchased. Those who desire anything in the book and stationery line, such as blank books, desk pads, paper, envelopes or any of the miscellaneous books now held in stock, will find that they can buy the same at this house at less prices than those which have ever ruled before. They also have a fine lot of cloth and paper window shades on hand which they bought very low and which they are bound to close out within the next two or three weeks. If low prices will be any object to close buyers, here certainly is a chance to save money.

A Change in the Wabash Agency.

It is with much regret that the people of Napoleon surrender the service of Edward K. Carnes as station agent here. Although his time among us was very short there has been no agent since the road has been in existence who has more thoroughly ingratiated himself with all classes as has Mr. C. His resignation was handed in over two weeks ago on account of the office not being sufficiently remunerative for one of his experience and ability. Monday the traveling auditor checked in the new man and Wednesday Mr. Kearns and his estimable family departed for St. Louis where he has several positions tendered him. After disposing of real estate interests in southern Missouri he will, in all probability, resume work for his old road, the Missouri and Pacific. H. F. Bachelor of Whitehouse is the new agent and that he proves as affable and competent as his predecessor is all that can be asked.
