

DON'T THINK PROPER TO MAKE "BIG BANG"

London Papers Register Objection to Proposed Method of Getting Money for War Fund.

(By Receptoral News Service.) LONDON, Nov. 9.—English tolerance of what they call "stunts" has found its limit. They don't mind using tanks as collection boxes for war loan subscriptions, they will even put up with having Trafalgar square turned into an open air exhibition of war trophies or disguised as a ruined French village for the same patriotic purpose, but when the publicity manager of the war loan campaign last week that the campaign would open with a simultaneous discharge of all the anti-aircraft guns in London and district, things were going a bit too far, don't you know. The whole press, with the exception of the Northcliffe papers, rose against the suggestion. "Sentimentalism run mad," was the caption of the "Chron." and other journals took the same line.

Perhaps they wouldn't have minded a few guns. Even an imitation air raid might have got by. The difficulty is not the guns, but the fact that when the guns are in action everybody knows they do not all fire at once; they work up gradually to a barrage and even when the air battle is at its height they don't fire simultaneously. The newspapers used their own guns of heaviest caliber and put up a literary barrage of some impressive dimensions. Here are some specimen shots:

"We scarcely know how to set both the full idiosyncrasy of this proposal."

"There is nothing whatever to be had for this inept proposal."

"This ridiculous proposal!" And the big gun of the Mail: "Such a concerted bang might terminate the earthly careers of quite a number of people."

AFTER EFFECTS OF MEASLES

Mother, Who Lives in Tennessee Mountains Where Black-Draught is Relied on in Many Troubles, Says It Made Her Boy Well and Sound.

Coal Creek, Tenn.—Up in the mountains, quite some distance from town, lives Mrs. U. S. Fritts, who relates her experience with Theodor's Black-Draught as follows:

"My little boy, James, took sick with diarrhoea about five years ago, and was badly swollen. He had the measles and this was no doubt, after-effect. I made him well by living him Theodor's Black-Draught. I gave it to him three times a day for a month. I firmly believe it saved his life. We always keep Black-Draught in our house. It is our doctor. Always easy to get and prompt in giving relief."

A small pinch of Black-Draught after each meal at bed time for headache, stomach and liver trouble, and we are well the next morning. It certainly works wonders sometimes and saves the end of trouble, relieves pain, and there is no need for another doctor. I have recommended Black-Draught to all my neighbors and will continue to recommend it. Theodor's Black-Draught is a pure, vegetable herb liver medicine, acting gently, yet promptly, on liver and bowels. Thousands of people everywhere have found it to relieve constipation, indigestion, biliousness and many similar disorders. Try Black-Draught. Your druggist sells it.

Reventlow Predicts Anarchy on Taking Refuge in Holland

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(British wireless service.) Count von Reventlow, whose pro-German speeches have appeared during the war in the Tages-Zeitung of Berlin, has fled to Denmark. He declared to a correspondent at the frontier that the situation would be most serious in Germany when the soldiers returned from the front, general anarchy could be expected.

GERMANY IS RUINED INSIDE AND OUTSIDE

Premier Lloyd George Declares Issue Is Settled—Enemy Has Chosen Which May Soon Be Last.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(British wireless service.)—Premier Lloyd George was one of the speakers at the meeting following the Mayor's Victory Day. "I have no news for you," he announced at the start. "The great general staff Germany mobilized to frighten us is reaching its natural end at a moment when it is faced by ruin and can act only by immediate surrender."

"Germany may continue to increase her volume of suffering she has already caused, she may possibly resist a little longer, but the longer she resists, the more quickly will her cities become as the fair lands she has so wantonly devastated."

"There will be no terms that will prevent such wantonness again. We will do no wrong if we abandon no right."

"We have no design on the German people, but we mean to secure beyond all the freedom of our own people. The recklessness that placed the world in such awful agony need expect such reckoning."

Life of Fruit Trees

Of our fruit trees, the pear is the longest lived. They will bear for 50 years and a few hardy veterans a quarter of a century longer. Apple trees range in age from 25 to 40 years, with 25 years is about the limit for plum trees. Raspberry and blackberry bushes live from six to 14 years, currant bushes 20 years and gooseberry bushes 10 years.—People's Home Journal.

Mint Making Is Revived

The mint shortage due to the war has caused a revival of England's oldest industry, the making of flints. Most of the flints are taken by the makers of mechanical devices for lighting pipes and cigars. Before the war, most of them went to Spain and Italy where the flint and steel have never been entirely supplanted by the match.—People's Home Journal.

MEASURES FOR PEACE KEEP STOCKS ACTIVE

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Announcement that the government has taken measures to regulate the transition of the country's business of war to peace was the most reassuring event of a week of extraordinary developments in the securities market.

This step is in consonance with the program already formulated by leading banking and industrial interests. The recognized domestic mercantile authorities place especial emphasis on the fact that the business of virtually every description is proceeding with unprecedented conditions in the foreground. Trade shows gradual diminution, especially at centers where reports of war order cancellations have been most prevalent.

Wall street seems to believe, however, that the immediate future of market depends almost wholly upon monetary conditions. Railroad shares stood out for their relative strength, the low priced issues being again sought by investors. Financiers are under no illusions as to the future requirements of the government in connection with its huge plan of reconstruction but such demands, it is generally believed, will receive prompt support.
