Weekly Dry Goods Review

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Unsettled conditions in raw cotton markets, coupled with the light demand for the converting and jobbing trade, have brought about a renewal of liquidation in cotton goods and cotton yarn prices.

COTTON TREND IS SLOWLY DOWN

New Crop and Generally Unsatisfactory Money Conditions Blamed

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 3.—The trend of prices in the cotton market last week was strongly downward under the weight of the new crop, the absence of a spot demand and the generally unsatisfactory financial conditions which, according to all accounts, have prevented the interior from obtaining funds in sufficient amount to hold cotton off the market.
