A Most Suspicious Man.

"I move that the case be taken to the supreme court and we be tried by a jury." This was the counter of one John Baginska in police court this morning when Judge Fitz Gerald asked him what plea he desired to enter to the charge of gambling. He stepped forward, made a polite bow, addressed the court as "Yer honor," and made the motion like a real, honest to goodness lawyer. Though he did not mean his remark as a joke, the police, other prisoners and on-lookers snickered audibly and under the whiskers of the judge might be detected the faintest trace of a smile.

Netthey Baginska nor his partner, W. L. Brown, were required to stand trial, for the one had last night informed on the other, and during the night had undergone a change of heart.

McNary of the Eastern Oregon State Hospital, the justices of the supreme court, who have been in session here, last evening witnessed an exhibition of the 1914 Round-up motion pictures in the auditorium of the state hospital. The dog-fight took place in front of the Cox theater and the boy was taken upstairs to the office of Dr. L. U. Temple who dressed the wound.

Will Fix Street Grade.

The street committee of the city council will this afternoon hold a conference with the property owners on Wilson street with a view to establishing a grade there. No grade has ever been established on this street and the council wishes to get the property owners ideas before fixing it. The matter was brought to an issue through the repeated requests of Walter Adams for a grade in order that he may build a walk and wall. Property owners on the street are contemplating paving the street if they can secure a grade without too much of a cut.

$500 For School Fair.

The Umatilla county fair board has set aside $500 of the fair funds for premiums to be given for the school exhibits. All year the pupils of the various schools have been preparing for the school fair and, with the $500 appropriation, Supt. Young feels that suitable prizes for the competition may be offered. Supt. Young will himself become a member of the fair board after May 22, at which time the new law goes into effect. At present G. L. Hurd of Stanfield and Major Lee Moorhouse of Pendleton are the only members of the board.

Big Crowd Watch Workout.

The largest crowd that ever watched a boxer work out in Pendleton was gathered in the Commercial gymnasium yesterday afternoon at 3:30 to see Frankie Conley, the boy who took the championship belt away from Monte Attel, go through his training stunts preparatory to his battle with Billy Farrell in the Oregon theater Tuesday. Conley is a well-muscled athlete and is in such good condition that he only has to work off three pounds before weighing in. Conley lays no claim to being an expert and scientific boxer. He is a fighter and is willing to take all kind of punishment in order to administer some. That is the way he fought himself into fame and a world championship and that is the way he expects to beat Farrell.

WEEDS MUST BE DESTROYED OR PENALTY WILL FOLLOW

CITY TO ENFORCE ORDINANCE AGAINST OWNERS OF PROPERTY.

"Death to Weeds!" This must be the battlecry of Pendleton residents under penalty of arrest. The city ordinance has a law requiring all residents to keep their premises and the streets adjacent clear of weeds and the edict has been handed to the officers to see that the ordinance is enforced.

Mayor Dyer and Street Commissioner Heathman held a conference yesterday upon the matter and, as a result, the street commissioner has been instructed to see that the weeds are cut down. The street commissioner declares he will give all residents a few days to comply with the order before he begins using the law as a weapon.

Jim Hill mustard and foxtail are particularly placed under the ban because of their prolific growth and because, if permitted to go to seed, they will soon take the town.

STANFIELD MAKING PLANS FOR THE COUNTY FAIR

CITIZEN ENERGETIC IN ARRANGING FOR EVENT SEPTEMBER 7 TO 11.

Inspired by an ambition to make Stanfield the permanent location of the Umatilla county fair, the citizens of that town and community are making energetic plans for the fair this year which is to be held there from September 7 to 11 inclusive. Citizens are forming a corporation which is to buy a 20 acre tract inside the town and erect buildings thereon for the housing of the exhibits.

A meeting of the Stanfield Commercial club and settlers on the project and on the Meadows was held last evening and a head of enthusiasm was worked up, according to G. L. Hurd, president of the fair board, who is up from that town today. Liberal promises of active support and hard work were made. President Frank Sloan of the Commercial Club, pledging one month of his time toward making the fair a success despite the heavy demands of his private business.

A committee on exhibits, with M. C. Barager as chairman, was appointed to look to the securing of representative displays from every section of the county and another committee with Ralph Holte as chairman, was named to visit the various sections and seek their cooperation in making the transplanted fair a success. Another meeting will be held next Friday at which time the ladies of the community will be asked to contribute suggestions.

The fair board has only located the fair at Stanfield for the one year but the citizens of that town believe they can keep it as a permanent institution if they make a credible showing this year. The fact that they are so ready to purchase grounds and erect buildings is something of an indication of the spirit with which they are working.

MAN WILL BE TAKEN BACK TO COLORADO FOR TRIAL

WILLIAM STETSON CHARGED WITH STATUTORY CRIME AGAINST GIRL.

William B. Stetson alias Walter Smiley, a painter who worked at his trade in this city for several weeks, will begin a long journey to Ordway, Colorado, today and once there he will stand trial upon a charge of a statutory offense against a 14-year-old girl, the penalty for which in Colorado is three years to life. Sheriff Hunnison of Crowley county, Colorado, arrived this morning to take charge of the man who was apprehended through local officers.

Stetson came to Pendleton two months or more ago and worked as a painter for both Murphy Bros. and Hale & McAttee. While here he constantly changed boarding places. The police department was finally notified to apprehend him but he had left two or three days before the notification arrived. He was traced from here to Athena, from Athena to Walla Walla, from Walla Walla to Seattle, from Seattle to Auburn and from Auburn to Pasco where Sheriff Taylor arrested him last Sunday. The police department had sent a decoy telegram to him at Pasco and, though he took the
