Greater New York's Increased Needs

of $14,600,000. The street-cleaning department spends 50 per cent more—$7,500,000, instead of $5,000,000.

NEW YORK.—That the New York city government has, in some ways at least, kept pace with the city's growth as shown in the census returns is manifest from a budget study compiled by the city statisticians.

The increased cost in the city government is partly accounted for, according to the budget officials, by the widened scope of municipal enterprise.

Souvenir Postal Saves Heir $20,000

CHICAGO.—An unusual story of a lost heir to a $20,000,000 estate, whose chance mailing of a souvenir post card will bring him $20,000, was revealed in the probate court the other day.

Ants Are Driving Kansans From Home

WICHITA, Kan.—Grasshoppers, chinch bugs and Hessian flies, and a few other such pests, have visited Kansas in bygone days, eaten the crops, trimmed the leaves off the trees and driven more or less hardy pioneers back to their wives' folks in the East.

Hog Raising a Social Eccentricity

LONDON.—Women of title, jaded by the fatigues of the season, are being offered unique opportunities for calming their overwrought nerves.

So Far and Yet So Near.

He (to his fiancée, jealously)—Why did you let that man kiss you? She—"He is a distant relative."

Superiority.

"Why do you consider women superior to men in intelligence?" "A baldheaded man buys hair restorer by the quart, doesn't he?"

Politie.

Cora—"Do you think that Reggie means business, dear?" Estelle—"Oh, yes, love. Why, laughed for nearly five minutes at one of the dad's jokes last night."

FARMING IN JAPAN.

Those who despise the power of the Japanese people should correct their estimates by a study of the agricultural prodigies of this most capable race, says New York American.

THE WRITER SEES NO CLOUD

Striking Article in North American Review That is Attracting Wide Attention.

The attention of business and professional men in all portions of the country has been attracted to a strikingly strong article by Col. George Harvey in the September issue of the North American Review in which the writer takes a view of the greatest hopefulness for the future of America and Americans.

Capital and Labor Not Antagonistic.

"The Link that connects labor with capital is not broken but we may not deny that it is less cohesive than it should be under conditions war-rant."

DIFFICULTY OF INVASION.

Whenever war is discussed invasion is sure to be treated as a matter to be considered anxiously. Yet successful invasion has always been the exception, rather than the rule.

Conserve Common Sense.

"Is not the present, as we have seen, exceptionally secure? What, then, of preparations for the future? Patriotism is the basis of our institutions."

The latest public school development is the proposed establishment of classes at Montclair, N. J., for instruction in the prevention of tuberculosis.

A woman in New York obtained $20,000 damages from a railroad company because she was so badly burned in a collision with her automobile that the scars preclude her from ever wearing décolleté gowns.

Every now and then one hears of a "remarkably good counterfeit $50 bill" in circulation. Remarkably good or remarkably bad, as you look at it, since the excellence of its imitation only increases its moral turpitude.

The country is getting almost as dry as the weather bureau.

A Newark man who admits he wants to get married, but dreads to propose, is probably about to experience the busiest time of his life.

Rome is preparing for its big exposition by raising rents. That may be one way to attract visitors, but it is hardly a good way.

Champagne is likely to be more expensive and great suffering is anticipated on Broadway.

A hint for weary parents is contained in the news that a Brooklyn woman has asked the court to give her an injunction to stop her neighbor's baby crying.

Aviators have this advantage: they can issue rain checks that nobody will ever use.

He Knows the Game.

According to the Metropolitan Magazine, Fire Chief John Conway of Jersey City, N. J., solved the baseball excuse question by the posting of the following printed notice on his desk at fire headquarters:

Duty Swears.

"How can you go around," demanded his wife, "with tobacco juice all over your face?"

Pretending.

"See the boys?" "Pretending to be soldiers, eh?" "Yes; kids get lots of fun pretending."

Young Hoosier Lad Leaves Small Town to Answer Advertisement of Employment Agency—Is Duped and Robbed of Coin.

In Chicago penniless and without a friend.

"Where is your home?" was asked, "Evansville."

"I had a job in West Salem, Wis.," he said, "and I was getting along pretty well. I had a few dollars saved up and thought I was satisfied. I saw an advertisement in a pamphlet up there, telling how easy it was to make money in Chicago. The ad was signed by an employment agency. All you had to do was to give the agency $2 and it would ship you to Chicago, where a job would be waiting you. It sounded fine, so I thought I'd try it."

"I gave my $2 to the agency and took the rest of my money with me. I was shipped with about fifteen other fellows."

"When I got to Chicago I went to the place where the agency had told me I could land a job. The address which they had given me I found was a swamp-out that way somewhere, and the boy pointed toward the southwest side."

"Then I saw that I had been 'bunked.' The agency, I guess, was a fake, or else they had given me the wrong address by mistake. I thought, though, that I could get a job next day, so I gave a dollar for the room I slept in that night. I hunted around for two days, trying to find a job. Twice I was told to call next week, but that is as close as I've come, so far."

"It was Tuesday when I came to Chicago. The following Sunday night I slept on the dock, down there by the river. There were lots of other fellows there, too. I spread out some papers and lay down on them. When I woke up in the morning I found that some fellow had taken my last $10."

"The boy paused a minute, looked at his lone audier and smiled."

"Say, honest now, ain't I the 'fall guy'?" I guess I need a guardian," he said, and in spite of the fact that he was hungry and without money, he actually laughed.

"Ever since that night I have had to beg what food I have had. And I haven't had a shave, either, not since I came to this town."

"Yesterday I gave up. I went in the station down there, pointing west again, and the 'copper' at the desk gave me a postal card and a nickel. Then I wrote to my mother and told her where I was and that I was 'broke.' I expect to hear from her tomorrow and then I am going home. An' say," he went on, "for all the three years which I have been away, I haven't written to my mother. She didn't know but what I was dead. I had an argument with her one day," he admitted reluctantly, "and I ran away. I got along all right up in West Salem, but Chicago is a fierce place."

The boy got up to go. A plain clothes detective who had come out during the latter part of the boy's story gave him 50 cents.

"Here, lad," he said, "you're too young to be in this town without money."

The reporter added his mite to the boy's fortune, then turned to go into the station.

"Well, much obliged," murmured the runaway, "so long" and he was off.

Order French War Planes.

Paris.—The ministry of war has ordered the purchase of ten military monopines and twenty biplanes within the next three months. This will give the French army an aerial flotilla of sixty by the end of the year.

Sea Lion Is Life Saver.

Toledo, O.—The sea lion which recently won much publicity by its sojourn in the Maumee, escaped again some time early the other morning. Police Lieutenant Conway sent four officers to pursue the animal.

Praise for American Girls.

New York.—"American girls do not go abroad to have a good time by drinking wine, smoking cigarettes and following other European customs. Those who say they do libel them."

Wearing Two Veils Latest.

Double Protection Against Dust and Sun Is Forced in English Society Circles.

London.—Woman is in future to wear two veils, so that she may suggest more and more the rainbow shrouded in a fine mist by her many colored garments veiled with transparent materials.

The fashion of the combination of colorings in veiling one over the other, which has become such a pronounced vogue in both evening and afternoon dresses, has spread to the veil itself.

Motor veils of different tints worn over each other to produce a shot effect lead the way to the same style of veiling for wear with the promenade hat.

Fair women are soon to be mysteriously hidden behind folds of mauve over blue, mole over pink, dark blues shading rose and pale blues.

A lining of pink under black lace or white has been recognized for a long time as very becoming.

It will require a decided artistic taste in the ordinary woman who chooses her veiling apart from her hat to know exactly what tones to blend and which will also suit her complexion.

"A combination of colors is the fashion for motor veils," a representative of a West end firm said, "and very fine gauzes and chiffons are sold for their construction."

The several layers of veiling are effective as well as picturesque, as they protect the face from the dust better than a single veil.

"In the same way bright colored hats are covered tightly with a veil of chiffon, and many varieties of the veiled hat will be seen in the autumn modes."

Finally He Made Inquiries and the Mystery Was Solved.

The girl thought that "Teddy" which she had heard so frequently, was "some sort of a title, such as king."

Talking Motion Pictures.

New York.—With the announcement by Thomas A. Edison the other day that he has almost reached the solution of the problem of making moving pictures that talk, the future of the moving picture promises a revolution. Mr. Edison has obtained satisfactory results with a device for recording the words as well as the actions of actors and actresses.

Protect Lyre Bird.

Sydney.—So great has been the destruction wrought upon the beautiful lyre bird of Queensland that the state has protected the bird till the middle of 1915; a $25 penalty is attached to its capture, or injury, or taking its eggs. It is the extraordinary lyrebird form development of the tall feathers which tempt the captor.

INDIAN IS GOOD COOK

roasts, etc. The other 76 per cent. is made up of the cheaper cuts—chuck, rump, round, shank, navel, brisket, etc.

"This meat if properly cooked, that is, slowly cooked, is more nutritious and has a better flavor than tenderloin. But the poor man's wife won't take the trouble to cook it. Her husband may say, 'We'll have to economize. Let's buy a little cheaper meat.' But when she gets to the butcher's and sees another woman buying something more expensive she feels ashamed of what she intended to order or else says to herself, 'What's good enough for her is none too good for me,' and buys a porterhouse steak instead."

"There's another type of woman that would rather spend her husband's money than her own time. She can't be bothered cooking. But"—here Professor Barnard brightened up perceptibly—"a solution has been found even for her. It is fireless cooking. Have you ever tried it?"

I confessed that my education had been neglected in that respect.

"That's a trick the Indian squaw has taught us," Professor Barnard continued. "There are 15 or 20 different fireless cookers on the market, so you see I'm not booming anybody in talking about them."

Woman Wastes More Than She Uses, Says Prof. Barnard.

Specialist in Household Economy Says American Man, Because of Wife's Culinary Inefficiency, Not as Well Nourished as European.

New York.—Go to the squaw, thou housewife, consider her ways and do likewise.

At least such is the advice of Prof. Charles Barnard, specialist in household economy, and one of the foremost figures at the household show recently held in Madison Square garden, says a writer in the New York World.

What Professor Barnard is not telling eager inquirers at the garden of the superior housekeeping methods of our great-grandmother. Miss Faba, he is busy with the "housekeeping experiment station," which he maintains at Darien, Conn., for testing under the most simple housekeeping conditions all new materials, methods, utensils and appliances which may prove useful in the home.

"The American housekeeper, compared with the housewives of France and Germany, is an unlettered child," declared Professor Barnard to me yesterday.

"The American man, because of his wife's culinary inefficiency, is not so well nourished as the European making half the income. At least 20 per cent. of the money spent on the American table is absolute waste."

Professor Barnard, mild of voice and eye, spoke with an earnestness that belied his manner.

"The American woman," he added, "does not know as much about cooking as the Indian squaw."

"Cooking, though it is part of the profession of wifehood, does not interest her. She can't be bothered," she says. The merchant's wife vies with the millionaire's wife in buying only the most expensive cuts of meat. Steak, chops, steak, chops; swings the unvarying pendulum of the wife's bill of fare.

"Now, only 24 per cent. of a beef, for instance, can provide the expensive porterhouse steaks, Delmonico

STUDY SOUTH POLE WEATHER

Douglas Mawson of Sydney to Find Out Reasons for Australia's Queer Conditions.

Melbourne.—To find out why Australia has queer spasms of weather, times Douglas Mawson of Sydney goes to run an Australian expedition to the regions round the south pole.

A dash to the pole itself, it should be borne in mind, but a long residence at Antarctic quarters to study the magnetic and meteorological conditions that reflect their influence on the climate experienced by those living under the Southern Cross.

The course of Australian agriculturalists is drought. Some summers all seems set for a banner harvest, and suddenly cyclonic depression shifts and the rains that would have been a boon are wasted on the ocean. Other times hurricanes sweep whole provinces, leaving a track of destruction such as the fringe of the Mexican gulf occasionally experiences. These conditions absent, and the weather conditions remaining normal, Australia has bumper crops and record clips of wool; squatter millionaires are turfed out by the back blocks and boom times set in for town and country.

THOUGHT "TEDDY" A TITLE

Cheyenne Waitress Causes Former President to Laugh Heartily at Error.

Denver, Col.—While Colonel Roosevelt was in Cheyenne he stopped at the Inter Ocean hotel. His meals were served to him in his rooms, and a servant he had a Swedish girl who had been in this country but a short time.

Whenever he asked the girl a question, she answered: "No, Teddy," or "Yes, Teddy," to the amusement of the colonel.

Her manner was so ingenuous, however, that he decided that she was innocent of intentional disrespect.
