FRIDAY, February 16, 1917

There is no hard feelings in the prohibition camp over the punishment being meted out by the federal courts to election conspirators at Cincinnati. If you don't get that, look up the late prohibition vote in that booze stronghold.

Representative Fred Huber made his initial speech before the House last Thursday, when he held the floor for several minutes in argument for the passage of his bill to increase the pay of rural judges and clerks of elections.

THE UNPATRIOTIC BRYAN

What an infamously wicked man Bryan must be, to suggest that the men and women of the United States should say whether they want war or not with Germany, through a direct expression—a referendum, as it were. Haven't we some little 8 by 10 statesmen, fire eaters and munition makers, just like they have in Germany and the rest of Europe, to read our minds and talk for us? What business have we to tell our servants at Washington to listen to us? Our only business is simply to stand up and be shot and foot the bills.

No wonder only the wild and wooly west and the women would listen to you in the last campaign, Mr. Bryan. To think you would stand between us and profits and a little bloodshed. It's infamous, BUT KEEP IT UP.

ANOTHER SONG BIRD

Good for the lower house of the legislature—it has passed the bill putting the quail on the song bird list. And the vote was 102 for to 14 against, which is a pretty fair statement of the ratio of public sentiment upon the question. The quail is the most popular bird in the state. It is useful and beautiful and its Bob White song is like the melody of a fond memory. It is a part of Ohio and to kill it off is an outrage on the State. Thanks to the house for its splendid vote. Thanks to it for not letting a little group of people interfere with one of the happiest of our state institutions, namely the presence of the quail in our meadows and fields. Ohio is far better off with them than without them. Now let the senate do as well as the house and the quail is safe against the huntsman's shot.—Ohio State Jorunal.

A LEGAL INJUSTICE

The public health law of this state is framed so as to forbid one person to aid another by Christian Science, if this spiritual service is paid for. According to the law of Ohio, prayer for the sick is prayer, unless a fee is paid; then it is the practice of medicine.

No difference if a Christian Scientist honestly practices his own system, without intention or pretense of practicing medicine; no difference if a sufferer from disease has exhausted the resources of medical practice and has decided to try an opposite method; no difference if a Christian Scientist succeeds where a physician has failed, the code of Ohio approves paying the doctor but condemns paying the Christian Scientist. Yet both of these practitioners are expected to pay for whatever services they obtain, and all right minded people recognize this as a moral obligation.

This injustice disguised as law was brought about by a statutory definition of medcal practice which takes an act of Christian service and converts it into a crime merely because the parties to it have observed the economic law of compensation. The presence of such a provision in our state inculcates disrespect for law; it allows some of our best citizens to be stigmatized as law breakers; and the sooner it is repealed the better for the general welfare.—Columbus Dispatch.

HENRY FORD IN WAR

[New York World]

As a man of peace the chief difference between Henry Ford and the average American is Mr. Ford's financil resources. He spent money lavishly in what many people regarded as a foolish attempt to end the war in Europe. He spent a fortune in this country in an endeavor to defeat larger appropriations for national defense, his theory being that they were not needed.

With $100,000,000 or $200,000,000 at their disposal, many Americans whether wisely guided or not, might easily have used their money as he has done. The American has the habit of peace. He regards war as an evil, generally wrong in itself and usually unnecessary. He will go a long distance out of his way to escape a needless fight, but no one on earth has less fear of a resort to force when, with right involved, there is no appeal except to force.

Placing his great factories at the disposal of the government in the event of war and offering to operate them without profit, Mr. Ford exemplifies the American spirit. He is what is called a pacifist. So practically all Americans are pactficists. But they are pacifists of whom nations devoted to militarism and aggression would do well to beware.

VISITING THE BACK WOODS

David W. Bowman, who side-stepped the newspaper game when an opportunity offered to eat regularly and with time enough to relish it, has been doing missionary work over the district this week in the interest of Congressman-elect Welty, the man whose dictation he is soon to begin taking. Bowman left both a single column cut of Welty and a promise of a postoffice in Delphos, Celina, St. Marys, Wapak, Sidney and Coldwater. Reading the papers from over the district we can't help but conclude that if Dave extends the trip over another week Ben will have to go back for a second term to get all the promises fulfilled.—Burba, in Lima Times Democrat.

CHANGING THE TUNE

A new objection to the Singletax has been discovered by the New York Times. Plutocratic papers used to shed bitter tears over the prospective ruin of the farmers by placing of all taxes on land values. For a while that story accomplished its purpose, as for instance, Missouri in 1912. But now it is losing its force. North Dakota farmers can not be fooled by it. They realize that it is to their interest to exempt labor products from taxation and have demanded that it be done. So The Times has concluded it must find another story, and in its issue of January 4, commented on the North Dakota program as follows:

They are going to bring Henry George to North Dakota. State Socialism is to be supplemented by the Singletax. Hear the Master of the Grange.

"No more taxes on barns and fencing and farmhouses and sheds. Increase the tax of the unimproved land to equalize the taxes on the improved land... The speculators created by the railroad grants have held back immense acreage from cultivation, waiting for a big rise in land values. A hail tax and an increase in land tax will cause some of these speculators to reinventory their holdings."

Of course all this is not class legislation, it is non-partisan social equity for the benefit of farmers.

From which we see that the Singletax is designed to give the farmer an unfair advantage.

Some one should send The Times copies of the campaign literature put out by its plutocratic comrades in Missouri, Oregon and California, in which the Singletax is described as anything but class legislation for farmers. It is too much to ask our pultocratic brethren to stick to the truth in campaigning, but they should avoid such contradictory falsehoods.

NEW PROVISIONS OF INCOME TAX

The income tax law provides that every person, firm or organization which pays to any individual an annual income of $3,000 or more must withhold from such income the 1 per cent income tax for 1916, and make report thereof to the Collector of Internal Revenue not later than March 1, 1917. Blanks upon which to file such reports will be furnished upon application. The above provisions of the law apply to labor organizations, fraternal beneficiary orders building and loan associations, churches, business league, chamber of commerce or board of trade. For instance, a church organization which pays its pastor a salary of $2,000 and in addition pays the rent for the pastor's residence amounting to more than $1,000, will be held to have paid the pastor an annual income in excess of $3,000, and must make proper reports to the Internal Revenue Department.

GREAT COMET WILL APPEAR NEXT MAY

In May next year a great comet is booked to give the peope of the earth an astronomical exhibition worth living to see. It is to apear in May, so that unless something unexpected occurs the world will see next spring a great heavenly phenomenon—a mighty comet blazing forth night after night, with its tail sweeping an immense arc through the heavens, a source of terror to the superstitious and of interest to all.

"Comet B, 1916," is the name of the stranger. It is so called because it was the second comet discovered last year. Professor Wolf, of Koenigstuhl, detected the rushing body's faint picture on a photographic plate last April and proceeded to telegraph the news to observations all over the world with great joy.

The statement that the new comet will be a monster rests principally on the fact that it was discovered when fully 400,000,000 miles from the earth just witin the orbit of the great planet Jupiter.

All comets increase greatly in size and brilliancy as they approach the sun. If such approves to be the case this time, "Comet B, 1916," should make a great impression.

It is useless to go out and look for the comet tonight as it is now on the other side of the sun, whose great imminence conceals it. Earth, sun and comet have just passed conjunction, as the state is called when the three bodies are in line. In a few months the comet should be visible to the naked eye in parts of the earth suitably situated.

At present the comet is approaching the earth at the rate of more than a million miles a day—but not in a direct line. In the month of December its distance from the earth was decreased nearly 50,000,000 miles, astronomers calculate.

It is now situated in the sky just north of the constellation Libra and about fifteen degrees northwest of the upper end of the Scorpion. These constellations are near the sun, appearing in the early morning hours just preceding sunrise.

On January 1 the comet was still more than 300,000,000 miles away. It's perhelion passage, or nearest approach to the sun, is due next June. The path of the comet has not yet been accurately ploted, but dozens of astronomers are working on it with complex tables and extensive mathematical calculations.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested foods, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

REPORT

Of the Franklin Township Farmers' Independent Institute, Held at Montezuma, Ftb. 7 and 8.

The farmers' independent institute held at Montezuma the 7th and 8th was by far the most interesting of any institute ever held at this place.

A. P. Sandles demonstrated that he was on the job as usual, and gave the people one of the best talks on farming that the people had heard for many a day.

T. J. Miller also told how he started in the world and made an old farm produce by a good application of clover to the soil. He told how to care for hogs and grow them so as to make the most out of them.

Mrs. Harriet Dickson gave a good account of herself and talked on the farm home.

The oratorical contest was by the public schools and there were four contested for the prizes. Marie Bodkin won first prize, which was $1.50. Itola Dammeyer won second prize, $1.

In the boys' corn contest for the five best ears of yellow corn—Dee Myers won first prize, 100 pound of middlings donated by Wilker & Klosterman: Wilber Dammeyer won second prize, $1.00 in merchandise by Stoner & Griffith. Dick Grunden came third and won 50c. in money.

Best five ears of white corn—Wendel Elder won first prize, $1.00; Alvin Lacy came second, 50c.; Christian Bertsman came third, 25c.

Girls' bread baking contest, for girls under 16 years of age—First prize, Ruth Lacy; second, Fay Servis; third, Regina Rohler.

Cake Baking contest—First, Majorie Palmer; 2nd, E. Dammeyer.

IRVIN HOLE, Sec'y.

Resolutions

WHEREAS, We the Franklin township farmers' institute, in session assembled, have had an instructive and entertaining session, and

Whereas, we stand for all that is elevating and instructive, especially to the youth of our land; be it

Resolved, That we give a vote of thanks to A. P. Sandles, T. J. Miller and Mrs. Harriet Dickson for their helpful and entertaining lectures.

That we extend our appreciation to those boys and girls, and also to their teachers, who have participated in the corn show, the baking contest and the oratorical contest; be it also

Resolved, That we urge county board of agriculture and our State agriculture extension service to institute such contests as may tend to encourage our youth to the pursuits of agriculture and to a better citizenship; be it

Resolved, That we favor and urge our State Senators and Representative to support legislative measures whereby the revenue derived from the sale of motor vehicle licenses shall be kept in the county where such licenses are sold.

That we urge the passage of a law classing the quail as a song bird, and that we favor the passage of laws protecting the mutual and independent telephone companies; be it

Resolved, That we extend our thanks to the officers for their efficient service and to the musicians for their entertainment. Also to all those who contributed to the support of the institute;

That a copy of these resolutions be placed on the secretary's book and that copies be furnished the county papers for publication.

WOULD MAKE ALL VEHICLES CARRY LIGHTS

A bill requiring lights on all vehicles at night has been approved by the upper house of the Ohio legislature.

It is now pending in the house and is understood to have an excellent chance of success due to a better understanding of its provisions from the standpoint of promoting general safety.

The measure has the support of the Ohio State Automobile Association and several other organizations seeking to bring about a greater degree of safety on the highways, particularly at night.

It has been pointed out that while all motor vehicles are required to carry lights a similar measure of protection is not extended other vehicles, and that universal application even in so small a degree as by a small lantern on a wagon, would prevent many accidents.

The adoption of such a provision was recommended in the state highway commissioner's code and there is increasing sentiment for it in the rural districts, due not only to the great increase in automobile ownership among the farmers, but also to a greater demand for making the highways safe for everybody.

LESSONS ON GARDENING

Garden enthusiasts of every sort will have an opprtunity this spring to receive free instructon by correspondence from the Ohio State University College of Agriculture. A course in vegetable gardening is open without cost to any resident of the state. The lessons take a discussion of soils adapted to gardening as well as their needs and preparation, garden plans, tools equipment, water supply and irrigation as well as general cultural directions for each of the common vegetables grown in Ohio. Applications for enrollment may be made to J. E. McClintock, Supervisor of Correspondence Courses, Ohio State University, Columbus.

ORGANIZE BOYS' CORN CLUBS

That the boys' corn club contests should be conducted by the Ohio State University in common with other boys' and girls' club work was a statement made by Governor James M. Cox, when presenting medals to the boys and girls at the recent farmers' week program at Columbus.

In support of his statement, the governor called attention to the facilities of the institution for conducting such clubs and also the educational atmosphere which he believes should be predominate in the work. He expressed a hope that he would be greeted by corn club champions in addition to champions in livestock work and in home making clubs at the next farmers' week gatherings.

To further the purpose of the governor's remarks, the University has issued rules for boys' corn clubs, in addition to pig, poultry and home making clubs that are already being conducted by that institution.

CORN CONTESTS

Will Be Enlarged This Year, Giving Dad As Well As the Boys a Chance to Do Things.

To Friends of the Farm:

The Board of Agriculture of Ohio has planned for the boys and men to work together in the 1917 Corn Growing Contests.

The inspirations and lessons of the Junior Corn Contests prompted the Board to put on a Senior Corn Grow-Contest for 1917.

These contests are the worst enemies of poverty—they have no fellowship with any vice—they are friends to every virtue.

1917 JUNIOR CORN CONTESTS

A Junior Corn Contestant must raise one acre. He has four methods by which he may win, as follows:

1. If he assists in doing all the work up to and including the planting and then does all the cultivating on an acre, he may win a trip to Washington.

2. If a Junior does all of the work on the single acre of corn, he may win a trip to Washington.

3. If a Junior farms five or more acres of corn in one plot, he may select any acre of it upon which to win a trip to Washington.

4. If a Junior works with a Senior Corn Contestant on the Senior Contestant's ten-acre plot, the Junior may then select any acre in the plot.

A trip to Washington on the 1917 trip is the reward in the Junior Corn Growing Contests.

1917 SENIOR CORN CONTESTS

A Senior Corn Contest will be put up in every County, open to men over twenty years of age. The Senior Contest must be carried on upon a ten-acre plot. A boy may have his own acre in his fathers' ten-acre plot by assisting in all the work. The prizes in the Senior Corn Contest are as follows:

1. A grand prize of $100 will be given to the man who raises the most corn in all the state.

2. A prize of $75 will be given to the champion of each of the four Contest Districts.

3. A prize of $50 will be given the champion in the Senior Corn Contest in each county. Seniors may, however, accept the ticket on the 1917 Tour to Washington in lieu of their $50.

Trips to Washington will be given in every County for the Boys and Girls.

For all rules and regulations in both Junior and Senior Contests write to J. R. Clarke, Director of Junior Contests, Columbus, Ohio.
