

STEEL STRIKE FIRST BEFORE CONFERENCE

Wilson's Session of Labor and Capital Expected to Deal With the Crisis at Meeting in October

GOMPERS PLANS ACTION

Federation President Takes Steps to Press for Solution of Question—Steel Leaders Will Meet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The steel strike will be the first major event before the president's general conference, in the opinion of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

This was declared today by Mr. Gompers' associate in discussing the personal of the committee to be organized to represent labor at the October 6 meeting. Before the conference can discuss plans for industry, it is necessary that the steel strike be settled. It is expected that the settlement of what will develop into the greatest industrial battle in the history of the country.

Gompers' appointment of M. F. Mahoney, president of the International Machinists union, one of the unions involved in the strike. With the steel strike, Mahoney and other members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. In other words, should the steel trust head accept the president's invitation, he will find himself in a conference with representatives of the strikers whose positions will be supported by the entire executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

Even the conservative leaders here now predict that the strike may assume such proportions as to paralyze industry throughout the country. They confirm the statements of the steel leaders that those of the 2,000,000 workmen affiliated with the international unions involved who are not directly concerned will stand behind the strikers and that sympathetic workmen may be expected in every section of the country.
