SHAKESPEARE

The cheapest and most splendidly illuminated and illustrated edition of the Bard of Avon published.

Edited by the Hon. G. L. V. Perkins. The illustrations, of which there will be about 1400 executed in wood, in the very best style of the modern school of art.

Substituting the Prospectus of the Edition to the public, the publisher has only to add that his will spare no expense to make this edition as perfect as possible. The World's Best Superior to any that has heretofore appeared in illustrations, typography and paper. The form will be royal octavo, and will be issued in weekly parts, price 125 cts., which places it within the means of persons of the most limited fortunes, whilst on account of its beautiful beauty, it will find its way into the libraries of the rich, and there prove to be one of the choicest ornaments.

Those who wish this work in the most perfect state will only be aware of it by taking the parts as they appear, which will contain the early portions of the first part will be issued in March.

THE PICTORIAL AND ILLUSTRATED EDITIONS OF SHAKESPEARE, lately published in England, are amongst the most beautiful specimens of the modern art of engraving and illustration of the art of wood engraving, which by combining great excellence of execution with economy of price, has given an unprecedented diffusion to the most useful as well as the most exquisite productions of the art of Printing.

The designs of LEWIS MEADOWS for the illustrations of the various personages, and the description of the scene, with wonderful truth and power; whilst the wood engraving of Knight's historical scenes combine with the highest merits of art and taste such a learned and minute necessity as to accuracy, elegance, and distinctness, and finally to make them a perpetual and most instructive commentary upon the Poet's text. It is now proposed to embody in an American edition, the admirable illustration of both these editions, engraved with equal excellence of mechanical execution, to add to these, other engravings from contemporary artists, as Reynolds, Landseer, & Newton, &c., and to accompany them with a beautifully printed and correct text.

But the publisher, anxious that his country should pay some part of the homage due from her to the great poet, as to one who belongs not solely to England but to all — who speaks the tongue could not content himself with a mere republication or compilation. He has therefore prevailed upon K. W. Wain, whose reputation as an Artist is already identified with his country's history, to contribute a series of original designs, together with much valuable information in other details of art as his taste may suggest for the illustration and embellishment of this publication.

From the same reason the publisher, instead of reprinting the text and commentary of any popular English edition, was desirous that his edition should have the supervision of an American editor. This task has been undertaken by GULLAN C. VERPLANCK.

The plan proposed to himself by the editor, is to furnish the reader with a carefully prepared and accurately printed text, unaccompanied by any notes or commentary upon the pages itself, as however useful they may be elsewhere, they are too numerous to be included in the power of his country, and to disturb the magic of his scenes. Such notes as may be thought useful for the explanation or criticism of the text will be thrown into an Appendix to each play.

The text of Shakspeare's dramatic works, drawn from the original copies, and corrected after the most judicious and under the author's own eye, was consequently distinguished by many errors and omissions. It passed during the last century through a succession of varying editions until the revision of Steevens and Malone, who (or rather that of Steevens) has become the standard from which most of the English and American editions have been printed, with various degrees of accuracy. But within the last few years, more minute and familiar acquaintance with old English idioms, habits and modes of thought, united by an intense and constantly increasing admiration for Shakspeare's genius, has led to the discovery that many of the readings in the numerous that is slight deviations from the ancient text appearing in modern editions, are useless or erroneous interpolations, sometimes weakening the sense, and often substituting an arbitrary monotonous medical regularity for the Poet's own native melody. Accordingly very many of these readings have been rejected by the last and best English editors, especially Mr. Knight and Mr. Collier, and the readings of the old folios and quartos have been restored, unless where some error of the press or manuscript was undeniably manifest. Yet there are many such passages conspicuously corrupt, and requiring the most careful consideration; there are also differences of reading between the several editions, affording grounds for some diversity of text and warm controversy between the more recent editors.

Upon these, the American editor has it due to the character of this edition, to decide for himself without implicitly following the text of any one modern edition. As the industry and learning of prior editors have furnished the selection of various readings and the authorities upon which they may be supported, the task is no longer that of laborious investigation, but, as it were, of judicious decision, enlightened by contending argument.

As many of these variations are of nearly equal probability, and some of them are doubtless the author's own alterations at different periods, all the more important readings will be presented to the reader in the notes for his own selection. These notes will also contain much of commentary as may be useful to explain antiquated words and phrases, obscurely expressed passages and allusions to classical or modern authors, the history of the times, the whole in a condensed form as practicable. But any commentary upon Shakspeare, however brief, would be imperfect if it did not present some view of the higher culture employed, not on the interpretation of his language, but upon his thoughts, his character, his poetry, his philosophy. The only difficulty here arises from the abundance, the magnificent variety of the materials contributed during the last half century by the most brilliant minds of Europe. Still it is believed that this duty can be satisfactorily performed without swelling the edition to an inconvenient bulk.

MRS. WIMER, OR Another Remarkable Cure by using Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry Tree THE GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION!

AMONG all the famous Medicines for Consumption, none seems to be meeting with greater success, or gaining a higher reputation than that most meritorious article, Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry!

That it stands at the head of all other remedies is now universally conceded. It has cured thousands upon thousands—all classes—in cases of the most dangerous consumptive character. And physicians of the greatest eminence throughout our whole country, unhesitatingly recommend it as the MOST POWERFUL CURATIVE of Pulmonary diseases in the whole range of Pharmacy. The Sales in the Western States have thus far been unparalleled; and the most gratifying proofs of its efficacy have been received from every place where it has been used. THOMAS COZENS, M.D. of FINE PATENTS have already testified its exalted virtues, and confessed its surpassing excellence and amazing power. The remarkable success of this Balsam is no doubt owing in a great measure to the peculiarly agreeable and powerful nature of its ingredients, which are composed chiefly of WILD CHERRY BARK and the genuine ICELAND MOSS—the latter imported expressly for this purpose—the rare medicinal virtues of which are also combined by a new chemical process, with the Extract of Turp, thus rendering the whole compound the most certain and efficacious remedy ever discovered for ### Consumption of the Lungs.

The following we have just received from Messrs. Joslin & Rowe, Druggists, in Newark, in this State, to whom it was communicated by John Wimer, Esq., a citizen of Burlington, Licking County, Ohio.

Burlington, Licking Co., O., Dec. 1, 1843. Messrs. Joslin & Rowe—As you request I herewith transmit to you a statement of the case of Mrs. Wimer, an child, as near as I am able to communicate, which you are at liberty to publish if you see fit, as I feel a desire to inform the world of the effects of the invaluable medicine called Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, to which, by the divine blessing, I am indebted for the restoration to health of my wife and child.

Five years ago my wife was attacked with a violent cough, which in the chest and side, and symptoms of approaching consumption. During the intervals from that time to sometime in Feb. last, she had been treated by eminent Physicians from Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, and Newark, and with only partial relief. Her case was soon taken up by me one year ago she caught a violent cold, which seated upon the Lungs, producing an alarming aggravation of all her previous symptoms. Her Physician was sent for, and despite his best efforts, she began rapidly to sink under her disease. Cough, Expectoration, Hætic, together with great weakness, soon took her to a complete prostration. In Feb. last, her attending Physician, deemed her case altogether hopeless, a council was called and after deliberating upon her case, unanimously pronounced her to be beyond the reach of means, and expressed their opinion that she could survive but a short time, one or two weeks at farthest—She was at this time entirely confined to her bed, and scarcely able to articulate, except in a whisper. Her daily paroxysms of coughing would last her uninterruptedly from three to five hours, and no secret were they, that we had expected that every paroxysm would be the last she would see. Her attending Physician, announced her Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Spine, and Muscles, Membrane of the Stomach to be incurably diseased. It was at this last extremity that we happened to obtain a pamphlet describing Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, as applicable to Lung affections. We immediately sent for it, and procured a bottle, and commenced its use at evening by giving her one teaspoonful, and such was the surprising effect, that she was able to pass a comfortable night's rest, without experiencing any paroxysm of coughing, and such was its ultimate effect, that after taking 5 bottles she was, contrary to the expectations of her Physicians, and every one who saw her, entirely restored to health; and since last summer has done the entire work of her family. After the last attack of Mrs. Wimer, our youngest child, then an infant at the breast, was taken down and rapidly sinking, with the same symptoms as its mother, and seeing the happy effect of the Balsam in the case of the mother, we were disposed to make trial of it for the child, and it was attended with the same perfect success.

The above statement can be attested by our physician as well as our neighbors and acquaintances, who saw Mrs. Wimer during the course of her illness. Very truly yours, JOHN WIMER.

Darlington, Licking Co., O. The case of Thomas Cozens is related by himself as follows, and acknowledged by all who know him as one of the most astonishing cures ever performed in the history of medicine. Hamilton, N. J., April 20, 1843.

On or about the 13th day of Dec. 1841, I was taken with a violent pain in the side near the Liver which continued for about five days, and was followed by the breaking of an ulcer, or something inwardly, which relieved the pain a little, but caused me to draw up a great quantity of phlegm, which was very much blood. Being greatly afflicted at this, I applied to a physician, but he said he thought he could do but little for me except give me some Mercury Pills, which I refused to take, feeling satisfied they could do me no good; and my other remedies were then procured by my wife and myself. My case was not improved, and the discharge of blood and corruption still continued every few days, and at last became so offensive I could scarcely breathe. I was also seized with a violent cough, which at times caused me to raise more blood than I find done anywhere else, and my disease continued in this way, till growth of my case was such that I was unable to get any rest, given up, and my friends all thought I would die with a gaping consumption. At this moment, when my life was apparently drawing near to a close, I heard of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and got a bottle, which relieved me immediately, and by the use of only three bottles of this medicine, all my phlegm was entirely stopped, and in a few weeks my health was so far restored as to enable me to work at my trade, (which is a Carpenter) and up to this time I have enjoyed good health.

I am acquainted with Mr. Thomas Cozens, and having seen him during his illness, I think the above statement entitled to full credit. SAMUEL H. BURROGHS.

Gilchrist County, S. C. Personally came before me, the subscriber, one of the Justices of the Peace in and for said county, Thomas Cozens, and being fully affirmed according to law, with the above statement in all things true. THOMAS COZENS.

Affirmed before me on the 30th day of April, 1843. J. CLAMENT. For sale in Cincinnati only by SANFORD & PARK.
